COLLEGE-AGE THOUSANDS GATHER FOR ANTIWAR RALLY

THOUSANDS, mostly of college age, gathered on sun-drenched Boston Common Wednesday for an antiwar rally in which Sen. Vance Hartke called for drying up the "river of blood" known as the Indochina War. The Indiana Democrat also questioned whether the Indochina War "is worthy of winning, for it would be a victory not for freedom but colonialism." The rally was the start of two days of antiwar protest in Boston. Demonstrators plan to ring the John F. Kennedy Federal Building, hopefully shutting down government agencies by standing shoulder to shoulder and refusing to let government workers enter the 26-story building. Dozens of police, wearing helmets and carrying nightsticks, sprinkled throughout the crowd but the atmosphere was extremely casual and friendly as the throng lounged on the sloping common grass. Police dogs were kept a short distance away in a police bus. About 3,000 National Guardsmen were on standby alert in armories around Boston in the event of possible trouble during the two days of demonstrations. Police estimated the crowd at 25,000 as the rally got under way at mid-afternoon. Rally organizers said $5,000 had gathered in the 70-degree, sunny weather.

MIT SAVANT PROPOSES FREE MASS TRANSIT SYSTEM

PRESENT FARE systems are inadequate and inefficient, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor said Wednesday, proposing free mass transit system for metropolitan areas. Dr. Harvey P. Greenspan said the free system would be financed by a "prepayment" tax on persons who work in the core city. "Communities with practically no public transportation — like Los Angeles — will have to find a more forceful solution to their problems," Greenspan told a Rotary Club luncheon in Boston. But most large cities have rapid transit systems which would benefit from the free system, "among them Boston and New York," he said. Greenspan said a fee of $175 per worker would solve the financial woes of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation System which serves 79 communities in the eastern part of the state.

THROW SWARMS ON U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

A DIEHARD THROW of up to 1,500 chanting demonstrators, admitted to the Capitol grounds by antiwar congressmen, swarmed up to the locked main entrance of the House of Representatives Wednesday demanding an immediate U.S. pullout from Indochina. While tourists, secretaries and other congressmen watched under balm spring skies, Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., engaged in a brief shoving match with a policeman as officers began arresting the 1,000 protesters jamming the Capitol steps. The arrests by hundreds of helmeted policemen followed presentation of a people's peace treaty to four congressmen who addressed the cheering, whistling crowd over a hastily constructed public address system. They were Reps. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md.; Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., and Dellums.

MUSKIE SUBMITS $6 BILLION REVENUE SHARING BILL

WARNING that President Nixon's general revenue sharing bill would eliminate important federal categorical grant programs, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie Wednesday introduced his $6 billion proposal to give financial assistance to state and local governments. Muskie said the major difference between the two bills was his proposal would "put money where it is needed most by providing weighted shares to those communities with a high percentage of low income residents and public assistance recipients." He said his measure would create a trust fund for shared revenues made up of 1.3 per cent of the total individual taxable income on federal tax returns (5 billion) and 10 per cent of the total amount of income taxes collected by state governments across the nation ($1 billion). Muskie, considered the front runner for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, said the 10 per cent additional amount would generate $1 billion more in shared revenues than under the administration's revenue sharing proposal.

SPY SATELLITE LAUNCHING MARKS SPACE ANNIVERSARY

AMERICA marked the 10th anniversary of its first manned spaceflight Wednesday by launching a new spy satellite designed to flash an early warning of a missile attack from Russia or Red China. The new breed surveillance spacecraft was expected to give the nation's military forces more time to mount a counter strike in the event of a missile attack. Informed sources at Cape Kennedy said it also will be able to monitor Soviet and Chinese rocket testing. Six hours after the pie-dawn launching, Alan B. Shepard returned to the site of his and the nation's first spaceflight on May 5, 1961, and reminisced with some of those who made it possible. A replica of the slim Redstone rocket and its Freedom 7 capsule stood in the background.

MASSIVE QUEBEC CLAY SLIDES BURY AT LEAST 40 HOMES

A SERIES of massive clay slides touched off by an underground stream swallowed up at least 40 homes in St. Jean Vianney, Quebec, Tuesday night, burying them in tons of muck described as "cold lava." Official estimates Wednesday set the toll of dead or missing at 31. One official said that perhaps as many as 25 of the victims were children trapped in their beds. About 1,200 persons had to be evacuated. More than 15 hours after the cave-ins dumped thousands of tons of slimy, suffocating clay on the little village 150 miles north of Quebec City, only two bodies had been recovered. Ten persons were plucked Wednesday morning off homes and cars that had sunk into the newly formed mile-long crater with a depth of 300 feet. Part of the village located on the "River of Broken Lands" began slipping into the crater shortly before midnight Tuesday when the cave-ins began. They continued into the night, and by morning, homes, autos and buses had slid into the thick muck into the bottom of the crater. Some 75 persons, screaming and moaning, were dragged from the muddy pit by more than 200 police, soldiers and volunteers.

U.S. BOMBERS STRIKE ON INDOCHINA FRONTS

U.S. B52 stratofortresses struck on Indochina's three war fronts Wednesday, bombing Communist targets in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. In Laos, North Vietnamese troops took over a key highway town from Laotian government forces after two days of heavy fighting.

RABBI E.M. MALINE

Newton Rabbi Gets Call To Phil. Pulpit

Rabbi Edward M. Maline, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Avodah of Newton, has accepted a call from Congregation Temple Judea of Philadelphia to become its senior Rabbi.

He will succeed Dr. Meir Lasker who will become Rabbi Emeritus after 30 years of service.

During the past four years, Temple Beth Avodah of Newton embarked upon a building program which is now completed. The new synagogue will be dedicated the weekend of May 14-16.

Prior to coming to Newton, Rabbi Maline served as associate Rabbi of Temple Ohabei Shalom.

He and his family will establish residence in Philadelphia in August 1971.

Give Business A Choice Of Where It Would Be Spanked

Former Boston Mayor John F. Collins advanced a tax-raising idea the other day which seemed to this listener to have a good deal of merit, particularly since the indications are that Governor Francis W. Sargent's latest tax plan is again headed down the legislative drain.

He made his proposal on the televised Sunday panel show he moderates and in the process became involved in a lively dialogue with blunt, outspoken former Senate Republican Leader Philip A. Graham.

Collins suggested, in effect, that if the Governor intends to try to raise a certain amount of new tax revenue from business, he should first sit down with a representative group of business executives and obtain their ideas on the best way to do it.

After an interesting verbal exchange between Collins and Graham, they finally agreed that this would be tantamount to asking a small boy where he preferred to be spanked.

Stall Proposals For Change In Selecting School Boards

Proposals for changes in the method of electing School Committee members were stalled in the Board of Aldermen on Monday night by a parliamentary device, after being thrashed around in debate for more than an hour.

Alderman Ernest Dietz imposed a charter objection on a proposal that would be placed on the November ballot calling for an amendment to the Newton city charter to include on the School Committee four members to be elected city wide and four from districts which would comprise two contiguous wards. The Mayor would be the ninth member ex officio.

Alderman Sidney T. Small, who favored placing the matter on the ballot for the voters to decide, nevertheless, then imposed his charter objection on three other stronger proposals to increase ward representation on the School Committee.

It is assumed that he felt it would have been better to consider all of the proposals at the same time.

A charter objection automatically cuts off debate and postpones a vote on an item for two weeks.

Then, as if something contagious was in the air, a petition for a charter amendment also proposed for the November ballot that would permit referendum and initiative petitions in the city of Newton was chartered by Alderman Peter Harrington before any debate on the matter occurred.

Eliot K. Cohen, chairman of the aldermanic Legislation and Rules Committee which had been studying the matter of the proposed charter amendments, reported that his committee had split 3-3 on most of the proposals for changing election methods.

Alderman David Jackson, who presented the proposals, also submitted a petition with 1,040 signatures, reportedly collected in just a few days, calling for a change in School Committee election methods.

Mrs. Joan Sakid, said the signature drive was launched in response to some aldermen who said they didn't see "any public clamor for the change."

School Committeemen in Newton are now elected city wide though each of the eight members must reside in a different ward. The proposals for change call for at least a portion of the committee to be elected by ward, or by two ward districts.

In essence, the petitions for change were submitted by those who would like to see a new method, because the proposed new charter for the city which will come before the voters in November does not call for an alteration in the present method of electing School Committee members.

To be placed on the ballot the proposals for charter amendments must receive the approval of two-thirds or 16 members of the Board of Aldermen.

Proponents of the proposed changes have argued that they would make it easier to run for election and therefore more candidates would be encouraged. In addition, ward

'Y' Sets Plans For New Local Building

One hundred guests of the Board and Trustees of the YMCA for Newton and the Western Suburbs gathered recently in the Executive facilities of the Raytheon Company for the first public presentation of plans for a new "Y". Charles E. Smith, President of the Newton National Bank and President of the "Y" was the official host and presiding officer.

Robert G. Mennemuth, Vice President, Industrial Relations at Raytheon and Chairman of the "Y" Planning Committee outlined the conditions that dictate the construction of a new "Y" facility and how the "Y" leadership proposes to meet this challenge.

Rev. Mercer Ordained In Newtonville

Peter Winston Mercer, a lifelong member of Central Congregational Church of Newton, was ordained into the Christian ministry by the Metropolitan Boston Association, United Church of Christ, at a special Service of Ordination last Sunday evening (May 2).

Rev. Mercer is the only member of Central Church to enter the ministry in the last 40 years.

Ordination followed his examination on March 23 by 20 ministerial and lay members of the MBA Committee on the Ministry. Further examination was held in an Ecclesiastical Council at Central Church on April 15, at which Rev. Dr. Gordon H.

Wabanite To Attend CARE D.C. Event

Leon M. Blum of Waban will be among CARE officials from all over the world participating in that international agency's 25th Anniversary World Conference in Washington, D.C. this coming week, May 7-14.

Blum is director of CARE's New England Regional Office in Boston, a post he has held since 1962. He has served with CARE since 1958.

The money will pay for such items as the service of one police sergeant, four patrolmen, a clerk typist and similar related costs, according to a report by Edward C. Uehlein, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

The NCDF hearings are scheduled for May 17 at Newton High School and May 19 and 20 at Newton South High.

The non-profit group is seeking its permit to construct 367 units of low- and moderate-income housing on six privately owned sites scattered throughout the city.

They are the same sites for which rezoning was unsuccessfully sought before the Board of Aldermen last year, except that the list does not include four city-owned parcels mentioned in the original petitions.

The number of housing units involved in the 1970 proposals totaled nearly 500.

To improve its chances of success, NCDF this time is basing its argument on the state's so-called "anti-snob zoning" law under which the appeals board may issue a "comprehensive permit" allowing low- and moderate-income public housing.

In case of disapproval by the Zoning Board of Appeals, NCDF can, according to the law, bring its plan before a state appeals agency.

"Brandies 25" Post Goes To Arnold Cutler

Arnold R. Cutler of Chestnut Hill, a Fellow of Brandeis University, has been named chairman of the attorneys' committee in Greater Boston for the "Brandeis 25" Annual Giving Program.

The "Brandeis 25" campaign is the University's national effort to secure $10 million in unrestricted annual gifts for Brandeis by mid-1973 when the University will observe its 25th anniversary. Gifts to the annual giving program underwrite the university's continuing daily expenses not usually covered by larger, designated gifts. Faculty salaries and financial aid to students are among the expenses annual giving covers.

Mr. Cutler, a member of the Boston law firm of Lourie and Cutler, is a former president of the Greater Boston Brandeis Club, Brandeis' first lay group. He also has been active in the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Boston and in a number of other charitable, social, civic and philanthropic organizations. He has lectured widely on tax law at colleges and universities and has contributed many articles on the subject to professional publications and books.

Reunion

Any Newton residents that are among the 2500 graduates of Christopher Columbus High School of Boston are urged to contact the Alumni Reunion Committee through Dan Burke at the school, 742-2626, for reservations to the Silver Anniversary celebration to be held at the Sheraton in Boston on June 12.

District Court Witnesses Big Law Day Crowd

A large group, consisting of students, elected and appointed officials, was present at Newton District Court last Saturday morning to partake in the Law Day program there.

Newton Junior College and city high school students were joined by court personnel, legislators, aldermen and other city officials to hear several people, including Judge Francis J. Larkin of the Newton District Court, offer their thoughts concerning the law and what its place in our society.

Judge Larkin remarked, in part, that "the great task in 1971 is to preserve and embrace what is genuine," noting the "need for discernment, the need to know in a fast-changing society what is law, what is the solution, what is real and what is sham."

Judge Larkin and Judge Franklin N. Flaschner of the District Court (and chief justice of the state's district courts), who was master of ceremonies at the exercises, later held a reception in the Judge's Lobby for the guests.

representatives would be more accountable and more responsive to voters, they have maintained.

Opponents have said that the present system has worked well and that each ward is represented, but because members are elected city wide their interests are not parochial and they are more concerned with the overall needs of the system.

Advocates of the proposals have also stated that, in any case, the voters of the city should be allowed to decide. Those who object the city should be allowed to proposed new charter should be allowed to go on the ballot alone this year so that voters will not be confused with side issues. These could be submitted at a later date if so desired, they have said.

Cohen reported that the members of his group who opposed the recommendations for change "believed the voter would not be able to truly exercise his vote on the new charter and would become confused if the proposals were placed on the ballot at the same time. "The charter would not have an opportunity to be heard on its own merits," he added.

Jackson declared that after giving the matter much consideration, he felt only one of the proposals should go on the ballot and favored the compromise of four members being elected at-large and four from two ward districts.

He maintained that this type of School Committee composition would be more responsive to the two-thirds of Newton citizens who don't have children in their schools and to the city as a whole.

The board voted 18 to 5 in agreement with Jackson's suggestion that not more than one proposal be placed on the ballot.

Alderman Sidney T. Small argued that "there is a hue and cry in the city for a change." He maintained further that the aldermen "by turning down an opportunity for people to vote on this subject were not truly

Cheyenne Student Speaks To Church Women Friday

James Lee West, a Cheyenne Indian, will be the speaker at the May Fellowship Breakfast of Church Women United in Newton to be held tomorrow (May 7) at 9:30 a.m. at Central Congregational Church, 218 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

Mrs. Matthew Jefferson of Myrtle Baptist Church, the Christian Social Relations Chairman of Church Women United, is Chairman of the Day, and has arranged for Mr. West to talk on "The Family in the New Era," giving an explanation of the changing role of the Indian in contemporary America. The traditional emphasis of Church Women United May celebrations is the expression of God's love for all men through just relationships in society, and since the charter of a community depends upon the character which is being built into its families, Mr. West's talk will give a picture of how this is being done and what is happening in his own tribe.

Jim West is a student at Andover Newton Theological School, has served the Church of the Way, Quincy, working with street gangs, and, as a student minister for the First Church in Newton, he has been Director of the Church School, made up of youngsters from the Episcopal, Methodist and United Churches.

Students from certain high school history classes, as well as all interested Senior Citizens, have been invited to hear Mr. West at 10:30 a.m. and to take part in the question and answer period which will follow his talk. There is no charge for these guests.

Rev. Robert J. Harding, Pastor of Central Congregational Church, will give the invocation and Mrs. D. the devotions. Mrs. Earl-aban of Newtonville, President of the Women's Association, will extend a welcome to all. Mrs. Alban is Chairman of the Breakfast Committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Bergquist, Mrs. Kenneth A. Bernard, Mrs.

Preacher-

The convention preacher will be the Rev. Dr. Gene Bartlett, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, and formerly president of Colgate - Rochester Divinity School in New York, a post he held for ten years.

More than 8000 delegates are expected, representing some 6000 American Baptist churches in 47 states, including Hawaii, Alaska, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

A service of Holy Communion will be held with the Rev. Dr. Roger L. Fredrikson of Sioux Falls, S.D., President of ABC churches, presiding.

The theme for the five-day assembly will be, "Let Us Break Bread Together."

The sessions will conclude on Sunday, May 16, with a dramatic service of commitment for missionaries and other special workers.

representing the people. He likened the situation to the vote in the legislature on the proposed cut in the size of the House of Representatives.

"If the charter can't stand on its own it doesn't deserve to be on the ballot. It is a weak argument," Small declared.

Alderman Harry Walen disagreed. "It would be a disservice to put a number of items on the ballot. It would only serve to confuse," he stated. Besides, Walen maintained, "the present process has produced a good system of which the city can be proud. I do not see a need for changing the method."

has been recognized internationally, largely because of Dr. Edsall's leadership who has made the laboratories one of the most progressive in the country.

In 1951, Dr. Edsall assumed a post at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research in Washington, D.C., where he was responsible for establishing the Immunology Division. Before returning to the State Health Department in 1960, he conducted extensive work with typhoid while serving as director of the Division of Communicable Diseases at Walter Reed.

Born in Philadelphia, Dr. Edsall came to Boston at a very early age. He attended Harvard College for three years and then entered Harvard Medical School.

His internship was at the Massachusetts General Hospital followed by three years as a Research Fellow in Allergy and Pediatrics at Harvard Medical School.

As an outstanding scientist interested in infectious diseases Dr. Edsall has international recognition as an immunologist and has served as a consultant for the World Health Organization, travelling to many parts of the world.

Dr. Edsall and his wife reside in Chestnut Hill.

On Thursday the 20th, at Newton South, the two remaining sites to be heard on will be those at Goddard and Christian Streets in Newton Highlands and Esty Farm in Oak Hill.

$35,000 Damage In Two-Alarm Nonatum Blaze

Two-thirds of the rooms in a Nonatum duplex house were burned out or heavily damaged and an estimated $35,000 damage was done Sunday night in a smoky, two-alarm blaze which left two families homeless and a pair of Newton firemen hurt, one badly.

When Firefighters first arrived at 33 Nonantum Place following an alarm coming at 7:05 p.m. A second alarm, at 7:15, brought additional help, including Newton Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

The blaze, which Perkins thinks started "between the second and third floors," ultimately spread under the roof, across the attic and down into the second-floor apartment.

Both families living in the dwelling, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Edwards (the owners) and their two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund V. Corrigan with their six youngsters, managed to escape to safety soon after the flames were discovered by the Corrigans.

Sent to Newton-Wellesley Hospital was Newton Assistant Chief Charles W. Cassidy who reportedly suffered severe wrist lacerations and a chest injury in battling the flames.

Fireman Ralph R. O'Dowd was also hurt while fighting the blaze, reportedly receiving a hand injury.

Although Chief Perkins acknowledged "it was a stubborn, smoky fire," he maintained that "there were no special problems fighting it."

Mental Health Meeting To Be Held May 13th

"Are All the Rules Changing?" a Quest for Fundamentals in Today's Morality and Culture, is the subject that will be discussed by Dr. Donald S. Gair at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Mental Health Center Auxiliary. This meeting will be held on May 13 in the auditorium at 74 Fenwood Road, Boston.

Dr. Gair is Assistant Professor of Sychiatry, Harvard Medical School; Chief of In-Service, Children's Ward of M.M.H.C.; and president of the New England Council of Child Psychiatry.

Immediately preceding Dr. Gair's address, will be the unveiling of a plaque bearing the profile of Dr. Harry C. Solomon. Dr. Solomon was the Medical Director and later Superintendent of M.M.H.C. from 1943 to 1958. It was at his instigation that the Auxiliary was formed twenty-five years ago.

Dr. Solomon will be honored in the lobby of the hospital at 10:30 a.m. following a social hour. Dr. Gair's lecture will begin promptly at 11 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

There will be no admission fee but those planning to attend are requested to make reservations by calling Mrs. Robert Mehlman, 566-8185.

Talk Of Branch Closings Tagged Premature By Palen

John B. G. Palen, president of the board of trustees of the Newton Free Library, last week responded to the qualified support for a new library by Alderman David W. Jackson, and indicated it is premature at this time to consider the possibilities of branch libraries being closed in the future.

Jackson had earlier announced that, until the trustees clarified their ideas concerning the branch system, he would not back their attempt to build a new library.

Discussion on a new main library has been proceeding, with disagreement over the site being one impediment to actual construction. The Board of Aldermen's Public Buildings Committee is now studying the entire library proposal.

Palen's letter to Jackson appears below. The trustee wrote:

"This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 23, 1971, in which you set forth your opposition to the request of the Library Trustees for a $5,000 library consultant's fee. 'You may recall that the Humphrey-McNiff Report was based on the proposition that a new library would be located elsewhere than on the site presently agreed upon by both the Mayor and the Trustees. Because of this some of the proposals set forth in the Humphrey-McNiff Report are no longer relevant nor applicable. It is a matter of record that the Board of Library Trustees has endorsed only the part of the Humphrey-McNiff Report which recommends the building of a new main library. 'If a new main library should be erected on the site now agreed upon by the Mayor and the Trustees, future use patterns may indicate that certain branches are not serving their purposes in a satisfactory manner. The Trustees serving at that time might

James McAuliffe Scholarship Is New 'Y' Project

The Newton Y.M.C.A.'s Business Men's Athletic Club has formed the James McAuliffe Camp Scholarship Fund, under the leadership of Dr. Lloyd Caplan, Chairman.

The Fund was established in memory of James McAuliffe, an M.D.C. Policeman for 35 years, and long-time Y.M.C.A. member.

When James McAuliffe retired in 1969, he was in charge of the M.D.C. Riverside Division, where he formed twilight golf competition for Youth. Mr. McAuliffe was one of the first 50 members of the Y.M.C.A.'s Athletic Club, and active as a Committee Member.

The monies raised will be used to send needy boys to the "Y's" Camp Frank A. Day, in East Brookfield, Mass.

Persons wishing to make a donation may make checks payable to the "Newton Y.M.C.A.'s McAuliffe Fund."

State Realtors Plan Program Here For 26th

The use of mortgage-equity capitalization as a handy and professionally reliable appraisal tool will be fully explained at a day-long program to take place Wednesday, May 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

The program, entitled "Ellwood Without Algebra," is sponsored by the Massachusetts Association of Real Estate Boards. It will be conducted by Charles B. Akerson, president of the Nordblom Valuation Company and chairman of the association Committee.

Lombardo's 'Sweetest Music' Two Graduate For Chamber Dance May 24

The Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce will sponsor Guy Lombardo and his orchestra at a dance for its members and friends at the Sidney Hill Country Club on May 24, from 8:30 p.m. - midnight.

Since his grammar school days in London, Ontario, Canada, Guy Lombardo has led an orchestra which has increasingly become a legend in its time.

From their first booking at an Elks Convention in Cleveland forty-odd years ago, Guy Lombardo's orchestra has become world-renowned as the "sweetest music this side of heaven."

For thirty-five years he has been associated with the Hotel Roosevelt in New York and his continued popularity is in part due to having introduced more than 500 national "hit" songs, his ability to spot forthcoming trends and his widespread radio and television syndicated programs.

National concert tours, records, his summer productions at Jones Beach Music Theatre on Long Island and his well-known interest in speed-boat racing have attracted the country's attention. The dance will be open to the public, as well as to members of the Chamber of Commerce and their friends. Tickets are available through committee members or by calling the Chamber Office (tel. 244-5300).

John Newby of Whetton, Buckley & Scott is General Chairman of the dance, assisted by Geoffrey Stoughton, WNTN; Donald MacMillan, Calvert's, Inc.; Robert Larvey, West Newton Savings Bank; Harmon Shufro, Allen Hardware; Victor Nicolazzo, Bigelow Oil; Carl Sjoquist, Sjoquist Insurance; Atty. Ernst Seyfarth; Edmund White, Jr., Richard White & Sons and A. Raymond Lambert, Lambert Electric Co., 1971 Chamber President.

Two Newton area students were awarded undergraduate degrees at the 121st commencement exercises held recently at Beloit College in Beloit, Wisc. Margaret Mary Brown, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Thomas N. Brown of 567 Walnut street, Newton, a history major, was graduated cum laude.

Carolyn Hayden, daughter of Dr. Thomas S. Hayden of 8 Eden avenue, West Newton, was an English literature major.

New Play Area Undertaken By Claflin PTA

The Claflin P.T.A. has received school committee approval to undertake a self-help project. They plan to turn the semi-circular parking area on Lowell avenue into an enclosed grassed play area for Claflin children. The lack of adequate play space has been acutely felt for many years. Claflin parents and children will be involved in preparing and planting the new playground.

All proceeds from the Claflin Bazaar on May 8th will go to the new playground. The Annual Bazaar will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will feature games, food, and two new attractions. THE CLAFLIN BOUTIQUE will offer handcrafted gifts and clothing produced by Claflin children, parents and alumni. TIGER OF THE INSECT WORLD offers praying mantis egg cases. Today's Celebrities Raffaele Minichiello plans to write his memoirs. Mr. Minichiello is 21. He had had no literary experience. His coming book, however, is almost certain to be a success.

Raffaele, using a gun instead of a ticket, went all the way from California to Italy 18 months ago to become the world's undisputed air-line hi-jack champion.

When he emerged from an Italian prison the other day, there was a crowd on hand to hail him as a hero. He won their hearts with his ready smile and his feat of crossing the United States from coast to coast and then the North Atlantic before completing his 6,900-mile sky trip to his native Italy.

Italian courts originally imposed a 7½-year term but his appeals and an amnesty grant cut that sentence down to a few months. He put his confinement to good use, scribbling out some notes for his memoirs. No doubt, as soon as a ghost writer can put the notes into shape for his publishers, Raffaele will join the growing list of instant authors who have been challenging the best seller lists in recent years.

While out on bail following his conviction in connection with the Chicago disorders during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, Abbie Hoffman has not only been cleaning up financially on the lecture circuit but also has put out a book on how to circumvent the law.

One of the markets, probably the most lucrative, Raffaele will find, will be right here in the U.S. Today notoriety offers a fine springboard to help neophyte authors obtain readers. If the legendary Robin Hood or even our own Jesse James were alive today, they'd have national magazine publishers bidding toward the million-dollar mark for "How I Do It" scripts.

Sirhan Sirhan, convicted murder of Robert F. Kennedy, voices the complaint from his prison cell about rules which deprive him of a chance to write a book.

Movie moguls, magazine editors and book publishers have their own ideas about what makes a celebrity these days.

Victims Lose, Too

At a time when the subject of law-breakers and modern methods of dealing with them was before a recent seminar of criminologists, penologists, psychiatrists and other experts, a University of Pennsylvania professor stepped a bit out of line.

"What," he queried in a rhetorical question, "are we doing for the victims of crime?" His own answer was — Not much."

The good professor apparently has become somewhat impatient with those present-day philosophers who have been gaining the headlines by voicing their concern over the criminal. They've discovered a supposedly sure-fire means of ending crime or at least reducing it to a minimum.

They deplore old-fashioned ideas of punishment and prison establishments. Their theories, it seems, are based on a much more sympathetic approach to the crime question from the law-breaker's point of view. They would explore and put into operation modern concepts of medical and psychiatric care, vocational training, rehabilitation and extensive therapy.

Massachusetts now has a law on its books intended to compensate certain victims of some violent crimes. It has not been used much. Besides, as Attorney General Robert H. Quinn points out, available funds are on the anemic side. It hasn't done much for the 75-year-old woman, who spends weeks on a hospital cot because she tried to resist a bag-snatcher. It hasn't replaced the family breadwinner gunned down in a gasoline station, a corner store or a bank.

Some victims are able to make it to court, if and when the culprit is caught. The state pays them a non-munificent witness fee and their carfare to the courthouse. Beyond that the law pretty much forgets they exist, if they do.

From that point on, if some of the mod-thinking bleeding hearts have their ideas accepted, the state's chief concern would lie with the criminal and his future. Get him to a psychiatrist's couch. Educate him. Rehabilitate him. Ease his path to society's full-fledged acceptance.

"The bureaucracy of justice has de-personalized the victim," complains the U. of P. professor. At the risk of appearing old-fashioned, many members of society will agree with him. Indeed, logic seems to say that if we are to go all-out to produce a better life for the criminal, something also should be done to square society's accounts with his victim.

To Conference In Bahamas

Four Newton-area taff members and their wives of the Daniels Dreyfus Financial Planning Service of Chestnut Hill attended a national conference at Paradise Island in the Bahamas.

Members of the party included Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Daniels of Waban, Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Dreyfus of Chestnut Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Eric T. Sollee of West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spinner of Newton Center.

Sponsored by CNA Financial Corporation, a diversified financial services company, the men were invited on the basis of 12 months progressive planning for their clientele in the fields of pensions, profit sharing and estate management. Mr. Daniels has qualified for this conference for 17 successive years, Mr. Dreyfus for 10, Mr. Sollee for four and Mr. Spinner for the first time.

-POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS-

Collins observed that while the small boy obviously would not want to be spanked at all, he might have a preference for the section of the anatomy where the spanking would be administered if it were inevitable.

A strong case against Governor Sargent's proposal for a new tax on the gross investment income of Massachusetts-based life insurance companies has been made by Gerhard D. Bleicken, chairman and chief executive of the John Hancock Company.

It seems plain on the basis of the arguments outlined by Bleicken, who pointed out that the insurance industry already is the mostly highly taxed business in the state, that this would be a harmful tax in a number of ways, hitting millions of small policy-holders, among other things.

Paradoxically, the suggestion which seems to have stirred the least public opposition is the proposal for increasing the sales tax from three to four per cent.

From the standpoint of most people the sales tax appears to be a nuisance tax but a relatively painless one as far as day-to-day purchases are concerned. It's when you're buying something like a new automobile that the sales tax hurts.

However, the members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives do not appear in a mood at the present time to enact any tax plan. One must be adopted eventually, but the law-makers don't seem to be in any rush to get it done.

The principal reason for this attitude is the public reaction to the disclosures of welfare abuses and the realization of many taxpayers that a part of the money they provide to meet welfare costs is siphoned off by chisellers and outright crooks.

From Governor Sargent's standpoint the problem is a difficult one. He must raise more money to finance the operation of the State government. But despite his great personal popularity, he's having a difficult time satisfying anyone on where they should be spanked, as Messrs. Collins and Graham might put it.

Few Congressmen Desire To Change To Other Offices

In modern political history only two Massachusetts Congressmen have yielded to persuasion that they give up their seats on Washington's Capitol Hill and come home to run for state offices.

Christian A. Herter consented to appeals that he stand for the Governorship in 1952 in an attempt to revive the fallen fortunes of the Republican party in the Bay State.

Foster Furcolo went from Congress to the Governor's chair but by a more circuitous route than did Herter.

He accepted an appointment as State Treasurer at the request of the late Governor Paul A. Dever and it took all Dever's famed oratorical ability to persuade Furcolo to leave Washington.

Furcolo was elected State Treasurer in 1952 after a big drive was made by the Dever organization to get him through the Democratic primary.

Former Senator Leverett Saltonstall barely beat back Furcolo's challenge in 1954, and then in 1956 Furcolo was elected Governor.

But except for Herter and Furcolo—the late John F. Kennedy who jumped from Congress to the U.S. Senate—and James M. Curley who used Congress as a springboard to the Boston Mayor's job in the mid-1940s—Congressmen generally have preferred to remain Congressmen.

The job is a pleasant one. A Congressman receives a bigger salary than the Governor of Massachusetts or Mayor of Boston and does not have the day-to-day cares, worries and responsibilities.

The average Congressman, living as he does in Washington most of the time, is remote enough from his constituents and is held in sufficient respect and esteem so that he usually wins reelection to term after term unless he is Gerrymandered out of office, as Laurence Curtis was in 1962.

Rarely is a Congressman defeated for renomination or reelection, whatever the issue, unless his district has been drastically revised.

Joe Martin was defeated in a Republican primary because he no longer was physically able to serve his district, and he might have ridden out the storm by merely placing his name on the ballot except that his district had been changed.

In Washington a Congressman has power, prestige and privileges which make for a satisfying life without the burdensome worries shouldered by a Governor or big-city Mayor.

All this becomes somewhat pertinent because of the persistent reports that two Massachusetts Congressmen—Michael Harrington of Salem and Louise Day Hicks of South Boston—might come home to seek other positions. Mrs. Hicks the job of Mayor of Boston this year, Harrington the office of Governor in 1974.

Whatever the actual facts may be, other Congressmen do not believe that either Mrs. Hicks or Harrington will voluntarily leave Washington. They are incredulous when the question is put to them. "Leave here?" is their general reaction.

It will be interesting to see if the job of Congressman gradually makes the same favorable impression on Mrs. Hicks and Mr. Harrington that it has upon a Congressman such as Silvio Conte of Pittsfield who repeatedly has passed up opportunities to achieve election to the Governorship and other state offices, preferring to remain a Congressman.

Sarge Suffers Big Setback On Financing Cabinet Plan

Governor Sargent attempted whenever possible last year to pitch his campaign against the Legislature and to run against the big, bad legislative giant instead of Boston Mayor Kevin H. White.

He spearheaded a fight to reduce the membership of the House of Representatives by one-third, losing that battle by one vote, an outcome which helped rather than hurt his bid for election to the Governorship.

The Governor mixed into a battle within his own party at the start of this year and help Representative Francis W. Hatch, Jr., oust Representative Sidney Q. Curtiss from the position of Republican Leader in the House.

Recently, he has levelled a few attacks at House Speaker David M. Bartley, and Bartley has struck back in whirlwind fashion.

Mr. Sargent as far as is known has not affronted State Senate President Kevin Harrington, but Harrington has abstained from joining in any choruses about Sarge being "a jolly good fellow."

Governor Sargent now appears to be paying the price for his lack of effort to build up any goodwill among the members of the Legislature.

The Governor suffered a resounding rebuff when his $420,000 budget for financing his plan for reorganizing the upper echelon of State government was rejected in the House by an overpowering margin. Mr. Sargent couldn't even muster solid Republican support.

The merits of the argument in this controversy are on the side of the Governor. But most people aren't delving deeply enough into the matter to decide who is right and who's wrong. They don't get down to the fine print.

On the basis of the phone calls to this writer, it seems that what most readers consider is that Messrs. Sargent and Bartley are in a row over spending money at a time when the people are being asked to pay more taxes.

They don't seem to grasp the argument that the Legislature approved a reorganization plan calling for the creation of a cabinet system but is now balking at putting up the money to pay the salaries of new aides and assistants to the Cabinet heads.

Some of the actions in the House were so complicated it was a little difficult at times to figure out which of them had any real meaning and which didn't, who was voting with the Governor and who was against him.

Republican House Leader Hatch at one point called up a compromise plan for giving the Governor $323,000. His motion was defeated 158 to 72.

Then Bartley brought up the Governor's own plan. That was overwhelmingly knocked down 220 to 11, with most Republican recorded against it. Some of the GOP members explained, a bit lamely, it seemed, that since Hatch's move had been beaten, there was no reason to try to make the vote close on the Governor's own proposal.

That's a unique line of reasoning when it comes to a Republican Legislator talking about a Governor's bill and a humiliating defeat.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Protest Pesticide

Editor of The Graphic:

Again I am writing to encourage public pressure on the Newton Street Department to cease spraying Newton's shade trees with Sevin (carbaryl).

This chemical has been labeled a potential hazard to man. Let me quote from a recent Massachusetts Audubon Society publication dealing with the spraying of Sevin:

"An important negative side effect of Sevin is its toxicity to bees. Bees and other pollinating insects are an integral part of the ecological scheme. Without these insects fruit trees, squash, legumes and scores of flowering plants would not long survive. If used in the early spring as recommended, Sevin will kill nearly all of the pollinating insects in the treated area; yet another counter-productive effect of large-scale spray programs.

"More important is the chance that Sevin may be hazardous to human health. In 1969 the Department of Health, Education and Welfare released a document entitled: 'Report of the Secretary's Commission on Pesticides and Hip to Environmental Health.' Before making their final recommendations, the commission members reviewed and evaluated more than 5000 references to published and ongoing scientific research. Recommendation 5 calls on the Secretary of HEW to 'minimize human exposure to these pesticides considered to present a potential health hazard to man.'

"The report also states, 'Teratology deals with the etiology and development of congenital malformations...'

"The use of currently registered pesticides to which humans are exposed and which are found to be teratogenic by suitable test procedures in one or more mammalian species should be immediately restricted to prevent risk of human exposure."

"Among the twenty-one substances listed in this context is Sevin. This substance was one of a group of nine pesticides which showed a significant increase in the number and proportion of abnormal offspring in test animals (teratogenic effect). While it is now known whether these results are directly applicable to man, Sevin was branded a potential hazard."

"A key phrase in the report is 'potential hazard.' It is not clear that Sevin will react in humans as it has in test animals. We are the final guinea pigs."

In the light of continued uncertainty about the effects of this chemical on birds and animals, I feel the city should not expose us by its continued use.

Sincerely yours,
Deborah V. Howard

To Alaska

Sergeant Duran E. Tillett, 21, has recently been assigned as a squad leader in company E, 1st battalion, 60th infantry of the 172nd Infantry Brigade at Ft. Richardson, Alaska.

Tillett, the son of Mrs. Hazel A. Broughan of 48 High St., Newton, and holder of the Air Medal and Bronze Star Medal, entered the army in May of 1968 and was stationed in Vietnam.

County Seeks 1,200 Jurors

Hoping to find approximately 1,200 Newton residents who would be eligible for jury duty, Alan W. Licarie, executive secretary of the city's Election Commission, is having his agency mail over 2,000 questionnaires.

The persons to receive the questionnaire have been selected at random from a list of city residents, according to Licarie. One is qualified for jury duty unless one falls into several age, occupational or economic categories.

People over 70 and under 22, mothers with children younger than 16, doctors, nurses, lawyers, teachers, ministers, college officials and state hospital employees are among those excluded from serving on a jury.

So are those who demonstrate an extraordinary financial or other extreme hardship to the satisfaction of the Election Commission.

Commission hearings on individual hardship exemptions are scheduled for the nights of May 20 and May 26 in the City Hall cafeteria.

The Middlesex County superior courts in Cambridge and Lowell normally get about 300 of their annual jurors from Newton, noted Licarie. A person's name, once it is put on the eligible list, stays on the list for either three years of until selected. A person is exempt from further jury duty for at least three years if he is picked to serve, Licarie added.

The Board of Aldermen, once or twice a month, perform the actual selection, generally at the end of a board meeting.

The final action saw the House by a vote of 154 to 77 approve a Bartley-backed bill to give the Governor $104,000 to carry out his reorganization plan. Governor Sargent said the amount was totally inadequate. Some law-makers, however, didn't want to give him that much.

Republican House Leader Hatch was listed as voting with Bartley for the adoption of the cut-down budget. Deposed Republican Leader Curtiss was listed as voting against it. So was Representative Martin Linsky, who at one time last year was tapped by the Governor to be Republican candidate.

That is simply intended as a report on how three prominent House Republicans voted. The matter is so fogged by different moves and maneuvers that it is difficult to say how a Sargent supporter should have voted on that particular proposal.

Truman's Birthday Revives Memories of 1948 Campaign

Former President Harry S. Truman celebrates his 87th birthday Saturday, and the occasion brings back memories of a younger Harry Truman 23 years ago who was making an uphill fight the experts said he couldn't win.

It recalled an October night in 1948 when we sat in a suite in Boston's Hotel Statler and had an exclusive interview with Mr. Truman while he was relaxing before he attended a big Boston rally.

The Boston Post, for which we worked at the time, was one of the few newspapers in the country which had endorsed Truman's candidacy and championed his cause. Maurice Tobin, then Secretary of Labor, was riding the Truman train as it criss-crossed through New England, and he arranged the interview.

Truman expected to lose that election, regardless of what he said after it unexpectedly produced a victory for him.

"Support like this makes my fight worthwhile even if I am going to lose," he said in substance as he motioned to the Post editorial, "I mean if I should lose," he corrected himself.

Harry Truman was two things to this observer. He was a man of the people, and he was a fighter.

In those days Presidential candidates campaigned by train. We began to realize there was something strange about a campaign in which people came out by the thousands at 5:30 and 6 in the morning to hail and cheer at whistlestops a little man who supposedly was on his way to certain defeat.

Most of the experts didn't get up that early in the morning, but we were still learning the trade, and we couldn't sleep that well on a rattling railroad train.

From Boston we went with Harry Truman to New York City where the people by the hundreds of thousands came out to acclaim the man who was making a gallant fight against their all-conquering Governor. The signs were plain that an upset was in the making.

The Truman train for some reason stopped on a siding in a wooded area of Connecticut. We were sitting in the dining car chatting with some of the Secret Service men about the campaign when a man walked past the window with a rifle slung over his shoulder.

"There's a man out there with a rifle," we said, and he seems to be heading back toward the car where Truman is."

"Don't joke about things like that," one of the SS men answered sharply. "It's not funny."

"We're not joking," we replied apologetically as one of the SS men glanced out the window to see the disappearing figure of a man in rough clothes with a gun on his shoulder.

The SS men guarding President Truman bolted out of the car. It turned out the man carrying the rifle was hunting squirrels and had no idea he was walking past a special train carrying the President of the United States. He was lucky he lived long enough to make his explanation. The Secret Service men caught up with him before he passed the car in which Mr. Truman was riding.

It was arduous, campaigning by train, jumping down from a car at a whistlestop and racing back to the rear platform of the last car to see the reaction of the people to Harry S. Truman.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss LaTorre-Mr. Bremner

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steven LaTorre of Pittston, Pennsylvania, which makes known the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Rosina Carol LaTorre, to Robert Adam Bremner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert K. Bremner of Brookline.

The candlelight service took place in Convention Hall, Pittston, Pa. Rabbi Miton Richman of Scranton, Pa., officiated.

The bride's ivory satin gown, made with an empire bodice, long sleeves and court train, was misted with jeweled Russell's lace.

Her matching lace Camelot cap was fastened with a full length illusion veil and she carried one long stemmed rose.

Mrs. Steve LaTorre, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Benson, Miss Sherry Zimmerman, Mrs. Henry Hyatt and Mrs. James Abeles.

Young Renee LaTorre, niece of the bride, was flower girl, while Master Dean LaTorre was his aunt's ring bearer.

The best man was the groom's brother, John Evan Bremner. Ushering were James Abeles, Henry Hyatt, Albert Lipperini and Dr. Henry Hurwitz.

After a trip to Jamaica, the couple will reside in Philadelphia.

The bride, a graduate of Temple University, is a medical technologist in clinical bio-chemistry at Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia.

Mr. Brener, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, received his master's degree at the Wharton School of Business and Finance. He is now an executive administrative Assistant in the Model Cities Program in Philadelphia.

Newtonites To Attend Annual Church Meeting

Several Newton residents will be among those attending the annual meeting of the Women's Societies of the Churches of the Southern New England United Methodist Conference, to be held this coming Saturday (May 8) in Boston University's Marsh Chapel, starting at 11 a.m.

The featured speaker will be Mrs. Eugene McCarthy, a nationally prominent Catholic laywoman who is especially concerned that churchwomen channel their political and social skills towards bettering the world.

In the afternoon, a panel discussion will be held, with panel members — authorities in their fields — talking on such matters as health, aging, the drug culture and politics.

Guests are welcome to attend the meeting at which 350 churches in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut will be represented.

Newton Graduate Commended By Air Force Chief

Second Lieutenant Edward F. Pleuler, a 1962 graduate of Newton High School, recently received, along with his associates at Eglin AFB in Florida, special recognition by the Secretary of the Air Force as members of the Air Force Systems Command (AFSC), currently observing its 10th anniversary.

Lt. Pleuler supports operations of the AFSC Armament Development and Test Center which directs the Air Force non-nuclear munitions program.

He and command personnel were commended by Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr. for their part in the great achievement in defense aeronautics, missiles, space and electronics during the past decade. Dr. Seamans stated that future U.S. progress would "unquestionable depend upon the research and development efforts of AFSC," which manages the acquisition of Air Force aerospace systems.

Lieutenant Pleuler, an electronics engineer, was commissioned upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB in Texas. He holds a bachelor of science degree from Northeastern University.

Lt. Pleuler, whose parents now live in New Jersey, is married to the former Lois Marchand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Marchand of 307 California Street, Newton.

Jewish Play To Show At School On Sat., May 15

Under the auspices of the Brookline - Brighton - Newton Jewish Community Center, The Community Repertory Theater will present THE DYBBUK, the most famous Jewish play ever written, to take place at Meadowbrook Junior High School auditorium on Saturday, May 15 at 8:15 p.m.

The newly launched Community Repertory Theater recently gave three memorable performances of Anski's The Dybbuk at the Brookline - Brighton - Newton Community Center. This beautiful Jewish classic took on new dimensions in these uniquely sensitive performances.

The actors were incomparable. As the Grand Rabbi, Lawrence Levinson of Newton rises to exalted heights in his portrayal of Rebbe Azriel; Leah, played by Mozelle Berkowitz, is a winsome young girl in love with a poor Yeshiva student. The ill-starred romance so wistfully played by Mozelle and Joel Berkowitz touched the hearts of the audience.

Beautiful traditional music, arranged and directed by Dr. S. B. Potter of Newton weaves throughout the piece unifying the whole poetic drama into an unforgettable experience.

Tickets for the performance at Meadowbrook on May 15 are now on sale. Blocks of tickets are available at reduced rates to sponsor groups and theater parties interested in fund-raising. For ticket information, call: Mrs. S. B. Potter: 244-3305 or Mrs. Ronya Schwaab: 277-3457.

Carmen Lists May Mental Health Plans

William Carmen, president of the Newton Mental Health Association, Inc. announced plans for the observance of "May is Mental Health Month" in Newton in keeping with the national mental health campaign.

A concentrated effort will be made during May to better acquaint the citizens of Newton with the diversity of services offered by the Newton Mental Health Center which have increased over the last five years, in addition to increasing membership in the Association, and culminating in publicizing a "Night at Pops" to be held on June 25th.

The Newton Public Library, through Mrs. George Michaels, is co-operating by displaying books relating to good mental health. Pickup literature will also be available emphasizing some characteristics of people with good mental health.

On May 10, Mr. Carmen will participate with Governor Sargent in a ceremony proclaiming "May is Mental Health Month" and members of the Association will later attend a tea hostessed by Mrs. Sargent.

Miss Virginia Castles, Education Chairman, is coordinating the month-long activities and working with her are Mr. Kenneth Novack, Mrs. George B. Rubin, Mrs. John Reichard, Mrs. Manuel Taylor, Mrs. Melvin Klayman, Dr. John Cullinane and Mrs. Gale Raphael.

Young GOP Wine Tasting Sunday

The Newton Young Republicans will hold a Wine Tasting for its friends and new members at the Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands, this coming Sunday afternoon (May 9) from 3:30 to 5:30.

Invited guests include Lt. Governor Donald R. Dwight, House Minority Leader Francis W. Hatch Jr., Representative Theodore D. Mann and Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The Wine Tasting is the kick-off event for a sustained membership drive decided upon at the Young Republicans' March meeting, at which time, Chuck Miller, executive committee chairman, commented that "the club intends to increase the political awareness of our community and to activate the increased civic responsibility which Massachusetts has recently given to its citizens between the ages of 18 and 21."

Tickets to the Wine Tasting may be obtained from any member or by calling Fred Uehlen at 244-7488, or Church Miller at 332-6653.

British Cite Officers In Collisions At Sea

By HARRY HOBBS

UPI — The recent rash of ship collisions in the English channel has prompted British shipping authorities to call upon all nations to exercise stricter controls in issuing "competence" certificates to ships' officers.

Without pointing the finger at any specific country or ship, chamber of shipping president Sir John Nicholson hoisted a danger signal when he said that five collisions in the narrow waters of the channel in three months, including a dangerous collision involving oil tankers appeared to stem from "human failure to keep the necessary standards of vigilance."

And in a current inquiry into the collision of two Liberian-flag tankers off the British coast late in 1970, inquiry chairman Sir Gordon Wilmer stated:

"One of the questions we must consider is the responsibility of the owners for the general management of their ships." This responsibility, he said as quoted by Lloyd's of London, includes certifying "the adequacy" of ships' officers, their crews, and their equipment.

Must Know Rules

"Adequacy" of the men responsible for sailing ships across the seas and through the world's various waterways includes, Lloyd's noted, a thorough knowledge of the safety rules governing transit of the seas and waterways, and strict enforcement of those rules.

The implication in the British complaints is that some shipping companies have been lax in this regard and they appear to point the biggest finger of criticism at ships operated under the so-called "flags of convenience." This is the term given to ships of one country sailed under the flag of another country for a variety of reasons including lower labor costs and taxes, etc.

Despite the present concern over the latest accidents, in fact both on a world basis and as regards the English Channel itself seagoing accidents have been dropping in recent years.

For the world, according to the Liverpool Underwriters' Association which keeps tabs on such matters, a total of 151 ships were lost to all causes in 1970, totalling 708,855 gross tons. This was 111,000 less tonnage than lost in 1969, and marginally lower than the average for five previous years.

Less Accidents

As for the English Channel, in the six and one-half years before 1967 - when new "course" rules were laid out - there were 101 ship accidents in the channel, an average of 15.5 per year. The last three years there were 34 accidents or an average of 9.6 per year.

Channel traffic makes the roadway one of the world's busiest, if not the busiest. According to Lloyd's there were 52,444 ocean-going ships totalling 237 million tons sailing world's seaways in 1970. And of these, Lloyd's reported, about 800 every day used the 21-mile-wide Straits of Dover to pass through the English Channel.

Of the 151 ships which came to grief during 1970, 12 were lost due to collision, 21

due to weather damage, 23 through foundering, 4.5 by standing or "abandonment," 30 were sunk following fires or explosions, 19 were lost to various other causes including faulty machinery and one ship was simply listed as "missing."

Each serviceable freight car on American railroads travels an average of 47 miles per day.

Pretty May Bridal Unites Bonnie Smith, E. J. Balboni

On Saturday, May 1st, Miss Bonnie Anne Smith and Edward Joseph Balboni exchanged vows at Our Day of the Presentation Church in Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Andrew Smith of 21 Belmont street, Newton, and Mrs. Mary Ford of Brighton are the couple's parents.

The Rev. John P. Lyons performed the three o'clock afternoon ceremony at which two rings were exchanged. A reception was held at Hybernian Hall in Watertown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned with a lace bodice, which was made with silk sleeves and styled with a pleated skirt.

A becoming headpiece held in place her illusion veil. She carried traditional flowers.

Miss Alice Dolores Smith of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Sullivan of Hull, Miss Diane Smith of Newton and Miss Susan Sullivan of Hull. Young Jean Smith of Newton was flower girl.

Newton Women Active In Big Sisters Event

Sounds of jazz and blues echoed over the Charles River on Friday, April 30, when "Red Rose" a group of young musicians from Newton, played for the Big Sister Association benefit at Gerry's Landing in Cambridge.

Under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Alexander N. Crowder III and Mrs. Robert B. Slattery Jr., the cocktail-buffet provided an evening of enjoyment and entertainment. An active committee of women from West Suburban communities, including Mrs. Louis S. Pearlstein of Newton, arranged details.

Proceeds from this event will help the Big Sister Association of Greater Boston, a social service agency, continue to serve girls in need of personal attention and understanding by matching them on a one-to-one basis with women over nineteen. Special attention will be given to raising funds for camperships to enable the agency to send girls out of the hot city to camps this Summer.

Newton women now volunteering as Big Sisters are June Carmel, Sue Dean, Carol Hanlon, Lisa Hemboldt, Ellen Boehberger, Margaret McGee, Virgilia Sampson, Hula Segall, Peggy Scott, Jill Thompson and Margo Whitty. For information please call 523-5426.

"Even if you couldn't learn French in school, I can teach you"

Think back. How did they teach you in school? In a class of 20? Or was it 30? At Berlitz, when you take private lessons with me, you are my only pupil. So you learn at your own pace. And what you learn are not the usual boring academic things, like lists of verbs. Instead we start with simple words. Du vin. (Wine). Then I show you how to put these simple words into simple sentences. "Apportez-moi un verre de vin, s'il vous plait." (Please bring me a glass of wine).

Soon you will be chattering away in French as though you had been speaking it for years. Instead of just a few weeks. And, because only those who have spoken the language from birth teach French at Berlitz, your accent will be like mine. Perfect. If you still don't believe that you can speak French, for one of my colleagues will gladly teach you a few phrases, without obligation. Call us. Or come in to see us. Our phone numbers are below.

Elterman Wins Math Prize

Lawrence Elterman of Newton South High School has won third prize in the Mathematics category of the SETS (Systems for Education, Time Sharing) Programming Contest.

His program finds the real roots of polynomials, using two techniques. It demonstrates not only the solution to the problem, but also how the computer can save one from doing tedious computations.

Elterman competed with students from 28 schools in the metropolitan Boston area. All 28 schools are subscribers of SETS, Inc., who supply a time-sharing service to educational institutions in order to teach programming and problem solving methods to the students.

Each subscriber school has a teletype terminal on its premises which is connected to the SETS computer facility in Waltham by means of leased telephone lines.

Elementary Center Added To Creative Arts Center

An arts center planned exclusively for upper elementary students will open this summer, providing three locations for Newton youngsters who have special interests in the visual or performing arts.

The secondary centers (for grades 7-12) will continue to operate at Newton South High School and the Peirce School. The new elementary center will adjoin the infant school program at Mason-Rice School, and will offer classes in Crafts (batik, mosaics, ceramics, macrame, etc.), General Art Studio (drawing, painting, light shows, print making, collage, etc.), music, creative drama and dance.

Jean Kornbluh and Nili A'embik, Newton elementary art teachers, will teach art and Philip Hunt, formerly of Underwood School, will teach drama. Two visiting artists have also been added to the faculty. Shirley Laman from Lexington is a specialist in the Manhattanville Project method of developing musical concepts. She has also consulted and conducted clinics locally and has taught at Roger Williams College and Boston University.

The dance teacher will be Tad Colton of the Children's Dance Theatre of Salt Lake City. Miss Colton had held workshops for Project IMPACT in its five centers from California to Alabama. She specializes in modern dance movement for young people.

Classes begin on Tuesday,

June 29 and run through Friday, July 30. The format is the same as that used in the secondary center - two classes from 9 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. with a 15 minute milk and cookie break at 10:30. Any child is eligible who is entering the 4th, 5th or 6th grade in September, 1971. If the program is successful this year, it is anticipated that earlier grades may be added the following year.

Brochures are being prepared at this time and will be distributed through the schools. If you are interested, please write Al Hurwitz, Coordinator of Arts, 88 Chestnut Street, West Newton, or call 969-9810.

Drinan Working To Up Benefits For Unemployed

Congressman Robert F. Drinan recently joined a bipartisan effort in the House of Representatives to extend the length of time that the federal government allows workers to receive unemployment compensation.

The present law makes available federal funds to match state funds in providing financial assistance to persons who are unemployed. Under the present law, a person may collect unemployment benefits for 39 consecutive weeks. If the proposed legislation passes, this period will be extended to 52 weeks.

The legislation is aimed at easing the burden of the current economic recession. The great leap in unemployment statistics over the past two years has not shown signs of diminishing, and many able-bodied and willing persons have been unable to locate gainful employment since their dislocation.

Commenting on the legislation, Congressman Drinan (who represents the Third District), lay the blame on the Nixon Administration: "When President Nixon took office, he promised to bring inflation under control. In the process of trying, he has put more Americans out of work than at any time in the past decade. He has also failed to stop that inflation," the local Democrat asserted. "The cost to the nation has been great," he continued, noting that "families have been stunned by diminished security. Perhaps the worst effect, however, has been the crushing blow to the dignity of hundreds of thousands of men who are eager to work to support their families, but cannot find jobs. Of course it would be better to see these men at work — but we cannot forget about their needs while the Nixon Administration continues to wreck the economy."

Mann. The Senator is honorary chairman of the committee sponsoring the event.

Edward C. Uehlein, Co-Chairman of the Friends of Representative Theodore D. Mann, reported that Senator Brooke is making special arrangements so that he will be able to attend and participate in the evening's program.

He also noted the "excellent response" from others who will be at the head table, saying that "it now appears that men and women from all walks of life will turn out to honor Ted Mann and personally greet him at the reception. We are prepared to handle a very large crowd."

Uehlein also indicated that the details of program were set. "The program will be brief and interesting," he noted. He also announced the appointments of Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe and Mrs. Victor D. Baer as Co-Chairmen of Hostesses. Both are well known in civic and philanthropic activities of the city.

Co-Chairmen of the Friends of Representative Theodore D. Mann Committee, assisting Uehlein, include Louis I. Kaiz, Ben Lipson, Mrs. Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., Norman Buchbinder is Ticket Chairman.

Installing Natural Gas heat means more to us than warming up a "cold house"

To Boston Gas and your independent Gas Heating Contractor, this is a chance to show you the kind of people we are. People who treat you like a person, not as "just another customer."

So you can expect your local Gas Heating Contractor's personal installation work to be as dependable as Natural Gas heat itself... because it is.

Your Gas Heating Contractor is easy to reach, reliable, and efficient. Call and find out for yourself. And if you change to Natural Gas heat now, there's even a little bonus: We'll arrange to have your old oil tank removed at no charge. And we'll save you from the "Montreal Express."

Country Players Ring Up Curtain Here On May 7th

Have you ever had an "identity crisis"? Ever found it difficult to "be yourself", "act your age" or "do your own thing"?

You think you've got problems? Consider the plight of the Newton Country Players who, for a few performance hours each evening, must often become people totally unlike their real-life selves. The magic is happening right now, right here in Newton, as the troupe continues in rehearsal for their forthcoming production of Hugh Wheeler's adaptation of the Shirley Jackson mystery-thriller, "We Have Always Lived in The Castle".

Jay Patton nightly transforms himself from an energetic, humorous, intensely masculine person into a crotchety, 80 year old, invalid.

According to Mr. Patton, he becomes his character because he has consciously thought out what it is that happens, physiologically, to all people as they age - not just this one character.

"Everything starts to sag, a little . . . even the nose is a little longer, a little less firm. So I imagine there's a string attached from my head to the ceiling. It's lost some of its tautness and I'm starting to droop. I keep reminding myself, as I sit in my wheelchair, that my bones are very brittle. I could hurt myself if I move too fast. I'm uncomfortable."

Does this work? Well, not only is Mr. Patton extremely believable on stage, but he has noticed that to role continues to exert some influence over his behavior even afterwards. He claims that during rehearsal breaks he is more irritated by minutia and less deft in his physical movements than at any other time.

Mr. Patton is a graduate of Boston University; where he first became interested in theater, "Because it was easier than getting a degree in Liberal Arts." However lightly he may speak about the subject, he is a serious student of his craft.

Mr. Patton was, most recently, associated with the Southern road company tour of "Cactus Flower". Prior to that, he both directed and appeared in productions at the Provincetown Playhouse, The Red Barn (Westboro, Mass.) and Poets' Theater (Boston).

Paula Grossman can assume a new personality so adeptly, that she is often in rehearsal for more than one play at the same time. Of slight build, usually dressed in "happy colors," her work evolves through a synthesis of intellectual and emotional processes.

She feels that inside of each of us there is a little bit of every character trait. People are different from each other quantitatively, not qualitatively. Therefore she reaches inside herself to select out and magnify the aspects of personality she is to portray.

First she concentrates on understanding her role as the author and director see it. She then uses a variety of concrete tools, such as envisaging proper clothing and makeup, to help set finite boundaries for the character. She then attempts to project this person into a variety of every day, real life situations.

However it is the response of the other cast members, as the role emerges, that helps her to sharpen her focus. She feels that in rehearsal a feedback system is created through which the ultimate portrayal becomes something far different than the original conception.

Miss Grossman has been active with The Newton Country Players for the last two years and is a Vice-President of the group. She has appeared as The Girl in "The Balcony" and in "The Tale Of The Donkey" as The Mother. She served both as stage manager and as Clarice in the Players' production of "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running".

Miss Grossman has a rich background in the theater. Among her major roles are those of Nettie, in "The Subject Was Roses", Grandma, in "The Sandbox" and Brenda, in "Pajama Game". These were produced at Ithaca College, where she also directed "A Thousand Clowns" and "The Apollo Of Bellac". She has had a wide variety of technical backstage experience, both at college and in stock.

Some of her roles at the Town Meeting Playhouse, in Jeffersonville, Vermont, include: Widow Quin, in "Playboy Of The Western World" and Demetria, in, "On Borrowed Time."

Mr. Patton, Miss Grossman and the rest of the cast, invite you to join them on May 7th, 8th, 14th and 15th, at the Pomeroy Playhouse, 84 Eldredge Street, Newton Corner, at 8:30 p.m. Ticket information and reservations can be secured by telephoning 527-6367.

Through the courtesy of the Newton Art Association theater goers will have the privilege of viewing the work of three well known local artists; Marguerite Daily, Ruth Golub and Charlotte Lockwood. Their work will be on display.

West Newtonite, School Dean, At Health Workshop

Richard W. Bishop of 102 Lenox Street, West Newton, dean at Northeastern University, represented the school at the Second Annual Statewide Collegiate Workshop on the Massachusetts Red Cross Blood Program, held at Boston University recently.

Over 100 students, faculty, and staff from 50 institutions participated in the day long program of lectures, films, and workshop discussions.

Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, spoke about "Community Health and Welfare", emphasizing changing needs and community efforts to meet these needs.

The representatives participated in workshops discussing ways to involve the total campus community and techniques of persuading people to donate blood. The new National Red Cross blood donor recruitment film "Blood Is Life - Pass It On" was previewed.

In the afternoon workshop attendees toured the Headquarters and Laboratories of the Massachusetts Red Cross Blood Program at 812 Huntington Avenue, Boston.

Seven Newton Students At Science Event

Seven Newton-area students, especially interested in science, attended the two-day Holiday Science Lectures at Boston's Museum of Science last weekend.

This year's series was entitled "Biochemistry and Mental State" and Prof. Seymour S. Kety of Harvard Medical School, the director of Psychiatric Research Laboratories at Mass. General Hospital, was lecturer. His subjects were Nutrition and Energy Metabolism of the Brain; Biochemical Aspects of Emotion, Learning and Memory; and Biochemistry and the Study of Schizophrenia.

The local students attending were: Stanley J. Birdwell, Jr. of 19 Cappy Circle, West Newton; Shelley Bernard of 291 Beverly Road, Chestnut Hill; Robin Tsu-Wang Yuan of 110 Cedar Street, Newton Centre; Prassede Calabri of 9 Moreland Avenue, Barbara Frank of 131 Westchester Road, Mark Kaufman of 46 Rachel Road and Russell Scott Phillips of 41 Avalon Road, all of Newton.

Emerson Players At School Auditorium Here On May 8

The Emerson Players will appear at the Mason-Rice School Auditorium at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 8. The Great Cross Country Race is an exciting modern adaptation of the beloved fable of the Tortoise and the Hare and will delight children of all ages.

In a magical forest where we can understand the talk of animals but not people, we meet the delightful woodland characters as they try to organize their Great Sports Day.

Their problems are solved, however, when old Tortoise issues a challenge to the mighty and invincible Hare. Although most of the animals are doubtful that the tortoise has the ability to beat the hare, they all hope that he will win and show Mr. Fleet that he is not the greatest animal in the woods.

As the race progresses, it becomes obvious that the hare is by far the fastest animal, but he also has a great tendency to allow himself to be diverted - by picnic baskets, carrots, and other delicacies. These diversions allow Mr. Sloe to catch up and, at times, pass the hare. The race ends in an exciting finale which will have the audience screaming with excitement as they cheer for their favorite character.

Children will delight in the race which goes up and down the aisles and in the marvelous characters, both animal and human, who live in or visit the forest on the day of THE GREAT CROSS COUNTRY RACE.

Tickets will be on sale at the Mason-Rice School in front of the auditorium from 8:15-8:45 a.m. on May 5th, 6th and 7th. If you would like to treat your children and yourselves to this unique adventure and cannot get tickets at these times, you may call Mrs. Carol Persh (527-8816) or Mrs. Shirley Kasten (527-0092). The public is invited. Tickets will be on sale at the door also.

THE POPULATION TIME BOMB: FACT OR FICTION?

Here Is What The Population "Planners" Are Proposing For Us:
—Zero population growth.
—Government sponsored family planning.
—Tax penalty on large families (more than two children).
—Abortion and sterilization.

QUESTION: IS THERE REALLY A POPULATION TIME BOMB?
—Is overpopulation or population distribution the problem?
—Is proper land use the answer to the population problem?
—Will there be starvation or plenty?
—What are the true conditions for population growth and economic progress?

South Tennis Teams Blank 2 Opponents

Powered by decisive singles victories by captain Dave Cohen and the flawless play of both doubles teams Newton South's supercalifragilisticexialadocious tennis squad blanked two opponents last week, to maintain an unbeaten 4-0 slate.

The Lion stickmen edged Lincoln - Sudbury, 2-1, last week, and coupled with an opening day 6-4 victory over Concord - Carlisle has made this year's team South's winningest. In each of the last two years since the sport's inception at Newton South, the squad won only one game.

Bob Staulo and Paul Murphy provided the South offense with a goal apiece to make up a 1-0 deficit. Goaltender Gary Ross was outstanding with 15 saves.

The win felt good, but the rest of the week was a write-off. South faces private school teams for the first time this year and noted the difference from public school play.

Danny McDonald and Paul Modern each scored a goal, but a late third period tally gave Thompson Academy a 3-2 victory.

The Lions then played more than the gracious host to Noble Greenough and were lambasted 14-1 to drop their season's record to 2-3.

Meeting Tonight For Girls' City Basketball Loop

There will be a meeting tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 at the Newton Recreation Department Office, 70 Crescent Street in Auburndale, for team representatives and interested individuals desiring to compete in the Newton Girls Summer Basketball League.

The teams are comprised of Newtonites and play on a city-wide basis at Cabot Park. On tonight's agenda, the rules, regulations and problems concerning the formation of the teams will be discussed.

Any Newton girl, 16 years or older, who is interested is urged to attend the meeting. For further information, call Fran Towle of the Recreation Department at 969-3171.

Gals Basketball Loop For Summer

The Newton Recreation Department is sponsoring a Suburban Girls Basketball team this summer. The team will compete against seven other teams sponsored by Recreation Departments such as Arlington, Belmont, Cambridge, Framingham, Milton, Waltham, and Watertown.

Those interested in the summer competition are urged to attend the meeting Monday May 10, at the Recreation Office on 70 Crescent Street, Auburndale at 7:30 p.m. To be eligible for tryouts you must be an interested girl who is 16 years of age by June 1 and a Newton resident.

Scrappy South Ball Club Rallies To Beat Bedford

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Bedford High carried a 3-1 lead into the sixth inning, but then were out-hustled and out-finessed by a scrappy Newton South baseball nine, which rallied for five runs to capture its Dual County League opener, 6-4 last week.

The Lions only managed three hits in support of surprise starting pitching Bill Cormier, a sophomore, but showed that Coach Neil McPhee had them well-versed in the use of subtlety.

South utilized the suicide squeeze on three separate occasions and patched together seven walks, one hit-batsmen, two errors and four stolen bases into scores.

Cormier was not sharp, allowing six hits, including two home runs, and six walks, but was aided by the sharp fielding of his teammates, including a double play, and his own bat, which accounted for one of the three singles the Lions stroked. He battled all the way, fanning four.

First-baseman Ned Moan and third-baseman Russ Small had the other two hits. Moan scored two runs and Small drove across two.

The slick-fielding evident in the first game against Bedford disappeared as Newton South infielders committed four errors and literally tossed away a 3-2 decision to Lincoln - Sudbury.

Ted Barnicle mowed down 16 Lions on strikes in a complete game win which featured a tense seventh inning. Into the seventh and then puffed across two unearned runs off loser Ric Voss because of two errors.

South scored two runs in the bottom half of the inning on four walks and a single, but then Barnicle fittingly whiffed Clem Birgilio for his 16th K to end the rally and the game.

Shortstop Noah Young and catcher Richie Lerner clubbed two safeties each and Virgilio had one.

-Political Highlights-

But something went out of political campaigning when the candidates shifted to the speedier airplane after the 1952 campaign in which Dwight Eisenhower was elected.

Thomas Dewey, considered certain to be elected in that 1948 campaign, was referred to by the newsmen as "the man in the mask," and we speculated as to what he was really thinking as he looked down at the people and talked to them — or over their heads.

That was the campaign in which Earl Warren, then Governor of California, was known as the see-no-evil, hear-no-evil, speak-no-evil candidate for Vice President.

Warren was under strict order not to tip over the applecart or do anything to disturb a "winning" campaign.

Harry Truman was a young 64 at that time, and he would be out at dawn for a walk before breakfast. Political campaigning was a little more informal in those less troubled times.

Nixon Bid for Second Term Based on Political Timing

Persons close to President Nixon say he is not disturbed by the polls which show that his popularity has dropped and indicate that he might be defeated if he ran for reelection TODAY.

Mr. Nixon, they say, believes his record will be much more impressive and his popularity much greater a year from today than it is today.

In other words, the President, a political professional, is counting heavily on timing.

He has one pressing problem which is troubling him and his top advisers.

That is that the South Vietnamese have not yet demonstrated an ability to hold their own on the battlefield with the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

If Nixon pulls virtually all our combat troops out of Vietnam by next mid-summer and the communists then overrun South Vietnam and proceed to mop up the South Viets before the Presidential election, the President will be in deep political trouble.

He knows that setting a date for a complete U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam would be a highly popular move. But he also knows that it could backfire if the Reds stage a big offensive immediately after the withdrawal.

President Nixon, his top advisers assert, is gearing everything toward being popular on election day in 1972, not in the spring, summer or fall of 1971.

That, of course, makes political sense. The trouble is that when the people make up their minds, they don't easily change them although the polls do reflect shifts in public sentiment toward President Nixon.

To Provide Revenue-Sharing Answers on TV Panel Show

If you are as confused as we are about President Nixon's proposed revenue-sharing program, tune in the Collins - Donahue - Graham panel show on Channel 7 at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

They are having Dr. John O. Wilson, one of Nixon's top advisers, on the show.

Dr. Wilson is director of planning, research and evaluation in the President's executive office. He should be able to provide some of the answers concerning revenue-sharing.

Meet Soon For Girls Softball And Basketball

Those interested in playing on the Newton Recreation Department's Suburban Girls Basketball or Softball teams this summer are urged to attend a meeting at the Recreation Office, 70 Crescent Street in Auburndale, this coming Monday (May 10) for basketball and next Wednesday (May 12) for softball, both beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The girls cagers will compete against squads from such communities as Arlington, Belmont, Cambridge, Framingham, Milton, Waltham and Watertown.

The softballers will be coming up against some of the area's top amateur teams, like Arlington, Framingham, Melrose, South Boston and Stoughton.

To be eligible for the tryouts (which will be held in several weeks), a girl must be a Newton resident and have reached at least 16 years of age by June 1, 1971.

South Golf Team Off To Fast Start

In the past Newton South golf teams have started slowly and slowed down. But 1971 is proving different.

The Lion golfers have taken two of their first three matches, thanks chiefly to the solid play of sophomore Brian Corcoran, brother of John, a top player on last year's team.

Teaming with John Ramirez, Corcoran shot a 39 to spark the Lions to an opening day 6-3 decision over Lynnfield. The tandem scored two points.

Jack Rosenberg and Bob Sherman were perfect, tallying three points and Jeff Schneider and Steve Owens collaborated for a single point.

South was overpowered in its second match, 7-2 by Lincoln - Sudbury as Schneider and Owens collected all the points.

But then the Lions did something few Newton South golf teams have been capable of in recent times. The squad bounced back from defeat to trounce Acton - Boxboro 6½-2½ with a new line-up. Corcoran and Schneider notched three points and Rosenberg and Owens matched that total.

Sherman and Ramirez added the final ½-point.

The transfer from the Suburban League to Dual County play seems to agree with the 2-1 Lions.

Scholarship May Breakfast Set For 16th

The Scholarship Club of Newton High School is sponsoring a May Breakfast of pancakes, sausages, doughnuts and Swedish pastries, Sunday morning, May 16, from 8:30 to 11:30 in the Newton High School Cafeteria on Walnut Street.

Members of the faculty and staff will serve as chefs. All proceeds from the breakfast will go to the Newton High School Scholarship Fund.

Last year only 54 percent of those who applied for scholarship aid could be helped; this year, the Scholarship Club hopes that all worthy applicants may be given assistance.

The entire high school community - students, parents and neighbors - is cordially invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased in the Adams House office at the high school. No tickets will be sold at the door.

The Scholarship Club has gratefully acknowledged the concern of many area friends for their donations and contributions to the May Breakfast.

League Track Opener Won-Lost By Lions

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Newton South High captured its Dual County League outdoor track opener and then list it, with the score being reversed from 68-63 South to 68-63 Bedford.

Dual County rules state that a runner may compete in two races. However, state rules say that neither of those races can be over a half a mile long.

The Lions' ace distance runner Charley Pottay won the 880 in 2:06.7 and then the 2-mile in 10:42.6. Unfortunately, state law over-rides league law and Newton South's mistaken interpretation of the rules was costly.

Pottay ran the 880 and 440 in South's second meet and didn't win either of them, but it hardly mattered as the Lions were overrun by Westwood, 84-47. The senior harrier placed second and third, respectively.

Junior Howie Halmes has been a veritable point-scoring machine thus far for the tracksters, capturing three events in each meet. Against Bedford the speedster took the 100 yard dash in 10.8, the 440 in 55.4 and the long jump in 19.4.

Versus Westwood Halmes claimed a 10.4 100, 23.4 220 and a 19.5½ leap.

Senior Dave Peters may also need an adding machine for his point totals by season's end. In the first meet Peters skinned the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.1 for first and then clipped six-tenths of a second off that time in his second effort of the year.

Against Westwood he also copped the low hurdles and placed second in the long jump, 1½ inches behind Halmes.

Other winners versus Bedford were Roger Cooper in the shot put with a heave of 48-9½, his best ever, Aremam Kojoyan in the discus with a toss of 130-8½; Mike McKinney in the high jump with a leap of 5-3 the 880-yard relay team of co-captains Paul Nisson and John Seeler, Dave Leichhook and Tom Lane.

Seconds were earned by Leichhook, triple jump, Bruce Brown, discus, Seeler, mile, Nisson, 440, and Lene 220.

Nisson, triple jump, Andy Cohen, pole vault, with his first vault in two years, and Jim Paglia, low hurdles, notched third place points.

The big news in the Westwood meet besides the massive point assault by Halmes and Peters was a new school record in the discus by Aremam Kojoyan.

Kojoyan spun the platter 139.5 to erase his own school standard of 138.5½ set last spring. He has at least seven more opportunities to challenge that mark this season. Brown was third in the event.

Outside of the three big winners and Pottay, not too many point went up on the Lion side of the board. There were no other winners.

Cooper and McKenney took second in the shot and high jump, respectively, and Nisson, triple jump, Seeler, mile, and sophomore John Masn, 2-mile, collected thirds to round out the scoring.

At the state relays in Andover, before the opening of the dual meet season, Halmes anchored the Newton South mile relay team of Lane, Nisson and Seeler, to third place in its heat with a 51.7 split.

Waban Group To Launch Clean-Up

The Waban Improvement Society's plans for a Spring Clean-Up in Waban Square are complete and the society has asked all interested residents to meet this coming Saturday (May 8) at 9 a.m. at the Waban MBTA train station.

Rakes and trash bags will be provided and it is hoped that senior citizens, middle-aged residents and young people will join together in the village clean-up.

The society advises all volunteers to bring work gloves.

Mercer-

Washburn of the West Medfield Congregational Church presided as moderator. By unanimous vote of this MBA Council, Mercer was recommended for ordination on May 2.

Mercer, 31, is at present serving as chaplain and teacher of religious studies at the Government Dummer Academy in Newburyport.

Following his graduation from Watertown High School in 1957, he attended Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., receiving a B.A. in sociology in 1962. From 1962 to 1964 he continued his studies at Andover - Newton Theological School, returning in 1967 to complete his Bachelor of Divinity degree studies in 1968.

The interim period from 1964 to 1967 Mercer spent as a faculty member at Governor Dummer. A former Boy Scout, he earned the God and Country Award while a member of a Watertown troop.

In addition to serving the Newburyport Academy in religious and teaching capacities, Mercer has been active in local ecology and environmental organizations. In the summer of 1967, he and his wife were in charge of a work camp on an Indian reservation in North Dakota, in which a group of Governor Dummer students participated on a voluntary basis.

Mercer is married to the former Eleanor Sager of Byfield, daughter of Arthur Sager also of Byfield. They have two children and make their home at the Academy.

The Service of Ordination on May 2 included seven New England ministers and denominational officials as participants, and was a blend of traditional and contemporary forms of religious expressions. Ronald M. MacFarlane of Amesbury, a folk guitarist, was the soloist and performed Paul Simon's "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and Paul McCartney's "Let It Be" as opening and closing musical selections.

The theme of the Service, Mercer said, "is the convictions of what Christian belief should be."

The Call to Worship and Examination of the Ordinand was conducted by The Rev. Robert J. Harding, Minister of Central Church. Invocation and The Lord's Prayer were given by The Rev. William E. Dubocq, III, Chaplain of Gov. Dummer Academy, followed by the Statement of the Moderator, Dr. Wilfred S. Lake of the Committee on the Ministry, MBA. Scriptural passages were read by the Area Minister of the MBA, The Rev. Dr. Allen Hackett, and the Minister of Christian Educa-

MRS. LEON M. SHULMAN

Spring Meeting For Synagogue Women's Group

Mrs. Leon M. Shulman of Newton Centre, a past president of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel, Newton, is serving as Chairman of the Annual Spring Conference of the National Women's League of the United Synagogue of America.

The conference will be held at Temple Mishkan Tefila in Chestnut Hill on Wednesday and Thursday (May 12 and 13).

Many Newton residents are participating in the sessions including: Rabbi Israel J. Kazis of Mishkan Tefila Temple and Mrs. David A. Rose, both of whom will speak at a session devoted to Jewish Education. Rabbi Samuel Chiel, Temple Emanuel, Newton, will lead a session entitled Love and Marriage Jewish Style; and Rabbi Philip Kieval, Temple Reyim, West Newton, will conduct a session on Conserve. What and for Whom? Coordinating the arrangements for the conference are Mrs. Jacob Sieve, Temple Mishkan Tefila Sisterhood President and Mrs. Morton Lieberman also of Mishkan Tefila who is Local Arrangements Chairman.

tion, United Parish of Natick, The Rev. Robert E. Gibb.

Other participants included The Rev. Norman E. Dubie, Sr., Minister of the Wabish Church in Andover, meditation; The Rev. Willard M. Reger, Minister of the United Church of Christ, Shoreham and Bridport, Vt., prayer of unity of love and peace as the Christian's responsibility.

By including both traditional forms of language and music with contemporary statements, Mercer hoped the Service expressed the traditional aspects of the Christian Gospel as well as its contemporary application. In this sense, it is also a reflection of Mercer's own ordination and he laying on the hands. The benediction was given by Mercer.

Music was under the direction of Central Church's Organist and Music Director Marshall S. Wilkins. Congregation and the Chancel Choir joined in the singing of the hymns "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee," and "Turn Back, O Man." Wilkins also played Gerre Hancock's organ prelude "Air" and Bach's "Fugue in E flat Major (St. Anne's)" as the postlude.

Following the service, a reception for Mercer was held in the Merrill Room of the Church.

To Perform With POPs

Shirley Chadbourne, instructor in music at Pine Manor Junior College and May Elizabeth Poulo, former instructor at the All-Newton School, will be the soloist at the Boston Pops Concert to be presented this Sunday (May 9) at Bridgewater State College.

They will perform the C.P.E. Bach Concerto in E-flat major orchestra. Mrs. Poulo will use for harpsichord, piano and a Mozart piano designed for 18th century music and Miss Chadbourne will perform on a concert harpsichord.

Volkswagen with air conditioning.

The truth is the inside of the bug gets just as hot and clammy on a 90-degree day as the inside of any other car if you don't have something to cool it off.

Hence the VW air conditioner. It's a quiet, trim, 3-speed unit that won't cut down on your leg room or luggage space.

And it won't cost you a bundle. The minute you turn the knob to colder it starts saving on wrinkled collars and crumpled suits (not to mention antiperspirants).

But the thing that really saves you money is the package it comes in. The Volkswagen still delivers better mileage than any domestic air-conditioned car.

It still runs on pints, not quarts, of oil. And since the engine is cooled by air instead of a radiator, there's no need for antifreeze at 10 below or cool water at 110 above.

The result: It can't boil over on the hottest day of the year.

Which is more than you can say for the driver if he's not air-cooled.

Bridal Shower Has Replaced The Hope Chest
Dowries are pretty much a thing of the past and the bridal shower takes the place of the hope chest for today's bride.
"Which means that things haven't changed as much as you might think, for it was just such a situation that inspired the first wedding shower," says Ginny Hopkins, author of a new book on this modern prenuptial party custom.
Miss Hopkins says legend has it that years and years ago a young Dutch girl was in love with the proverbial poor young man... poor because of his generosity to others. Because of his lack of wealth, the girl's father considered him a poor marriage prospect and he refused to give the couple a dowry. Sympathetic villagers decided to help the young couple by making up the dowry themselves.
Each person gave a treasured possession of his own until they had contributed all the household goods a bride was expected to bring to her new home.
Miss Hopkins retells the legend in her "The Bride's Book of Showers" (Grosset & Dunlap) which is devoted to the "how to" of planning all facets of parties for the bride-to-be.

Congratulations to Newton - Wellesley Hospital on its 6-story addition

"A new hospital wing is something like an iceberg — the biggest part is hidden from view." Thus, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Quarterly Magazine introduced an article on its handsome new building, recently completed. Iceberg or ice mountain, the structure represents a mountainous addition to the hospital's capabilities.

(Answers Below)

- ... did the recent expansion at Newton-Wellesley Hospital increase the number of beds?
- ... is the total number of operating rooms in the new wing?
- ... were the total births in 1970? total x-ray exams?
- ... has the hospital done toward cleaner air?

ANSWERS: 1. 335 beds. 2. 12 operating rooms. 3. 1142 new born. 43,280 x-ray exams. 4. Incinerator is no longer used. New efficient boilers and burners have been installed to insure more complete combustion. New power plant has scrubbers to hold down dust emissions.

Piano Concert By Duo May 15 At Beth Avodah

Temple Beth Avodah announces a Twin Piano Concert on Saturday evening, May 15, at 8:30 p.m., at the new Temple, featuring the artistry of Mr. Boris Goldovsky and Mrs. Bertica Shulman Cramer.

The concert is part of the Dedication weekend, and on this occasion, the Temple will be dedicated as a "House of Assembly", playing homage to the "Majesty of Music." The program will include: Sonata in D Major, Mozart; Allegro con spirito, Andante, Allegro molto, Nocturne in F Major, Chopin; Tarentella, Concerto in D Minor, Mendelssohn; Allegro appassionato; Adagio, Presto scherzando; Fantasy on themes from Johann Strauss; De Fledermaus, Luboshutz.

Music lovers young and old wishing to make reservations for this musical event, may contact Temple Beth Avodah, 527-5783. Mrs. Cramer, a piano teacher in Newton, is resuming her concert career in honor of the dedication of her Temple.

Mr. Goldovsky will play his first Boston concert in ten years. As Bertica Cramer was Mr. Goldovsky's protegee, the concert will be sentimental as well as musically fulfilling.

PROPOSED NEW YMCA BUILDING FOR NEWTON—This architect's drawing shows the proposed new building to be erected by the Newton YMCA on the site of its present facilities and at an estimated cost of three million dollars. The present 78-year old YMCA facility in Newton is inadequate for the modern family-oriented programs now planned for the new building.

New 'Y' Building Planned

nenmuth, "the present 'Y' facility in Newton is 78 years out and no longer able to meet demands made upon it." The present physical plant was not designed for the modern family-oriented "Y" program and for only a fraction of the thousands who use it each month." Mr. Hennemuth went on to say, "As the program of the 'Y' expanded to include physical, social, cultural and recreational activities for women and girls and the population of the area served by 'Y' increased enormously, the facilities became hopelessly inadequate.

Today, membership exceeds 8,000 and other organizations whose programs depend on 'Y' facilities account for nearly as many more.

In describing "Y" membership, Mr. Hennemuth reported that approximately 50 percent live in Newton, 25 percent make their home in either West Newton, Wellesley or Waltham and the remainder reside in nearly 90 different metropolitan Boston communities. Men and boys outnumber women and girls about 2 to 1 but that ratio is changing rapidly in favor of the ladies.

Religiously, the "Y" membership is almost equally divided; one third each: Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

Concluding, Mr. Hennemuth described the general space and program potential of the proposed new facility and emphasized that it will fulfill all known requirements for the foreseeable future.

Chester L. Mosher, Executive Director of the "Y" for Newton and the Western suburbs followed Mr. Hennemuth with a slide presentation of major features of the proposed new building.

Mr. Mosher interrupted his presentation briefly to offer a testimonial to Dr. Herbert G. Dunphy and to present Dr. Dunphy with a bronze medallion commemorating 20 years of service as a "Y" volunteer community leader.

Later in the program Nelson L. Newsom, Associate Executive of the Northeast Region of the YMCA, extended the greetings of the New England "Y" group.

Wendell Bauckman, President of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton, brought the greetings of Mayor Monte Basbas and identified the "Y" as one of the strongest factors for civic and social stability available to the Citizens of Newton and the other communities comprising the western suburbs.

Mrs. Stanley Miller, a "Y" Board Member presented the women's view of the "Y." Mrs. Miller spoke as a regular user of the "Y," as a representative parent whose children are members and as a citizen of the area served by the "Y."

In each instance; personal development, child development and community improvement, Mrs. Miller scored the "Y" as a potent, positive factor.

The proposed new facility will be constructed on the present "Y" site at a cost approximating three million dollars. Funds to defray the cost will be sought by public subscription campaign in the communities served by the "Y" for Newton and the Western Suburbs.

Dance Theatre To Be At High School May 11

The Dance Theater of Northeastern University will give a free dance concert for students at Newton High School on Tuesday, May 11 at 2:00.

This program will mark the Dance Theater's second concert appearance in Newton this Spring. They were at the Warren Junior High School on April 27.

The multi-media program includes selections from Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," "Life Cycle" from Blomdahl's opera "Aniara," "Cosmic Ballad" by Perry and Kingsley and "Frogs" from "Liquid Interlude."

Choreographer for the Dance Theater of Northeastern is Miss Judith Roberts, pianist is Reginald Hache and narrator is John Carin.

Fishman Backing Bills On Environment, MBTA

State Senator Irving Fishman (D-Newton, Watertown) is among six senators who have written their colleagues on behalf of the "citizens environmental right of action bill" (House Bill No. 5233), now before the Senate Committee on Ways and Means. The legislation would provide guidelines for legal action by individuals to halt pollution or require state agencies to enforce existing laws, ordinances, or administrative regulations prohibiting environmental pollution.

The anti-pollution bill is endorsed by the Boaton Bar Association, the Committee on Environment, the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, the Sierra Club, and the Massachusetts Forest & Park Association, as well as the Boston Globe in an editorial on Friday, April 16, 1971.

Senator Fishman has actively promoted environmental protection legislation and himself filed one of the bills which is the basis of the present legislation. Fishman was a member of the Joint Legislative Committee Studying Air Pollution for four years when he was in the House of Representatives, and he has continued to support anti-pollution legislation in the Senate.

Fishman is also attempting to prevent the Massachusetts Senate from accepting an adverse report of the Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation concerning a bill (Senate No. 1170) which he filed to repeal the law prohibiting the M.B.T.A. from disposing of or selling certain antiquated power stations.

He was joined by Senator William Saltonstall (R-Essex) in persuading the Senate to refer the bill to the Senate Ways and Means Committee pending disposition of House Bill 1589 which was reported favorably by the Committee on Transportation, and which would authorize the M.B.T.A. a $50 million bond issue for the construction and renovation of power stations. This move enables the Senate to consider the two bills together rather than separately.

Fishman stated, "I feel we should permit the management of the M.B.T.A. to decide on whether to dispose of obsolete and antiquated power stations. The legislature should not require the M.B.A. to maintain and operate power stations against the best judgment of the M.B.T.A. management. It is laws such as this which increase the M.B.T.A. deficit and, therefore, directly adversely effect the tax rate of the cities and towns in the M.B.T.A. district."

Schuller To Be Conductor Of Newton Symphony May 9

The May 9th concert of the Newton Symphony will begin at 7:30 p.m. The first work scheduled for performance is one by Anton von Webern, Five Pieces for Orchestra, opus 10. Famed composer, conductor, and pedagogue, Gunther Schuller will guest conduct and discuss the work.

Mr. Schuller has had a long and continuing interest in Webern's compositions and so his expert comments on the Five Pieces will add a happily informative and innovative few moments to the program.

The work takes barely ten minutes to perform as only one of the five pieces is more than fourteen bars long. The work made a sensation when performed at the 1926 Festival of the Arts in Zurich.

It is the ultimate in modern impressionism. Webern uses contrasts of textures of the various instruments scored, tremolos, plucking, harmonics, as well as mutes versus non-mutes. The orchestration is quite simple and clear with none of the ear-splitting dissonances often associated with 20th century composers.

Mr. Schuller, a Newton resident, probably one of the most exceptional musicians of our time in all of his roles. The son of a N.Y. Philharmonic violinist, he began the study of music on the flute. He later switched to the horn and at the age of 17 became the first horn in the Cincinnati Symphony. He later played with Metropolitan Opera Orchestra.

His debut as composer and performer came in 1945 in a performance of his own horn concerto with the Cincinnati Symphony.

His intimate knowledge of brass instruments has lead him to compose works featuring them, however, among his compositions is a Fantasy Quartet for four celli and another recently commissioned work composed for ancient instruments "Museum Piece."

His interest and attention have extended to all types of music. He at one time organized a series of concerts in New York devoted to music of the middle ages.

Known as a jazz performer, he was instrumental in fostering a jazz project at a Brandeis University Festival of the Arts in 1967, and even developed a series of radio broadcasts illustrating the development of modern music. As a composer Mr. Schuller has fused jazz with the music descended from the classical traditions. Currently, President of the New England Conservatory, he makes guest conducting appearances around the world.

The Newton Symphony's concert will also include a Boston premiere performance of songs from Gustav Mahler's Des Knaben Wunderhorn with contralto Pamela Gore and baritone David Ewitts. Max Hobart and Robert Koff, violinists, will perform the J.S. Bach, Concerto in D minor for two violins. La Valse of Maurice Ravel will also be performed by the orchestra with their music director Michael Sasson conducting.

Ticket information may be had by calling 244-0011 or 449-0164 for seat reservations. Tickets will be available at the door of the Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton the evening of the concert.

Change of Place For Cirtenton Circle Meeting

Members of the Newton Circle of the Florence Cirtenton League have been notified of a change of address for their Annual Meeting next Monday (May 10). Mrs. Norman E. MacNeil, President of the Newton Circle, will open her home in West Newton for this meeting.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock by Mrs. G. Parker Wahan and her committee: Mrs. John W. Dacey, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, Mrs. Samuel L. Lore, Jr., Mrs. William M. Sanderson and Mrs. Richard C. Snodfield.

After the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. MacNeil, the members will hear a talk given by Miss Phyllis M. Cosand, Executive Director of Crittenton Hastings House, whose topic he was instrumental in foster-

If you wait longer than 30 minutes to get a muffler installed, you're wasting your time.

Any other place in town installs mufflers as a sideline. Which means they do all sorts of things that take time away from replacing your muffler.

So you'll probably have to do without your car for several hours. Or even a whole day.

At Midas, mufflers are the biggest part of our business. So we're geared to replace a muffler in 30 minutes.

Or less.

Slide Show Of Old Sweden At Swedish Society Event

The Guests at the Home, of the Swedish Charitable Society in West Newton, Massachusetts, were entertained on Sunday afternoon, May 2, with a color-slide presentation entitled "A New Look At Old Sweden."

Bernhard Althin Toombs, a

Swedish-American from Wilmington, Massachusetts, greeted the guests in Swedish in his introductory remarks. Herbert C. Engborg, Trustee, introduced the speaker. Mr. Toombs, traveler and photographer, is the grandson of the late Olof Althin, one of the original founders of the Home in West Newton.

The guests were then taken on an arm-chair trip to Sweden, visiting Stockholm, and the ancient warship Wasa, the Skansen Folk Museum, Visby the city of ruins and roses on the island of Gotland, and finally the Botanical Gardens of Gothenburg.

Among the Officers of the Home in attendance were Mr. Hugo M. Nordstrom, Trustee, and Mrs. Nordstrom of Newton Centre, Mr. Odin P. Hokanson, Trustee, and Mrs. Hokanson of Arlington, and Mrs. Murray B. Hart, Financial Secretary and Supervisor of Newtonville.

Friends present were Mr. Alkan Nilson, Mrs. Betty Aanesen, Mrs. A. Gustave Hagman, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Toombs.

Associated with Computer Operations at New England Mutual Life Insurance Company in Boston, Mr. Toombs is a member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the Boston Camera Club, Defenders of Wildlife and the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

Mrs. Rice Honored By Lasell JC

Mrs. Esmond S. Rice of Waban, was one of three alumnae of Lasell Junior College to receive special honors for their professional achievement since graduation at the annual Alumnae Council meeting.

Mrs. Rice received a Lasell Medallion inscribed "for adding distinction to the name of Lasell." She earned this recognition for her work as former President of the Friends of Framingham — an organization founded to help women leaving prison to find housing and employment. She was instrumental in founding the first Half-Way House in the country seven years ago. Previously she had worked extensively in the area of rehabilitation with penologist Dr. Miriam Van Waters, former Superintendent of the Massachusetts Correctional Institution.

Mrs. Rice has been active in local church and civic affairs including the Waban Women's Club, the Newton League of Women Voters, and the D.A.R. Presently she is Honorary Director of the Friends of Framingham.

Newton Coed In BU Honor Group

Miss Diane E. deBettencourt of West Newton inducted into the "Scarlet Key," an honor society of Boston University, the society's recent tapping ceremony.

Members in this unique university-wide organization are B.U. students chosen for their demonstrated leadership, effective promotion of the aims of the university, and involvement as well in civic and community affairs.

Miss deBettencourt is a junior majoring in elementary education and has been president of her class in the School of Education for the past three years. She is a member of that school's "Torch" hon or society, currently a president's host, and an active participant of numerous student government, council and affairs committee.

She was recently appointed resident for one of the dormitories for women. For the past two summers, she has been a counselor at the Newton Community Center Camp, Westwood, Massachusetts, and will be waterfront director there this year.

ASSOCIATION OFFICERS CONGRATULATED — Richard Lovell, of Newton, chairman of the board of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, congratulates Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon, of Newton, elected vice president of Hospital Aid Association. Looking on are, left to right, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Auburndale, recording secretary; and Mrs. Edward V. Hickey, West Newton, assistant treasurer. Elections took place at recent annual meeting.

Hospital Aid Group Elects New Officers

Two hundred members of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital Aid Association attended the Association's 86th Annual Meeting recently.

Dr. Lot B. Page, the hospital's Chief of Medicine, presented a special slide-lecture on his third research expedition to the Solomon Islands.

Elected as new officers for 1971-72 were: Mrs. Jarvis Farley, Wellesley Hills, President; Mrs. Charles A. Higgins, Weston, First Vice President; Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon, Newtonville, Second Vice President; Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Auburndale, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Gardner E. Brooks, Wellesley Hills, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Thoma E. Franks, Wellesley Hills, Treasurer; and Mrs. Edward V. Hickey, West Newton, Assistant Treasurer.

Upper Falls Benefit Set For May 20

The Emerson Parent Teacher Association and the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will present their annual Scholarship Benefit Thursday evening, May 20 at 8 o'clock, at the Emerson School on High Street in Upper Falls.

The program, this year entitled "All-Time Favorites," will feature the Gateway Guardsmen Barbershop Harmony Chorus (Framingham chapter). Refreshments, including homemade specialties prepared by the groups members, will also be served.

The benefit is presented each year in order to provide scholarships to two outstanding and deserving students from Newton Upper Falls.

A donation of $2 is asked and tickets may be purchased at the door from committee members.

The following people have volunteered their services for the event:

Co-chairman—Mrs. Richard P. Coughlin and Mrs. Russell Ebel; Talent Coordinator — Mrs. Paul Marietti; Decorations — Mrs. Paul J. Daley; Mrs. Joseph Daniele and Mrs. Donald Dolph; Patrons, Patronesses and Junior Patrons — Mrs. Ralph Hamilton and Mrs. John J. Pardi; Program Book — Mrs. Richard P. Coughlin and Mrs. George J. Eames; Publicity — Mrs. Donald Aiken, Mrs. Gordon Goodwin and Dr. James W. Miller; Refreshments — Mrs. Richard Anderson and Mrs. Walter Krawczyk; Senior Class Aides — Mrs. George Braceland and Mrs. Earl Osborn; Tickets — Mrs. John Mullen and Mrs. George Murphy; Treasurer — Mr. Gerald Connolly.

Registration Starts May 23 At Temple Here

Temple Reyim, 1860 Washington Street, Newton, is holding its spring registration Sunday morning, May 23rd, from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon, and Thursday evening, Une 3rd, from 7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m., for old and new members.

The spring registration presents an opportunity for prospective new members to make their synagogue commitment well in advance of the High Holiday season and to avoid the last minute rush for seats.

A special feature of Temple Reyim's membership structure is the junior membership. Available to those families where the head of the household is under age 35, the junior membership affords full membership privileges at one-half the normal cost.

All those who might be interested in affiliating with a young, Conservative congregation are invited to call the Temple office at 527-2410 for further information. In the evening, they may contact Marvin Milton at 527-2313 or Sid Fruman at 332-5246.

Donor Dinner At Maimonides

The annual Scholarship Luncheon of the Women's Auxiliary of Maimonides School in Brookline will be held during a two-day program on Wednesday and Thursday of next week (May 12 and 13) at the School Auditorium on Philbrick road in Brookline.

Entertainment for the dinner will be by Mrs. Ruth Edinburg accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Kovacs with the theme "The Happiest Day of the Year."

Church Meeting To Hear Drinan

The Rev. Robert F. Drinan, representative from the Third Congressional District, will be a featured speaker at the 172nd annual meeting of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ, to be held tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday at the George R. Wallace Jr. Civic Center in Fitchburg.

The theme of this year's state-wide gathering is "The Local Church; reflecting, acting and responding." The parley is expected to engender some controversy, over recent action taken to motivate members of the constituency of the United Church to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Congressman Drinan is slated to speak at the Friday evening session, scheduled to start at 7:30 (and which is open to the public).

Father Drinan, a Jesuit priest, has been invited to talk about the human and community problems which confront Greater Fitchburg. Responding to his remarks will be a 10-person panel, constituting most of the community's spectrum of activities.

The moderator for the annual meeting will be the Rev. Harold R. Fray Jr. of Newton's Eliot Congregational Church. Mrs. Eugene Meyer of Auburndale is the chairman of the program committee.

Conference officials have expressed a hope that, around the internal issues of such matters as by-law revisions and such public and political issues as raised by Representative Drinan (and the reaction to that), the meeting will point the way for local churches and the conference to reflect on the church's relationship to the world.

Meeting Tonite About NCSC Summer Plans

Newton parents and young-Trip for teenagers, promise to attend an exciting and rewarding meeting tonight at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge street in Newton, to hear about summer plans by the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. Beginning at 7:30 p.m., the meeting will feature Larry Frame, trip director, who will discuss the Western Trip, new this year, and answer questions. Other staff members will also be on hand. Innovations in the always popular Day Camp and Kinder Camp offerings, in addition to the new Western Camping

The Western Trip will give a co-ed group of forty 13-15 year olds the opportunity of seeing a beautiful and exciting section of our country. Camping out at national and state parks throughout the south-west, they will travel by bus from the 5th of July through the 13th of August sharing the fun and responsibility of group living.

Kinder Kamp, the Centers' offering for the 3 1/2 to 6 year olds of the community, will be located at the lovely facilities and grounds of Sacred Heart Country Day School on Centre street, Newton.

Planned to give a rewarding and beneficial group experience, it also generally serves as a vicarious learning experience. The children participate daily in many varied activities and weekly are involved in special events. Kinder Kamp runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday, and transportation is available.

The Day Camp, located at the Robert Sever Hale Comping Reservation in Westwood, includes 30 acres of woodland and swimming facilities, and offers a full and varied program for 6 1/2 to 14 years olds. A skilled and imaginative staff, with a camper-counselor ratio of approximately 7 to 1, provides responsible and positive leadership for enjoyable programming.

Boating, sports, hikes, trips, crafts, games, swimming and other out-door activities in addition to special events and overnight camp-outs are only a few of the exciting activities included in the Day Camp program.

For additional information or applications for any of these programs interested parents are encouraged to call the Newton Community Service Centers at 969-5906.

ILLINOIS PHYSICIST VISITS NEWTON—Dr. Ernest D. von Meerwall, left, University of Illinois physicist, talks with Wigmore A. Pierson, of Newton, who was host to the Newton Study Group at which Prof. von Meerwall was the speaker. He discussed the special responsibility of the research scientist.

Clafin Bazaar
This Saturday

The annual Clafin School Bazaar will be held this coming Saturday, May 8, at the school, 465 Lowell avenue in Newtonville, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Highlighting this year's activities are games of chance and skill for young and old, a candy booth, make-up artists, balloons and "paint-a-mural."

There will be a plant table and homemade cakes, breads, brownies and cookies on sale. A white elephant table and the bazaar's first "Booth-Boutique," featuring hand-crafted gifts, accessories, ties, hostess skirts and many other items created by Clafin children and parents.

Lunch and refreshments, including cold drinks and ice cream, will also be available.

To Present
Comedy Night

The Rivers Country Day School on Winter street in Weston will present a night of comedy next Friday and Saturday evenings, May 14 and 15, with performances beginning at 8 o'clock.

The production includes five plays done in-the-round under the natural cover of sky and stars.

The performances will be preceded by picnic suppers at 7 p.m.

Research Scientist Guest Speaker For Study Group

The Newton Study Group from technological progress met last week in the home of and second, the massive alarm Wigmore A. Pierson, 101 Walker Street, Newtonville to efforts undertaken following hear University of Illinois Physicist Dr. Ernest D. von Meerwall discuss "The Social Responsibility of the Basic Research Scientist."

Dr. von Meerwall was born in Austria and has spent the last ten years in the United States. He is currently a Research Associate at the University of Illinois at Urbana in the Department of Metallurgy, Solid State Physicist.

von Meerwall indicated his belief that "no basic research scientist can ever possibly know what uses will be made of his research by either applied scientists or the public at-large. In fact, a scientist who is in basic research will likely have no other choice."

In addition, von Meerwall was critical of "the attitudes in the United States which foster both anti-intellectualism and anti-education ideas at higher levels of individual growth. It is a shame that in America today the very values which have led to the growth of this country to be the strongest and most democratic nation in the world are being shelved."

During the discussion after his formal remarks, he was asked about the economic disaster facing engineers, scientists and especially physicists.

von Meerwall responded by saying that it was caused essentially by two factors, "First, the re-ordering of national priorities away

Confirmation
Rites May 2nd

The Rt. Rev. Frederic C. Lawrence, Retired Suffragan Bishop of Massachusetts, administered the Laying on of Hands, or Confirmation, to the candidates presented by Reverend Edwin S. S. Sunderland, Jr., Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, at the ten o'clock service on Sunday morning, May 2.

Those confirmed were: Wendy G. Clubb, Lynn L. Conquest, Eloise M. Hiltz, Claire M. Sasahara, Ellen R. Sasahara, Karen H. Sasahara, Anne W. Tyler and Alvin H. Hartman.

A reception in the Loring Room honoring Bishop Lawrence, the confirmands and their families followed the service.

On Sunday, May 9, there will be a special breakfast for the newly confirmed after the 8:00 a.m. service of Holy Communion.

Burr PTA Has New Officers

Auburndale's Burr School PTA recently elected officers for 1971-1972.

They are Nancy Dallaire, president; Robert Faulkner, vice president; James Wong, treasurer; and Midge Woods, secretary.

In other PTA business, at the general meeting held April 15, David Whiting of the School Department's Division of Instruction described the Newton social studies program, which is coordinated for kindergarten through ninth grade.

He explained why social studies precedes history at the elementary level and graphically demonstrated how studies of man in the Amazon region and in New England are coordinated to give the student a working knowledge of the way man deals with his environment.

Whiting gave the reasons for each topic being dealt with at the various grade levels and revealed many interesting facts about the rich and lively social studies course.

Travel Talk

The Evening Women's Group of the Central Congregational Church at 218 Walnut street, Newtonville, is sponsoring "A German Mosaic," the latest Pic-Tour by Frances and Arnold C. Black on Friday evening (May 14) at the Church.

This video tour in depth of Germany is pre-recorded on tape in stereophonic sound by Mr. Black and includes the natural beauty in rivers, mountains, forests, ancient traditions and romantic folk customs, music, and art with the picturesque architecture and joyous atmosphere of Germany carefully reproduced.

The evening's entertainment, to last an hour and a half, will begin at 8 p.m. The admission will be 99 cents and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Dickson the Dance Recital will be held on Saturday morning (May 8th) at 9:30 a.m. This event is open to the public at no charge. Under the title "L'ecole de la Danse" the program begins with a presentation by pre-schoolers entitled "Our Pre-Schoolers Have Fun." The program then calls for "The Ballet of the Enchanted Dolls" which includes the participation of youngsters from the Beginner's Ballet up through the Advanced Ballet class.

Miss Dickson is assisted by Miss Francis McLaughlin at the piano and recital coordinators: Miss Bonnie Algeri and Mrs. Thomas Lepore. Miss Roseann Pearson serves as the student assistant for the pre-school ballet classes.

Mrs. Claude Gilbert, Baton Director, promises another stimulating baton recital for Thursday evening, May 20th at 8 p.m. This activity is also open to the public at no charge. Youngsters from age seven right through the college age range are featured in this exhibition of strutting and individual specialties performed with batons.

Association To Host Artist This Evening

For those contemplating to paint this summer, it will be of interest to attend the demonstration of artist Joshua Graham, taking place tonight (Thursday) at 7:30, at the Mason-Rice School, 149 Pleasant Street in Newton Centre. The event is sponsored by the Newton Art Association.

Graham is a teacher at the New England School of Art and is head of the Graham Art Studio in Boston. His painting (done in acrylic) is now in a period of transition from representational to abstract art.

His most recent one-man show was held at Temple Shalom in Boston. He also sponsors and produces group shows. Upon completion of the demonstration, there will be a raffle of Graham's painting. Tonight's will be the last regular meeting of the season for the Newton Art Association, except for the annual Dinner Meeting, scheduled for Friday, May 21, at the M.I.T. Faculty Club dining room, starting at 6:30 p.m.

In other association activities, many of the group's officers, both past and present, are exhibiting their paintings at the General Cinema in Stoneham. The display will continue through Sunday, May 23.

The artists exhibiting in this show include the following Newton residents: Marguerite Daly, association president; Talia Fisher, corresponding secretary; Bobbie Frankel, assistant recording secretary; Ruth Palmer, second vice president; Lester Peterson, committeeman; Gail Triff, recording secretary; and Steve York, past president and committeeman.

Recent additions to the K of C 50-year Club were PGK Coleman Foley, PGK Mike Curran, Jim Keohane, Joe Foley and Philip Barrett. These men were honored at the recent officer night dinner held at the council.

Super Sheriff Tag Backfires On Politicians

By PHILLIP MAGERS

During his successful 1970 campaign for election as Kansas Attorney General, Vern Miller was tagged "super sheriff" by his opponent. If the idea was to suggest that a former sheriff was unqualified to be attorney general, it boomeranged.

Kansas voters made it clear last November they wanted a "super sheriff" as attorney general. Miller defeated Republican Richard H. Seaton by a 24,000 vote margin to become the first Democratic Attorney General in the state in 80 years.

The attorney and former Sedgewick County sheriff made the label fit Feb. 26 when he fulfilled a campaign pledge by leading about 150 law officers on what may have been one of the biggest, single drug raids in U.S. history, at last in terms of arrests.

About 35 arrests resulted from the pre-dawn raid at Lawrence, the home of the University of Kansas and a hangout for members of the "drug culture."

Keeps Promise
Miller had vowed during his campaign he would land on the "drug-ridden commune at Lawrence with both feet." He did just that, attracting national headlines.

The wiry, 41-year-old attorney general has already attracted wide, bipartisan support in Kansas, and he's being mentioned as the possible successor to Democratic Gov. Robert B. Docking, if the governor doesn't seek re-election.

Miller's pledge during his campaign was to enforce all the laws fairly and forcefully and he says he's doing just that. He rejects suggestions by several prominent Kansas newspapers that his Lawrence raid was a publicity stunt and part of his campaign for governor.

"I'm not campaigning for governor," Miller said, "and I have no plans for it at this time."

The Democratic attorney general says the newspaper attacks were to be expected from "republican editors."

"I know this is going to happen every time there is a gambling or drug raid, but I don't think they speak for the majority of people."

Miller said the raids will continue when necessary, and she "definitely" will return to Lawrence later. He has no fear of youthful militants at Lawrence.

"If there is trouble we will be there arresting violators and charging those guilty of crimes," he said.

Miller has angered more than some youths at Lawrence. He's also cracking down on violation of state gambling laws, which includes betting on bingo, a favorite pastime of older Kansans. He admitted this might cost him some votes, but he accepts it.

"I'm sure I'm going to lose some votes," Miller said, "but you know anyone who takes a stand is going to be unpopular with some people."

Fitness Buff Wants Muscle On President

By ROBERT MUSEL

Bob Hoffman is convinced the United States needs a strong man in the White House.

And he is doing his best to turn President Nixon into one — talking about muscles, that is, not politics.

The biggest and oldest member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness flexed a n arm the size of a Virginia ham in a hotel lobby and lamented the lack of biceps, pectorals and lat-

Two Resolutions On Environment Filed By Carmen

A pair of resolutions, both dealing with the environment, were submitted Monday night to the Board of Aldermen by Alderman William Carmen.

The first resolution directed the Aldermanic Public Works Committee to study the feasibility of an ordinance that would require citizens to separate trash to be collected by the city.

Citing that the city incinerator is in need of repair and that air pollution may be decreased by limiting the amount of refuse to be disposed of by burning, Carmen proposed that the study should investigate the practicality and possible economic advantage of requiring citizens to separate and maintain receptacles for their trash according to glass, metallic, paper, or garbage content. The adoption of such a plan would enable the city to recycle much of the waste materials it now burns, he maintained.

The second resolution called on the city to purchase paper products made from recycled paper whenever possible.

According to Carmen, this policy would establish a large local market for recycled paper and would serve the interests of both the city and its residents by decreasing the amount of paper incinerated.

The Public Works Committee is expected to hold public hearings on the resolution about two weeks. Carmen, who represents Ward 7, is an announced mayoral candidate in this year's election.

Nixon Fan
"I'm a great fan and supporter of President Nixon and have been since we first met in 1955, but I'll bet he doesn't use the dumbbells I sent him," Hoffman said, betting on a sure thing.

A towering 260-pounder, the 72-year-old Hoffman lists among his 600 trophies for athletic prowess of one sort and another, the world's polka dancing championship which he snatched for the West one wild night in Poland.

The other day he gave a floor shaking demonstration of terpsichore to other delegates to the International Health Foods Exhibition.

"That's a polka!" he said. "That's a polka!" someone queried, well out of earshot.

No one is going to challenge a man who set a weight lifting record when he was 60 and ran a total of 50 miles the week in which he celebrated his 72nd birthday.

Tradition Assigns Wedding Expenses

Thanks to accepted traditions there's no need for the bride's family to flip a coin with the bridegroom's family or draw straws to see who pays for the wedding expenses.

Etiquette experts years ago drew lines that still stand — and it's not a 50-50 proposition, his family versus her family. It's still the father of the bride who pays the most.

Here's the way the paying goes:

— Bride pays for her trousseau, wedding ring for her bridegroom, wedding gift for her bridegroom, presents for her attendants, personal stationery on a calling card, her medical examination. (If she is financially independent, the bride may assume any other of her family's traditional fiscal responsibilities connected with the wedding.)

— Bride's family pays for wedding invitations and enclosure cards; announcements; engagement and wedding photographs, rental for church; fees for organist, soloist and sexton; aisle carpet; flowers for church; bridesmaids' bouquets and flower headdress; gratuity for traffic policeman; transportation for bridal party from house to church and to the reception; bridesmaids' luncheon; entire cost of reception.

— Bridegroom pays for bride's engagement and wedding rings; the marriage license; gift for the bride; his medical examination; bride's bouquet and going-away corsage; boutonnières for men of wedding party; flowers for the two mothers; gloves, ascots or ties for the men in the wedding party; gifts for his ushers and best man; accommodations for his best man and ushers; fee for the clergyman; the wedding trip; flowers to the bride's mother after the wedding, accompanied by a warm thank you note.

— Bridegroom's family pays for clothes they wear to the wedding, any travelling expenses and hotel bills, wedding gift for the bride and bridegroom, dinner preceding or following the wedding rehearsal — unless the bride's family elects to stage same. Either family may pick up the tab for this event.

The Bride Shops For Fine China

Fine china has two basic designs: traditional and contemporary. While most of today's brides favor the traditional, their willingness to experiment and their love for bright, clear colors is finding expression in china designs.

Blue, green, orange, earth tones, combinations of red, white and blue, brown and black, black and white will undoubtedly catch the eye to today's bride searching for her china pattern.

She will find the muted colors, the white-on-white, the gold and platinum bands are ever-present, too. The Jewelry Industrial Council cautions the bride to remember that her fine china is a lifetime investment. She should be positive her pattern choice will survive her long-term scrutiny.

Some points about shopping for fine china:

— You should be able to see light through it.

— Balancing a plate on three finger and tapping it with a pencil should produce a clear, bell-like ring.

— The cup should fit snugly and securely in the saucer.

— As a starter, four place settings of china are the minimum, if the bride and her husband-to-be plan on any entertaining at all. In china, a place setting includes a dinner plate, salad plate, bread and butter plate, teacup and saucer.

Just as china patterns today are alive with color, so are newer crystal patterns. Blue, green, black, brown, colored gowns paired with white stems, textured crystal are new additions to the traditional high stems and deep cuts so many brides still favor.

Whether she likes to mix the colors of her crystal and china, match them or experiment with her own flavorful coloration of her table, the bride wants assurance that her crystal is of the same high quality as her china.

What to look for when buying crystal:

— Bowls and stems of glasses should be uniform shape and balance.

— Held to the light, the glassware should not reveal waves or bubbles. Fingernail, it should give off a clear, bell-like ring.

The four minimum crystal place settings will include in each setting: a water goblet, sherbet, wine glass and salad plate.

The bride's jeweler registers her china and crystal patterns along with her silver patterns, to make wedding gifting more meaningful and within the range of the couple's desires, and needs.

Hyde School Has Clean-Up And Tree Planting

Last Saturday morning, nearly 25 parents and 60 children of the Hyde School neighborhood gathered at the school for the second annual Grounds Clean-Up.

Organized by Mrs. Lee Scullin, PTA Grounds chairman, the clean-up coincided with Earth Day and Arbor Day observances.

Among the youngsters working in the effort were representatives of Cub Scouts, Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups.

In addition to the collection of 53 bags of leaves and debris, a highlight of the morning's activity was the planting of a pair of blue spruce trees donated by the Newton Highlands Garden Club and Cub Scout Dens 3 and 5, with an assist from the local A&P store, Quint's Florists donated a box of pansies for the event.

Refreshments for the workers was provided by Mrs. Audrey Larson of the Hospitality Committee.

Shopping for a silver tray to give the new couple as a wedding present? Hear this: Largish trays can hold molded aspic or salad, act as cocktail trays or cake plates. A sandwich tray is ideal for cheese and crackers, cold cuts and salads on the buffet board. At table, a bread tray accommodates broccoli, asparagus, radishes, celery, carrot sticks, bread sticks.

Mao's Thoughts Keep Food Fresh for Chinese

By ERNESTO MENDOZA

Reuter - Chairman Mao Tse-Tung's thoughts are reported to be keeping tomatoes and cabbages fresh in China - much better than a refrigerator does.

This is the latest field in which Chairman Mao's philosophic thinking is being applied, according to the official Peking press.

Although China is a nuclear power and has orbited a space satellite, its people have virtually none of electric appliances common in the West.

But what they lack in amenities, they make up for in native ingenuity. A quality emphasized by Chairman Mao in his writings calling for self-reliance and austerity.

The workers of a vegetable distribution center in Peking, guided by Chairman Mao's thoughts, have found ways to keep a dozen kinds of stocked vegetables fresh, including tomatoes, onions and Chinese white cabbage, says the New China News Agency.

A big problem in China is an abundance of vegetables at harvest time and a limited supply during the rest of the year. Tomatoes, which are market at harvest time, but very popular, flood the area difficult to store.

The agency said the Peking workers at first treated the tomatoes with irradiation but failed to keep them fresh, even after more than 80 experiments.

Later they found that three of the tomatoes were still in good condition after being kept in an earth cellar for one month, while all the rest had rotted.

Looking up their little red books of Mao's Thoughts, they found the Chairman saying: "It is precisely in the particularly of contradiction that the university of contradiction resides." So they concluded that what was true one tomato could be true of all tomatoes.

The workers deduced that the three tomatoes stayed fresh because they had been kept at a low temperature, with good ventilation and appropriate humidity.

But there were contradictions in these three factors - temperature control called for the sealing off of the cellar entrance and windows, which made ventilation poor, and vice versa.

Consulting their red books again, they discovered that "in studying any complex process in which there are two or more contradictions, we must devote every effort to finding its principal contradiction."

They concluded that temperature was the important thing. After consulting their red books again, they discovered that "in studying any complex process in which there are two or more contradictions, we must devote every effort to finding its principal contradiction."

keeping it at a desired point taking measures in control of humidity and ventilation, they preserved 400 tons of tomatoes for more than a month.

This was an initial success but they realized they had solved "the internal contradictions of tomatoes," according to the agency.

In order to preserve tomatoes for longer periods, the workers decided to discover the law of change within the tomatoes.

They observed that tomatoes on the top of basket ripened faster than those at the bottom because exposure to air quickened the metabolism and the ripening process.

Now the workers can delay the ripening of tomatoes, cucumbers and vegetables, keep cabbage tender and check the sprouting of tubers to varying degrees, according to the news agency.

With the spring farming season in full swing in southern China, peasants are reported to be relying heavily on Chairman Mao's Thoughts to beat last year's record harvests.

A peanut planter said he doubled his crop last year by mastering and applying Chairman Mao's teachings.

Guided by the Maoist principle, "take grain as the key link and ensure an all-round development," the southern province of Kwangtung is out to boost production of grain, cotton, oilseeds, jute, silk, tea, sugar, vegetables, tobacco, fruit and medicinal herbs - all at the same time.

Traditional Gown Still The Favorite

The traditional wedding gown prevails as the favorite with most of today's brides, despite the breakaway from the "Establishment" by some.

So says the firm of Priscilla of Boston, which made gowns for White House brides and is reported the leading candidate to produce the dress for Tricia Nixon for her June wedding to Edward Finch Cox.

"When a woman marries she wants a traditional gown, not a curiosity piece," said Janet Chute, fashion coordinator for Priscilla. "The kook dress (including city shorts and do-it-yourself far out or freak fabric fads) is a curiosity. It is not attractive."

The firm spurns a short, Mod look, preferring to call its more informal wear "country" and not "peasant," an adjective some manufacturers have put on theirs.

Traditional the gown may be, but it's undergone changes - a "new interpretation of tradition," as Miss Chute put it. "The stiffness is gone. There is a return to softness, flattering fabrics, the theme is definitely nostalgic."

There is new interest in the sleeve and its detail. Miss Chute said. The tapered sleeve is back. Fabrics in the current Priscilla collection include French silk lace, chiffon, English net patterned with pearls and voile over organza.

And for the "tiny bride", a "look as innocent as a christening," said Miss Chute. Was she trying to tell us something about the character of the gown she probably will run up for tiny Tricia?

Merger Of Offices Opens Up Better Taxpayer Help

Congressman Robert F. Drinan has learned of a new plan for increased taxpayer service and assistance to be instituted for the residents of the Newton-Waltham Metropolitan Area.

William E. Williams, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service, in a letter to Congressman Drinan, revealed the plans to merge the audit office in Waltham with the Newton Center Office as a result of an I.R.S. study of population density, transportation, nature and volume of work, proximity of other offices and availability of staff.

The centralizing of operations, said Mr. Williams, will give supervisors a greater latitude in assigning and reassessing revenue agents and officers to the tax areas where the workload is greatest.

Congressman Drinan said that Mr. Williams noted in his letter that a greater number of taxpayers in the Waltham-Newton Area will be served in a shorter period of time through more effective scheduling. Additionally the larger office at 93 Union Street in Newton Centre will be a major improvement with complete administrative files, a comprehensive technical library and specialists in the various tax fields to answer diverse questions.

Congressman Drinan said that Mr. Williams added that taxpayers assistance, in addition to the increased services planned for the new office, will be continued in Waltham. During filing time assistance will be available on a twice weekly basis and once a week during the remainder of the year.

3rd District Women Voters Sponsor Forum

The League of Women Voters of Newton along with the other Leagues in the 3rd United States Congressional District are presenting a forum entitled "A Time to Listen" at which time Congressman Robert F. Drinan will receive questions and statements on foreign policy from constituents in the 3rd District.

The forum will be held on Saturday, May 15th from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Acton-Boxborough High School. Mr. David MacNeill, assistant manager of WCRB will be the moderator for the afternoon.

The League of Women Voters in the 3rd District invite any organization or individuals who desire to communicate directly with Representative Drinan to come on May 15th. This meeting is free and open to the public. This is being offered by the Leagues to give the voters an opportunity to participate in government by providing a channel for their voices to be heard.

For further information on this meeting or to obtain directions on how to get to the Acton-Boxborough High School - please contact the following League committee chairman in this area: Mrs. Jay Orin, 63 Greylock Road, 244-9501.

Police Head Warns Of Illegal Mini-Bike Use

Chief William F. Quinn of the Newton Police Department warns parents and young people of the illegal use of mini-bikes and gas carts.

The Chief stated that there presently is no place in the City of Newton where either may be used, other than on private property.

He went on to say that for either to be used on privately owned property, one must have the owner's permission in writing.

Quinn said that playgrounds, schoolyards and public parking lots are strictly forbidden. Mini-bikes and gas carts may not be used or pushed along a street or

In a directive to all officers, the Chief stated the following:

DAYS The mini-bike will be transported to headquarters by the Animal Control truck and stored in the police garage. The investigating officer shall report all pertinent information on a C-card, a copy of which will then be forwarded to the Youth and Community Services Bureau.

The investigating officer shall also notify the operator of said mini-bike that it will not be returned until after he and one parent or guardian have met with the Youth and Community Services Bureau. Mini-bike should be tagged by the investigating officer with the appropriate C-number.

FIRST HALF Mini-bike will be transported to headquarters by the Animal Control truck and stored in the range. The investigating officer shall then follow the procedure as outlined above in regard to making out the appropriate reports and notification which must be made to the operator.

LAST HALF Mini-bike will be transported to headquarters by an auxiliary ambulance or the headquarters wagon. The mini-bike should be tagged and safeguarded for the remainder of the night. The investigating officer will then follow the procedure outlined above.

A second offense will result in court action.

The Chief stated that he understood that some parents are trying to arrange a legal lot to be used for mini-bikes and gas carts, but until such arrangements are made, use of either in Newton is forbidden, except on private property.

Several resolutions were submitted to the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night dealing with such varied subjects as trash collection, environment, use of official stationery for political purposes and poor MBTA service.

Only a resolution submitted by Alderman Michael Lipof prohibiting the use of official stationery containing all of the names of members of the Board of Aldermen for political purposes was approved by the Board. The other resolutions were referred to committees for study.

Two resolutions dealing with the environment were submitted by Alderman William Harrington. The first one directed the Public Works Committee to study the feasibility of an ordinance that would require citizens to separate trash to be collected by the city.

Citing that the city incinerator is in need of repair and that air pollution may be decreased by limiting the amount of refuse to be disposed of by burning, Carmen proposed that the study should investigate the practicality and possible economic advantage of requiring citizens to separate and maintain receptacles for their trash according to glass, metallic, paper, or garbage content. The adoption of such a plan would enable the city to recycle much of the waste materials it now burns, Carmen said.

The second resolution submitted by Carmen called on the city to purchase paper products made from recycled paper whenever possible. According to Carmen this policy would establish a large local

Photos, Oil Paintings Featured At Library

Exotic African fauna in photographs by Dr. Don W. Fawcett at Waban Branch, and a group of seascapes, country scenes and still lifes in oil by Waban painter Fred J. Thompson at Highlands Branch, are two Newton Free Library features for the month of May.

Dr. Fawcett, Hersey Professor of Anatomy and Surgery, and Head of the Department of Anatomy at Harvard Medical School, has been interested in photography since he won a photo prize at the age of 14. His interest has grown since those boyhood days, until now his hobby ties in with his research in cell biology and the use of the electron microscope - producing magnificent micrographs.

The African photos, taken during a two-months' sabbatical which Dr. Fawcett spent as a visiting professor at the University of East Africa, Nairobi, show Gunther's dik-dik, Uganda arihi, gerenuk, Cape buffalo, waterbuck, waterhog and the elephant, giraffe, lion, zebra and rhinoceros.

Mr. Fred J. Thompson, whose oils are on exhibit at Highlands Branch, was for over 30 years instructor of design at the Mass. College of Art. A graduate of Brockton High and Pratt Institute, he is a member of the Newton Art Association, and formerly a member of the Rockport Art Association. A coffee-hour reception, to which the public is invited, will be held at Highlands Branch on Thursday evening, May 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. Patrons will have an opportunity to view the many moods of nature painted by Mr. Thompson at Rockport and Gloucester, at Boothbay Harbor, Cape Cod, and to discuss favorite paintin spots with the artist.

Rev. McCall To State Women Vote To Speak At Sacred Heart On May 12

Rev. John R. McCall, S.J., will speak on "Communication Barriers in the Family," at the MacKenzie Center on Wednesday, May 12, at 8 p.m. This is the final lecture in the "Marriage and the Family" series sponsored by the Adult Education Committee of Sacred Heart Parish.

Fr. McCall, Associate Professor of Psychology and Religion at Boston College, is Director of the Institute for the Study of Religious Education and Service. A doctor of clinical psychology, he has taught this subject at Weston College, Boston College and Fairfield University, where he also founded and directed the Guidance Program.

"Hi Time," a catechetical periodical, carries his weekly lesson in Psychology of Religion for high school students. A similar lesson for parents appears in "Focus on Hope," a publication for parents and teachers involved in Religious Education.

Tickets for Fr. McCall's lecture may be obtained at Sacred Heart Rectory on Centre Street, or by calling 969-2248.

Highlands Youth Center Reports Successful Year

The Newton Youth Center sponsors six neighborhood Centers throughout the city. The Center at Newton Highlands has had a very successful year. The Newton Highlands coffeehouse is open Friday nights from 7:30 - 11:30 p.m. featuring live entertainment every week.

The physical setting is the basement of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church. It consists of a large room furnished with lighting, light show, and wire-spool tables.

Although the coffee house is one of the main functions of the Newton Highlands Center, it has sponsored a number of other activities including two ski trips and a five day camping trip.

According to Aimee Handschicker, an active member of the group "We have been very successful this year with an average attendance of 120 people a week. We have also had a lot of people interested in working there and some have put a great deal of time into it."

"The Newton Highlands Center is remaining very flexible, we want to be able to change to fit the needs of the people in the area."

Newton Youths' Carnival To Aid Dystrophy Fight

David H. Winer will serve as ringmaster and John Blake, Peter Cramer and Danny Stone will assist him, as these Newton youngsters will run a neighborhood carnival Against Dystrophy this coming Saturday (May 8) at 55 Lovett Road in Newton, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The carnival will feature such activities as balloon bust, twenty pointer, penny pitch, minitalk and French book stuff.

All proceeds will go to aid the fight against muscular dystrophy and related diseases.

Last year, in cooperation with the Greater Boston Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, more than 2,000 carnivals were held by children in southeastern New England and over $60,000 was raised for the associations' research and patient service programs.

State Women Vote To Gather Here Next Week

The State Convention of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts will be held in Newton this year at the Marriott Hotel on Monday, May 10 and Tuesday, May 11. The convention, which occurs every two years, will have representation of approximately 800 members from across the state.

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Mrs. F. Dow Smith, president of the League of Women Voters of Newton, will greet the convention on behalf of the citizens of Newton. Governor Francis W. Sargent and House Speaker David M. Bartley are also expected to address the convention.

Members of the Newton delegation to the State Convention include Mrs. Joseph Appelbaum, Mrs. Leon Barron, Mrs. Robert Capeless, Mrs. P. David Chernov, Mrs. Walter Donnelly, Mrs. Bruce Fischberg, Mrs. Richard Goldman, Mrs. Arthur Johanningmeier, Mrs. Charles Lipson, Mrs. Robert Rediker, Mrs. F. Dow Smith, Mrs. Garison Wilkes and Mrs. Mark Yesley. Mrs. William Kahl, Mrs. Jay Orin and Mrs. Blair Shick will attend the convention as observers.

During the convention, Mrs. Lawrence Rubin of Newton will be nominated as First Vice President of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts. Mrs. Rubin is the chairman of the Newton Charter Commission, the present treasurer of the State League, and a Past President of the Newton League of Women Voters.

The main business of the convention will be to plan the course of league study and action over the next two years, as well as to review current league positions in areas such as corrections, human resources, public welfare, public education, fiscal policy, water resources, constitutional rights, county government, state executive organization and structure and legislative structure. Delegates will also vote on the budget, by-laws and other organizational matters.

At the banquet on Tuesday evening, the speaker will be Mr. William Gibson, General Counsel for the New England Region of the Office of Economic Opportunity. Mr. Gibson, a former assistant U.S. Attorney in Massachusetts, has been associated with the Law and Poverty Project at Boston University Law School and the Lincoln Filene Center at Tufts University. His topic will be "Individual Liberty - The Challenge of the Seventies."

For further information about the convention please contact Mrs. Richard Goldman, at 244-2409.

Good Government Group Is Formed By Newton Citizens

Out of the deep-seated concern over the Newton Tax crisis has emerged a new political association dedicated to getting the most return on the tax dollar. After several preliminary planning meetings between a number of leading Newton citizens, the temporary executive committee of the non-partisan CITIZENS FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT was announced as follows: Dr. Vahe Sarafian of Newton Highlands, President, Walter Lee of Waban, Vice President and Arnold Garrison of Waban, Secretary-Treasurer.

The aims and purposes of the NEWTON CITIZENS FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT are: 1) A Political, Educational, Social, and Economic concern for the residents of Newton;

2) To seek out, support, and actively work for responsible candidates for office;

3) To review issues and problems confronting the city and its inhabitants and to issue position papers regarding the organization's stand;

4) To follow these guidelines: a) to act in the best interest for the health, safety, and welfare of Newton residents, b) to keep our City strong both politically and economically c) to make decisions without regard to race, color, creed, or national origin, d) to encourage fiscal responsibility.

Dr. Sarafian in his first call as acting President appeals to all truly concerned citizens of Newton, anxious for the future of our City and its well-being to join in making the voice of the voter heard. "We are interested in our municipal employees, professionals, members of the academic community, the housewives, senior citizens, our youth, and our local merchants and businessmen, all of whom have a vital stake in encouraging a hard-look approach to the problems of our growingly complex city," declared Dr. Sarafian.

Membership has been set at a token fee of one dollar to encourage a general participation. Those interested in immediate membership may contact NEWTON CITIZENS FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT, c/o Dr. Sarafian, 130 Dickerman Road, Newton, Mass. 02461.

Pioneer Women At Supermarket

Members of the metropolitan-Kenneret and Nitzanim Chapters of Pioneer Women will be at a table at the Stop and Shop Supermarket, Route 9, Chestnut Hill on Thursday, May 6, where they will give shoppers the chance to win a United States Savings Bond and further the group's program of social services for women and children in Israel.

In charge of this activity are Mrs. Sidney Lechok and Mrs. Harold Finch of Newton.

Newton Girls in POPS Concert

A chorus of local students will highlight the intermission festivities at Cambridge School of Weston Night at the POPS on Monday, May 24 in Symphony Hall at 8:30.

Lynda Burg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burg of Patten Circle and Amy Shuster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Shuster of Wamess Road, Waban will be part of the student chorus group under the baton of Joseph Schauf, Director of Music at the School.

Proceeds from the POPS will benefit the Cambridge School of Weston Scholarship Fund. For tickets and information, call 527-4533.

HOUSE RESURRECTS SST, VOTES $85 MILLION FOR PROJECT

THE HOUSE reversed itself Wednesday and voted to resurrect America's supersonic transport by turning $85 million in burial fees into more development work on the futuristic jetliner. But for the House action to mean anything, the Senate must go along and anti-SST feeling there runs longer, stronger and deeper than in the House. House members voted 201 to 195 on a recorded teller vote—and then confirmed their sentiment on a 201 to 197 roll call—to convert $85.3 million for contract terminations into further SST research and development. When Congress buried the SST in March, the House had voted 215 to 205 against giving the project any more federal money. The vote in the Senate then was 51 to 46. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who voted against the SST in March, said he would be in no hurry to take up any move to salvage the 1,800-mile-an-hour plane and expected it would be faced with a filibuster when debate began. Calling the House action "a disappointment for millions and millions of Americans," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a leader in the fight to stop government financing for the SST, said: "We will try to defeat it. I hope and pray we can . . . we don't know if we have the votes or not." SST proponents in the House argued successfully that unemployment has risen because of the SST defeat, the joint French-British Concorde SST has been successfully flight-tested with President Georges Pompidou aboard, and the U.S. dollar has come under heavy pressure abroad.

REGIONAL POSTOFFICE HEADQUARTERS TO CLOSE

POSTMASTER GENERAL Winton M. Blount announced Wednesday the elimination of 10 regional headquarters in the new U.S. Postal Service which some congressional sources predicted could cost as many as 3,500 white collar jobs. The Boston headquarters was included among those to be eliminated. The new streamlined management and higher postal rates going into effect next Sunday are intended to put the U.S. mails on a self-sustaining basis by the end of the decade, except for a small annual federal subsidy. Other regional postal headquarters to be abolished are in Denver, Seattle, St. Louis, Wichita, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Cincinnati and Washington, D.C., and each employs between 179 and 311 persons. Workers whose jobs are eliminated can bid for new assignments in five regional headquarters which will be retained, each under a new regional postmaster general, in San Francisco, Memphis, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York City. Jobs will also open up in new metropolitan and district offices to be created and announced later, officials said, but many employees on the way out already are close to retirement age and can be expected to retire soon.

EBAN SEES 'SOME HOPE' FOR AGREEMENT WITH EGYPT

FOREIGN MINISTER Abba Eban told the Israeli parliament Wednesday there is still "some hope" for an eventual agreement with Egypt for an eventual reopening of the Suez Canal. Egypt accused Israel of rejecting its peace overtures but said it is maintaining contacts with Washington in the search for a settlement. U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring flew back to New York during the day to be briefed on the results of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers' mission to the Middle East, which included talks with top Egyptian and Israeli leaders.

U.S. JETS DESTROY 13 ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS

U.S. PHANTOM JETS destroyed 13 Communist anti-aircraft guns in North Vietnam in the deadliest single "protective reaction" strike over the north ever reported, the U.S. command in Saigon announced Wednesday. In South Vietnam, U. S. paratroopers began a sweep along a newly discovered Communist supply road near the A Shau Valley and South Vietnamese forces reported their heaviest fighting so far in the month-old campaign around the jungled Communist stronghold. U.S. B52 bombers also struck from Thailand bases against targets on all three Indochina War fronts as the tempo of the air war stepped up. The U.S. command said five AF F4 Phantom fighter-bombers broke off a bombing raid against the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos Monday and streaked over North Vietnam to knock out the anti-aircraft sites.

SCORES KILLED BY EARTHQUAKE IN TURKEY

A POWERFUL EARTHQUAKE shook southwest Turkey Wednesday, leveling entire villages and killing scores of persons, including women and children trapped in their homes. Officials in Burdur, near the center of the quake, said at least 65 persons died in Burdur and nearby villages. They said the death toll in Burdur was 25 and at least 40 died in the villages of Yazi and Yari, which were leveled by the shock. More than 100 were reported injured.

McGOVERN ADDRESSES ONE-THIRD OF LEGISLATURE

THE IDEALS set forth in the American Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution are being poisoned by the war in Southeast Asia, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said Wednesday. "As we approach the 200th anniversary of the experiment launched in 1776, I find a great and powerful nation that has wandered so far from its ideals that it has almost lost its way," the first announced presidential candidate told the Massachusetts Legislature. Only about one-third of the states 280 senators and representatives showed up for the McGovern speech, the rest staying away to protest the use of the legislature by presidential candidates as a "political sounding board." However, the galleries were filled with McGovern admirers who frequently burst into applause. As the senator was introduced, Reps. William G. Robinson, R-Melrose, William F. Hogan, D-Everett, and Ralph E. Sirrianni, D-Winthrop, left their seats, paraded in front of the rostrum and walked out of the chamber. McGovern said the Indochina War is preventing the federal government from meeting its constitutional obligations of providing for the "general welfare" and "common defense" of the American people.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY EMpaneled FOR 18 MONTHS

A SPECIAL federal grand jury was empaneled Wednesday for 18 months to hear evidence against organized crime in Massachusetts. U.S. District Judge Frank J. Murray empaneled the grand jury. Normal life of grand juries is three months, but Murray said this body would last 18 months. Edward F. Harrington, chief of the Organized Crime Strike Force in New England, requested the special empaneling but declined comment on the testimony to be introduced.

Seeks Tenant Be Named To Housing Board

A Newton civic leader has filed a proposed ordinance to provide for the election of a tenant to the Board of the Newton Housing Authority.

Terrence P. Morris, vice-president of the Newton Jaycees, submitted a proposal to fill the next vacancy on the board by vote of the tenants in the three existing housing projects.

Citing "an ever expanding need to broaden avenues of communication and responsiveness in governmental agencies," the ordinance would make Newton the first community in the Commonwealth to provide for a

Plans to construct an $8 million office building complex in Newton, revealed unexpectedly in a roundabout way on Monday night, could be blocked by a proposed flood plain amendment to the city's zoning ordinances.

At a public hearing on the proposed zoning amendment at Newton City Hall, Thomas Gilligan of Wellesley rose to speak against the amendment and said building plans have been filed with the city for construction of three office buildings on 400,000 square feet of land along the Charles River parallel to an access road to Route 128 near the Holiday Inn in Auburndale.

Gilligan said he isn't sure how much of his land would be affected if the amendment is approved. However, he noted, passage of the ordinance would "cripple us."

The amendment was proposed by the Planning Department and the hearing was held before the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen and the Planning Board. These groups will make their recommendations for action to the full Board of Aldermen after study of the proposal.

The amendment calls for creation of a flood plain, watershed protection zone.

In presenting the proposal,

Newton Planning Director Michael Ferris said "it will be an important step toward reducing future flooding hazards and preserving the natural water carrying capacity of the city's remaining streams, brooks and wetlands."

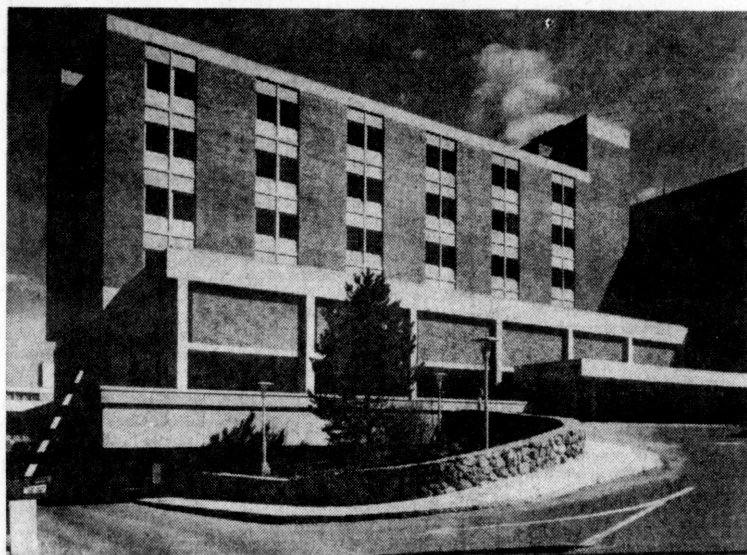

The proposed ordinance states: "In areas included within a flood plain watershed protection area, with several exceptions, no building or other structure shall be erected, constructed, altered, enlarged, or otherwise created for any residence or other purpose; no dumping of trash, rubbish, garbage or junk or other waste materials shall be permitted; no filling, dumping, excavation, removal or transfer of gravel, sand, loam or other material which will restrict flood water flow or reduce the flood water storage capacity shall be permitted."

Exceptions listed included such construction as dams, bridges, parking lots, recreation areas, etc.

Delay Action On Proposed Hockey Rink

Action on a petition to construct a hockey rink on the grounds of the Fessenden School in West Newton was again deferred by the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night after the committee first was told that school officials were adamant about the site they had selected for the rink, and

Open New Hospital Wing Here Sunday

One of the newest, most modern and largest operating suites in the United States will be open to the public on Sunday when residents visit Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The occasion will be an Open House from 1-5 p.m., allowing residents to see the completed new West Wing, a multi-million dollar complex of medical facilities.

The operating suite will give visitors a once-in-a-lifetime chance to see operating facilities close-up. This is only possible because the suite will not be in use at the time of the tour.

The operating suite consists of 12 operating rooms capable of handling any type of surgery. The floors have been especially constructed for safety with conductive floors which are necessary because of the potentially explosive elements which are sometimes used during the surgical process.

Strategically located throughout the operating suite are devices called conductometers. By stepping on a special plate, a gauge will register the safe level and will indicate whether or not a person can enter the operating room without danger.

8 Local Men Get B.C. Promotions

A total of eight Newton residents, faculty members at Boston College, recently received promotions or were granted tenure effective for the academic year 1971-72.

Promoted to Full Professor were John R. Betts and Dr. Silas Wu of the college's History Department, H. Michael Mann of the Economics Department and Dr. Gerald G. Bilodeau of the Mathematics Department.

Betts has been teaching at BC for 16 years, during which time he has lectured on American intellectual and social history, American nationalism and period courses in American history from 1865.

Professor Betts' interest in the history of sports in the United States has led many of the nation's leading sports journalists to cite him as a leading sports historian in the country. Red Smith has classified Betts' "Organized Sport in Industrial America" as a monumental work.

A graduate of Princeton University, he received his masters and doctoral degrees from Columbia. Prior to his assignment at BC, Betts taught at Tulane University and South Dakota State College. His publications include several articles, among them, "The Technological Revolution and the Rise of Sport," "Sporting Journalism in 19th Century America," "Darwinism, Evolution and American Catholic Thought" and "P.T. Barnum and the Popularization of Natural History."

Prof. Betts lives at 74 Fairmount Avenue in

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Beano Will Soon Be Legal, Should Be Boon To Churches

Little old ladies, who soon will be able to play beano in their own Parish Halls without busing all the way up to New Hampshire to do so, will have a number of persons to thank for this convenience.

Their benefactors include the old reliables like Representative George L. Saco of Medford who have been fighting for years to legalize beano which has been and is played in church halls under such names as bingo and blitz.

A new name among those responsible for bringing back beano is freshman Republican Representative James B. Moseley of Hamilton.

It could well have been the actions and statements of this outspoken first-year law-maker from the North Shore which caused Governor Sargent to decide there would be little point or purpose to vetoing another beano bill.

Six measures, all virtually the same as a bill passed by both branches of the Legislature last year and then killed by Mr. Sargent, were languishing before the joint committee on government regulations.

Dedicate Temple Beth Avodah Friday

Dedication is planned for May 14, for Newton's new Temple Beth Avodah, and it will be the realization of a long sought-after dream for the Temple's congregation.

Hub Area B'nai B'rith Elects Newtonite Head

Isaac Tarmy of Newton will be installed as president of the B'nai B'rith Council of Greater Boston by Harry Bernack of New York, president of District No. 1, at the annual election and installation of officers breakfast meeting at the Sidney Hill Country Club in Chestnut Hill on Sunday, May 16, at 9:30 a.m. He will succeed Sidney Silberberg, also of Newton.

Mr. Tarmy has been a community leader for many years, having served as president of Haym Salomon Lodge and for four terms as a member of the Board of Governors of District No. 1 B'nai B'rith.

From the original ten families in 1963 that organized and worked under the guidance and inspiration of Rabbi Davidson and Seltzer, the Temple today has over 200 families and is still growing.

"Have Torah, will travel" could have been the humorous reference initially apropos for the Beth Avodah (translation—hard labor and devout worship) congregation, because for want of a temple, services were at first held in homes, a local Women's Club and Mount Ida.

Then a Salvation Army building for sale on Puddingstone Lane became their first real temple. Previously a Mother's Rest Home and Summer Day Camp, the building offered much potential and repairs and alterations were quickly made by the "do-it-yourself" congregation.

James Barber In Fight For School Board

James Barber of 32 Miller Road, Newton Centre, has announced that he will be a candidate for the School Committee from Ward 6 in next November's election.

"As a 15-year resident of this city, I would primarily like to see the School Committee return to its proper position as an active guardian of the interests of both the school community and the over-burdened taxpayer."

"To emphasize this dual role of our representatives, I will continually stress the need for the statistical evaluation and accountability of all programs in order that every sector of the community can express its complaints and desires," he declared.

Workshop For Parents' Aid Opens May 17

A Parent Effectiveness Training workshop will begin Monday, May 17, it was announced today by James E. Richard of Effectiveness Training Associates. The class will meet on the Boston College campus. The first meeting is open to the public.

The workshop will be concerned with the building of better parent-child relationships. It will concentrate on communications skills within the family.

The content and method of the workshop will be demonstrated at the first session. The full course will meet every Monday and Thursday from May 17 to June 17 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Room 228, Cushing Hall, Boston College, Chestnut Hill. There is a fee for the course.

Parent Effectiveness Training has been developed by Dr. Thomas Gordon, a California-based psychologist, from his work with children. The first workshops met in California in 1962. Since then they have spread to other parts of the country. Over 15,000 parents have participated.

In the Boston area Parent Effectiveness Training is offered by Effectiveness Training Associates — New England, a Weston firm affiliated with Dr. Gordon.

Mosher New President For Bankers Association Here

Giles E. Mosher, Chairman of the Board and President of the Newton-Waltham Bank, was elected President of the Newton Bankers Association for the ensuing year at the Annual Meeting May 3, held at Braeburn Country Club, West Newton, Mass.

Other officers elected to serve the Association are Vice President, David R. Donald, Treasurer of Newton Savings Bank; Treasurer, Paul L. Shakespeare, Vice Treasurer of West Newton Savings Bank; and Secretary, George A. Munroe, Cashier of the Newton National Bank.

President Allard J. Valentine, spoke briefly of the work of the eight Newton Banks which now total over $572,000,000 in total assets.

Deposit growth was somewhat static from April 1, 1970 through December 31,

1970; however, during the first three months of 1971 deposit inflows have been very encouraging, availing mortgage lenders adequate funds to service local mortgage demand.

Deposits now total $534,000,000 an increase of 14.98 percent and Mortgage Loans increased 4.41 percent to $275,000,000 for the year ending March 31, 1971.

Basbas spoke briefly of the financial condition of the City and the problems it faces in providing municipal services and controlling the cost of these services.

He urged everyone present to contact their representatives, requesting that they take action toward passing some type of a revenue sharing program that would help alleviate the fiscal crisis facing our towns and cities.

Edward J. King, Executive Director of the Massachusetts Port Authority, the main speaker of the evening, commented on the progress of the Port Authority since its activation in 1969.

A report of the growth of revenues from bridges, airport properties and port properties was distributed as well as a report of the rapid growth of passenger and cargo traffic at Logan International Airport.

King stressed the need for approval of the proposed expansion of Logan Airport and urged its support.

Barber continued.

"Likewise, I will endeavor for a Charter change which will replace our present 8 at large Committeemen by 4 at large ones and 4 ward ones with the mayor continuing to serve ex-officio. In this way, I hope that the School Committee will become more responsive to some of the regional problems of our educational system," he stated.

"Yet, the problems of our schools extend beyond structural reforms into the question of teacher responsiveness to student needs and more precisely into the hiring firing of teachers," Barber said.

"Let no one mistake the fact that there are many excellent teachers in our system; although it is because of these few unqualified, tenured teachers that I will recommend a teacher-parent-student standing committee at each school to review complaints. If the committee determines the complaints to be serious enough, it can ask the School Committee to dismiss the teacher," he went on.

"Moreover, I would strive to establish more voluntary programs on the form of the Murray Road School, where the educational choices are geared to student needs.

"One should not forget, however, that for any school system to survive, the taxpayers should not be pushed to the point where they will rebel against the whole system. Therefore we must continually try to re-locate funds so that we are receiving a maximum product," Mr. Barber concluded.

James Barber is 20 years old and a third year, advanced standing senior at Harvard College, majoring in Political Science. He is also currently a council member of Newton Citizens for Education (NCE) and has been active in the educational system of Newton as a Math Tutor for the past three years. He was educated in the Newton school system and was graduated from Newton South High School.

then heard that the school trustees will meet again on the matter.

Attorney Reginald Howe, representing the school, said that the Board of Trustees at a meeting a week ago decided that the site they had selected for construction of the hockey rink was the best location on the school's property for the facility.

He also told the committee that though the Board of Aldermen has the responsibility to regulate non-school use, "this is fundamentally a school rink, and for this purpose the school is not really obliged to comply with city zoning ordinances.

The Land Use Committee appeared to be about to deny the school's petition because of the proximity of the proposed rink to nearby residences and the objections of the neighbors, when Howe declared that the Board of Trustees would meet again on the matter, though he could not predict their decision.

Committee Chairman Alan Barkin pointed out that it was up to the committee to consider the petition on its merits and not to determine the legality of the city's or the school's rights under the zoning ordinances. If necessary, that would have to be up to the courts, he noted.

Alderman Peter Harrington said there was "no question that the proposed rink is an infringement in a residential zone. The neighbors have rights too. They don't want a two and a half story brick building half the size of a football field in their backyards."

Committee members indicated that if an alternative plan was submitted that called for locating the rink on the Alberman Golf Course somewhere across from the Gath Pool they would look more favorably on the petition.

In other action the committee recommended on a 43 vote denial of a petition to rezone from manufacturing and private residence to Residence E district the Security Mills property in Newtonville.

The Committee's recommendations will be submitted to the full Board of Aldermen for action.

(May 16) they will see huge lamps under which the surgeon operates. These specialized lighting fixtures have the unique ability of providing the maximum amount of light with a minimum amount of shadow and any interference with the surgeon as he attends to his patient.

A special surgical display will be available for view to those attending the open house. This will be the last time the public will have a chance to see this area, since visitors are not allowed when the suite is operational.

Also open to visitors will be the new radiology (X-ray) Department, the patient care areas on the third, fourth and sixth floors, and unfurnished shell with its maze of pipes and structural materials, the patient Department, a sparkling new lobby, the laboratory and the coffee and gift shops.

Refreshments will be served to all visitors. Information may be obtained by calling the hospital at 244-2800, extension 393.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

What it means to experience genuine freedom and liberty will be explored at Christian Science services Sunday. "I will walk at liberty: for I seek thy precepts," a Scriptural verse to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" states.

Supporting commentary from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy will include this citation: "Truth brings the elements of liberty. On its banner is the Soul-Inspired Motto, 'Slavery is abolished.' The power of God brings deliverance to the captive."

The services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, begins at 10:45 a.m. All are welcome.

"Fun Fair" At Angier School Sunday, May 23

The Angier School Fun Fair, an event the community of Waban looks forward to each year, will be held, rain or shine on Sunday, May 23 from 12:30 to 3:30.

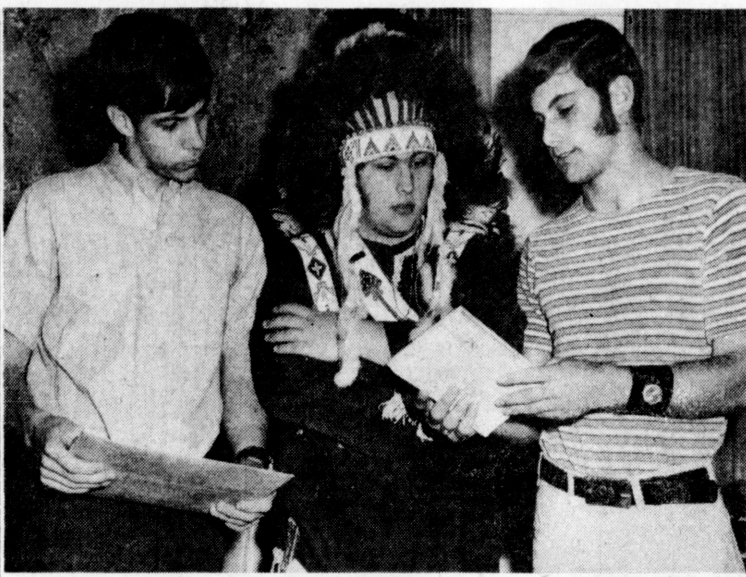

According to the chairman, Dr. Floyd Gilles, this will be a real, old-fashioned "Fun" Fair with games inspired by students of each class and their parents. There will be games to interest every age level with lots of surprises in-between.

Under the leadership of Dr. Gilles, the following committees are hard at work: Mrs. Thomas P. Hackett: Finance Committee; Plants: Mrs. David Hubel, Food: Mrs. David B. Longson, Game Co-Ordinator: Mrs. Mel Scovell, Bake Sale: Mrs. David A. Proctor, Publicity; Mrs. Philip M. Coyne, Poster Contest; Mrs. Robert Conley, Physical Arrangements; Dr. Floyd Gilles, Mel Scovell and Philip M. Coyne.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Scovell, presidents of the Angier PTA, urge all interested persons in the Newton Community to circle May 23rd for a real old-fashioned "Family Fun Day."

Mu Phi Epsilon To Hear Newton Family Perform

Margy O'Donnell, oboist, and Kathy O'Donnell, first Flutist, will be accompanied on the piano by their mother, Hazel Nell, in the spring concert of the Boston Alumnae Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon this coming Sunday afternoon (May 16) at 3 o'clock at 22 Wyoming Avenue in Needham. The O'Donnells, of 64 Oakwood Road in Newtonville, will perform music by Jean Francaix, Gabriel Faure and William Grant Still.

Retired Persons To Enjoy Annual Fete On Tuesday

Then annual meeting of the local chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will be held this coming Tuesday (May 18) at the Newtonville United Methodist Church, corner of Walnut Street and Newtonville Avenue (it is advised the side entrance on the avenue be used), beginning at 12:15 p.m. with the serving of luncheon.

Following the luncheon, the yearly reports will be read and by the Remecon men's glee club.

The gathering will mark the completion of the association's winter - spring season; programs will resume in September. The chapter also invites interested persons to join the association which has already made available to its members such things as health insurance, a money-saving drug service, a travel service and monthly publications.

To learn more about national and local chapter memberships, write the A.A.R.P. at Connecticut Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Women's League Rosters, Fee Due Tomorrow

Tomorrow (Friday) is the deadline for team rosters for the Newton Women's Twilight Softball League.

Each roster must be accompanied by the team's entry fee with all checks made out to "Newton Women's Twilight League."

For further information, call Fran Towle at the Recreation Department, 969-3171.

Scout "Indians" Plan Dance Foray In Maine

A group of palefaced 'Redskins' from Norumbega Council will invade Alfred, Maine, May 21 wearing Indian bonnets and dancing moccasins.

Members of Musketahquid Lodge, Order of the Arrow, the 60, scouts, Explorers and adult leaders hope to bring home trophies - but not scalps - as mementoes of their trip.

The peaceful mission is the annual Order of the Arrow area conference that will be highlighted by Indian dance competition and the local lodge is defending champions in two categories.

The lodge's Watanka Dance Team, headed by Tom Cushman of 34 Park St., Newton Centre, took team championship last year while Jonathan Dinkel, 15 of 173 Lincoln St., Newton Highlands, won the junior solo competition.

The team hopes for another win and Dinkel will be going after senior solo. His specialty is an intricate Indian hoop dance that requires footwork and agility.

Chief of the Lodge, Matthew Scott, 17 of 156 Grant Ave., Newton Centre, said the team and Dinkel should "do well and probably will come back home as winners."

Academy-

that Newton was selected as one of eighteen departments to conduct an academy.

Under this act, according to Quinn, the established academies would also admit for training officers from other communities not having such training schools.

At present, outside agencies include: Registry of Motor Vehicles, Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority, and the police departments of Holliston, Sherborn, Wellesley, Everett, Winthrop, Natick, Grafton, Weston, Marlboro, Dedham and Watertown.

Chief Quinn has assigned Captain Albert Yanco as academy director, Lieutenant Richard Nugent as classroom supervisor, and Sergeant Charles Feeley, Administrative Assistant Raymond Thibault, and Supply Officer John Coffey as coordinators.

Quinn stated that the Massachusetts Police Training Council, of which Mayor Monte G. Basbas is a member, has, since its inception, increased police training from 160 hours to 280 hours to improve and standardize police education.

The Academy staff is composed of outstanding instructors for all segments of the academic and law enforcement fields.

"The team has been busy dancing for Cub Scout Pack meetings; Boy Scout Courts of Honor; charitable associations and any group that calls on them. They've had plenty of practice and know what they are doing."

"The competition is going to have to watch their steps," Scott predicted.

All dances are patterned after actual Indian dances and judges watch for mis-steps; false moves and take costumes into consideration when making awards.

While the Indian Dance Team is the most colorful part of any Order of the Arrow lodge's activities, it is not the focal point of the organization.

The O.A. is the service arm of Scouting and its main goal is to promote camping and to assist Scout Councils in all areas.

Boy and adult members are elected by Troops to be candidates for a local lodge but the final acceptance is by members of the lodge at a colorful ceremony called the Tap Out.

At the annual Spring Camporee at Norumbega's Scout Reservation in Framingham, 82 Scouts and 18 adults were tapped out for membership.

The group went through an Ordeal Weekend of work, silence and fasting before being accepted into Musketahquid Lodge.

Open Lecture At Pine Manor

Newton residents are invited to a lecture by Earl Hubbard, artist, author and advisor to the Committee for the Future, to be given at 4 p.m. today at the Pine Manor Campus in Chestnut Hill and again at 7:30 p.m.

"The Primary Right of Mankind is to Have a Future" is the theme of Mr. Hubbard's lecture in which he suggests that mankind must move to new worlds in space to survive.

Captain Albert Yanco announced that the opening session will include greetings by Chief Quinn and orientation by the Newton staff.

Captain John Sullivan of the Worcester Police Department will speak on "The Role of Law Enforcement" and Lieutenant Martin Murphy of the Massachusetts State Police will lecture on "Substantive Law."

Other subjects, according to Captain Yanco, are assigned to cover all phases of law enforcement.

When Natural Gas heat comes into your home it brings along a good friend

Of course Boston Gas and your independent Gas Heating Contractor appreciate it when you decide to change to Natural Gas heat. What we appreciate even more is the chance to show you what kind of people we are after you switch. That's when you can tell people care about you as a person, not as "just another customer." And that's when you can expect your contractor's personal installation work to be as dependable as Natural Gas heat itself. Because it is.

Your Gas Heating Contractor is easy to reach, reliable and efficient. Call and find out for yourself.

And if you change to Natural Gas heat now, there's even a little bonus: We'll arrange to remove your old oil tank at no charge. And we'll save you from the "Montreal Express."

Tax Collecting Woes

In a day when public treasuries are giving governors, mayors and law-makers greater incentives than ever to find new things to tax, an old tax favorite is taking quite a lambasting.

Tobacco has had its supporters ever since Sir Walter Raleigh's colonists brought back to England a good-sized shipment of the weed from Roanoke Island off the Carolina Coast in the late 1500s. Sir Walter, apparently without too much trouble, was able to convince Queen Elizabeth the stuff would make a fine source of brand new taxes.

Like Demon Rum, tobacco and all its products have had their share of enemies down through the centuries. There are those who would be glad to tax both out of existence.

Today state cigarette taxes range from two cents per pack in North Carolina to 18 cents in Pennsylvania. They represent an all-important revenue source for most of the larger states.

These days, however, it's not a move to drive Lady Nicotine to the end of her existence. Lawmakers and governors, many of whom have quit their allegiance to her charms, will be looking with pleasure on a steady, ever-climbing cigarette consumption in their states.

There joys will not be unalloyed. Organized crime is now long-acquainted with the profits of cigarette bootlegging. Besides the gangsters, there's the little matter of differences in cigarette tax rates between neighboring states.

A New York State Tax Department official estimates bootleggers have cost his state nearly $7 million a year in uncollected taxes, while a wholesaler's group estimates a five-year loss to all states of about $441 million.

Meanwhile, Massachusetts with a 12-cent tax must cope with losses entailed by Bay Staters purchasing their "coffin nails" in New Hampshire where the tax is 8.5 cents per package. North Carolina, where they produce more than half the nation's cigarettes, looks with asstance when Tennessee complains its border town cigarette addicts cross over the line to make their purchases. Compared to N.C.'s 2-cent per-pack tax, the Tennessee tax is 13 cents.

Things must have been simpler in Raleigh's day.

Lots of Cash

Agents of the promoters and of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service are nearing the end of their count of the gross receipts attracted March 8 by a professional boxing contest involving Joe Frazier and Muhammad Ali (nee Cassius Clay).

In these days of computers it might seem that a period of more than two months is an extravagant investment of time to reach a few grand totals. However, in this instance there has been a lot of money to count. Besides some of the cash was coming from points scattered around the globe.

The final accounting will be around the $20 million mark forecast long before the boxers entered the ring for their evening's work. The two pugilists, of course, will have only an academic interest in the gross figure. They are sure of whatever is left of their joint $5 million fee after the deduction of taxes.

The two entrepreneurs responsible for the worldwide show, Jack Kent Cooke and Jerry Perenchio, will split a before-taxes profit of $1.5 million on a 60-40 basis.

Since the days of John L. Sullivan the so-called manly art of boxing has known its good days and bad. It has been denounced by lawmakers and reformers. It has been the target of investigators who have often laid bare an existing alliance between the sport and the most unsavory of underworld characters.

Yet, even as he awaits the final financial returns on the March 8 venture, Mr. Cooke, who holds an option to promote a re-match of Messrs. Frazier and Clay at an Inglewood, Cal., forum, indicates he will let time and "future circumstances" determine his decision.

One factor with which he appears to have no reason to be concerned is the usual loud protests which follow heavyweight championships about a "brutal and brutalizing sport." Those kind of protests and the laws to which they gave rise forced John L. Sullivan and some of his contemporaries to stage their battles on barges and out-of-the-way places like Richburg, Miss.

Money talks, and $20 million is still a lot of money.

National Hospital Week

"Your hospital cares . . . but who loves a hospital?" is the theme for this year's National Hospital Week observance. In selecting "who loves a hospital?" as the theme the hospital people have been about as realistic as one can get. The question portrays the huge public misunderstanding which our hospitals have to keep working so hard to overcome.

Hospitals are thought of as places where most people go when they are sick. More accurately, hospitals are places where people are being restored to healthy lives or told what to do to stay healthy.

Hospitals are often thought of as medical hotels for the few who can afford the tariff. Actually hospitals are involved in delivering care to the underprivileged, and are increasingly visible in community health programs.

Hospitals are accused of contributing to inflation. Instead, hospitals are victims of inflation. Recent raises in hospital wages were long overdue, yet it takes 275 hospital workers to provide proper care to 100 patients, compared with 156 workers a quarter century ago. Boosts in the prices of hospital supplies are justified, but it takes even more equipment and supplies to provide the advanced clinical and diagnostic services now expected of a hospital.

Hospitals are front and foremost in the quest to control operating costs, reduce lengths of stay and provide comprehensive health care prepayment. Since it is so important that a good hospital be available to any of us at a moment's notice, it behooves all of us to keep informed of hospital needs and problems. Getting informed is the logical way for us to observe National Hospital Week and we are sure that our own community hospital in Norwood will be glad to help—as usual.

WIDENING SHADOW

- POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS -

Veteran law-makers weren't quite sure what to do about the situation. Many of them wanted to help the beano enthusiasts but were fearful that Sarge would again torpedo a bill to legalize beano.

Representative Moseley did not deliberate long on what he would do. He moved that the six bills be consolidated into one and then reported out favorably. He also said publicly and privately some things which needed to be said. He may have started the beano law on the way to the statute books.

He declared that many people want to play beano and that they will do so whether the law says they can or cannot.

Many churches, whose pastors are desperate for money for the most deserving of causes and undertakings, already are holding beano games under other names, he pointed out.

Where racketeers and gangsters may have pleaded the cause of beano two decades ago, the fight to legalize beano today is being spearheaded by church pastors and the commanders of veteran organizations, declared Representative Moseley.

The greatest assurance that racketeers and gangsters will not muscle in again on the operation of beano games, according to the North Shore law-maker, is that the pastors can't afford to allow them to do so. They need all the money the beano games can produce.

So beano, outlawed because racketeers were involved in its operation in the late 1930s and early 1940s, is now on its way back.

Governor Sargent is having the Legislature write a few more safeguards into the beano law and then will sign it and place it on the statute books.

There will be few churches which will not be staging beano games when it becomes legal to do so.

Pastors of Catholic churches already are counting on beano as a source of revenue which may provide funds to keep their parochial schools operating.

Beano will not be the great money-raising event it has been pictured by its supporters. It will produce some funds for charitable causes and worthy undertakings, but much of the money paid by the people who engage in this mild form of gambling will be plowed back in as prizes to keep the game attractive to the public.

But legalizing beano unquestionably will do much more good than harm, and the money it raises for churches and veteran organizations will be going to the most worthy of causes.

And a freshman legislator from Hamilton named James B. Moseley played a major part in bringing beano out of the shadows and placing it back on the books.

Govt. Centre Demonstration
A Waste of Time and Money

There is something unreal about an anti-war demonstration such as the one staged in Boston's Government Centre where several thousand demonstrators tried to close down the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

The demonstrators are sincere young men and women, many of them with bushy hair and matted beards but still sincere, who believe that in some unexplained way they are helping to end the war in Vietnam sooner when they inconvenience the general public or aggravate a police officer until they get hit on the side of the head with a billy club.

One of the surprising things to this observer is that more persons are not seriously hurt as tempers rise, scuffles occur, rocks are thrown and clubs are swung, often with considerable force.

Part of the crowd at the height of the demonstration at the Kennedy Building was comprised of persons of varying ages who had gathered to watch the excitement and the fighting when the police and demonstrators clashed, as it was inevitable they would.

Many of the spectators were junior and senior high school boys and girls who either had played hooky from school to watch the demonstration or had rushed into downtown Boston as soon as they were dismissed from school. They were not demonstrators. They had attended to see a free show. A few wandered into the wrong places, were drawn into the maelstrom and arrested.

The demonstration actually was divided into two sections neither of which really accomplished anything. One was a rally on Boston Common which seemed to be properly conducted except that the noise generated at night by the demonstrators who stayed on for a rock and roll session which disturbed people on nearby Beacon Hill.

How a tremendous roar of noise, which prevents people from sleeping and awakens babies and other small children, helps to end the war or does anything but create public illwill for the demonstrators, has never been clear to this writer.

By what reasoning the demonstrators feel they are privileged to engage in actions of so-called civil disobedience and trespass upon the rights of other people to follow their normal pursuits also is a mystery.

It draws attention to the demonstrators. It gets them publicity in the newspapers and on the television newscasts. But actually it serves no useful purpose, accomplishes nothing and does no good.

People were prevented from using Cambridge street. Persons who normally would have gone to the Kennedy Building to transact business stayed home. An attempt was made to prevent federal employees from going to work that day.

The effort to close down the Kennedy Building was unsuccessful, but business was disrupted as federal workers spent most of the day looking out windows at the carnival-like demonstration which might have been viewed as funny except for its serious overtones.

This writer is not disposed to wave flags. We'd like to see the war in Indochina come to a close as soon as is feasible. But an experienced newsmen came away from the Government Centre with the conviction that the demonstration was at least partly promoted by communist-oriented groups and that some of the demonstrators, splattered with blood from where they were hit with billy clubs, were being used as pawns by communist agitators.

The demonstration at the Kennedy Building accomplished nothing except to bloody a few heads and force the spending of public funds in overtime pay to off-duty police officers, most of whom would have preferred to be at home asleep.

The Losers in World War 2
Now Both Industrial Giants

Germany and Japan were the two big losers in World War 2. We won in case you have forgotten. And we were gracious victors.

We poured money by the millions into Germany and Japan after the war to end all wars in order to rebuild the two shattered nations.

Today Germany and Japan are two of the industrial giants of the world. Their economy is at least as sound as ours, possibly sounder.

We helped to restore the fallen fortunes of France, and when we restored them sufficiently, General Charles de Gaulle virtually threw us out of his country.

We have maintained potent military forces in West Germany to help defend West Germany, France, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland against the possible threat of the Soviet Union.

We are still helping to build the economy of West Germany by the defense expenditures we are making there. We have gone so far that the American dollar is now shaky in Western Europe and will buy less there.

If Japan and Germany, the nations we brought back from pitiful destruction to their present greatness, have aided us, their benefactors, in Vietnam, it has escaped our attention.

If President Nixon or some other top United States official were to visit Japan today, there would be demonstrations against him in a country we brought up from the dust.

How much longer are we to allow this nonsense to continue?

Isn't it about time to pull our troops out of West Germany? They have been there for more than a quarter of a century. As far as we can ascertain, there is more actual poverty in the United States today than there is in West Germany.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Opinions Differ

The following letter was received by The Graphic with a request that it be published today.

May 6, 1971

Mr. Harold Silverman
c/o Boston Area Clergy and Laymen Concerned
474 Centre Street
Newton, Massachusetts 02158
Dear Mr. Silverman:

Thank you for inviting me to join with others in becoming a signatory and endorser of your statement scheduled to appear in the Newton Graphic issue of May 13, 1971.

I must decline your invitation.

Some might wish to believe that my refusal, therefore, means that I do not support an end of this tragedy. This is not so, nor do I have any paranoid feelings in this regard.

For over three years I have supported a philosophy, as well as candidates who have supported the same philosophy, through legal and traditional channels. Basically it says that the Congress must withdraw the allocation of resources to continue this action, and that the Chief Executive must wind the war down to a conclusion at the very earliest practicable moment.

I believe that the basic concept I support has a broad base of support, and further, that it is working. Not as fast, or as complete, or as absolute as I and others would prefer, but nonetheless working.

I respect your position and the work you and others are doing to advance the cause of peace.

Very truly yours,
Joseph I. Weinreb
Vice President-Marketing

Urges Zoning Board To Reject NCDF Petition

Editor of The Graphic:

Suddenly the awesome burden of deciding the fate of the city, its residents, and, indeed, the fate of many non-residents has been thrust on the members of the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals. The citizens, time after time, have demonstrated their feelings regarding these proposed housing projects.

The NCDF (Newton Community Development Foundation) proposals were initially rejected because NCDF did not demonstrate the need for the type of housing they proposed; because NCDF was not candid with the citizens, and through its actions and maneuverings instilled a deep-rooted distrust in the people of Newton; because the NCDF proposals would have greatly increased the tax burdens of an already over-taxed citizenry; because the NCDF proposals would cause chaos in schools throughout the city; because the NCDF choice of sites was not predicted on suitability, but rather availability; because the sites were not chosen with any regard to the preservation of open spaces or water shed lands; because the site selection did not take into consideration the availability of recreation facilities or the adverse affect on existent dangerous traffic conditions; because the city is already providing low-income housing.

In the petition before the Zoning Board of Appeals, NCDF has increased the per site density, thus making even more valid the observations made above.

There is considerable doubt as to whether the state "anti-snob law" or parts thereof are constitutional. Should the Zoning Board of Appeals grant NCDF its petition, it would be necessary for citizens at great personal expense to fight this ruling in the courts. If, however, the Zoning Board of Appeals rejects the petition, NCDF would still - if it chooses to continue to harass the city - have recourse by appealing to the state board.

I would hope that the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals will recognize its duties and obligations to the city and the citizens of Newton. I would hope that the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals will reject the NCDF petition for its comprehensive permit to build multiple housing units in Newton.

Sincerely,
Herbert Henken

A Wonderful Day

Editor of The Graphic:

Wasn't it a wonderful experience last Wednesday? . . . all those young people and those wise educators comingling in the warm sunshine on the Boston Common?

Think of it! At least six hundred and fifty people marched all the way in town from Newton. What an opportunity for exercise.

And wasn't it equally wonderful that our broad-minded school-board authorized the closing of the schools so that our students could get the word from the representative of the Chicago Seven and other speakers who were probably also out on bail?

Just one thing was wrong. . . The schools were closed. The kids couldn't go to classes. They were denied the right to at least be exposed to the educational process for this particular day.

Why? Why were the schools closed? By what right did the School Board, some of whose members prudently send their children to private schools, deny our young people their day in class?

We are taxed to pay educational costs arbitrarily set by the School Board. According to the law, nobody - the mayor, the aldermen, the teachers, nor the people can tamper with the school budget. So, as long as we have to

Word From Washington

Editor of The Graphic:

Dear Editor:

For a nation dedicated to justice, the kind of lawlessness and denial of due process and legal rights by the authorities in Washington, D.C., the week of May 3, is a disgrace and degradation of the American ideal. And when our authorities whose task it is to uphold the laws, flagrantly violate those laws and remain unpunished, then it is time for our society to examine the nature of justice which is being passed on to the next generation.

My story is typical of many who went to Washington - many whose stories were neglected by the nation's press. I went to Washington to protest an illegal war and was arrested indiscriminately simply for being present in my nation's Capital.

I was arrested at 9:45 in the morning while simply walking on the street.

When I got to the police station I was thrown in jail immediately; neither my name nor my picture was ever taken, so the police at that time had no information on me. Repeatedly, the officers denied us the right of contacting an outside party, claiming that in Washington, "you have no rights." And it wasn't until 12 hours later when the police asked me my name, that they had a record of my identity.

Their charges displayed this ignorance; I was charged with doing something I had never done, at a place I wasn't even near, and at a time at least two hours prior to my actual arrest.

Obviously the police felt that the best way to prevent protest was simply to remove from the streets anyone who appeared as a potential demonstrator. So what if they violate an individual's Constitutional and legal rights - "these protestors are only long-haired students and blacks." By its actions, the government has demonstrated that at will it can stifle dissent merely by indiscriminately arresting individuals - a tactic common to all fascist nations.

To those of you who react that the police were justified in transgressing the law because that was the intent of some of the demonstrators, I can only say that there is no excuse for those who pledge to uphold the laws to knowingly violate them.

And to those of you who react that the demonstrators had no right to be in Washington, D.C., I am saddened and can only say think about the conditions which precipitated this kind of protest. Think of all those people who have lost faith in America for its perpetuation of a savage and vicious war. And then think about all those Vietnamese whom we are making free by napalming their babies, defoliating their crops and massacring their women.

True not everyone went to Washington with the same ends, but to neglect their protests is to forget the lessons of Hitler and segregation. And even more threatening, to allow the Wash. police to get away with their fascist disregard for the law is to desecrate the dream of "justice for all" which this nation is supposedly dedicated to.

pay confiscatory charges for education, is it too much to ask that the board keep the schools open five days a week during the year?

Because when the schools are closed, we don't need a School Board.

Maybe that isn't a bad idea after all.

Nursery School Registering Now For Afternoon Sessions

Bowen Nursery School is now accepting applications for 1971-1972 academic year.

The class will meet on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 12 noon to 2:30 p.m. in Kindergarten Room A at the Bowen Elementary School. Tuition will be $225 for the school year. A Scholarship Fund has been established.

Applicants for the afternoon session should be between 2½ years and 4 years old, and eligible for Newton kindergarten in either one year or two.

It will now be possible for a child to spend one year attending the afternoon class and the following year attending the full five-day morning program.

Approval for the new afternoon session was given by Bowen School principal, Mr. John McLeod. His enthusiastic support of the Nursery this year made it possible to lengthen the morning hours as well.

The Nursery's head teacher, Mrs. Ernestine Smith, plans an afternoon program similar to that of the morning, with visits to the school library, gym, and playground included.

In addition to Mrs. Smith, there will be a full time assistant teacher and student teachers from Wheelock College. Pupils from Weeks Junior High School and from the older grades at Bowen visit the Nursery on a regular basis, to observe as well as to assist.

Since the Nursery is a non-profit cooperative school, parents serve on the administrative board, and often volunteer in the classroom to enrich the regular program. Although talented parents are always most welcome, active participation is not a requirement.

For further information about enrollment, please call Mrs. Lucie Chansky, Registration Chairman, at 244-7319.

Bicycle Support

Editor of The Graphic:
The membership of the Hyde School P.T.A. wishes to express its deep concern over the proposed discontinuance of the Bicycle Safety Program in the Newton Public Schools.

We realize that it is difficult to acquire hard objective evidence supporting the effectiveness of programs such as these. However, on the basis of simple observation and conversation with the children, we are convinced that Officer Feeley has been successful in imparting to the children certain skills and safety awareness which could well make the difference between bike survival on the streets and disaster.

Any adult cyclist will testify to the necessity of having a wide repertoire of skill if one is going to make so bid as to navigate the traffic-laden streets of Newton in a frail craft as a bicycle.

We strongly urge you to press or the continuance of this invaluable segment of our children's safety education, an area in which the margin for error is so thin.

We hope that all parents of elementary school children in Newton will realize that this is a city-wide problem because a city-wide program is at stake here.

We earnestly solicit their support of this vital safety program.

Very truly yours,
Philip W. Natale, Jr.
President
Hyde Park P.T.A.

Bill Gets OK From Committee

Senate Bill 156, a bill to reimburse cities and towns one-half the cost of constructing ice-skating rinks, was recently reported favorably by the Committee on Natural Resources and referred to the House Committee on Ways and Means.

The bill, in which many Newton residents have expressed interest, was reported to the Ways and Means Committee along with 48 other bills providing for the construction of recreational facilities in the Commonwealth.

The objectives of the proposed zoning, Ferris explained, are:

—to protect the public from hazard and loss through the regulation of future development within areas subject to flooding,

—to minimize future flooding through the protection and retention of existing wetlands and natural water storage areas, and

—to prevent the reduction of the water-carrying capacity of streams, brooks, rivers and drainage courses by prohibiting the destruction or alteration of their natural character, and by preventing encroachment by future

Choral Group Gives Concert Sunday Night

The Temple Emeth Choral Group of South Brookline, under the capable direction of Dr. Rose W. Shain, will present a delightful program for the Workmen's Circle on Sunday Evening May 16 at 1762 Beacon St., Brookline.

The Choral Group has been directed by Dr. Shain since its inception eleven years ago and she has personally arranged many of the selections in their repertoire.

For the evening's program they have selected a variety of classical and modern music including an operatic aria. They sing in various languages including Hebrew and Yiddish. The group has performed throughout the Greater Boston area and has entertained and pleased many audiences.

Featured soloists for the evening will be: Mmes. George Goldberg, Joseph Don Gusenoff, Eugene Polakoff, George Shlevin, Herman Waldman and Isadore Weinstein. Mrs. Walter Levine will accompany the group at the piano. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

development either public or private.

Essentially, the areas covered by the proposed zoning amendment would be those close to rivers, ponds or streams below a specified height above sea level that have been subject in the past to periodic flooding.

Speaking in favor of the proposal were Robert Macintosh of the Army Corps of Engineers, David Jackson, chairman of the aldermanic City Planning Committee; Mrs. Ann Donnelly of the Newton League of Women Voters; Mrs. Helen Heyn, chairman of the Newton Conservators Land Conservation Committee and James Coletti, a Newton resident.

Oscar Wasserman, attorney for the Newton at 128 Realty Trust, expressed reservations concerning the proposal. He said provisions should be made for permissive use because as it stands, the proposed amendment is "restrictive" and some of it could be considered "confiscatory."

Wasserman indicated that even homeowners whose land fell into the flood plain or watershed zone close to streams, ponds and the Charles River below the specified sea level height might find that it was illegal to add even a porch to their homes.

A show of hands at the conclusion of the hearing indicated 20 Newton property owners present favored the proposed amendment and none were opposed.

MRS. GERALD K. KELLEY

Miss Maura Hall Becomes Mrs. Gerald K. Kelley

Miss Maura Rita Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joseph Doherty, Sr., of 177 Franklin street, Newton and Falmouth, and Lieutenant Gerald Keenan Kelley, U.S.M.C.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kelley of Brighton, were married earlier in the month at St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill.

The Rev. Charles Crowley, former dean of Boston College, evening division, celebrated the 2:30 o'clock nuptial mass. A reception followed at the Philomatheia Club on the Boston College campus.

The bride wore a gown made of ivory silk faille, English net and Alencon lace. The empire bodice had a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves made with ruffled cuffs. The A-line skirt had a deep lace border at the hemline and a circular chapel length train.

Her full length lace edged illusion mantilla was designed with scalloped lace back panels.

She carried a Colonial bouquet of stephanotis, roses and baby's breath.

Miss Alexandra Messino of Newton Centre was maid of honor. Her A-line lime colored empire gown was embroidered with colored daisies. She carried a nosegay of daisies, sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Identically costumed, the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Bonacci of Cambridge and Miss Patricia Moschella of Newton Centre, and the junior bridesmaids were Miss Reidre O'Doherty and Miss Carmel O'Doherty, both of Newton and sisters of the bride.

The best man was Joseph M. Kelley of Watertown, brother of the groom. Ushering were John Donahue of Buffalo, N.Y., Robert Farrell of Brighton, John Keating of Houlston, Edward W. Kird, Esq. of Chestnut Hill and Coleman O'Doherty of Newton, brother of the bride.

Mrs. O'Doherty, mother of the bride wore a pink silk A-lined skirted dress styled with an attached scarf and

Library Showing Work of Newton Photographer

The people and things seen by Newton photographer Ned Schofield are on view this month at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, in a group of some 40 photographs.

Currently a doctoral student in educational management at Harvard University, he started in photography about 5 years ago, and almost from the beginning viewed photography as propaganda. A vigorous worker for congressman Drinan, Schofield has this year been teaching in a number of Boston schools: the Martin Luther King, the Holmes, the Shaw and the Taft.

Married and the father of a year-old son, he has also been teaching photography to a group of young grammar-school boys in an English-language program, using in-stamatic cameras as communication tools.

Schofield, a West Roxbury native, is a graduate of Catholic Memorial High School, with a B.A. from The Citadel, an M.A. from Northeastern, and a second M.A. from Harvard University. The exhibit will remain on view through May 20.

Annual Meeting Of Peace Center Set For May 19th

The Newton Community Peace Center, under the Chairmanship of Dr. Charles E. Brown, calls its Annual Meeting for Wednesday, May 19, at Second Church in West Newton, at 7:30 p.m. Featured panel speakers will be Jerome Grossman, Father Robert Cunnane, and Rick Payne, discussing "What Can We Do to Bring Peace: Three Alternatives."

Mr. Grossman, a Newton resident and businessman, is a Peace Center Advisory Council member, Chairman of Mass Pax, organizer of the 1969 nationwide Moratorium, and is deeply involved in exploring political avenues toward bringing peace.

Father Cunnane, a priest in the Order of Stigmata Fathers and a non-violent activist, is currently on the Board of Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, and on the staff of Packard Manse, an ecumenical inter-faith organization which deals with religious, racial, political, and ecological issues through conferences and direct action.

He is a member of the "Milwaukee 14," who were convicted in May, 1969 of pouring blood on draft files in Milwaukee on September 24, 1968. Father Cunnane served 13 months of a two year sentence in various Wisconsin prisons, during part of which he was allowed to teach "Christian Ethics" at Mt. Rosario College in nearby Ladysmith, Wisconsin during the day.

Under pressure from the State Legislatures, Wisconsin prison authorities then moved him to another prison to do dairywork, and later put him on a student release program where he became an apprentice to the Chaplain of a State Hospital. Currently on 4 years probation, he remains active (he was part of the Community of Peace at St. Paul's Cathedral during Holy Week), purposeful, insightful, and warmly humorous about his approach to bringing peace.

Rick Payne, a clergyman of the United Church of Christ, opts for a complete alternate life style which he feels better reflects, for him, the values which may help bring peace in our society resulting in the United States being better able to handle itself in a peaceful relationship to the rest of the world. He lives in a commune and is on the staff of Project Place, a youth and drug counseling center in downtown Boston.

Rev. Scott Paradise, Annual Meeting Chairman, looks forward to a dynamic panel and urges members to be on hand promptly at 7:30 for a brief but important business meeting. The public is cordially invited to share in the panel discussion at 8:30 p.m. Coffee and dessert will be served.

Assisting with arrangements are Mrs. Mary Lou DeLacy and Mrs. Nancy Brown.

Lois Indursky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Indursky of 25 Mignon road, West Newton, is winner of the 1970-71 Suzie Homemaker Award in family management at Vernon Court Junior College in Newport, R.I. Lois is a family management major and a candidate for the degree of associate in fine arts this spring.

MRS. DAVID C. GRAHAM

Arlene Rose Becomes Bride Of David Charles Graham

Goddard Chapel at Tufts University was the setting on Saturday, May 8, for the marriage of Miss Arlene Joy Rose to David Charles Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. father, the bride wore a princess gown made of organza and beau d'ange lace. Applied lace motifs marked the scalloped neckline and long wedding point sleeves. The gown was enhanced with a Watteau train.

The Rev. Earl Haywood and Rabbi Samuel Umen officiated at the 7:30 o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

Pretty May Wedding Unites Miss Phelan, Mr. Beckler

Miss Rhea Phelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Phelan of Watertown, and George William Beckler, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Beckler of 171 Cherry street, West Newton, were married on Saturday, May 8, at St. Jean's Church in Newton.

The Rev. Francis LeBrun officiated at the 4:30 o'clock ceremony at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. A reception was held at Holiday Inn, Waltham.

Given away by her father, the bride wore an A-line skirted gown of beau de soie. The empire bodice was trimmed with Alencon lace and fashioned with a high collar and Juliet sleeves. A becoming headpiece held in place her illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white roses.

Miss Rhonda May Phelan of Watertown sister of the bride, was honor maid. The other attendants were Miss Dale M. Beckler of West Newton, Miss Janet G. Hyson of Newtonville, Miss Jean Mooney of West Newton and Miss Rosemarie Saad of Waltham.

Drew A. Heckler of West Newton served as his brother's best man. The ushers were Richard Beckler of West Newton, Steven Roth of Waltham, John Lally of Watertown and Michael Marchione of West Newton.

Cape Cod is the honeymoon destination of the newlyweds, who plan to make their home in West Newton.

Preparations Underway For Comm. Service Campers

"What's the Buzz?" This line taken from a recent "Rock Opera," describes the excitement that is taking place relative to this summer's Kinder and Day Camp programs sponsored by the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc.

A new site for Kinder Kamp at the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Newton Centre promises to add a new dimension in camping experience for youngsters ages 3-6.

The rustic setting, so close to home will provide staff the opportunity to develop around the outdoors in a safe and comfortable setting.

In commenting on the site, Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Centers stated that the agency is indebted to the administration of the Country Day School for its gesture in making this fine facility available for the Kinder Kamp program.

The facilities make Kinder Kamp an all-weather Monday through Friday program. Designed to give a rewarding and beneficial group experience to the young child, it also serves as vicarious learning experience.

During the Camp day, children participate in many activities: art, swimming, games, stories, music, and those activities created from the imagination of the counselor for the campers.

Each two week session is assigned a theme, during this period the groups discuss the theme, do projects related to it, and at the end of two weeks prepare a dimple skit for a camp show.

These theme days provide as being a good group experience in working together for a goal. Special trips are planned weekly and cookouts are held each session.

With the addition of many new and creative staff members, a working relationship with the Boston College Graduate School of Education and a variety of physical improvements made at the camp site, the Newton Community Service Centers should enjoy a most exciting and rewarding summer Day Camp Program.

The private camp site, located at the Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood, includes 30 acres of tree covered land, swimming facilities, cookout accommodations, and 300 acres of long winding nature trails.

Campers leave from the Country Day School by bus each morning, Monday through Friday. Activity is varied with May 21.

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Cheryl Oriel and G. Warren Ross, of Newton Centre, son of Mr. George Ross of New Haven and Westbrook, Ct., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Oriel of Waban.

Miss Oriel is a graduate of Newton South High School and Garland Junior College. She is presently director at the Waltham Y.M.C.A., Nursery School.

Mr. Ross, is also the son of the late Mrs. Jean Ross, was graduated from Newton South High School and is now a physical education major at Arizona University.

Needlework Featured At Jackson Home On Sunday

Artistry in needlework - past and present - will highlight the Open House Exhibit Sunday afternoon (May 16) at the Jackson Homestead. The state mansion which houses Newton's city-owned museum will be open to visitors from three to five o'clock. There is no charge for admission.

The exhibits arranged by Mrs. Orin E. Skinner and Mrs. John D. Fox, co-chairman, will display a wide variety of "needle stitching, old and new, as applied to the enrichment of articles used in the home, for personal adornment, accessories, and church."

There will be examples of work showing various kinds of stitching used in crewel, needlepoint, and embroidery, and developed through the centuries. In her comments about the display, Mrs. Skinner noted that:

"The designs were mostly created by homemakers to give beauty to every day living. Designs were often exchanged with friends and neighbors. Today, as you will see, we use the same stitches and aim for the same perfection in upholstery, our furniture, spreads, hangings, costumes and accessories. The machine has not yet been able to produce the beauty and durability of such handwork. Visitors, I am sure, will enjoy viewing the work on display."

Visitors to the Sunday Open House will find several interesting rooms of great interest, among them "The Freedom Room" and "The Counting Room." Also, they will find reconstructed at the Homestead's kitchen door a new herb garden to which the cook as in bygone years simply "steps out and gathers a few sprigs of mint for tea or salad, chives, parsley, or thyme for seasoning."

Hostesses for the event are Mrs. William E. Connors, Mrs. Rose L. Trenholm, Mrs. Leonard D. Binns, Mrs. Frank J. Linehan, all members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

Members of the Friends of the Jackson Homestead serving as hostesses are Miss Margaret S. Ball, Miss Eleanor L. Bartlett, Miss Loraine Cotting, Mrs. Everett H. Potter, Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck, and Mrs. Edward Wagenknecht.

Assisting as guides will be members of the local troops of the Boy Scouts and Girls Scouts.

Flower arrangements for the Open House are being prepared by members of Temple Emanuel headed by Mrs. Herbert S. Collin.

The Committee on General Arrangements includes Mrs. Richard A. Winslow, president-elect of the Friends of the Jackson Homestead; Mrs. Charles S. Butler, retiring President; Henry A. Balke, Chairman of the Homestead's Board of Trustees; Mrs. William H. Cannard, Director-Curator; Mrs. Ruth W. Bassett, Secretary; Mrs. Orin E. Skinner and Mrs. John D. Fox, Co-chairman of Exhibits; Mrs. Kenneth C. Matheson, Costumes; Mrs. L. Bradford King, Jr., Hospitality; Mrs. Lester Steinburg, Floral Decorations.

Musical Motif For Meeting Of Centre Women

Mrs. Peter Turchon of 59 Wachusett Rd. in Chestnut Hill again opened her home and gardens for the Music Committee Meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club of which she is a long-time member.

Mrs. Victor D. Baer of Newton Centre, Co-chairman of the Music Committee poured at the refreshment hour, and Mrs. John W. Merrill, Chairman, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Merrill heads up the Choral Group of the Club called "The Merrillaires."

Among those present were Mesdames William E. Bailey, Leonard Binns, William L. Bruce, William J. Haggerty, Anthony Leone, Frank J. Linehan, Jr., James L. Maynard, Miriam P. Nichols, Theodore A. Pearson, Albert J. Rochette, Stanton J. Ten Broeck, Jr., Whelan Vincombe, and Mrs. Turchon.

Also, the Immediate Past-president of the Woman's Club, Mrs. C. Hassler Capron was there. Absent were the President of the Club, Mrs. Amos E. Kent and Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer, who were representing the Newton Centre Club at the same time at the Annual meeting of the City of Newton's Federation of Women's Clubs at the Wellesley Inn.

The program of the day was "Musical Current Events" with "audience participation." Mrs. Merrill and the Committee decided on a program for next

Rummage Sale Wednesday For Cystic Fibrosis

A rummage sale for the benefit of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation will be held on Wednesday, May 19th, at the Newton Centre Women's Club, 1280 Centre Street, Newton Centre.

New and used clothing, household articles and bric-a-brac will be on sale at the club from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Primary beneficiary of the proceeds of the sale will be the internationally famed Cystic Fibrosis Care, Teaching and Research Center at the Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston.

Over a year ago, the center also began concentration on research into children's lung diseases, including Cystic Fibrosis, asthma with lung damage, chronic bronchitis, emphysema and bronchiectasis, all of which were added under the broadened research programs of the foundation.

Cystic Fibrosis, which rivals all forms of cancer as a killer of babies and children, is the most serious chronic disease affecting children's lungs and digestion. No cure is yet known.

Anyone wishing to donate articles to the sale or volunteer their time during the day may call Mrs. Shirley Gray at 469-0682 or the Cystic Fibrosis office at 325-4400.

Pickup of donations may be made by calling one of the following: Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Miriam Bloomfield, 734-237, or Mrs. Ruth Hecht, 969-8077.

For further information, call Chairman Mrs. Lila Tye, 332-3899, Mrs. Lorraine Kadet, 244-0692, or Mrs. Marilyn Bernard, 469-9576.

year which will include a study of Bach, Beethoven and Brahms, in terms of studying classical music, the lives and music of the composers of that period, and illustrations by piano music. The study of discology is the center theme.

On May 16, the following members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club are to be hostesses at the Jackson Homestead Museum. Mrs. Leonard Binns, Mrs. William E. Connors, Mrs. Frank J. Linehan, Jr. and Mrs. Ross L. Trenholm. The museum is open free to the public from 8:5 p.m.

Antique Show and Sale Continues in Cambridge

A number of Newton area residents will attend the Antique Show and Sale by the Browne & Nichols School in Cambridge which continues today and tomorrow in the gymnasium on Gerry's Landing Road. Co-chairmen of this event are Mrs. Richard Kanter of Waban and Mrs. David Hawkins of Newton. Other Newton area residents with students at Browne & Nichols are Mrs. Alvin Hartman, Mrs. Ernest T. Reimann, Mrs. Henry E. Snell and Mrs. Burton Stern.

The Show, which opened yesterday, continues through Friday. Daily hours are 1 to 10 p.m. and Friday, 11 to 3 p.m. The "Rug of Civilization," a priceless oriental masterpiece, is one of the feature exhibits at this event.

Formerly owned by the deposed Shah of Persia, the rug is now the property of Boodakian & Sons of Winchester.

Play Camp For Kiddies Planned By Lasell College

Lasell Junior College will sponsor a "Play Camp" this summer for pre-school children three to five years old, it was announced today by Dr. Kenneth M. Greene, Lasell president.

Registration will be open to anyone in the area, although enrollment will be limited to 24 children.

The camp will use the facilities of Lasell's regular Nursery School located at 70 Studio Road, at the corner of Aspen Avenue in Auburndale.

Sessions will be offered each weekday morning from 9 a.m. until noon, and will include supervised games and creative activities, wading pools, and indoor equipment for rainy days.

Play Camp will be divided into four two-week sessions, beginning June 21, although children may be registered for more than one period if desired.

Play Camp Directors will be Mrs. Betty Clay of Wayland, and Mrs. Nancie Berquist of Linehan, Jr. and Mrs. Ross L. Trenholm. The museum is open free to the public from 8:5 p.m. chester who have graciously agreed to exhibit the rug to help raise funds for the Browne & Nichols Scholarship Fund. Unquestionably, the opportunity to see this unique treasure is worth the price of admission.

Woven into the intricate pattern of the rug with miraculous skill are some of the most dominant figures of world history: founders of religions, warriors, philosophers and historians. The inner circle depicts the great men of the Western world: Moses, Napoleon, Washington and Franklin. . .

all are easily recognizable. The outer circle depicts the great men of the East: Omar Kayyam, Alexander the Great, Mohammed and scores of others - some 165 in all. The likenesses are amazingly true.

The rug, which is valued at over a million dollars, reportedly took 12 skilled craftsmen almost 20 years to make. It measures a modest nine by 13 feet. Many experts claim that its beauty, texture and quality surpass even that of the "Holy Carpet of Arable" which is housed in the South Kensington Museum.

But the "Rug of Civilization" is not the only treasure in this outstanding show. Antique lovers will be delighted to find that over 40 of New England's best antique dealers represented in this show. . . and all under one roof.

Lloyd A. Hathaway, manager of this tremendously popular annual event, reports some truly choice offerings: a pair of 18th century Imari plates from Japan; several Rose Medallion bowls made in China; a sea captain's tambour desk, circa 1800; an unusual collection of Wedgewood pitchers in the most wanted colors; an American coin silver tea service, Boyce & Jones, 1820; to mention just a few.

For those interested in early American primitives, there is a shoulder carrier for soap buckets, the wooden sign from a shoe repair shop, and a dandy rifle made by James D. Mowry in 1863.

And for those who would like to stop for lunch or a snack while they browse, the Forbes House immediately adjacent to the gymnasium, has been transformed into a delightful International Tea Room.

Camp Massasoit Offers Program For Boys, Girls

Camp Massasoit, sponsored by your Y.M.C.A. in Newton, offers a diversified camp program of field sports, crafts, nature, archery, instructional and recreational swimming, tennis, special events and trips, geared for the fun and enjoyment of all our boys and girls ages 5 to 12 years.

Camp Massasoit is an excellent initiation into camping for younger children, while providing a solid summer of fun and excitement for the more experienced boys or girls.

The out-of-doors is emphasized, utilizing almost five acres of program area; however, during inclement weather the camp moves indoors without loss of program content or quality.

Camp is in session five days a week, 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., for four two-week periods: First Period: June 28 - July 9; Second Period: July 12 - July 23; Third Period: July 26 - August 6; Fourth Period: August 9 - August 20.

For more information and free brochure: call 244-6050 and ask for Camp Massasoit information; or apply in person, at the Newton Y.M.C.A., 276 Church St., Newton, Mass. 02158.

Anne Henley of 128 Dorset road, Waban, has been named to the Dean's honor list at the University of Denver for the winter quarter.

Jackie Soltz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Soltz of Appleton Circle, Newton, will attend Sandhurst Summer School in Naples, Maine.

Downhill Turn For Lacrosse

Newton South lacrosse started the season on a rampage posting two quick victories to equal its total output of the last two seasons. But things have gone steadily downhill since.

Last week was the ultimate humiliation. The Lions were battered, 10-0 by Needham High to suffer their fourth loss against only the two triumphs.

Goalie Gary Ross was bombed with 55 shots on net and turned aside 45 of them, growing increasingly tired. Needham notched one goal for each number of the period the contest was in, starting with one tally in the first stanza and ending with four scores in the fourth quarter.

Newton South Drops 84-46 Track Verdict

Senior Dave Peters copped both hurdle races and placed junior Howie Haines won the 100 and 440-yard dashes and took second in the long jump, but Newton South could muster little else and succumbed to Wayland 84-46 on the track, last week.

Peters blasted a 20.8 timing in the 180 lows and recorded an excellent 15.5 clocking in the 120 highs. For the first time this season Haines did not win three events and "settled" for 10.5, 54.3 victories in sprint races.

Roger Cooper won his second shot-put event of the season with a toss of 42.7 and school record - holder Areman Kojoyan remained undefeated in he discus throw with a heave of 138-11 for Newton South's only other winning marks.

Additional Lion seconds were grabbed by Charley Applestein, throwing the shot for the first time since indoor track, and Bruce Brown in the discus.

HARRIS HARDWARE CYCLE CENTER

10-A SPENCER ST. 244-2361 WEST NEWTON

The famous Raleigh Grand Prix racing bicycle now comes in a women's model in addition to the men's. The Grand Prix is a direct descendant of Raleigh competition cycles. Features such as fully lugged racing frame tubing, center-pull brakes, wide-flange hubs, Huret Luxe 10-speed gear show you just how close. This could be the start of a new contest in the battle of the sexes. The man (or woman) to see is your nearby Raleigh dealer.

South Tennis Team Drops From Ranks Of Undefeated

BY LEWIS FREDHAM

The long-awaited, oft-Mescon scored Newton South's postponed tennis showdown other victory, outfighting Bob Lincoln - Sudbury finally came.

The doubles matches were off, last week, but with unfavorable results for the Lions. Defending Dual County League champion Lincoln knocked the Lions from the undefeated ranks with a 3-2 decision at Lincoln, claiming both doubles encounters and a singles match.

The big match-up was between Lincoln's John Ingard, two-time reigning Massachusetts state individual titlist, who has lost only one match in four years of varsity play and South's Weldon Rogers, a transfer from Washington, D.C., rated seventh in the country. Ingard prevailed, narrowly. Rogers was nipped 13-11 and 6-3 in a tightly-played classic contest, for the key point in the match.

Lion captain Cave Cohen, himself a victim of Ingard's in the semi-finals of the states, last spring, powered his way to an easy 6-2, 6-1 triumph over Steve Atwood. In three years Cohen has never lost a dual match for South.

Third singles player Stan

Thirids were recorded by Mike McKinney, high jump, Dave Lechhook, 220, and John Mason, 2-mile.

It was not a good performance by the Lions, now 0-3. Many key runners failed to score, though admittedly, Wayland is strong.

Areman Kojoyan placed third in the Boston Relay's discus competition, last Saturday, collecting Newton South's only medal.

Western Trip Reservations Being Taken

The deadline is near at hand for registrations for this year's teenage Western trip headed by Mr. Larry Frame and sponsored by the Newton Community Service Center, Inc.

This six-week trip, to commence on July 5th from the Newton Community Center at 423 Cherry Street will move westward just beyond the Grand Canyon and return to Newton within a six week period. A coed group of forty teenagers are scheduled to make the trip on a chartered greyhound bus.

Participants will be camping at state and national parks which would provide them with the opportunity of seeing and appreciating the magnificent beauty of our country. The activity presents a group living experience in which each member shares in the major responsibilities for planning and meeting the needs and interests of the group.

As a means of preparing for the experience, an orientation will be conducted before the trip at the Center's facilities at Camp Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood. For additional information or application, phone Mr. Frame at 969-5906. Deadline for applications is Saturday, May 15th.

Tigers Chasing After Suburban Track Crown

BY BOB WORDEN

With the Newton High Baseball Team struggling to make the 500 pct. mark, all eyes have turned to the Outdoor Track Teams chances at a Suburban League Crown.

The Tigers are carrying a 4-0 slate to date. Blitting Rindge in the opening meet of the season they entered the State Relays. Newton didn't fare too well and finished a disappointing sixth.

"We were capable of a much better performance," commented rookie asst. coach Fred Yaitanes.

The Garden City squad then put together three quick victories, bringing about great optimism. Falling to the powerful Tigers were Arlington, Weymouth North and recently, Waltham.

Soph Jim Shaw led the assault against Waltham, winning two events and opening the victorious relay team's sprint in fine fashion.

Dave Douglas, also tallied two victories for the Black and Orange. He scored firsts in the 800 and triple jump.

But, the afternoon went to the rookie Shaw. Shaw, a speedy defensive back for the N.H.S. Soph. Football squad also competed on the Indoor Track Team.

Coach Ed Boyle lauded his performance by noting, "He really showed us what he could do today. Jim is very quick and has strong legs."

It will be an uphill battle, though, after this. The Tigers and Brockton are neck and neck and Weymouth South is expected to put up a fight. The State Championships will also be tough. Needham, victors of the State relays, appear to be the team to beat. Rival Brockton seems to be the only other unit that could upend Newton.

"We should do pretty well in the States. Brockton and Needham are very strong. I see us finishing in the top three," predicted coach Boyle.

Newton is not a well-balanced team. It is weak in three events — the shotput, discus, and the pole vault. Boyle, hoping to cover up some of the weaknesses, moved Denis "Knees" Hannigan from the shotput to the discus. Although this breaks up the fine 1-2 punch of Dan Bordon and Hannigan in the shotput, this will give better balance to the Tigers.

Newton High is led by an experienced crop of seniors. The 2 mile is headed by Jay Sidman. Jay broke the old school record of 9:53.1 by more than seven seconds last week.

"My goal is to reach 9:40 by the end of this season," commented Sidman.

Other key seniors are Stan Birdwell (hurdles), Dick

O'Brien and Fran Murphy (high jump), Bordon (shotput), Alan Boyer (dash), Jim Docolin (440), Doubles (triple jump), Hannigan (discus), 100 in 10.3 last week and Abe Oros (triple jump), Jeff Lunn and Steve Fox (javelin). Boyer's pace.

Among sophs and juniors aiding the cause have been Peter Wrenn. His mile was recently clocked at 4:53.3 and Gordon Manter (relay and 220).

John Wombolt (hurdles) and John Alphin (high jump and hurdles) also look good. Alphin could be the key if the Tigers were to overcome Brockton, according to Boyle.

WE WILL ONLY TAKE NOW FOR AN ANSWER! WE THE PEOPLE, WILL MAKE PEACE

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MASSACHUSETTS CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION FROM CONCERNED CITIZENS OF NEWTON

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF NEWTON, MASSACHUSETTS, ARE GRIEVED BY THE CONTINUING AND MOUNTING DEATH AND DESTRUCTION WROUGHT THROUGH OUR INVOLVEMENT AS A NATION IN THE WAR IN INDOCHINA. AS THE WAR HAS GROUND ON AND BEEN PROGRESSIVELY AND EXCESSIVELY WIDENED, WE HAVE BECOME INCREASINGLY AWARE OF, AND AGGRIEVED BY, OUR COMPLICITY IN A WAR WHICH HAS BECOME AN UNCONSCIONABLE MORAL ATROCITY. THIS WAR BELIES OUR PRINCIPLES AS A FREE AND PEACE-LOVING PEOPLE. WE FIND OURSELVES INVOLUNTARILY PART OF REPEATED "MY LAIS" — WHETHER PERPETRATED AT POINT-BLANK RIFLE RANGE, FROM B-52 BOMBERS, OR THROUGH OUR OWN ACQUIESCENCE AS CITIZENS AND TAXPAYERS. WE THUS FIND OURSELVES BOTH THE UNBEARABLE VICTIMS AND VICTIMIZERS IN A WAR, WHICH FOR OUR PART, MUST BE QUICKLY AND SPEEDILY STOPPED.

WE THEREFORE URGE UPON YOU, AS OUR ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES IN THE CONGRESS AND SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, TO EXERCISE EVERY POWER YOU HAVE—THROUGH POLITICAL PERSUASION, LEGISLATION AND APPROPRIATIONS—TO BRING PRESSURE UPON THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES TO INITIATE OR OTHERWISE ESTABLISH A DEFINITE DATE FOR TOTAL MILITARY WITHDRAWAL FROM THE NATIONS OF INDOCHINA, WITH A TARGET DATE FOR NOT LATER THAN DECEMBER 31, 1971.

WE, FOR OUR PART, PLEDGE OUR SUPPORT IN CITIZENS' EFFORTS IN PURSUIT OF THIS GOAL. AS EVIDENCE OF THIS WE ENDORSE THE PRINCIPLES OF THE PEOPLES PEACE TREATY (below), AND CALL UPON OUR FELLOW CITIZENS TO JOIN WITH IN SIGNING AND CIRCULATING IT AMONG OUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

A JOINT TREATY OF PEACE BETWEEN THE U.S. AND VIETNAMESE PEOPLE

Be it known that the American and Vietnamese people are not enemies. The war is carried out in the name of the people of the United States, but without our consent. It drains America of her youth, her resources, and her honor.

We hereby agree to immediate and total withdrawal from Vietnam and to publicly set the date by which all U.S. military forces will be removed.

Vietnamese agree to participate in an immediate cease fire, and will enter discussions on the procedures to guarantee the safety of all withdrawing troops, and to secure the release of all military prisoners.

Americans agree to end the imposition of Thieu, Ky, and Khiem on the people of South Vietnam in order to insure their right of self-determination, and to insure that all political prisoners are released.

Vietnamese pledge to form a provisional coalition government to organize democratic elections in which all South Vietnamese can participate freely without the presence of any foreign troops, and to enter discussions of procedures to guarantee the safety and political freedom of persons who cooperated with either side in the war.

American and Vietnamese agree to respect the independence, peace, and neutrality of Laos and Cambodia.

Upon these points of agreement, we pledge to end the war. We will resolve all other questions in mutual respect for the people of Vietnam and of the United States.

Mrs. Landy Chairs Annual Senior Citizen's Luncheon

Mrs. Edward Landy of 67 Wyman Street in Waban has been appointed chairman of this year's Annual Newton Senior Citizen's Luncheon to be held on June 8th at 12:30 p.m. in the spacious facilities of Winslow Hall at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale, according to Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Chairman for the Newton Ad Hoc Committee for Senior Citizens in Newton. In commenting on the luncheon Mrs. Landy stated that this Fourth Annual Luncheon is a catered affair, which will feature entertainment and community singing. The committee is indebted to the administration of Lasell Jr. College for making the facility available. Attendance has increased with each succeeding year and it is important that a spacious comfortable facility be made available.

Tickets for the luncheon are available at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street in West Newton; Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge Street in Newton; the reception desk at Newton City Hall, and each of Newton's Housing Developments for the elderly. The affair, which is open to all senior citizen residents of the community, promises to be an exciting event. For the convenience of those who wish to attend, bus transportation is being provided from central points to include: the Newton Community Center, Rebecca

Pomroy House, Newtonville at a point to be designated, Upper Falls and at each of the Housing Developments - Horrace Mann, Parker House, Jackson Gardens, and No-umbega Gardens. Recently a group of Senior Citizens through the courtesy of Mr. Peter DiFoggio, participated in the "Senior Power" rally held at Suffolk Downs.

Sponsored by the Legislative Council for Older Americans, the rally set a tone for the upcoming White House Conference on Aging. Newton's delegates were bussed from the Newton Community Center for the affair, coordinated by Mr. James C. Callahan from the Guild for the Blind.

Over 300 Attend Hospital Dinner

More than 300 members and friends of Boston's Jewish Memorial Hospital attended the hospital's third annual Rewards for Research Dinner Monday in Temple Mishkan Tefila in Chestnut Hill.

Proceeds of the dinner went to the research and medical care program of the hospital, which is one of the foremost facilities for the treatment of chronically ill patients in the East.

Speakers at the dinner included Joseph M. Linsey, hospital president; Murray Fettel, executive director and Miss Shirley Radlo, president of the President's Council.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Max Gass, past president of President's Council and the benediction by Rabbi David B. Alpert, hospital chaplain.

Newtonites serving on the committee for the dinner were David Stern, hospital treasurer; Miss Carolyn Noddell and Mrs. Abraham J. Klayman.

TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION
-- as taught by --
MAHARISHI MAHESH YOGI

Transcendental Meditation is a simple, natural and spontaneous technique which allows one to live a more relaxed and enjoyable life. It is practiced a few minutes morning and evening during which time the body gains rest more r found than deep sleep, freeing the system of accumulated tension and fatigue, thus allowing for a more active and fulfilled life. The lecture is free and open to the public.

"The Shalom Plan", a memorable summer in the Land of Israel, sponsored by Temple Shalom of Newton, is in the final stages of planning, and 27 young people have already registered. The trip, while certainly geared for enjoyment, represents a new concept in Hebrew education. It is specifically designed, and carefully planned for teenagers as an extension of their religious life experience.

Rabbi and Mrs. Murray I. Rothman, along with their college daughter Jo, will chaperone the group during the entire six week stay. In Israel, a specially selected youth-oriented, government approved, counselor-guide will lead the touring and supply the background portion of the exciting itinerary.

Temple Shalom's group leaves on June 28 with a return on August 9. Represented in the trip are young people from several different towns, and a few from out of state.

The itinerary is carefully divided into three blocks of time. The first segment, which consists of two weeks in Jerusalem, includes sightseeing of all the many attractions of the area and provides opportunities for the young people to meet and socialize with their Israeli peers. A mini course in conversational Hebrew will be offered for the beginner, and participation in an archeological dig is scheduled.

The second segment consists of two weeks in the Alonit Yitzhak Youth Village and Kibbutz Glickson. Here they will enjoy all the facilities of a summer camp, as well as the opportunity to work on a kibbutz and share in its life.

The third segment consists of a comprehensive touring program which will range from the Galilee in the north to Eilat in the southernmost tip of the Negev. The many places of historical and cultural interest which will be visited and viewed are too numerous to mention. Several days of leisure are interspersed throughout the program for relaxing and shopping.

There is space available for only five more suitable applicants, and those parents interested are invited to call Temple Shalom of Newton at 332-9550.

3 Recognized By Wellesley

Three Newton residents were among some 91 employees of Wellesley College who were honored yesterday (Wednesday) in recognition of their years of service at the College. They are Bernard F. Ennis of Newton, Dennis J. Sheridan of Newton Upper Falls, and Robert F. Johnson of Newtonville.

Ennis, who has worked for ten years at Wellesley College is on the kitchen staff, as is Sheridan who is completing five years of service. Johnson, who is a custodian, also has worked for five years at the College.

Joseph Kieba, Jr., of West Newton, vice president for business affairs at Wellesley, joined Wellesley President Ruth M. Adams in the presentation of gifts to those observing anniversaries. The presentations were made at a dinner held in Tower Court on the campus.

Head Start Sets May 19 Deadline

All applications for enrollment in the September Head Start program, for three - and four - year - olds from low - income families, should be in by next Wednesday, May 19.

For information and application forms, call Ginger Denham at 969-7928 or Communities United, Inc. at 969-2598.

Mrs. Brenner To Head W'd 5 GOP

The Ward Five Republican Committee of Newton elected Mrs. Harry (Lina) Brenner its Vice-Chairman, it was announced today by Julius L. Masow, Chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee.

Mrs. Brenner, a longtime resident of the city who resides on Clark Street, is well known in civic and political groups. She succeeds Mrs. Charlotte Hirschberg who relinquished the ward office to become Treasurer of the Republican City Committee.

Robert Corbett, Chairman of the Committee, presided at the meeting held at the home of Lawrence Applefield. The Committee reviewed and discussed the revised ward lines now being set for municipal elections. Republican State Committeeman Joseph I. Weinreb reported on activities of the Republican State Committee.

Elected to full membership on the committee were Alderman Michael J. Antonellis, and Dr. Vaha A. Sarafian who recently was a candidate in the 1970 Congressional contest.

Among those present at the meeting were Robert Corbett, Presiding; Michael J. Antonellis, Lawrence Applefield, Mrs. Vivian Baird, Donald L. Daniels, Helen Donovan, Albert French, Charlotte Hirschberg, Mary G. Lee, D. Stuart Laughlin, Jean MacMillan, Lawrence Madfis, Anthony J. Medaglia, Dorothy H. Reed, Eleanor B. Rogers, Dr. Vaha A. Sarafian, Marc A. Slotnick, Edward C. Uehlein, Joseph I. Weinreb, Ritta Whitmore.

Special Course Completed By Local Banker

Thomas A. McBurney of the West Newton Savings Bank was among 52 savings bankers to graduate recently from the School for Supervisory Personnel, sponsored by the Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts.

The school program begins with one full week of classroom work and studies and is concluded the following year with a similar week of study. In the intervening year, the students' written projects reflect their progress in the various areas of management and investment covered at the school.

Conducted by the association's 172 mutual savings bank members, the program gives key officers and employees an opportunity to broaden their knowledge of practices and procedures that will prepare them for greater responsibilities in their respective banks.

The Second Annual Israeli Kumsitz Night sponsored by the Temple Emanuel Brotherhood, Newton, will be held Saturday evening, May 15, at the Community Hall.

Ron Avni will be the featured singer and Edna Grad will do dancing specialties. Dancing and free folk dance instructions will highlight the evening.

Oscar Tenenbaum, president, announces that the Marcus Feinberg Award will be announced at this time. Dr. Leon Ginsburg is chairman of the affair.

1,600,000 Lire.

That's a lot of lire for a car. But that's a lot of car for the lire. It's one of the most meticulously built sports cars in the world.

The classic body was designed where many great sports cars are designed: Turin, Italy. By the famous Ghia Studios.

And built by one of Europe's oldest custom coachmakers: Karmann of Osnabrück. Only a limited number are made each day. Mainly because it takes interminably long to complete the body.

So intricate are some of Ghia's lines that machines can't form them. So Karmann employs sculptors to finish the body. By hand.

It's welded, burnished, smoothed, painted, sanded and rubbed. By hand.

And only when it passes hundreds of inspections does it get together with the chassis. Which is a beauty in itself.

Torsion bar suspension. Double-jointed rear axles. Four-speed sync box. Front disc brakes. Rear-mounted magnesium engine. Air-cooled. Utterly dependable. Economical. (About 26 mpg.)

All that will cost you a good 1,600,000 lire. Or 2,575 American dollars.*

For a Volkswagen Karmann Ghia. That's not a lot of dollars for a car. But that's a lot of car for the dollars.

Recent Deaths

Frederick F. Murphy

Mass was celebrated Saturday in Corpus Christi Church in Auburndale for World War I veteran Frederick F. Murphy of Auburndale, who died May 5 in the Bedford Veterans Administration Hospital.

The son of the late Timothy and Johanna (Murphy) Murphy, he was born in Waltham but had resided in Auburndale for over 25 years, last at 8 Central Close Street.

Before retiring in 1958, Mr. Murphy had run a newspaper delivery service in Wellesley. He served in the first World War with the Navy.

He leaves his wife, Evelyn G. (McEnaney) Murphy; two sons, a brother, one sister and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the T.J. Lyons Funeral home in West Newton and interment was in Waltham Calvary Cemetery.

Philip C. DeStefano

Services were held Saturday from the Valente Funeral home in Newtonville for 29-year-old Philip C. DeStefano of 34 Oak Avenue, West Newton, who died May 4 in an industrial accident.

A plant manager at Vac-Hyd Metal Heat Processing Corp. in Woburn, for which he had worked 4 1/2 years, Mr. DeStefano was fatally overcome by fumes while on the job.

A native of Cambridge, he was the son of Gerard and Dorothy (Walsh) DeStefano and had lived in Newton for the past 10 years.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Frances (Nicholas) DeStefano; and three sons, Philip Jr., Thomas and Michael, all at home. He was the son-in-law of Samuel and Helen (Caruso) Nicholas of West Newton.

A Requiem High Mass was sung in St. Bernard's Church in West Newton and burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Ethel K. Ladoo

Mrs. Ethel K. Ladoo, formerly of Newton, died May 5 in Clearwater, Florida. She was 81.

A 1912 graduate of Vassar College, Mrs. Ladoo belonged to the Lucy Jackson Chapter of the DAR in Newton and was a former president of the Boston Chapter of WAIME.

She is survived by two daughters, including Mrs. Barbara Bolduc of Newton.

George W. Steeves

Word has been received of the recent death of George W. Steeves, 58, of 14 Garland Road in Newton Centre.

Mr. Steeves, a resident of Newton for the past 25 years, operated a plumbing business for 15 years before his retirement in 1966. He was also active in the Masons.

He is survived by his wife, Rita Steeves; two sons, a daughter, five brothers, two sisters and eight grandchildren.

Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Albert L. Frechette

Funeral services were held last week in Albuquerque, New Mexico for former Newton resident Albert L. Frechette, 71, who died May 12 following a short illness.

He is survived by a brother and three sisters, including Mrs. Claire Hayes of West Newton.

Interment was in Albuquerque.

Middle Graders To Give Annual Concert Friday

Tomorrow evening (Friday) at 7:30, in the Meadowbrook Junior High School, 125 Meadowbrook Road in Newton Centre, more than 225 fifth and sixth-graders will participate in the annual concert of the All-Newton Elementary Orchestra and Chorus.

The members of the two honor organizations, who come from all the city's elementary schools, have been practicing regularly in preparation for this and other programs in the Newton area.

The Chorus will open the evening singing "Cantate Domino" by Giuseppe Pitoni. Numbers on their program include Benjamin Britten's "Old Abram Brown", Ted Petersen's arrangement of "Kites are Fun," and "Song of Farewell".

The Orchestra's program includes Franz Schubert's "March Militaire", "Variations on a Theme" by Matesky and Burt Bacharach's "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head".

Accompanist for the Chorus is Miss Carolyn Brown; the director is John C. Harper. The Orchestra is managed by Mrs. Carol Rankin and directed by Robert Giorgi.

There is no admission charge of attending the concert.

High Schools Half Empty On Rally Day

Attendance at Newton's two high schools on May 4, the day of the anti-war rally in Boston, was only half of the enrollment, as absences stood at from three to over four times the normal number for a school day.

Newton High officials indicated that of the school's 2,700 students, 1,308 did not show up that day. The normal absentee total is about 350.

At Newton South, 844 pupils did not attend. There are approximately 1,500 students at South where the usual daily number of absentees is between 150 and 200.

The School Committee is currently reviewing a policy statement by Supt. Aaron Fink which, in part, permits a student to absent himself from school for five days per year in order to participate in political activities. Atwood P. Dunham, administrative assistant at Newton High, remarked, however, that, "Obviously, some students took advantage of the situation."

Arts Festival Parade Planned By Newton South

The Newton South High School Springtime Arts Festival will be climaxed by a parade this coming Saturday morning (May 15) with participants gathering at Newton High, on Walnut Street, at 10 o'clock and beginning the trek to Newton South, on Brandeis Road, at 10:30. According to Seaver Leslie of South's Art Department, the occasion is a community celebration, a chance for young and old to contribute anything that suits their fancy - from a float to a rock band, a costume to a balloon. When the group arrives at its destination, further festivities are planned, including a picnic, softball games and frisbee catches. For further information, call Al Hurwitz, the School Department's Coordinator of Arts, at 969-9810.

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL EXHIBIT — Patricia Cole, center, of Newton, whose paintings and sculpture will be shown at an art exhibition to be held at the Rivers Country Day School on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 20 and 21, is shown with committee members, Mrs. Gerald Schuster and Mrs. Harold Luck, both of Newton. The exhibition will be open to public on Friday, May 21, from 4 to 10:30 p.m.

Drug Abuse In Industry Topic Of Symposium

Boston television personality Sonya Hamlin will moderate a panel of top national and regional experts on drug abuse in industry at a special management symposium sponsored by Associated Industries of Massachusetts (AIM), to be held Friday, May 21 at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

The program will include a luncheon speech by Dr. Aaron Feldstein, senior scientist at the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology.

Panelists will include Dr. Wayne Stewart, medical director of the Sun Oil Company of Philadelphia; Professor Sidney Willig of Temple University, author of a new book on legal considerations of drug abuse in industry, and Richard A. Callahan, regional director of the federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

"Indications are that the drug problem in business and industry in Massachusetts is only just now beginning to be felt, and not nearly so serious yet as in some other parts of the country," said Robert A. Chadbourne, AIM executive vice president. "I think we have an opportunity here before the threat fully develops — to start from the ground floor up with effective policies and programs; to act for once, rather than react."

HIGHLAND'S EXECUTIVE CHEF

Everyone has a favorite salad and a favorite salad dressing, but there are so many possible combinations that one needs to have an open mind and keep trying new recipes... Generally speaking, sweet dressings are for fruit or semisweet molded salads...

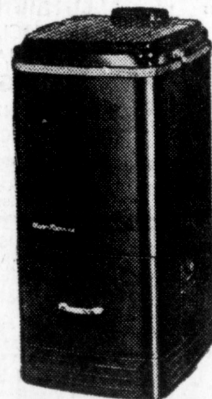

Garlic flavored and the more robustly accented dressings are for greens and vegetables... The dressing should not overpower the salad... It is a safe rule to add too little rather than too much dressing to a salad... Try this: 1 can mayonnaise, 1 cup sour cream, 1 tablespoon chives, 1 teaspoon dill weed (optional)... Combine mayonnaise with sour cream, stir in chives and dill... Quick and delicious!

Make it a weekly habit to join the Sunday "Brunch Bunch" — 10:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT... Bar opens at 1 p.m. Mark your calendar and tell your friends... And remember, there's entertainment in the lounge Monday through Saturday from 8 p.m. 'til 1 a.m., featuring the unique keyboard stylings of Ray Rosicot at the piano and organ... Ladies Form Association at N.J. College

The adult women at Newton Junior College, who have formed the Women's Association for Continuing Education, have elected Newtonites Mrs. Gerald (Margaret) Sudbey as president and Mrs. Alan (Doherty) Fishman as vice-president and have selected Mrs. Armine Thomason of the Student Counseling Services as advisor.

The members of this group are, for the most part, women who are returning to college to continue their education. Some are married with children while others are single but have spent the past few years working and now desire to pursue a degree program.

The purpose of this association is primarily to provide an interchange for these women who have common interests and problems, such as scheduling their time to accommodate to the responsibilities of home, family, and studies.

In addition to advising each other, the members plan to invite speakers to discussions of career opportunities and to offer their services in the student tutoring program. There will also be scheduled literary discussions.

Hearing-

It is not expected time will be available for rebuttal of opposition testimony.

1. The total time allowed for the foregoing proceedings will be limited to two (2) hours for each of the six sites. In order to distribute the available time as fairly as possible, it will be necessary for the Board to know, in advance, the number of persons who wish to be heard for or against the proposal for each site.

Therefore, a person wishing to speak at any of the sessions of the hearing is required to file with the Building Department, Newton City Hall, the following information:
site number(s) or, if the case, indicate "all sites," name; address; daily and weekend telephone numbers; whether he wishes to speak for or against a particular NCDP - proposed site, and which one(s); whether he wishes to speak for or against the NCDP proposal without reference to a particular site; whether he is speaking in behalf of himself; or in behalf of other Newton homeowners as well (give names and addresses); and estimated number of minutes for comments.

5. The Board may, in its discretion, allow interested parties not appearing on an authorized list to speak only if time permits.
6. The Board reserves the right to limit the number of speakers and to allocate time among the speakers as it deems appropriate.
7. The Board reserves the right to limit discussion to topics relevant to the hearing in progress and to cut off repetitious testimony. Speakers are invited to submit at the hearing written briefs incorporating arguments, citations or numerical detail for which the verbal presentation would require excessive time.

8. The Board reserves the right to amend these rules and to take such action as it deems appropriate to preserve the good order of the meeting.

9. Copies of the application and the plans pertinent thereto are available for inspection at the Newton Building Department every weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., on Saturday, May 15, 1971 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and on Sunday, May 16, 1971 from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The foregoing information shall be mailed or delivered to the Zoning Board of Appeals, Newton City Hall, Newton Centre 02159 in time to be received not later than 5:00 p.m. on Friday, May 14, 1971. A list of the names received will be posted in the Newton Building Department on Saturday, May 15, 1971.

ducted the services when available; when not, laymen conducted them in their homes.

In 1966 Edward M. Maline became the Temple's permanent rabbi, and immediately lent his leadership strength to the task at hand of creating a fund-raising campaign and building program for the much needed new temple.

With the help of Melvin J. Fisher, chairman of the building committee, Stanmar was contacted . . . and the rest is history.

Stanmar, a leader in the designing and building of pre-engineered custom structures, has built over 50 churches and synagogues across the nation, including the Temple Beth El in Sudbury.

Temple Beth El Avodah epitomizes the creative approach to planning and building associated with the Stanmar name.

Imaginative architecture, excellent utilization of space and top-of-the-line materials possible because they're volume purchased at the lowest wholesale cost are some of the ingredients of the Stanmar System.

This system coordinates all cost phases of construction, and eliminates many of the built-in frustrations of a building program — i.e., differences of opinion on style, study halls, classrooms, sanctuaries, lack of time, budget and multi-staged building programs.

Through the Stanmar System Temple Beth Avodah was able to realize a substantial cost reduction over previous estimates without sacrificing any of their space requirements.

More importantly, the Stanmar people were able to design the type of sanctuary that Rabbi Maline requested — a seating arrangement that . . . "reflects the total involvement mood of this century, and allows for a creative workshop approach to communicating with our congregation — especially our young people."

The Temple is faced in dark Danish-blend water-struck brick, and features a special lobby floor of Franciscan terracotta tile throughout the entrance-way.

The center of attention is the huge double sanctuary measuring 58' x 116', with ceiling 16' high covered with a special Spline acoustical tile that allows every word to be easily heard anywhere in the workshop area.

A large 20' x 22' library, classrooms, offices and full kitchen facilities complete the Temple's first building stage. Future plans call for a second phase to include school wings, a memorial courtyard and additional multi-purpose rooms.

The dedication will last all weekend, with special events each day, starting with a Friday evening, May 11. Saturday will feature a piano concert in the evening, and a Sunday Brunch will have as the keynote speaker, Shimshon Imbal, from the Boston Israeli Consulate.

Calling upon all of their building and design expertise gained in planning and building over 100 custom church, synagogue and community centers across the country, Stanmar was able to solve both the design challenge of a unique expandable sanctuary, and yet not sacrifice the Temple's space requirements or exceed their budget.

Rabbi Edward M. Maline's request for an unusual sanctuary that would create a warm intimate personal feeling, be unique in human terms and yet open to accommodate larger turnouts on high holy days and special occasions was quite a challenge for architect, Robert R. Dion, and the builder, Stanmar, Inc., Sudbury, Mass.

"This sanctuary," Rabbi Maline continued, "should offer the same intimate involvement with the service for those in the expanded area as for those in the regular seats." Historically temples expand in the rear only, thus isolating those seated in that section from much worship involvement.

Dion, working closely with Stanmar Custom Division Vice President, William G. Higdon, created an imaginative design that placed the bema, or rostrum, in the center of the room against an outer wall, much like the center of a fan.

The congregation thus was able to always sit close to the reading of the Torah, in amphitheater fashion, allowing full personal involvement for all 250 people. A custom-designed sliding door divided this room in two, thus offering an expansion hall for social functions — or seating capacity for 300 more if needed.

The resulting architectural plan gave the Temple Beth Avodah the distinction of being the first reformed Jewish congregation to enjoy the bene-

Church To Hold Spring Dinner, Auction May 22

The Newton Highlands Congregational Church will hold its annual Spring Dinner and Auction on Saturday, May 22 at 6:30 p.m. at the church, 54 Lincoln Street.

If we must maintain bases in Japan, do it, but our forces there should be cut to the barest minimum. We purchased a gift for a small child the other day and discovered to our surprise that the article had been made in Japan. It was one which is commonly manufactured in the United States.

Our mistake, it seems to this observer, is that we have tried to buy friendship across the ocean with our dollars.

It cost a lot to bring Germany and Japan out of the ashes, but if they're grateful to us for the help they were given, it is not apparent from where we sit.

Let's start applying those foreign aid dollars to the problems here at home. And let's bring the boys home from Germany. That will help strengthen the sagging American dollar.

Soviet Union Is Developing A Massive New War Missile

Responsible Washington sources report that the Soviet Union is developing a massive new missile capable of carrying a warhead of 25 megatons and has 40 silos from which they could be launched.

In addition, Russia reportedly is building up anti-missile defenses around Moscow which are designed to stop more incoming missiles at longer distances.

This information is causing considerable concern among Washington officials who are not quite sure exactly what significance to place on it.

It would appear that Russia, whatever its reasons may be, is trying to get ahead of the United States in the number of missiles stockpiled both for attack and defense.

The United States obviously must respond with some counter measure, but it is not yet clear what that measure should be.

Experienced diplomats and military experts believe that efforts to persuade the Soviets to slow down their arms race will not be successful. They say such endeavors have been tried in the past and have not worked.

They anticipate that the U.S. will counter by stepping up its own missile program, with greater spending for defense, the awarding of an increased number of defense contracts and the establishment of new priorities between military and civilian demands.

What this adds up to is the likelihood of a new arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Muskie Committed Boner In Making FBI Political Issue

Top political experts believe Senator Edmund Muskie made a serious boner and injured his chances of gaining the Presidency when he made a political issue of the FBI.

They declare that the FBI is held in such high esteem and respect by the general public that attacks upon the bureau are not taken seriously by the general public.

Congressional Majority Leader Hale Boggs, one of the most outspoken critics of the FBI, has been virtually repudiated by most fellow Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill who want no part of any controversy with the FBI.

Word from Washington is that the attacks on the FBI will be continued by a few Democrats in Congress but they will not be representative of sentiment in the Democratic party generally.

Ronald Reagan Is Sensitive About His Personal Privacy

California's Governor Ronald Reagan raised an interesting point recently when he charged that newsmen invaded his privacy in reporting that he did not pay a state personal income tax this year. He also maintained that whoever provided the information violated the law.

Technically, Reagan is probably right on on both counts, but as far as the average citizen is concerned a man holding high public office has no rights of privacy.

While Mr. Reagan has not supplied enough details to satisfy the curious, he apparently suffered a large loss on his investments last year which offset the $44,100 in salary he receives as Governor of California.

There is no hint that the former movie star is guilty of any wrongdoing in any way, but there is a public curiosity to be satisfied when it is revealed that some circumstances enabled the Governor of a big state to avoid the payment of state income taxes.

Governor Reagan is right in what he says, but if he is sensitive about having his personal privacy invaded, he should stay out of the hard-bitten profession of politics.

Hatch Objects To Giving McGovern A Sounding Board

Republican Leader Francis W. Hatch, Jr., of the Massachusetts House of Representatives caused a flickering of eyebrows when he urged that a request by Senator George McGovern of South Dakota to address a joint session of the State Legislature be denied.

It wasn't that Hatch was bored with the colorless McGovern who is considered to have no chance whatever of getting the Democratic nomination for President. His argument was that the two legislative chambers should not be called into joint session for the purpose of providing the setting for a political rally.

A number of Democratic law-makers, who voted to grant McGovern's request, have no interest or enthusiasm in his candidacy for President but felt it would be discourteous to turn down his request, particularly since Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana had appeared at a joint session.

An interesting exchange occurred between Hatch and Representative Charles R. Doyle of West Roxbury when Doyle asked Hatch if he would vote to allow Vice President Spiro Agnew to address the two chambers.

Hatch made the intriguing answer that he would if Spiro were not a candidate for President.

It is unlikely that the Veep or any other Republican engaged in a contest with a Democrat will be given a forum by the overwhelmingly Democratic Massachusetts Legislature. But the Bay State law-makers are committing themselves to a policy of providing a sound board for Democratic Presidential candidates.

Gov. Ronald Reagan To Get $25,000 For Speaking Here

Mentioned inconspicuously in an announcement that Governor Ronald Reagan of California will be the principal speaker at a fund-raising dinner to be held by the Massachusetts Republican State Committee was the fact that Reagan will get a fee of $25,000 for his appearance.

It was explained that Mr. Reagan places so high a price on his oratorical talents because he is in great demand as a speaker and tries to keep engagements away from California at a minimum. At that price it is remarkable that he ever is invited out of his home State.

Bay State conservative Republicans decided Reagan would be worth every penny of the $25,000 and cheerfully met his price. If Governor Reagan is paid $25,000, we wonder how much it would cost to get Spiro Agnew to come and blast one of the television networks and maybe a newspaper or two.

As for Reagan, it becomes more difficult to understand how he finished up last year with an income so low he didn't have to pay any state income tax.

State Reorganization Plan Subject for TV Panel Show

Governor Sargent's reorganization plan will be the principal topic of discussion by the Collins-Graham-Donahue panel show on Channel 7 at 3 o'clock this coming Sunday.

Robert A. Casselman, who has been working on the Governor's plan for reorganizing the top echelon in the state government, will be a guest on the panel show.

Whether he will be able to clear up all the public confusion concerning the reorganization which is presently stalled by the State Legislature is uncertain.

But at least listeners to the discussion by former Mayor John F. Collins, former Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and former Senate Republican Leader Philip A. Graham will add to their knowledge and understanding of the reorganization program which the law-makers originally approved but now are balking at funding.

Newtonite Sworn In As Assistant U.S. Attorney

Terry P. Segal of Newton was last week appointed an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts by Attorney General John N. Mitchell and sworn in before Judge Frank J. Murray on motion of United States Attorney Herbert F. Travers, Jr.

Segal graduated in 1964 from Amherst College, and from Yale Law School in 1967. He is a member of the Massachusetts and District of Columbia bars. A former Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia from 1968 to 1970, he has also been associated with the law firm of Segal & Flamm, and has had his own law practice.

He is married to the former Harriet Lobel and they reside at 66 Broken Tree Road.

Promotions-

Newton and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Betts. He is married and the father of five children.

Dr. Wu's promotion comes after five years of teaching at BC, in such fields as East Asian civilization, Chinese and Japanese histories and problems in modern Chinese history.

Dr. Wu, who lives at 32 Myerson Lane in Newton Centre, is a graduate of the National Taiwan University in 1954. Dr. Wu received an American B.A. from the University of California at Berkeley in 1961, earned his M.A. at Yale University in 1963 and his doctorate from Columbia University in 1967.

He has been the recipient of a President's Fellowship at Columbia, a National Defense Foreign Language Fellowship and several grants for research and travel to East Asia.

Prior to his appointment at BC, Dr. Wu was a lecturer in Chinese at Yale University for 5 years. He is affiliated with the American Council of Learned Societies, the Association for Asian Studies, the American Historical Association, the Ch'ing Society and the Thought and Word Association (Taiwan).

Among Dr. Wu's publications are "The Memorial Systems of the Ch'ing Dynasty, 1644-1911," in the Harvard Journal of Asiatic Studies; "Transmission of Ming Memorials," in T'oung Pao and Communication and Imperial Control in China, 1693-1735, Harvard University Press.

Prof. Mann, who has been instructing at BC for 10 years, has concentrated in the field of industrial organization.

This year, Prof. Mann was named director of the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Economics, one of the three major divisions of the FTC. In 1968-69, he was the special economic assistant to Richard McLaren, head of the Justice Department's Anti-Trust Division.

Mann was cited in Bridge, the Boston College university magazine, as being "widely known in Washington economic circles for his role in helping to fashion the tough stance on large conglomerate merger cases taken by Justice."

Prof. Mann is a graduate of Haverford College and earned his doctoral degree at Cornell University. He is affiliated with the American Economics Association and the American Association of University Professors.

Prior to his appointment at Boston College, Prof. Mann was a teaching assistant at Cornell. In 1966 he was consultant to the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries of the Dept. of the Interior and he was a consultant to the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice in 1969-70. He has been the chairman of the Boston College Economics Department since July 1, 1970. He will step down from the chair and take a leave of absence from the university to assume his appointment in Washington.

Prof. Kreeft is a member of the Society of Ancient Greek Philosophy, the C.S. Lewis Society, the Teilhard de Chardin Association and the American Catholic Philosophical Assn. Among his publications are "C.S. Lewis" and "Zen in Heidegger's Gelassenheit."

Prof. Kreeft lives with his wife and three children at 44 Davis Avenue in West Newton. Professor Thomas E. Wangler of the Theology Department was also promoted to the position of Associate Professor. This promotion comes after four years of teaching at BC, during which time Prof. Wangler has lectured on the church in the modern world.

A graduate of LeMoyne College, Prof. Wangler received his masters and doctoral degrees in theology from Marquette University. Prior to his appointment at Boston College, Prof. Wangler taught at Webster College in St. Louis. He is a member of the Northwest West Chicago Human Relations Council.

Prof. Wangler resides at 17 Maple Avenue, Newton.

J. Oscar Aiers of the Sociology Department and William Ryan of the Psychology Department were both granted tenure in the university. By this, they are guaranteed a lifetime position at Boston College until retirement age is reached.

Prof. Aiers has been with BC since 1968, when he was hired as an Associate Professor.

Among Prof. Mann's publications are "Advertising and Concentration: New Data and an Old Problem," in The Anti-Trust Bulletin and "The Interaction of Barriers and Concentration: A Reply," in the Journal of Industrial Economics.

Prof. Mann lives with his wife and two children at 145 Fairview Drive in West Newton.

Dr. Bilodeau, on the college faculty for the past 10 years, is a graduate of the University of Maine. Dr. Bilodeau received his masters and doctoral degrees from Harvard University. His professional affiliations include membership in the Mathematical Association of America, the American Mathematical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Sigma Xi and the American Association of University Professors.

He was appointed chairman of the Mathematics Department in 1967. Prof. Bilodeau and his wife live with their five sons at 200 Harvard Circle, Newtonville.

A pair of Newton men were named Associate Professors. Peter Kreeft of the Philosophy Department, at Boston College for six years, has lectured on the history of philosophy, the philosophy of religion, oriental philosophy and Zen Buddhism.

A graduate of Calvin College, Prof. Kreeft received his masters and doctor of philosophy degrees from Fordham University. Prior to his appointment at BC, he taught at Villanova University.

A graduate of the City College of New York, he received his masters degree in sociology from Harvard University and his doctoral degree from Cornell University. Prior to his appointment at BC, he was Visiting Assistant Professor of Industrial and Labor Relations at the N.Y. State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Cornell University; and Co-director of Field Activities and Data Analysis for the Institute of Peruvian Studies.

Prof. Aiers is a member of the American Sociological Association, the Eastern Sociological Society, the Latin American Studies Association and the Population Association of America.

His publications include, "The Quest For Well-Being," "Population and Development in a Peruvian Community" and "Health, Welfare and the Strategy of Development."

He lives with his wife and two sons at 22 Linda Lane, Newton Highlands.

Ryan has been a professor of psychology at BC since 1969. He received his PhD in clinical psychology from Boston University in 1958. Prior to his appointment at BC he was Consultant for the National Institute of Mental Health.

He has also been on the

Prof. Sprich Keynoter For Symposium

Robert C. Sprich, associate professor of English, director of Freshman English at Bentley College and a resident of Waban, was one of five professors invited to deliver a keynote paper at the spring meeting recently of the New England English Association at the University of Bridgeport, Conn.

Title of the paper delivered by Prof. Sprich was "The Use of Movies and Popular Songs in the Classroom" and was delivered at a symposium with the theme "What Ever Happened to Freshman English?"

Professor Sprich has used such movies as The Graduate, Goodbye Columbus and Catch 22 in his freshman English class to demonstrate the effectiveness of movies and popular songs. They serve as excellent introductions to more traditional works of drama and poetry and allow the instructor to "meet the student where he is" to demonstrate the effects of literary analysis in action.

This conference was attended by 90 college teachers of English from five New England states, New York and New Jersey.

E. M. Ferris On Housing Panel Wed.

E. Michael Ferris, director of planning for the city of Newton, was a member of a site selection panel at a Housing Workshop sponsored by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council held yesterday (May 12) in Waltham.

Focus of the workshop was on two vital housing issues, the site selection process for the construction of low income housing and the Turnkey Program of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The workshop, which provided practical information for the key people in public housing authorities, was expected to be a step in helping to solve this region's critical housing shortage.

faculties of both Harvard and Yale Medical Schools as well as Chief Psychologist and co-Director of the Group Therapy Program at Mount Auburn Hospital in Cambridge.

Dr. Ryan was recognized in 1965 as the first major critic of the Moynihan Report ("Savage Discovery," Nation, Nov. 22, 1965). At Yale between 1966 and 1969 he emerged as the major critic of the Lee administration in the New Haven urban renewal project. In "Blaming The Victim" (Pantheon) he extends those criticisms, proposing that it is a national habit to frame the society's victims-Negroes and the poor - by distorting the harsh truths about the cause of their unequal conditions.

Among the other publications are "Distress in the City: Essays in the Administration of Urban Mental Health Services" and "Our Disturbed Children: Who is To Care For Them?"

Dr. Ryan is a member of the Professional Advisory Council of the National Association for Mental Health and has been on the advisory board of the Northern Student Movement, the Mayor's Citizens Advisory Committee of Boston and the Housing Committee of the Greater Boston Urban League.

Dr. Ryan lives at 865 Beacon Street in Newton Centre.

GORDON MARTIN

National ADA Honors Local Couple In D.C.

Americans for Democratic Action honored two Newton residents at its national convention in Washington D.C.

Mrs. Leo Parnes of Waban won the Helen Rotch Award for her devoted service to Massachusetts A.D.A.

Mrs. Parnes has been a member of the State Board for the past six years. The past three years she has been Legislative Chairman and a State Vice-Chairman.

Mrs. Parnes has directed the gathering of testimony, and the lobbying for A.D.A.'s proposed legislation.

Mrs. Parnes has lobbied for abolition of capital punishment, tax reform, and the recently enacted generic drug laws.

Gordon A. Martin, Jr. of Newton Centre was elected to the National Executive Committee of A.D.A.

Former Congressman Allard Lowenstein is the newly elected National Chairman. Attorney Martin is a State Commissioner of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination. He is Chairman of Boston's Coordinating Council on Drug Abuse.

He lectures at Northeastern University School of Law and is a former Special Assistant to Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Mr. Martin also served as a United States Attorney for Massachusetts and as a Trial Attorney in the Civil Rights Division of the United States Department of Justice.

At present Gordon Martin is the State Chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Pythians To Hold Tag Day On Saturday

This coming Saturday (May 15), the Massachusetts Knights of Pythias will conduct their annual Newton Tag Day for Kiddle Kamp, a 300-acre wooded facility on Lake Massapoag in Sharon which serves 1,000 deserving boys each summer.

Hundreds of people will be soliciting funds with coin tainers in the various neighborhoods of the city to aid the camp, which the Knights of Pythias founded in 1938.

Kiddle Kamp provides disadvantaged boys with a camping experience designed to enrich their lives mentally, morally and physically, and to provide them with opportunities to acquire and practice the habits of democratic living.

Receive Honors at Vermont U.

Eight students from the Newtons are named to the Dean's List at the University of Vermont.

Earning honors for the fall semester were: David M. Ludwig and Kenneth J. Miller of Newton; Jane E. Berson, Barbara J. Greenblatt, Steven Lampert and Howard J. Patovis of Newton Centre; and Judy E. Pamberg and Chester W. Robert of Newton Highlands.

Housing Authority Plans Hang On Aldermen's

Noting that "we want to give them every chance to respond," Newton Housing Authority member Milton Manin last week indicated that, despite the authority's declared impatience to erect low-income housing, it would nevertheless postpone plans until approval on proposed sites is forthcoming from the Board of Aldermen.

"The Board of Aldermen is also impatient to build housing," Manin added, "and I'm sure they'll come forth with an answer."

On Apr. 22, the authority, the aldermanic Housing and Finance Committees got together in an attempt to break the impasse that has developed over the authority's choice of sites for the projects.

For some time now, the Housing Committee has delayed its acceptance of authority plans to build on Victory Field in Nonantum and Crescent Street in West Newton. Approval is a prerequisite to construction, as both sites are city-owned and the aldermen have to pass on the zoning changes needed for the housing agency to erect the type of residences it wants.

The announced reason for delaying approval is the committee's desire to have the authority 'balance' its plans by proposing sites in other parts of the city.

In reaction to this, the authority, at the Apr. 22 meeting, offered a pair of additional sites, one on Circuit Columbia Avenues in Newton Upper Falls and the other on Beaconswood Road in Newton Highlands (which is not city-owned).

In explaining why it should wait for aldermanic assent before initiating work on the projects, authority member James Miller remarked that "commissioning an architect to draw up site plans is a complicated and expensive business and I wouldn't want to start it without some assurance that the board will sell us the city land and grant the necessary zoning changes."

Community Chest, Council, Hold Annual Meeting Here

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Chest and Council was held on April 28, 1971 at the Second Church in West Newton. Robert P. Freeto, president of the two organizations presided over the business meeting, at which delegates from 105 organizations and agencies throughout the City were present.

The following officers of the Chest and Council Boards were re-elected for another one year term: Mr. Robert P. Freeto, President, Dr. Sylvia G. Karkow and Mr. Charles J. Doherty, Vice-Presidents, Mr. Francis C. Chase, Treasurer, and Mr. Donald C. Root, Assistant Treasurer. Miss Adelaide B. Ball and Mr. H. Donald Norstrand were re-elected clerk of the Council and Chest respectively.

Following the election of officers and respective board members, there was a panel discussion which was actually incorporated as part of the business meeting.

The topic for discussion, "The Newton Community Chest and Council at the Crossroads," involved the possible merging of the Newton Council with the Councils of Needham, Wellesley and Quincy into a larger regional planning group to cover 28 communities, similar to the geographic area already defined by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in its planning in connection with Health, Welfare and Rehabilitation.

The panel included James Pisciotto, Regional Director from United Community Services, Joseph C. Skinner, former president of Newton Community Chest and Council and Robert P. Freeto, President. Professor Albert R. Beisel, Jr. acted as moderator. There was active participation in the discussion by a number of the delegates present. At the conclusion, it was voted that the Newton Community Council work with the towns of Needham and Wellesley in exploring the advantages and disadvantages of regionalization.

It was also voted that Mr. Skinner work with a committee for the purpose of continuing the Newton Community Chest, and, in particular, the preservation of the present reserve funds.

Council Board members elected this year for a three year term are: Mrs. Maudyrea Campbell, Mrs. Francis W. Drinan, Mr. Harry G. Johnson and Mr. Michael Lipof; for a two year term - Mr. Stanley M. Epstein and Mr. Frank H. Gardner and for one year - Mrs. John E. Coleman. The new Chest Directors-at-Large for a three year term are: Mr. Gary P. Brazier, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Bruce, Mr. Champe A. Fisher, Mrs. John B.G. Palen and Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr.

The Institutional Directors are as follows: Newton Boys' Club - Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mr. Philip F. Cacciatore, Mr. Stafford E. Davis; Newton Community Council - Mr. Stanley M. Epstein, Mrs. Robert G. Fisher, Mrs. Paul A. Levi; Newton Community Service Centers - Mr. David Cooper, Mr. Samuel Turner and Mrs. Edward C. Uehlein; Newton Visiting Nurse Association - Mrs. Alfred P. Ginsberg, Mr. William P. Ripley and Mrs. Worthing L. West; Newton-Wellesley Hospital - Mrs. Winslow H. Adams, Mr. Donald B. Conant and Mr. Henry T. Dunker; Newton Y.M.C.A. - Mr. Sidney A. Marston, Mr. Eldred M. Peterson and Mr. Charles E. Smith; Norumbega Council Boy Scouts - Mr. Martin W. Daley, Mr. Andrew F. Lane and Mr. Earl F. Nauss, Jr.; St. Vincent de Paul Society - Mr. Julian J. Coen, Mr. Robert F. Lally and the Rt. Rev. John J. McManmon.

Lasell College To Honor Retiring Faculty Member

A reception at the home of President and Mrs. Kenneth M. Greene on Thursday, May 13, will honor Mrs. Charles Weden of Auburndale who retires from the English department faculty of Lasell Junior College this year after twenty-three years of dedicated teaching service to the college.

Over one hundred and fifty friends from the college and the community will gather to acknowledge a career that has included teaching literature and writing, establishing a reading laboratory for students, and helping to promote goodwill between Lasell and the Auburndale community through talks before various church and social groups.

One of Mrs. Weden's finest services to Lasell was as Chairman (1961-1967) of the college's highly regarded Concert and Lecture Series. She was responsible for bringing to the campus and the public such noted speakers as David Brinkley, Martin Agronsky, Sandor Vanocur, and John Clardi, among many others.

An Auburndale resident for forty years, Mrs. Weden was graduated from Wheaton College and did graduate work at Harvard and Boston University.

Included in the Wedens' immediate post-retirement plans is a trip by ship to Korea to visit their son and daughter-in-law.

Michael Sandberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sandberg of Newton Centre, appeared as guest soloist at a University Lake School of Wisconsin concert last weekend.

45 Building Permits Mark April Upswing

The Newton Building Department last month issued 45 permits totaling an estimated value of more than $700,000 as April witnessed a sharp rise in construction activity in the city.

It was the best April since 1968 when close to $1,700,000 worth of construction was initiated. Leading the way last month was a permit for a $240,000 apartment development at 392-396 Langley Road in Newton Centre whose plans feature two 2½-story buildings with 18 units in one and 12 units in the other.

There were four permits for single-family dwellings and three permits for two-family houses issued during the month as well as one for the demolition of a gas station and subsequent erection of a store at 367 California Street.

New store fronts and interior remodeling are being undertaken at 77, 85, 87, 95 and 97-95 Union Street and two elevators are being installed at the new high school on Lowell Avenue.

In addition, the month saw permits given for five swimming pools, 14 alterations to residences and six to non-residential structures.

DANIEL KOSOW

Daniel Kosow Is Toastmaster For BU 25th Reunion

Toastmaster for the 25th Silver Anniversary Reunion Dinner for Boston University, College of Business Administration, will be Daniel Kosow of Crosby Road, Chestnut Hill. The dinner will take place Friday, May 21, at the school's George Sherman Union, Comm Ave., Boston, at 6:15 p.m. and will be part of a full weekend of Class of 1946 activities, May 21-23.

Mr. Kosow is well-known in the Newton community through his association with the Newton Country Players, having directed and appeared in a number of their productions.

He is currently a member of the Board of Trustees of the community thespian group, after having served three years on its Executive Board and a dual term as president.

Kosow has also been a member of the New England Theatre Conference staff the past two years, serving as editor of the NETC Newsletter and community theatre play reviewer.

He is featured in the full-length Enfield Production film "Ruby," which premiered in New York during March and April, and recently completed a ten-week stint on the Boston University contemporary radio series "Harvard Square."

While at B.U., Kosow was an editor of the B.U. News, Dean's List, Scarlet Key and Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Dr. Sklar To Be Speaker At Temple Dinner

The 25th annual dinner meeting of Temple Emanuel will be held on Wednesday evening, May 19th, at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Hall. The business meeting, chaired by Lawrence L. Suttenger, president of the Congregation, will take place at 8:00 p.m.

As part of the program, presentations will be made to Daniel Summer, Bulletin editor, who with his family will shortly be leaving to take up residence in Israel, and to outgoing presidents of the constituent organizations as follows: Dr. Oscar Tenenbaum, President of Brotherhood; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abramson, Presidents of Couples Club; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Greene, Presidents of P.T.A.

Following the business meeting there will be an address by Professor Marshall Sklar of Brandeis University on "The Future of the American Synagogue."

Dr. Sklar is a social scientist who specializes in the study of racial, ethnic and religious groups, with particular emphasis on the sociology of the American Jew. He serves as professor of American Jewish Studies at Brandeis University's Graduate Center for Contemporary Jewish Studies.

He was formerly professor of Sociology at Yeshiva University. For over a decade, Dr. Sklar directed the Division of Scientific Research of the American Jewish Committee.

Dr. Sklar is the senior author of "Jewish Identity on the Suburban Frontier: A Study of Group Survival in the Open Society," editor of "The Jews: Social Patterns of an American Group," and author of "Conservative Judaism: An American Religious Movement."

Dr. Sklar took his master's degree at the University of Chicago and received his doctorate from Columbia University.

Conservators To Host 3 Aldermen Next Wednesday

The chairmen of environment-related aldermanic committees will be the featured guests at the annual meeting of the Newton Conservators, to take place this coming Wednesday evening (May 19) at 8 in the Auburndale Congregational Church on Hancock and Woodland Streets.

The trio connected with "Three Men in Three Chairs," as the program is called, is comprised of Alan Barkin, chairman of the Land Use Committee; David Jackson, chairman of the City Planning Committee; and Andrew Magni, head of the Public Works Committee.

They will describe their particular areas of responsibility after which a general discussion will be held.

Also scheduled for the session are the reading of reports by the organization's committee chairmen, consideration of several by-law amendments and the election of new officers and directors.

Although only members in good standing are eligible to vote, the public is invited to participate in the non-business portion of the program and to share in the refreshments at the program's end.

For further information about the meeting or the Newton Conservators, call Rita Barron, the group's information chairman, at 527-5214.

Drug Committee To Set Up 3-Pronged Problem Attack

The initial meeting of Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas' Drug Action Committee was held recently at Newton City Hall.

The Committee has been established to aid the Mayor in coordinating a three-pronged attack on the drug problem in Newton.

The Mayor charged the Committee with the basic responsibility of evaluating the City's efforts in drug treatment, education and enforcement, with the aim of guiding the Mayor in allocating funds for projects and programs so as to achieve maximum effectiveness from money spent.

All programs in Newton operating in the field of treatment or prevention of drug abuse will be observed and studied by the Committee to determine their effectiveness.

The Committee will focus on the priority of needs in this area, to determine the gaps in services provided and also investigate programs in other localities.

Another area of concern of the Committee will be the exploration of possible funding from other sources.

The Drug Action Committee is successor to the Mayor's Drug Study Committee which was dissolved after having completed its task, that of conducting an exhaustive study of the drug abuse problem in Newton, and submitting its findings to the Mayor in a report. With the Study Committee having determined the size and scope of the problem, the Action Committee hopes to coordinate and monitor activities aimed at solving it.

A meeting of the Drug Action Committee was held May 5, at which time representatives from Project Turnabout and the Multi-Service Drug Center familiarized the Committee with the operation of their respective programs.

Newton Lawyer Endorses No-Fault In D.C. Hearing

Indicating he was testifying as an "act of conscience," Newton attorney Robert H. Joost of 25 Canterbury Road last week told a U.S. Senate Commerce Committee hearing that, despite the strenuous opposition of the American Trial Lawyers Association (ATLA), of which he is a staff member, federal no-fault insurance legislation should be voted into law.

Joost was appearing in connection with hearings currently being on legislation sponsored by committee chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Washington) and Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Michigan) to establish a no-fault auto insurance system on a national scale.

The honors graduate from Yale and Harvard Law School remarked that a state-by-state approach to no-fault, as supported by the Nixon administration, cannot work and asserted that, to leave no-fault to the states "is in fact a decision to retain the automobile negligence system with all its waste."

Joost described his testimony as an "act of conscience" because the ATLA, according to him, was pushing a "pocketbook interest in the present auto insurance system and he exhibited ATLA documents showing the way in which the association courts state legislators through campaign donations and persuasion.

He explained that a new department had been formed by the ATLA to fight no-fault laws and that the association had slated 25 percent of its budget ($322,500) for the department which will be headed by a brother of a special assistant to John Volpe, secretary of the federal Department of Transportation.

Joost mentioned that, at a meeting held last month in the ATLA's headquarters in Cambridge, a Connecticut man said trial lawyers in his state "had had good luck in raising funds from the sheriffs and constables who serve legal papers. Apparently the deputies are fearful that no-fault would mean fewer legal papers to serve."

ATLA officials, surprised by Joost's testimony, quickly notified the Commerce Committee of its desire to present its views to the committee and last Friday (the day following Joost's appearance) did so, denying Joost's various charges and arguing that no-fault is "not in the public interest" and that they are "proud" to oppose it on the state and federal levels.

Aldermen Seek Combined Trash, Garbage Pick-Up

A resolution was submitted last week by Aldermen Matthew Jefferson and Peter City to establish a six-month pilot program to test the advisability of collecting rubbish and garbage together.

The resolution provides for a combined refuse collection twice a week from April 1 to Sept. 30 and once weekly from Nov. 1 to March 31.

As of now, garbage is picked up by a private firm and the trash is collected by the city and burned at its Rumford Avenue incinerator in West Newton.

According to Harrington, however, garbage caused trash to burn with greater intensity, thereby leading to more complete consumption by the fire and a subsequent drop in the amount of particulates escaping into the air.

Harrington also submitted a resolution providing for the creation of a city compost heap whose nutritive material could be distributed to Newton residents free of charge.

Newton Masons Plan Afternoon Meeting May 19

At the next meeting of the Newton Masonic Club on Wednesday afternoon, May 19, the "Speaker of the Day" will be Stanley F. Maxwell, Past Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Massachusetts.

He is also the Commander-in-Chief of Scottish Rite Masons in the Boston area and a recent Potentate of Aleppo Temple of the Shrine.

The response of the membership to the appeal for old, unused, spare eyeglasses for "Eyes for the Needy" was most generous. With just a few more they will be forwarded to Short Hills, N.J. for the medically indigent. Snack Bar at 1:30 - Meeting at 2 p.m.

Car, Plane Models Now At Library

Car, plane and plane models crafted by Jack Morris of Newton Highlands, a graduate of Newton South High School and of Weeks Jr. High, are on exhibit this month at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Jack, who has been making models nearly all his life, has put together a group of 10 contemporary models, including a jet plane, a future car, a weather jet and a hot rod.

A complementary exhibit of motorcycle, car and bike books accompanies the display, which also features color prints of antique cars.

The exhibit will remain on view through the month.

Durkin Elected To NEA Board Of Directors

Meadowbrook Junior High teacher Richard J. Durkin, president last year of the Mass. Teachers Association, was elected a member of the Board of Directors of the National Education Association (NEA) recently. Durkin teaches Latin and French at Meadowbrook.

A former teacher in Chatham and a native of Clinton, he received his B.A. degree from St. Michael's College, Vt., and did his graduate work at Boston University and Pennsylvania State University.

Durkin is past President of the Chatham Teachers Association, Barnstable County Education Association, and the Newton Teachers Association.

Elected President of the MTA in July 1970, Durkin will serve until July 1971. The MTA, with a membership of 46,000 public school and college teachers, is the largest professional organization in Massachusetts and is an affiliate of the 1.2 million member NEA, the largest professional association in the world.

Attends Forum In Las Vegas

Mrs. Worthing L. West, chairman and board member of the National Recreation and Park Association, attended the recent national forum sponsored by the NRPA in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The forum was held to explore and develop public relations techniques and approaches needed to broaden the public image in support of the nation's park and recreation departments. An estimated 500 park and recreation board and commission members, administrators and public information specialists from throughout the country attended.

U.S., RUSSIAN OFFICIALS CONFER OVER INCIDENTS AT SEA

RUSSIAN and American officials conferred Wednesday aboard a Soviet ship at sea in an effort to end alleged harassment of U.S. lobstermen off the New England coast. A State Department official, saying he would offer specific suggestions to resolve the dispute, headed the 11-member American delegation that boarded the Russian fishing ship SS Robert Elkh from the Coast Guard Cutter Duane near Nantucket Lightship about 80 miles south of Cape Cod. "There is no question that foreign fleets, particularly the Soviets, have caused substantial damage in lost gear to American lobstermen," said Donald L. McKernan, special assistant for fisheries, wildlife and ocean affairs in the State Department. The sea was calm and the sun broke through an overcast sky as the American delegation stepped aboard the Duane's 25-foot lifeboats for the 500 yards to the Elkh, named after a revolutionary hero. Several of the Americans snapped pictures of the Duane and its crew as they were lowered in lifeboats 50 feet to the water. The Americans climbed a ladder on the Russian ship for the first meeting at sea of representatives of the two nations since a Soviet sailor tried to defect aboard a Coast Guard cutter off the Massachusetts coast last November. Scores of Soviet sailors and some women crowded the rails of the Elkh to catch a glimpse of the American party. A few waved to the Coast Guardsmen in the lifeboats. The Coast Guard cutter Active circled the Elkh. When the American delegation returned to the Duane, McKernan said the "commander told us he had repudiated the captains of the fishing trawlers involved in the incidents." The State Department officials said the Soviet commander "recognized our position that their boats were violating international law of the seas and would work to rectify the situation."

FIRM ASKS FCC TO ORDER WHDH-TV OFF THE AIR

A RIVAL broadcasting firm has asked the Federal Communications Commission to order Boston television station WHDH off the air. Boston Broadcasters Inc., petitioned the FCC Tuesday to stop WHDH from broadcasting over Channel 5 on 3 a.m., Sept. 26, unless the U.S. Supreme Court agrees before July 1 to hear a WHDH appeal of an FCC decision to take away its license. The FCC decided to transfer the Channel 5 license to Boston Broadcasters Jan. 23, 1969, but the order has been delayed to give WHDH, Inc., which is owned by the Boston Herald Traveler Corp. time to appeal the ruling.

SAIGON TROOPS BATTLE COMMUNISTS IN A SHAU

SOUTH VIETNAMESE troops and U.S. aircraft battled Communist units for six hours Wednesday in the first major engagement of the A Shau Valley campaign. The Communists poured artillery, rockets, grenade, machine gun and rifle fire into government positions. A U.S. UH1 Huey helicopter was shot down and two other helicopters and a fix-wing reconnaissance plane were damaged by intensive groundfire, military sources disclosed at a base near the valley. They said a U.S. fighter-bomber knocked out a heavy machinegun emplacement. Initial reports listed 14 Communists killed and four South Vietnamese marines wounded. U.S. helicopter gunships as well as fighter-bombers, supported the drive and B52 Stratofortresses bombed infiltration routes in the northwest to prevent a Communist encirclement.

ISRAEL REFUSES TO MAP SETTLEMENT BOUNDARIES

ISRAEL has refused to comply with United States demands for a detailed map of the secure boundaries it wants in a peace settlement with the Arab states, Prime Minister Golda Meir said in Jerusalem Wednesday. Mrs. Meir spoke before the parliament on recent U.S. peace-seeking efforts while Egyptian President Anwar Sadat met with his revamped cabinet in Cairo for the first time since last week's political upheaval. New Minister of Information Abdel Kader Hatem told newsmen after the three-hour session that Sadat outlined a new blueprint for Egypt's progress, declaring future policy would follow "a straight line with no zig-zags." He also quoted Sadat as saying that the coup moves against him last week were a power struggle but that the "past serious stage has ended . . ."

NATION'S TRAINS ROLL UNDER CONGRESS' EDICT

FREIGHT and passenger trains rolled again under Congressional edict Wednesday, ending a two-day strike that finally broke the ice on President Nixon's longstanding request for permanent new powers to cope with transportation crises. Under pressure from two senators who opposed the latest emergency intervention to end a rail tieup, Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., D-N.J., reversed his previous stand and agreed to start hearings next month on Nixon's 15-month-old proposals for averting further total shutdowns in the U.S. railroad system. Picket lines were withdrawn and most trains across the country were back in operation a few hours after the President signed the legislation at 10:40 p.m. EDT Tuesday ordering the signalmen back to work at least until Oct. 1. Nixon's action gave signalmen an average 13.5 per cent pay increase, part retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970 and part to Nov. 1, 1970.

JURY WEIGHS FATE OF BOBBY SEALE, ERIKA HUGGINS

A SUPERIOR COURT jury of seven whites and five blacks in New Haven, Conn., began deliberation Wednesday in the murder conspiracy trial of Black Panthers Bobby G. Seale and Mrs. Ericka Huggins. The jury officials received the case at 2:30 p.m. EDT after Judge Harold M. Mulvey completed a three-hour and 15-minute charge in which he said Seale's failure to testify in his own behalf was not evidence of his guilt. Seale, 34, chairman of the party, and Mrs. Huggins, 23, a Connecticut Panther organizer, were charged with aiding and abetting murder, conspiracy to kidnap and conspiracy to murder in the death of Alex Rackley, 24, an alleged police informant whose body was found May 21, 1969. The four charges against Seale and the five against Mrs. Huggins carry maximum penalties ranging up to life imprisonment or death.

SENATE BACKERS OF SST PROJECT CONCEDE DEFEAT

SENATE BACKERS of the supersonic transport plane conceded defeat Wednesday by agreeing to compromise legislation that would add $70.5 million to the cost of closing out the project. The White House acknowledged the SST "very likely" was dead. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told the Senate that Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., a leading SST supporter, would offer a motion to terminate the program but add $700.5 million to reimburse commercial airlines which had advanced money for development and to pay government costs of administering the shutdown. The compromise was reported as Senate debate ended on a House-approved measure that would convert the original $85.3 million termination fund into a subsidy for resurrecting the once-defeated, 1,800 mile-an-hour plane.

Solon Makes It "Official"

Mann Is Candidate For Post Of Mayor

Speaking to a gathering that filled Sidney Hill Country Club to capacity Tuesday evening (May 18), at a testimonial reception in his honor, Representative Theodore D. Mann made it "official" by formally announcing he was a candidate for the office of Mayor of Newton.

It was while acknowledging tributes from Senator Edward W. Brooke, Honorary Chairman of the event's sponsoring Committee; Governor Francis W. Sargent who came with Mrs. Sargent who brought greetings from the City of Newton, and others in business and government, that Representative Mann disclosed his plans.

In making his announcement which was rumored about the community for the past several weeks, Representative Mann told his listeners:

"As your Alderman for eight years and your Representative in the State Legislature the past seven, I have been concerned and involved with the broad range of problems with which all of us in Newton are faced."

"My deep concern for our community and its people is demonstrated by my continued participation and sponsorship of legislation and studies dealing with

Mayoral Candidate Among Opponents

Opposition At Hearing For NCDF Housing Plan

By SHIRLEY GOLDWYN

Opposition which included Mayoralty Candidate Rep. Theodore Mann resounded Tuesday night as a second round of public hearings on controversial proposals for low and moderate income housing in Newton got underway.

Like a re-run of an old movie, the hearing at Newton High School, though attended by some 500 people, lacked the spirit and fire of last year's similar event.

At issue is the request of the Newton Community Development Foundation, a non-profit group founded nearly three years ago by a group of clergymen, for a comprehensive permit from the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals to allow construction of 361 units of subsidized housing on six scattered sites in the city.

The proposals are a modified version of those rejected by the Board of Aldermen last August. The new petitions represent the initial step in the procedures outlined by the state so-called "anti-snob" zoning law.

An appeal to a state board is expected if NCDF's request is denied by the Zoning Board of Appeals. And the entire matter may very likely be resolved finally by the courts.

Rep. Mann said he favors low and moderate income housing and feels Newton is already working in this direction and will continue to work to fill the need. However, the specific NCDF proposals call for too much density on the selected sites and some of the sites themselves are inappropriate, he said.

The hearing on Monday involved sites at Hunnewell Ave., Newton Corner for which 24 units are planned and Stanton Ave., Auburndale for which 64 units are proposed.

Hearings on the four other sites for which building permission is being sought are being held at Newton South High School on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week.

As the first hearing began,

Maurice Reidy, a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals who acted as chairman, said that certain unidentified members of that board have made contributions to NCDF and the board will consider whether they should sit on the matter.

This was an issue raised more than once by opponents to the proposals.

Speaking for the petitions, Robert Casselman, president of NCDF, said that the facts substantiate a real and large need for the housing. The 361 dwelling units proposed will make a substantial contribution toward filling that need but will fall short of actually meeting it, he noted.

Red Cross To Mark 53rd Anniversary

The 53rd Anniversary of the Newton Chapter, American National Red Cross will be commemorated at the Marriott Motor Hotel, Auburndale, on June 1, at 5:45 p.m.

Chairmaning this annual event is the Reverend Robert W. Golledge with the assistance of Mrs. Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr. and Mrs. Albert R. Beisel, Jr.

A short business meeting will be held following the dinner in order to elect officers for the coming year and also conclude any other pertinent business that may come before the meeting.

The meeting is open to all residents of Newton who are cordially invited to attend this special occasion.

Speaker for the evening will be Robert R. Shea, vice-president, management, American National Red Cross.

A veteran of more than 28 years of service in the organization, Robert F. Shea

Steven Crosby Appointed To Assist Dwight

Steven P. Crosby of Newton, son of Alderman Harry H. Crosby, was appointed recently as administrative assistant to Lieutenant Governor Donald R. Dwight and, in that capacity, will serve as liaison between Dwight's office and the state legislature.

Crosby, who attended Newton High School (and was captain of the football team), graduated from Harvard in 1967.

He is a member of the Newton Recreation Commission, is on the board of directors of the Newton Community Council and the Regional Headstart Program and serves on the Executive Committee of the Newton Republican City Committee.

Six Complete Fire Fighter Basic Course

Six recent appointees to the Newton Fire Department, Clarence P. Murray, John J. Leone, Jr., Joseph J. Oliveto, Michele A. Bove, Richard R. Malone and James E. Brodeur, have completed a comprehensive basic training course on firefighting equipment combined with modern firefighting procedures and techniques.

The course was for a three week period held at the Brookline Fire Department Drill School under the supervision of Assistant Chief Louis A. Colella, Department Training Officer.

Grave Flags For Veterans Are Available

American flags which are suitable for the decorating of graves of Newton veterans are available at no charge at the offices of the Department of Veterans' Services, Newton City Hall according to a statement issued this week by Carleton P. Merrill, Director of Veterans' Services, City of Newton.

The flags are standard size, 12 x 18 inch, printed on soft cotton and stapled on smooth-sanded whitewood staffs with gold colored spearheads and meet the specifications of the United States Government for grave decoration.

Mr. Merrill advised that last year the Department of Veterans' Services had requests for 1,003 flags and that it is his hope in that the families of deceased Newton veterans will once again avail themselves to the securing of the U.S. flag so that all of the graves of Newton veterans

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Rumors Have It Sarge Headed For Place In Nixon Cabinet

A number of stories being told by well informed persons indicate that Governor Francis W. Sargent may move into other fields within the next year, causing Lieutenant Governor Donald Dwight to step up into the Governorship and head the State government for the balance of Mr. Sargent's term.

On their face the reports seem far-fetched, but they come from sources so responsible that it is difficult to disregard them.

One report being given considerable credence in political circles is that Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe will be named Ambassador to the Vatican and that Mr. Sargent will be offered Volpe's post in the Nixon Cabinet.

The drawback to that rumor is that there is no assurance whatever that Governor Sargent would accept the position of Secretary of Transportation if it were offered to him.

Medical Center Honors Newton Volunteers

A total of 11 Newton residents were among the 94 members of the volunteer staff of the Children's Hospital Medical Center recently honored by the center at its annual Spring Volunteer Service Awards Ceremony.

The awards, which included pins and certificates, were presented by George W. Lunn, director of personnel. The program's speaker was Dr. Charles Barlow, neurologist-in-chief at Children's.

A service certificate was given Mrs. Joel Barnes for her 33 years of volunteer work.

Receiving 100-hour pins were Mrs. Irving Bond, Mrs. Julian Brightman, Miss Debra Goldberg, Mrs. Herbert Goldberg, Miss Ellen Greenberg, Jeffrey Kelley, Mrs. Rueben Koenig, Mrs. Alan Maslow, Martin Paley and Roger Tackeff.

Wins Sheldon Fellowship

Elliot Nierman, of 83 Judith Rd., Newton, has been awarded a Frederick Sheldon Fellowship at Harvard University for Travel, following his graduation from Harvard College in June.

Nierman graduated from Newton High, where he was a member of the National Honor Society, the football and lacrosse teams, and was a Meserve Scholar.

At Harvard, he was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Junior Twelve, received the Detur Prize for outstanding scholarship and holds an Honorary Harvard National Scholarship and an Edward Whitaker Scholarship. He also plays lacrosse and rugby.

After traveling he plans to go into either medicine or teaching.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nierman of Newton.

Summer Youth Program Here

One hundred Newton, Waltham and Watertown youths will be eligible for a summer Neighborhood Youth Program to run through July and August.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, federally funded by the Department of Labor, provides a stipend of $1.60 an hour to eligible low-income youths for a 26-hour work week.

Site Selection Woes Noted By Planning Head

Speaking recently at a housing workshop sponsored by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council (MAPC), E. Michael Ferris, Newton's director of planning, commented, that in considering sites for elderly or low-income housing, "political factors are the hardest with which to deal."

Ferris was a member of the workshop's site selection panel. The workshop hosted officials of the 85 public housing authorities in the Boston region.

Ferris and his co-panelists pointed to the difficulty in satisfying political and sociological objections often raised when sites are considered for public housing projects.

The Newtonite cited frequent abutter opposition to such proposals by noting, "No matter how high a site rates on planning criteria, it could never rate high enough on political factors in some sections of some communities."

City Commission Plans Look Into Club Admissions

A survey, probably in the form of a mailed questionnaire, will be distributed soon to social clubs in Newton to ascertain whether their admission policies and practices tend to discriminate against any group.

The Rev. Robert L. Griesse, a member of the Newton Community Relations Commission, remarked last week that, "I hope that some kind of definition of the problem could be worked out, and that a survey could begin this summer."

Commission Chairman William M. Glosky named an ad hoc committee to work on Recreation Departments, Libraries, Social Service Agencies, Hospitals, Etc. Anyone between the ages of 14 and 22 years interested in this program should contact Communities United, Inc. (sponsors of this program) at 969-2598.

Public or private non-profit institutions who are interested in having NYC volunteers assigned to them please contact Frank Mitchell at the above number.

"Approval for this project should be forthcoming shortly," said Mr. Mitchell, Director of Communities United.

Symph'ny Ends Season Here

By SUSAN COOPER MARKELL

The final concert in the Newton Symphony's 1970-1971 Series took place on May 9. Michel Sasson, Music Director of the Orchestra, shared conducting honors with The New England Conservatory's Gunther Schuller.

Schuller began the concert with Webern's Five Pieces for Orchestra, (Opus 10). The performance consisted of two readings of Webern's work with an explanatory discussion sandwiched between. It is a taxing work to play and the orchestra acquitted itself admirably. Entrances were particularly good, evidence of thorough rehearsals.

Next, Max Hobart and Ronald Knudson played the Bach Double (Violin Concerto in D minor). Hobart set the pace for the piece which was done sans conductor. This procedure seemed to work and is of course, an entirely acceptable method of performing music of this kind.

Hobart's playing was unselfconsciously good, as was Knudson's. Absolutely no grandstanding, just truly excellent playing. The tempo was good throughout, a nice strict reading, not a loose interpretation. Not for the sake of pipul, but I prefer a three note to a five or six note retard in ending movements of the Baroque Period.

Mahler next, the Songs From Des Knaben Wunderhorn, and Pamela Gore stole the evening. The young contralto sang with great color and facility. She really projected the roles and utterly charmed us all. Translations of the leader (songs) in the program would have been helpful to the audience.

These songs are not heard often and Sasson is again to be complimented for his varied, well planned programs. Compliments are also due Sasson for bringing such talented the survey and to draft a policy statement on bias in connection with social clubs. The committee, slated to meet on June 2, is made up of Prof. Albert R. Beisel, the Rev. Griesse and Glosky, all of whom are commissioners, and Carlton Merrill, a member of the Community Relations Advisory Board.

Local Executive At Seminar On Bank Mangement

Phillip A. Shaver of 21 Hunter Street, West Newton, was one of 40 senior bank executives, corporators and trustees who attended a one-day bank management seminar held recently at Babson College.

Shaver is assistant vice president at the First National Bank of Boston.

Theme of the seminar was "The Changing Role of the Bank Director, Corporator and Trustee" and it explored the expectations of depositors, stockholders, government and the community toward bank directors.

The program was the third in a series of three seminars designed to examine current trends in bank management. Series co-sponsors include Babson College, the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, the Massachusetts Bankers Association, the Massachusetts Cooperative Bank League, and the Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts.

Marilyn M. Rosenblatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosenblatt of 47 Vine Street, Newton, is the recipient of a Mark V. Crockett Scholarship at Lesley College in Cambridge where she is completing her freshman year. The scholarship was awarded to students who have shown high academic achievement and whose character and personality have contributed to the student community. Miss Rosenblatt is a graduate of Newton South High.

Weeks Jr. High Plans Festival Of Kite Flying

Weeks Junior High School PTA invites faculty, students and families to a gala Kite Flying Festival, Thursday, May twenty-seventh, 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. on the school grounds.

Special features include a Kite Construction Workshop for Weeks students assisted by ninth graders from Cluster 900 who have been studying Aerodynamics with their science teacher, Mr. Tom Bindas. A Mothers Kite Flying Contest, A Brother and Sister Event and a Kite Hospital are being planned.

Everyone will bring box supplies from home. Music will be provided by The Weeks Band under the direction of Mr. Frank Dadario.

Mrs. Irene Bickelman, Community Resource Consultant for Weeks Junior High School, is organizer of the Kite Festival with the support of Mr. Socrates Lagios, Principal, and Dr. and Mrs. John Reichard, Presidents of the PTA.

Mrs. Zeldia Ryter is working with a committee of Weeks parents to publicize the Kite Fly. The committee members are Mrs. Lee Junda, Mrs. Lolly Selenkow, Mrs. Monica Skerry and Mrs. Raisa Newman.

A Fathers Committee is being formed and many more parents are needed particularly for helping with the Kite Construction Workshop from 1:00 to 5:00 pm at Weeks. Call Mrs. Bickelman at school (244-4742) or at home (244-9035) if you can devote any time to the Kite Festival.

Ideas for the event were generated by The Committee for the Better Use of Air, Inc. and The Institute of Contemporary Art.

School Official Urges Sports Program Changes

Sweeping changes in the public schools' physical education program have been suggested by a Newton School Department official.

Addressing a School Committee meeting, Warren L. Huston, assistant supervisor of physical education in the city's schools, remarked, "We take care of 15 percent but the other 85 percent are just not taken care of," a reference to what he thought is an undue emphasis on interscholastic over intramural sports.

Huston, who noted that athletics and intramurals arise from a solid, elementary school-based physical education program, recommended that intramurals be improved and suggested that team sports and gymnastics be offered in the seventh and eighth grades with individual and dual sports being given in the ninth grade.

In high school, Swimming should be emphasized, according to Huston, an effort should be made to involve students in sports which can be played in adult life and he remarked that such activities as fishing, sailing, mountain climbing as well as intramural competition be given course credit.

Huston also requested that the idea of making physical education classes voluntary instead of compulsory be studied and he recommended instituting as electives activities like body-building.

Newman House Continues Theology of War Series

Approximately seventy guests and participants were present to hear Father Francis C. O'Hare, chairman of the Priest's Senate Subcommittee on World Justice and Peace, open the first Newman House Conference on "The Catholic Conscience and the Indochina War," recently.

While pointing out that there are numerous Church pronouncements on war, Father O'Hare went on to state that "few persons have heard these, or at least few seem to have heard them, and fewer still who have heard them, accept them."

The spirited dialogue which followed Father O'Hare's presentation, had as one of its main themes the difficulty which the Institutional Church in America has had in coming to grips with this major moral issue.

A few days later, the Tuesday evening Senior Discussion Group, which is led by Gerald Pierce, who teaches Theology at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, centered their meeting on Father O'Hare's talk.

Present were Tommy Medlar, Paul De Meo, Medlar, Paul DeMeo, Patty Hasenfuls, Paul Cavanaugh, Beth Donovan, Mary Martin, Beth Carleo, Jimmy McGlame, Chris DeMeo, Dana Albano, Bobby Carleo and Charlene McGlame.

The second Conference had as its principle speaker Father J. Bryan Hehir, who teaches Christian Social Ethics at Saint John's Seminary. Father Hehir concentrated on the importance of moral language and reasoning to the problem of the Indochina War, during the course of which he gave a careful analysis of the traditional Catholic "just war doctrine."

While questioning the effectiveness of condemning the entire Vietnam War, Father Hehir expressed grave doubts about several of its aspects, and in particular concerning the increased mechanization, with its devastating effects on civilian life and property, which seems to be the backbone of our present Vietnamization policy.

The next Conference in this series was held Sunday evening at 8:00, and presented Father James F. Rafferty, a former curate from Saint Philip Neri Parish and now Newman Chaplain at Framingham State College. Father Rafferty, who has been active in various civil rights and peace movements, explained the Catholic case for Pacifism.

These Newman House Conferences each include approximately sixteen priests and laymen from throughout the City of Newton who, after the speaker's presentation, engage in a discussion around the topics which have been raised.

Through the cooperation of the Audio-Visual Department of Boston College, the entire proceedings can be viewed "live" through two large screen closed circuit TV hookups.

Among the students working on the Conference Committee are David Thorp, Tony Martin, Dana Albano, Dianne Blue, Beth Carleo, Barbara Staszsky, Jimmy McGourty, Chris Antonellis and Frank Keeley.

These conferences are available to the general public free of charge. For more information please call Program Coordinators Dr. Stuart Martin 527-1821 or Mrs. Sheila Brack 527-3699.

City of Newton memorial wreaths are also placed at the Calvary Cemetery, Waltham and at Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline with the cooperation of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mr. Merrill has asked that any citizen who is not able to place a flag on a private lot of a Newton veteran in the Newton Cemetery to contact the Department of Veterans Services and arrangements will be made to have the placed. The Veterans' Services Department is open from 8:30 to 5:00, the telephone number is 244-4700 Ext. 278 or 279.

Carmen Praises Move On Saturday To Clean River

Observing that over eleven miles of the Charles River run through Newton, Ward Seven Alderman William Carmen has commended Newton's leaders and citizens for their plans to participate in "Operation Charles-II" to clean up the Charles River on Saturday, May twenty-second.

Alderman Carmen, who is chairman of Newton's Aldermanic Ecology Subcommittee, has also stressed that it will take continuing action to keep the Charles clean.

According to Alderman Carmen, one unfortunate pollutant of the Charles is Newton's storm drainage system, and he has already taken the first steps to correct the problem. The city's storm drainage system is used to allow excess water that may fall during storms to flow off of streets and into the Charles.

Alderman Carmen has submitted a resolution to the Board of Aldermen proposing that water running from the system be cleaned of impurities by a network of percolators before it is allowed to flow into the river.

He also suggested the storm drains be cleaned of foreign matter more frequently.

While discussing the problem with MDC Commissioner John Sears, Alderman Carmen learned that Federal and State almost every aspect of life in today's complex society. This includes the problems of drug abuse, pollution, mental health, aid for the elderly citizens, State aid for education, and measures bringing relief to the overburdened taxpayer.

In thanking the gathering, Representative Mann concluded saying:

"I like to feel that my experience in business, as well as in government gives me unique preparation and qualification for service to our City. I intend to be responsive to the needs of all of Newton's residents."

Representative Mann, now in his fourth term as State Representative from the 13th Middlesex District, received a tumultuous ovation on completion of his remarks.

Special presentations marked an emotion-packed evening. One made by Senator Joseph J.C. DiCarlo of Revere, Chairman of the important Joint Legislative Committee on Counties, in behalf of "Legislative Colleagues from both parties", cited Representative Mann "for his dedication and outstanding service as a public servant", and in "recognition of his great humanitarian efforts". A delegation of members of the State Legislature was on hand to witness the presentation.

On behalf of friends and associates Louis I. Kaitz, a co-chairman of the committee, presented him with an inscribed Paul Revere Bowl. Kaitz paid special tribute to the Representative's personal support and activity for the benefit of the community's civic and charitable organizations.

Close and proud observers of the proceedings were Rep. Mann's wife, Florence, their five children, Leslie J. Rickie, Eric, Debbie, Stacie, as well as his mother.

Participants in the evening's program included Senator Edward W. Brooke; Governor Francis W. Sargent; Mayor Monte G. Basbas; Senator

Vicious and Senseless

In a not too distant era the mail carrier and the firemen somehow shared a regard that seemed to place them apart from all other public servants.

The letter carrier was on a first-name basis with those on his route. The householder wasn't just a postal patron but a friend. The carrier's ring was one of those daily routines of life, one of the most pleasant, even when all he brought were bills. He was the philosopher who comforted when things were going wrong. He brought sympathy when there was illness in the house.

The fireman didn't have that daily contact. You saw him clinging to the side of the ladder truck racing to a fire. You saw him on the trolley in his neat uniform on his way to work or on his way home from a duty tour. Sometimes you saw him in a parade. He and his unit were sure of cheers all along the line.

Recently in New York, Boston and in other big cities, reports have mounted on assaults perpetrated on mail carriers, particularly on those days when welfare and government checks are known to be moving through the mails. "Check days."

These assaults are something new in the line of crime, at least on the scale it is assuming. They offer a problem the new postal system must solve effectively and quickly.

The harassment of firefighters began several years ago. They have been attacked while fighting fires, often in structures which have been set ablaze in some areas. They have been targets at boxes where false alarms have been sounded. There have been reports where their property as well as city property have been looted at fire station houses while they were answering alarms.

Drug users, desperate for money to sustain their habits, are blamed for the rising toll of assaults on the letter carriers. The harassment of firefighters is senseless, something not even the most violent anti-establishment advocate could explain to himself.

Capital Punishment

It is expected the United States Supreme Court will rule during its present session on the retention of death as a supreme penalty for murder as is now provided in the law books of most of the states.

No more emotion-stirring issue has ever come before the court. Since June 2, 1967, there has not been a legal execution in the United States. On that date states were won by lawyers in behalf of 120 men convicted of murder and sentenced to death in Florida and California. Lawyers, alleging capital punishment was cruel and unusual, won the stays pending a ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Previous to that, beginning with the late Paul A. Dever, Massachusetts Governors, members of both major parties, prevented executions in this state by the use of executive powers, usually backed by a majority of the Governor's Council.

Here and in other states, juries have continued to recommend the death penalties in many murder cases. Judges have continued to sentence such defendants to death.

Today 640 men and seven women are held under sentence of death in the 39 states where capital punishment remains on the law books. Led by a network of more than 100 lawyers organized for the purpose by the N.A.A.C.P. Defense and Education Fund, opponents of capital punishment can be depended upon to place before the court complete and sophisticated legal arguments to support their stand.

The Legislatures in several states, Massachusetts among them, have several times turned down efforts to erase the supreme penalty from the books. In doing so they have rejected the pleas of well-organized, shrewdly led organizations which have argued that executions should have no place in a civilized society.

Whatever the finding of the Supreme Court may be, it will be long overdue.

Newton Native, College Professor, At Hearings

Curt Gilroy, a professor at partially funded by the National Sharecroppers' Fund, was done for the Rural Confrontation course offered by Wells College. Taught by Professor Gilroy, the course was conducted in Louisiana during testimony before the House of Representatives Agricultural Committee hearings on the National Sugar Act.

The committee, chaired by William Robert Poage (D-Ind.) determined how the National Sugar Act, which expires December 31, 1971, should be revised.

The Wells students' attempt to evaluate the testimony was based on a dependence of particularly survey they and eleven other small can farmers on classmates, conducted of sugar cane farmers in Louisiana. Their project, which was quotas, and farm allotments.

- Political Highlights -

Ex-Governor Volpe, it is understood, is disenchanted with his job and would welcome a change to the post of Ambassador to the Vatican. So the first half of the rumor is not beyond the realm of political possibility.

Whether Governor Sargent would be interested in stepping into Volpe's post is another matter. From where we sit the position of Secretary of Transportation is not as important as that of Governor of Massachusetts.

However, Republican Governors do weary of the cares and worries of the office and the strain of trying to work with an overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature.

The Governorship is not as attractive a position when you're holding it as when you're trying to get it.

Another intriguing story in Washington political circles is that Governor Sargent might be tapped next year by President Nixon to be his Vice Presidential running mate.

Sarge is regarded in Washington as a potent vote-getter. That is certainly true in Massachusetts. He won election by a big margin last November in a state which went Democratic in every other state-wide contest.

Persons close to President Nixon and Vice President Spiro Agnew say there is a real possibility that Agnew will not be on the Republican national ticket next year.

They assert that it is not because Nixon wants to dump Agnew but rather because Agnew would like to get out of politics and take a big job in private industry which would be much more rewarding financially than the Vice Presidency.

The opinion here is that President Nixon will persuade Vice President Agnew to team up with him on the GOP national ticket next year.

Meanwhile, however, the name mentioned most frequently as a Republican Vice Presidential possibility in case Spiro Agnew retires from the political wars is that of Francis W. Sargent. How significant that may be is a question only time will answer.

Richard Nixon and Francis Sargent are far apart in their political ideologies. That would not deter Nixon from picking Sarge as his running mate if he thought the latter could help him win reelection.

The rumor mill is turning out reports at an extremely rapid rate. Whatever their accuracy may be is open to question, but they certainly are interesting and intriguing.

Democratic leaders in Washington insist that Senator Edward M. Kennedy is "available" to carry the Democratic banner in next year's Presidential race if his party wants him to do so, despite Ted's insistence that he is not a candidate. Here's the way they sum up the situation.

Ted will not make any effort to win the Democratic nomination for President. He will not enter any Presidential Primaries.

But if Senators Edmund Muskie, Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern knock each other out, Ted will answer a call from his party to step into the breach.

The average politician in Washington, Democrat or Republican, will wager that Ted Kennedy will finally emerge as the Democratic nominee for President at next year's Democratic National Convention.

Poor Manners Displayed In Walkout As McGovern Spoke

Beacon Hill observers have expressed the opinion both verbally and in print that those law-makers who staged a walkout for publicity purposes while Senator George McGovern was addressing a joint session of the two branches of the State Legislature were guilty of bad manners. This onlooker is disposed to agree.

When the late Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen addressed the Legislature in 1948, many Democratic members disregarded the event and stayed away, explaining later that they had better things to do than to listen to Dewey or Stassen. That was regarded as fair politics.

But they did not attend the joint session and stage a discourteous walkout when the guest began to speak.

Republican House Leader Francis W. Hatch, Jr. who promoted the walkout, is probably closer to citizens of Newton will be faced if the advice of the office of the Attorney General in not heeded:

Suppose that the voters accepted the major referendum in favor of the new City Charter as a simple package.

And also suppose that the voters accepted the referendum to change the method of election of School Committee which in turn is contrary to the recommendation of the new City Charter.

Which referendum would prevail?

Suppose that the referendum proposed by some aldermen prevailed.

Then there would be the likelihood that the proposed City Charter would be scuttled in its entirety.

Then, also, the School Committee would be faced with more complexities.

For the referendum, proposed on May 3, and delayed for two weeks by a charter objection, advocates that four School Committee members would be elected by and from two-ward districts, and four from the four districts by the entire city (at-large).

What will happen in a two-ward district if one ward favors, and the other ward is against the proposition before the School Committee?

Election-at-large from the four districts makes certain the possibility that some school committee members will not directly represent certain wards in the city.

For example, election by a two ward district procedure could meet a school committee member from Ward 2 (in a Ward 1 and 2 district) Also, election - at - large by the district procedure could elect the at-large member again from Ward 2

Thus, Ward 1 would be without a direct school committee representative. Some aldermen claim that this Ward disenfranchisement would be most democratic and this wiping out of the ward could possibly involve four wards!

This proposed referendum if some aldermen, debated on May 3, 1971 in the Aldermanic Chambers for almost one hour, could in one fell swoop, wipe out the proposed City Charter, and the effectiveness of he Ward as a political entity, as far as the School Committee is concerned

This proposed referendum would not apply to the members of the Board of Aldermen.

The present method of election of School Committee members, as outlined in the present and the proposed City Charter, guarantees against all these undemocratic and irresponsible results, and does guarantee grass - roots representation and responsibility in every ward of the city

For the continuation of good education in Newton. I advocate the adoption of the referendum in favor of the new Newton City Charter.

If the new City Charter is adopted, it will always be in order to alter the provisions of the politics of Senator McGovern than to those of President Nixon.

House Speaker David Bartley presumably has little, if any, interest in the Presidential hopes of Senator McGovern. He almost certainly would be a Ted Kennedy man.

But McGovern had asked for and been granted the privilege of addressing a joint session of the two chambers of the Massachusetts Legislature. Bartley wanted to see McGovern's appearance go as smoothly as possible, with no display of ill manners or discourtesy which would reflect poorly on the Massachusetts Legislature.

He anticipated that a lot of legislators wouldn't show up, and he had legislative employees filling the empty seats and applauding in the right places. But there was not much he could do to prevent or offset the walkout stage-managed by Hatch. The story of that walkout might come back one day to haunt Hatch.

Galbraith Advice To Girls Will Not Win Many Friends

Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, in the process of giving some smart-alecky advice to bright girls and women in London, probably eliminated himself as a candidate for public office now and forever.

He defended and supported the women's liberation movement which itself probably would not make more than a ripple on the political waters.

But then the Harvard economist, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate against Senator Edward W. Brooke next year, made some statements which almost certainly would come back to haunt him if he ever runs for public office.

He declared that he had told bright girls they should "have an affair" rather than give up their jobs and marry a man less intelligent than themselves.

"So often in the states I have seen a first-class woman fall in love with a man who has half her brains," Galbraith told his British listeners. "He takes her off to Gallup, New Mexico, or Peoria, Illinois. In effect, he drags her down to his level of intellectual incompetence."

Galbraith told London reporters that when he was a trustee of Radcliffe College in the 1950s, most of his fellow trustees believed a girl "should marry, procreate and have a nice home."

"When I said I did not think it was necessary for a bright girl to marry — rather than lose her brains she should live in sin — I was the object of their concentrated fury," asserted Galbraith.

"And if you never have been attacked by a pack of angry Boston matrons, you don't know what trouble really is," Galbraith added.

Professor Galbraith maintained that Harvard, where he holds a chair of economics, is "equally bad in discriminating against women."

He further declared that the view that women are more suitable than men for minding children is "nonsense" and is an idea that is propagated by men.

On the basis of his statements Professor Galbraith is likely to be regarded as some kind of nut by most women and practically all men.

While the professor considers himself an expert on just about everything, he apparently doesn't realize that the average woman considers herself at least one intellectual step above her husband.

Before anyone starts throwing any brickbats, we would like to emphasize that we have been quoting Professor Galbraith's ideas, not our own. He must have assumed his words would not get back to the United States. They would make quite an issue in a political campaign.

Guest speaker was Dr. Milo O. Blade, Director of the United States Public Health Hospital in Brighton. His interesting talk told the story of his hospital-past, present, and touching on the future.

In 1742, a group of sea captains met and organized the Boston Marine Society to care for merchant seamen. This society is still in existence. In 1798 the First Continental Congress passed an act, signed by John Adams, establishing hospitals to care for injured and ill merchant seamen who were forced to contribute to their support by a pay deduction. This was doubtless the first prepaid medical plan. The first started the Boston Marine Hospital.

In 1804 the hospital was built in Charlestown and was the oldest hospital in New England. The hospital has been moved several times and is now in Brighton, its name was changed in 1952 to the United States Public Health Hospital.

Following World War II several hospitals were taken over by the Veteran's Administration. Since then they have been consolidated and eight are left in the United States. The Brighton Hospital has 190 beds, an outpatient department, and a large staff of doctors, dentists and pharmacists. It has a close association with the Boston University School of Medicine. A Federal hospital, it cares for Federal employees and injured in line of duty. It has a family planning clinic open to the public, and takes care of now students in the Boston area as regards mental health.

The future is rather indefinite. The hospital has been assured that it will not be discontinued, and there is talk of transferring all eight hospitals to community control. The hospital must continue to provide the same services which it does not. A lively question and answer period followed.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Monte G. Basbas, Chairman, Mrs. W. J. Curran, Mrs. Robert MacDonald, Mrs. Roger Cederlund.

Charles River Clean-up Scheduled For Saturday

This coming Saturday, May 22, citizens from Newton will join those from neighboring communities all along the Charles River in "Operation Charles II," a massive, concerted effort to clean the banks of the river.

The project, planned together by government agencies, conservation and ecology groups, and individual citizens and organizations, hopes to enlist the aid of thousands of persons who are concerned about the polluted and littered condition of the river and its banks.

Citizen coordinator for the event is James E. Kennedy of Newton who has been working with MDC officials to plan the operation which covers the entire length of the river, from mouth to basin.

In Newton itself, many groups have volunteered for the task. The city will provide equipment and men to help in the effort also. Among the volunteer groups are Explorer, Boy, Girl and Cub Scouts; Boys' Club; students from local high schools and junior highs, from Newton College of the Sacred Heart, Lasell Junior College; Knights of Columbus; American Legion Post 40; Red Cross and its Disaster Units; and Army National Guard.

Assisting them will be U. S. Army troops from Fort Devens, with Army Hospital Corpsmen providing medical support.

George E. Meade, a city employee, is the citizen coordinator for Newton. WNTN, Newton's local radio station, will serve as communications center for the operation, using MDC police communications facilities on Commonwealth Avenue.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has proclaimed Saturday as "Operation Charles II" Day in Newton. In issuing the proclamation, the Mayor urged "all citizens of Newton to participate by realizing that the struggle toward environment quality will require more than good words and ideas . . ."

The Mayor noted that the Charles "is one of the most precious natural resources in the entire Greater Boston area, and its banks have provided recreation and enjoyment to countless thousands of persons for many generations."

Volunteers should report anywhere along the banks of the Charles River. An area chairman will meet them there and assign them a group and sector in which to work. The project begins at 9 a.m. and is expected to last all day.

leadership to the organization in long range corporate planning for organizational change in all Services, Programs, and activities. In this function he enlists the support and cooperation of all elements of the organization.

He is also responsible for developing, coordinating, and maintaining effective relationships of the organization with all appropriate elements of the executive and legislative branches of the federal government and voluntary and private agencies and organizations.

Mr. Shea is responsible for Disaster Services, the Office of Fund Raising and the Convention Office.

In addition, he gives administrative direction at a management level for development of ARC disaster plans and for maintaining liaison with governmental agencies and the Congress on all disaster matters.

Since assuming the vice presidency for disaster relief, Mr. Shea has visited the scene of every major disaster in this country, including the Alaskan earthquake of 1964.

Also the Ohio River Valley floods of the same year, the eastern states floods and western states floods of 1965, Hurricane Audrey in 1957, Hurricane Carla in 1961, Hurricane Betsy 1965, Hurricane Beulah 1967 and Hurricane Camille 1969.

He also played a key role in the historic prisoner exchange operation with Cuba in 1962 and 1963, working closely with U.S. government officials in Washington and with Cuban leaders in Miami. In the words of the then Attorney General Robert Kennedy, "I want to commend to you Bob Shea who was the driving force in getting this job done."

From July 1969 to February 28, 1970, Mr. Shea served as the key staff member in the development of the National Program for Voluntary Action for President Nixon who, in commenting on his assignment stated, "It was a big job and Bob Shea did it."

Mr. Shea joined the Red Cross staff in August 1941 and has served in program director, administrative, and general management positions at various levels of the

Non-City Trash Dumped Here, Says Alderman

As a sequel to the resolution proposing combined garbage and rubbish collections and burnings, a dispute has arisen as to whether the city's Rumford Avenue incinerator is being used by contractors who do not even pick up trash within Newton.

Alderman Peter F. Harrington, co-sponsor (with Alderman Matthew Jefferson) of the refuse resolution filed a couple of weeks ago, alleged that trucks coming from outside Newton have been followed and seen not to have made any collection stops within the city on their way to the incinerator.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas commented on Harrington's allegations by asserting "There are no outsiders dumping in this city." He noted that the non-Newton contractors using the Rumford Avenue facility have first picked up rubbish in the city and also explained that Boston College, other institutions and some businesses have permission for their own trash collectors organization. He has additional special interest in the fields of training and management. For tickets contact the Newton Chapter at 527-6000.

Women Voters' Annual Meeting on Wednesday

Plans for study and action on Newton governmental issues will highlight the Annual Meeting of the League of Women Voters of Newton next Wednesday evening, (May 26). The 7:30 p.m. business meeting, to be held at the Newton Highlands Women's Club, 72 Columbus Street, will be preceded by a sherry hour at 6 o'clock and an International Buffet at 6:30.

Dishes from many lands prepared by members will be served by teen-aged daughters of Leaguers. Officers to be elected for the coming year include Mrs. Charles Lipson, President; Mrs. Myer Erlich, First Vice President; Mrs. Malcolm Green, Second Vice President; Mrs. Mark Yesley, Recording Secretary; and Mrs. F. David Chernov, Treasurer.

New members of the Board of Directors will be Mrs. Charles Bates, Mrs. David Dwell, Mrs. Douglas Moran, Mrs. Garrison Wilkes, Mrs. Jonathan Bard, Mrs. Michael Davis, Mrs. Bruce Fischberg, and Mrs. Richard Goldman.

Several by-law changes will be voted on, including one to lower the age of membership to 18 years. Members attending the meeting will discuss and decide upon an area of Newton government to study and evaluate during the oncoming year. The Board of Directors is recommending adoption of a study of open space and recreation in Newton, with emphasis on governmental policies and practices and the needs of citizens.

Other studies which may be considered are an evaluation of municipal housekeeping services and a study of the public school curriculum and services as related to the school budget (a cost-effectiveness analysis).

The League will also adopt positions on the proposed City Charter resulting from a study of this document last spring and will reaffirm positions in the areas of library construction, public education, zoning, human resources, fiscal policy, public health and recreation, and planning in the community.

Members are urged to make reservations for the dinner and business meeting or business meeting alone with Mrs. Roy Green at 969-7688.

Miss Wilson Is Bride-Elect of Mr. Goldstein

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Seymour Wilson of Newton makes known the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Cynthia Ellen Wilson, to Stephen Richard Goldstein. He is the son of Mrs. Alfred L. Roberts of Chestnut Hill and Mr. Alan Goldstein of Weston.

Miss Wilson is attending Skidmore College. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Gertrude Rotman of Providence, R.I., and the late Mr. Abraham H. Rotman, and of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Wilson of Newton Highlands.

Mr. Goldstein is a member of the class of 1971 at Dartmouth College. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lazarus of New York and Mrs. Pearl Goldstein of Chestnut Hill and the late Mr. Robert Goldstein.

An August wedding planned.

Summer Fill-In Positions Were Taken By March

"I think that anyone who applied after the end of March stands only an outside chance of getting a job."

That is how Carleton P. Merrill, Newton's Civil Service registration clerk, described the status of the nearly 130 summer positions in the city's Public Works Department which were set aside to enable Newton youths to fill-in for full-time employees on vacation.

Hiring for the fill-in jobs, which pay $2.20 per hour and which officials would like to see maintained into the fall for leave clean-up, is done on a first-come basis, according to when a person applied.

Since it is common for several applicants not to show up for work on the late June starting date, however, Merrill indicated that persons further down on the list (those who applied later) would be called in.

Although the program is supervised by the civil service, a test is not required for the positions which involve helping existing teams of city workers carry out street repair and spraying functions.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

Everyone is welcome at Sunday services at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, to begin this week at 10:45 a.m.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Bible Lesson-Sermon Sunday at Christian Science church services.

One of the Scriptural verses is from Psalms: "In the multitude of my thoughts within me thy comforts delight my soul."

A related passage to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Unless the harmony and immortality of man are becoming more apparent, we are not gaining the true idea of God; and the body will reflect what governs it, whether it be Truth or error, understanding or belief, Spirit or matter. Therefore acquaint now thyself with Him, and be at peace."

"Pops" Concert For Heart Fund Goes On June 9

"An Evening with the Boston Pops," sponsored by the Women's Division of the Greater Boston Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association, will be held Wednesday, June 9 at Boston's Symphony Hall.

The many friends and supporters of the Heart Fund will join with the Women's Division to hear a concert of light classical music under the direction of Arthur Fiedler.

Mrs. Paul D. Slater of Newton is president of the Women's Division and Mrs. Robert H. Quinn, wife of the state attorney general, is honorary president.

For tickets, contact Mrs. Duncan Ogg, 1063 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton Centre, Mass. 02159.

Smallest Camp In N.E. Ready To Start Here

John A. Bolster, newly appointed Director of Camp Discovery, operated by the Y.M.C.A. in Newton, invites residents of Newton and the surrounding community to take part in Discovery 71.

Discovery, Mr. Bolster announced, is an experience in Trip Camping. The entire camp will consist of ten boys and four staff. The group structure will be set up and developed to provide each individual camper with the opportunity to assume maximum responsibility for his living group and program needs.

What is Discovery? Discovery is a way of life; discovering camping, new parts of the country, and most important of all, themselves. There is no better way to develop and build character than to work and play in a small group.

Trip will leave July 6 and will return July 27 after visiting such places as Fundy National Park and Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Trip II will leave July 29 and return August 19 after visiting Quebec City and "Man and His World" in Montreal.

There are still a few openings left for Discovery. For further information, call the Camp Discovery office at the Newton Y.M.C.A. in Newton, 244-6050, 276 Church Street, Newton.

Lawrence Salk of Waban ushered.

Fall Bridal for Sheryl Resh, George Gochros

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Resh of Newtonville have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sheryl Lyn Resh, to George Gochros. He is the son of Mrs. Ruth Gochros of Lynn and the late Mr. Benjamin Gochros.

Miss Resh, a graduate of Newton High School, is a senior at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Mr. Gochros was graduated from Lynn High School and the University of Massachusetts. He plans to attend law school in Boston in the fall.

A September wedding is planned.

State Assists With Musical Program Here

Students in the first, second and third grades in some Newton Schools will participate in a new experimental in-depth program for introducing early primary grade school children to the excitement of "live" musical experiences. The program has been undertaken by Youth Audiences of Massachusetts, Inc., a non-profit statewide organization with financial assistance of $4,000 from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, and is funded also by the schools.

The children are receiving six intensity exposures; three in a classroom with a specialist who is both teacher and performer discussing and demonstrating instruments and musical ideas, and three by Young Audiences' ensembles illustrating the concepts developed by the artist-teacher.

"We hope that this pilot project will be the beginning of a new movement," said Miss Carol Morse, Director of Young Audiences, "Whereby our organization and the school's personnel can develop meaningful related musical programs which teachers can use in many ways to increase the depth of their own overall curriculum."

MRS. ROBERT C. KRABY JR.

Miss Irene Snuffer Becomes Mrs. Robert C. Kraby Jr.

Roslindale is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kraby Jr., (Irene M. Snuffer), whose marriage was solemnized recently at the Sacred Heart Church, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Snuffer of Roslindale and Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kraby of Jamaica Plain are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Richard G. Johnson officiated at the one thirty o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Jacob Jones Post Hall in Dedham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of organza made with a jeweled lace bodice which had a wedding ring collar and long sleeves.

A matching lace Juliet cap held in place her bouffant full length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of rainbow colored spring flowers.

Miss Vicky Snuffer of Roslindale, sister of the bride, was honor maid. Miss Carol Simonetti of Newton, Miss Joan Snuffer of South Boston and Miss Rosemarie Lisi of Roslindale were her other attendants.

Serving as best man for his brother was Bill Kraby of Jamaica Plain. Paul Kraby, Steve Donegan and Jack Kiander, all of Jamaica Plain, were ushers.

Canada was the honeymoon destination of the newlyweds. The bride, a graduate of St. Patrick's High School in Roxbury, is now a secretary.

The groom was graduated from Boston Technical High School. (photo by Norwood Studios)

Arizona Honeymoon Followed Gentle - Mancini Bridal

The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Mancini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Biagio Mancini, to Sgt. Anthony J. Gentile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Annino Gentile of 254 California street, Newton, was solemnized recently at St. Patrick's Church, Watertown.

The Rev. Roger Cornier performed the three o'clock double ring ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Elks Hall, Lexington.

Mr. Mancini gave his daughter away. She wore a traditional full length lace gown. A becoming headpiece held in place her illusion veil. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of pink and white roses.

Miss Maureen Phillips of Watertown was honor maid. The bridesmaids included Miss Ida Douglas of Somerville, Miss Karen Omobono and Miss Linda Lane, both of Waltham, as well as Miss Frances Hewitt of Newton.

Young Jean Mancini of Watertown was flower girl. Master Anthony Omobono of Billerica was ring bearer.

The best man was Joseph Gentile of Newton, brother of the groom. Ushering were Dean D'Eramo of Billerica, Charles Keefe and Anthony Ingles, both of Newton, as well as Dominic Boudreau of Lowell.

The bride was formerly associated with Grover Cronin's in Waltham.

Sgt. Gentile is serving with the Air Force, stationed at Luke Air Force Base in Arizona.

Garden Club Plant Sale, Meeting 27th

The annual meeting and plant sale of the Newtonville Garden Club will take place at the home of Mrs. Stanley Benson, 212 Mill Street, next Thursday morning (May 27) at 10:15.

A large variety of plants from Winslow Nurseries will be displayed and available for purchase.

Members are asked to bring a sandwich; coffee and dessert will be served by the executive board.

In other club news, it has been announced that the May trip to a wildflower garden has been temporarily postponed.

Mrs. Charles Laffin, club president, is entertaining the executive board at her home, 41 Maynard Street in West Newton, this morning (Thursday) at 11.

Birth Defect Group Formed

Any Newton parents of Spina Bifida Myelomeningocele birth defect children are invited to join a recently organized parents' group called U.N.O. OUR CHILDREN (the name derived from the first letter of the title in each medical area where these children must receive intensive treatment, Urology, Neurology and Orthopedics.)

Small regional meetings will be organized and a quarterly newsletter will be issued. The first state wide meeting and seminar will be held in Boston in the fall of this year.

This combination birth defect appears in one of every two thousand births in the United States while the spina bifida defect occurs in two of every thousand births.

Parents interested in further information and a booklet on this specific birth defect should contact, Membership Committee, U.N.O. OUR CHILDREN, 24 Wentworth road, Melrose, Mass. 02176.

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hochberg of Natick makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Susan Hochberg, to Norman Posner. He is the son of Mrs. Esther Posner of Newtonville and the late Mr. Louis Posner.

Miss Hochberg teaches remedial reading in the Stoughton public schools.

Mr. Posner is associated with a public accounting firm. An August wedding is planned.

Arts Center Program Has Summer Run

The Newton Creative Arts Center will continue with its arts program at Newton South High and Peirce Schools. This summer the centers will run from June 29 to July 30 and will be open to all young people entering the 7th through the 12th grades.

The Newton South High Center will continue to offer Film Animation, Intermedia and Drama, and General Art Studio. A Crafts course has been added and the music program will be experimental in nature, as it deals with environmental and electronic sound. There will also be a guest artist from Great Britain who will teach pottery, using slab and wheel throwing techniques.

The Center at Peirce School will offer General Art Studio, Constructive Design, Theatre Games and Improvisation, and a new course which will combine music and film making. The music program will also offer a special instrumental program.

Children entering 4th, 5th, and 6th grades may enroll in the new elementary center at the Mason-Rice School. Fee for the five-week course (all centers) is $60. For information, descriptive brochures and application blank, call the art office at 969-9810 or write Al Hurwitz, Coordinator of the Arts, 88 Chestnut Street, West Newton, Mass. 02451

Brownie Troop Busy Helping Braeburn Home

Brownie Scout Troop 444 of Newton Centre (Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council) recently visited at the Braeburn Nursing Home in Waban where they entertained the residents with songs and worked together with them in making paper flowers which will be used to decorate the Girl Scout float for the Newton Memorial Day Parade.

Those participating in the visit were Linda Chin, Lotte Lent, Susan Maples (troop scribe), Linda Palma, Nancy Palmer, Rebecca Porter, Faith Sheiber, Sarah Willer and Karen Wing. Mrs. Richard Lent was the leader.

In addition, Troop 444 is sharing another service project for Braeburn Nursing Home with Brownie Troop 682, led by Mrs. Michael Edward with Mrs. Kenneth Novack assisting. The goal is to hand-paint a storage box for each guest at the home, and Larni Levy of Troop 444, the Brownie liaison, has been visiting and helping Troop 444 on the project, as monthly workshops continue.

Paint supplies, as well as half their transportation for

. Mitchell Snyder of Newton Centre, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder, appeared in the Williston Theatre spring production of William Shakespeare's As You Like It recently. Snyder, a student of Williston Academy in Easthampton, played the part of the Duke Frederick, who usurped the Dukedom from his older brother, the Duke Senior.

Jewish Institute At Camp Tel Noar

Reservations for the annual Karas, chairman of the Institute by the Institute at 75 Great Meadow Road, Newton Centre or with Synagogues in the New Jack Sieve, reservations England region may be made chairman at 24 Kodaya road, for this year through Leo Waban. The Institute will be held at Camp Tel Noar, on Sunset Lake in the foothills of the White Mountains in Hampstead, N. H.—an hour's ride from Boston, will begin this year on Thursday evening (June 24) through Sunday noon (June 27). This Institute, the first of its kind in this country, later to be emulated by other Synagogues and Temples, was the brainstrom of a few farsighted men of the Greater Boston area, under the guidance of Rabbi Morris Dembowitz, then the New England Director of the United Synagogues and the Jewish Theological Seminary. The first Institute was held in June 1947 and some thirty five men from the New England area enjoyed the "first-fruits" of this unique adventure in Jewish living. Traditionally, the Institute opens with religious services in a beautiful open-air grove, followed by dinner, grace after meals (all strictly Kosher) and a keynote address by a noted educator. Services are held three times a day and the "hazanim" or leaders in prayer are selected from the attending "students", as are those who lead in the "Birkat Hamazon" or prayers after meals. A series of lectures are given on Friday, Saturday and Sunday morning by world-renowned scholars and rabbis. Some faculty lecturers have been Dr. Abraham J. Beschel, philosopher and professor of Jewish mysticism; Dr. Simon Greenberg, former provost of the Jewish Theological Seminary; the late Prof. Michael Higger, famous Talmudic scholar; Dr. Max Arz, former provost of the Seminary; Dr. Gerson D. Cohen, Jewish Historian, author, and holder of academic chairs at Columbia University and the Seminary; Dr. Israel Goldman, former Director, National Academy of Jewish Studies; Dr. Stephen Kayser, Curator of the Jewish Museum; Dr. Abraham S. Halkin, famous Biblical Scholar, now at the Bar-Ilan University in Israel; Rabbi Isaac Klein, Talmudic scholar, now at Shaare Tzedek, Buffalo; Dr. Nahum Serna professor of Judaic Studies at Brandeis University; and Dr. David Aronson, former president, Rabbinical Assembly of America. There have been as many as 75 registrants at these Institutes and in view of the fact that this is the 25th anniversary, registration is being opened to all Conservative, Orthodox and Reform Jewish men. In the past three have been registrants from as far north as Portland, Maine and as far south as Hartford, Connecticut. Stimulating "bull" sessions are held and recreational activities provided. The program this year is being finalized and in addition to a well-known keynote speaker, the faculty will consist of Dr. Gerson D. Cohen, author, historian and professor of Jewish History at Columbia and the Jewish Theological Seminary; also, Dr. Ismar Schorsch, professor of Modern Jewish History at the Seminary and formerly assistant professor of history at Columbia. For the past quarter century the Institute has been held at the same idyllic spot, Camp Tel Noar, through the courtesy of the Eli and Bessie Cohen Foundation and is a project of the N.E. Region of the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, Harold S. Gordon of Temple Hillel-Beth Torah, West Roxbury, President, Joseph H. Rosenshine, Temple Reyim, Newton and M. Arthur Gordon, Temple Emmanuel, Newton are faculty and curriculum chairman. Bernard Steinberg, Kehillath Israel, Brookline, is chairman of religious activities and Louis Smith, also of Kehillath Israel, has charge of publicity.

Two ridiculous gimmicks of the 1940's.

Everyone laughed when they came out with the television.
A box that could show pictures from 3,000 miles away? Absurd.
But everyone really cracked up when we came out with the Volkswagen.
A car with its engine in the back? Its trunk in the front? And its radiator in neither the front nor the back?
It even looked like a joke.
But time marched on.
The television clicked.
The Volkswagen accelerated.
People liked the idea of a car that didn't drink gas like water. Or oil like water. Or, for that matter, didn't even drink water.
Some strange people even liked the idea that it was strange looking.
In fact, Detroit car makers now like the idea of a Volkswagen so much that they decided to make their own.
And even with all those new small cars around, the fate of the bug is still secure.
This is the first year for all of the others.
We've had 23 years of re-runs.

Board Delays Decision On Summer Funds

Discussion on the matter of how much money will be appropriated a summer jobs program aimed at helping students and unemployed professionals was postponed by the Board of Aldermen Monday night as Alderman Sidney T. Small, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, moved to charter (table) the question.

His action followed a motion by Alderman Jason Sacks that a total of $100,000 be allotted the job program.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas initially asked for $109,000 but the sum recommended by the aldermanic Finance Committee and Public Works Committee amounted to only $82,000 ($50,000 from Finance and $32,000 from Public Works).

By chartering Sacks' motion, Small stopped debate on the question before it began. If five aldermen so desire, a second (and final) charter motion may be approved the next time the matter is brought to the floor, as was the case the same evening in regard to whether proposed changes in School Committee elections should be voted on in a November referendum.

The aldermen also voted, by a 16-5 margin, to go along with the 4-3 recommendation of its Land Use Committee to deny a rezoning request of the Security Mills property in Newtonville.

Some time ago, Alderman Peter F. Harrington had proposed to rezone the land from unlimited manufacturing to Residence E. It is believed that decreasing public support for the proposal was a result of reports claiming that the site would be used for low-income housing.

Women's Group Coffee Hour

A Coffee Hour was held recently by the members of the Greater Boston Chapter of the National Women's Committee of Franklin Pierce College at the Newton home of Mrs. John Kaitz. Mrs. Kenneth Elkins, also of Newton, was chairman of this event, and Mrs. Maurice Searle, Newton, is co-chairman of the chapter.

Plans were discussed for a benefit to obtain books for the Library Resource Center and the group was addressed by Dean of Students Wheeler G. Merriam, and Mrs. Gertrude G. Brodsky, director of the National Women's Committee.

PLAN LUNCHEON FOR LEAGUE SCHOOL — The Friends of the League School in Newton are planning a luncheon, May 26, at Anthony's Pier 4. Working for the success of the event are, seated, Mrs. Morton Olin, president; standing, left to right, Mrs. Howard Freedman, luncheon chairman; Mrs. Arnold Velstein, advisor, both of Newton; and Mrs. Maxwell Burstein, reservations chairman, of Brookline. The League School is for emotionally disturbed children.

Newton Development Hike Success Despite Weather

A twenty-five mile Walk for Development, organized by Newton High School students, took place Sunday, May 9, involving citizens in the fight against hunger. The Walk was one of many hikes held in the Greater Boston Community, and was held in conjunction with 350 walks throughout the world.

Approximately 1500 people began walking in early morning despite the unfavorable weather conditions, and about 800 reached the final checkpoint at the Boston Common by early evening. There they met with others hikers from Weston, Boston, Brookline, Medford, Cambridge, and many other communities throughout the state.

It is estimated that the world-wide Walks for Development have raised five million dollars, and the Massachusetts Walks are expected to contribute as much as ten percent to this total. The exact amount raised by the Newton Walk has not been determined as yet.

The money from the Newton Walk will go to one domestic project and one foreign program. An education project among the Passamaquoddy and Penobscot Indians of Maine will receive 42.5 percent of the funds.

Another 42.5 percent will go to a family-life center in Lucknow, India. The remaining fifteen percent will go to the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation, Inc., the non-profit organization which has sponsored the Walks, for its national programs.

Community participation was overwhelming. Teachers, parents, and students worked at checkpoints, provided transportation for tired walkers, donated food, or worked at one of the many first-aid stations.

The fact that it was Mother's Day did not deter mothers from assisting in any way possible. The walkers ranged from young elementary school children to adults. There were also several on crutches who managed to complete the hike.

The tired, blistered, and wet walkers felt that their efforts and physical strain were little compared to the ills they were trying to overcome. Most are looking forward to participation in next year's Walk as, unfortunately, there is still more room for developmental programs in the fight against hunger.

Library Camera Club Exhibit To Open On Monday

Show-Off 2, Newton Free Library Camera Club's second annual spring exhibit, opens Monday evening, May 24, when members host a reception from 7-9 p.m. at the Main Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Club president Jim Saret, together with board members Penny Smith, H. Leo Myers, Stan Cronig and Hal Siegel, have put together a show featuring black and white prints, color prints, and color slides, a selection representative of the talents of Camera Club members.

Club officers and members welcome inquiries by potential members all during the year, and particularly at the opening of the annual show.

Show-Off 2 remains on view through mid-June. Library hours are 9-9 daily; 9-6 on Saturday, May 29; 1-4 on Sunday, May 30; and thereafter on summer hours, which means closed weekends.

Open House At Temple Beth Avodah Sunday

Dedicated last week end in a moving, inspiring ceremony, Temple Beth Avodah, 45 Puddingstone Lane, Newton Centre, will open its doors to new members and guests on Sunday, May 23, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Members will be on hand to welcome and provide information for guests and prospective members.

Temple Beth Avodah is a reform congregation. All those who wish to affiliate with this growing Temple are invited to register at this time.

The new Social Hall is now available for functions. For those planning an event, the Temple office, 527-5783, will provide full information.

apathy

apathy (ap' a thi) n. Lack of feeling, want of passion or emotion.
Syn. Indifference, lethargy, sluggishness.
Webster

Our apathetic silence . . . or our caution or cowardice, may well permit life to be swallowed up in death on this planet.

It is not easy to stand up and be counted in our kind of world. Today, we are inundated with pros and cons, and surrounded by masses who will not understand the signs of the times.

The bulk of the medical discoveries such as penicillin and the sulphas, upon which we rely today were researched without the use of vivisection . . . yet vivisection continues with full knowledge of the "unavoidable damage" it will bestow upon defenseless animals.

As usual, there will be little or no public outcry. The well-worn voices of compassionate persons and men of good will are merely a cry in the wilderness. Must it be so? It is to us all that we address this message.

Gas Station Hour Limits Pushed Back To July 24

The Board of Aldermen voted Monday night to amend an ordinance limiting the hours of gasoline station operations, in the city by postponing its effective date from May 24 to July 24.

The board acted upon the recommendations of its Franchises and Licenses Committee which, last week, decided to seek the delay because, as acting chairman Harry Crosby remarked, "a whole batch of people" are requesting exemptions and the committee needs more time to straighten out the "confused situation."

Several months back, the aldermen approved a measure which would permit gas stations to be open only from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

The impetus for the ordinance resulted from disclosures that gas stations were increasingly becoming sites of crime in the late hours and that many operators were maintaining long hours only because of oil company pressures.

In the ordinance, however, consideration was given to the issue of public need and hearings were scheduled to enable operators wishing an exemption to explain the grounds for their request.

At the hearing, which the Franchises and Licenses Committee has slated for June 10, the aldermen will attempt to sort out those operators who are seeking an exemption for their own good and who can prove the strategic location of their stations from those whose station does not meet the location criteria and who are probably being forced by petroleum company interests to elude the ordinance's restrictions.

"In terms of neighborhood resistance, it would have been easier to erect one mammoth complex that would affect only one area, but we feel the scattered site, low density housing proposed is the best possible consistent with available subsidies and the best interests of the city," Casselman said.

In outlining the need for the housing, Casselman reminded the board that a 1968 Planning Department report pointed to a minimum need of 200 units of low income housing and a substantial lack of moderate income facilities. In addition, he noted, the Planning Department study reported that there were in 1968, 2,985 families in the city with annual incomes of less than $6,000.

Samuel Mintz, president of Pard Team Inc. architects for the proposed housing, said it has been designed to fit in as closely as possible with the city's zoning laws and the single family type of housing. Plans call for a town house design with wood frame houses built in clusters with play areas in many cases, and community rooms.

Mrs. Eleanor Rosenblum, a member of the Newton School Committee and chairman of a School Building Facilities Committee, said there is a present problem of overcrowding in many of the city's schools which must be solved with or without this housing.

"NCDF has tried to control the impact on schools through scatterization, and adjustment of the number of bedrooms in developments in accordance with school conditions in the area," Mrs. Rosenblum declared.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, president of the Newton League of Women Voters, spoke in favor of both the Stanton Ave. and Hunnewell Ave. sites.

Leading a long series of opponents to the petitions was Attorney Robert Cohen who cited a list of technicalities on which he indicated the request was invalid. He asked that the hearings be terminated and said he wants time for the opponents to secure copies of NCDF documents and applications in order to prepare a response. He maintained that he was unable to obtain copies of these documents, although Reidy said they were available and would continue to be available to the public.

Also included in those opposed to both sites were Assistant Fire Chief Henry Murphy and Police Chief William F. Quinn. They talked of serious traffic and safety problems that would result from the proposed construction.

Chief Quinn, speaking of the Stanton Ave. site, said he was present in a dual capacity, first as Police Chief and second, as a direct abuttor.

As an abuttor he declared that he opposed "spot zoning and high density housing. As Police Chief he urged denial for traffic safety reasons.

"There would be absolute mayhem on Washington St.," close to the Stanton Ave. site, Chief Quinn commented and cited high traffic counts and accident rates in the area.

"We should address ourselves to the problems we already have instead of looking for more," Chief Quinn declared.

Samuel Roppens, speaking as a citizen and claiming to represent many citizens, maintained that the NCDF proposals violate the National Environmental Act of 1969 because the group has not complied with the law in making a study of the impact of the housing on the environment.

"The Supreme Court has said that citizens of a community have a valid right and interest in determining the makeup of their community. We are entitled to a referendum on the matter because so many of us are involved. I would be glad to join a group of citizens and bring this all the way to the Supreme Court," he added.

Other speakers spoke of already overcrowded schools in the areas and the high density of the housing proposed.

Sumner Darman of Auburndale, said a decision on this matter will determine "what direction the city is going to take. Are we going to become a city of apartment dwellers or remain a city of homes?"

Boosts in Social Security Pensions To Help Elderly

Word in Washington, where the writer recently visited, is that Congress will vote sweeping reforms of social security and welfare and also will enact higher payroll taxes to pay the bills.

It is expected that the wage base subject to social security taxation will be increased from $7800 to $10,600 a year and that the tax rate itself will be boosted from 5.2 to 5.4 per cent.

Another raise in old-age payments, probably 5 per cent, will be voted, effective next year.

Plans call for the extension of medicare to younger people who retired because of disability.

Pensions will be increased for men retiring at the age of 62 and also will go up a bit each extra year for those retiring after the age of 65.

Working persons receiving social security pensions will be allowed to earn more money and not have the income deducted from their pension payments.

New pension benefits also will be based on the number of years a person has been under social security.

These actions, if all are approved, should ease the cost-of-living strain for elderly persons living on the rather meager social security pensions.

Congress Ponders Solutions To Big Variety of Problems

Congress is giving its attention to new forms of racketeering, thievery and piracy but in some instances is stymied by the problems involved.

For instance, attempts have been made to persuade Congress to place a ban on throw-away bottles. But this problem is one area in which Congress will not act because of the problems involved.

Studies have established that most people will not bother returning bottles if the rebate is low (The disposal problem is worsened if people throw away the heavier returnable bottles.)

But if the rebate is high enough to cause householders to save and return the bottles, it probably would cause a racket in the manufacture of "phony" returnable bottles, which could be made for a modest price and turned in for the rebates at a profit.

A new law probably will be enacted designed to curb the thievery of songs. Piracy of music on records is now a $100 Million-a-year racket. The song crooks steal recordings and reproduce them.

A behind-the-scenes attempt is being made to persuade Congress to limit the amount of sports which may be shown on television. This apparently is aimed primarily at professional football although the proposal mentions football, baseball and basketball.

But members of Congress have no desire to risk retaliation at the polls by constituents who are sports fans, so this move seems destined for defeat.

The hurricane season starts next month. Plans in Washington call for earlier warnings through weather satellites and for seeding the eyes of hurricanes with chemicals in order to reduce the force of the winds and lessen the damage they cause.

Collins - Donahue - Graham Panel Will Discuss MBTA

The Collins-Donahue-Graham panel show on Channel 7 this Sunday will deal with the MBTA, its problems and the proposed expansion of its rapid transit service.

MBTA General Manager Joseph C. Kelly will be a guest on the popular show which features former Boston Mayor John F. Collins, former Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and former Republican Senate Leader Philip A. Graham.

The three-man panel usually appears at 3 o'clock on Channel 7. But this coming Sunday (May 23) it will be on at 3:30 p.m.

Newton Banker Takes Part In Business Panel

Phil Fine of Newton, founder and chairman of the board of the Commonwealth Bank and Trust Company, was one of four Boston area business leaders on a panel discussing "Entrepreneurship" recently before a gathering of some 200 Boston University Master of Business Administration alumni and guests at Anthony's Pier 4 Restaurant in Boston.

All four panelists agreed that enthusiasm is the single most important asset needed for success in business and Fine commented that "there are no funds available for a new venture without a demonstration by the entrepreneur that he is willing to make a total commitment and risk everything to make the business go."

Fine also mentioned the importance of personnel management decisions. The BU Law School graduate cited his role as one of idea - creating, and making decisions on such matters as merger, acquisitions and other methods of expansion. "It is up to the bankers to run the technical end of things," he declared.

In addition, Fine agreed with his fellow panelists that management can make or break a new business, noting that "the largest single cause of failure is poor management."

Consensus among the four businessmen indicated that biomedicine, bioengineering and the building industry offer the greatest potentials to a would-be entrepreneur.

Newton Tech To Compete In Auto Mechanics Event

Newton Technical High School "Road Scholars" are making preparations for this year's Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, to be held at Cartons Blue Hills Regional Vocational High School today Thursday (May 20) at 11 p.m.

The school's team, a pair of students in Luciano S. Visco's automotive shop, is being sponsored by West Newton Chrysler - Plymouth of 1203 Washington Street.

The contest offers more than $125,000 worth of scholarships and awards and its purpose is to recognize and honor outstanding young auto mechanic students and to encourage them to make a career as automobile mechanics.

The winning team in the local contest will be sent to Indianapolis in June to face other top Troupe Shooters in the National Championship Finals.

In the contest, participants take a written exam and then race the clock and other teams to find and fix several malfunctions deliberately placed under the hoods of new Plymouth cars. The written part counts as 30 percent and the mechanical challenge as 70 percent of a team's final score.

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest originated in 1949 as a local event in Los Angeles with 50 students from 17 high schools participating. Today, more than 2,000 high schools and colleges, representing all 50 states, take part in the competition.

Trouble Shooting has placed over 17,000 young men in full or part-time jobs as auto mechanics. Since the contest became a national event in 1962, the Chrysler-Plymouth Division of Chrysler Motors Corporation has made available scholarships for 180 students.

Newtonite Is Olympic Team Head Trainer

Carl E. Nelson, a native of Newton, was recently appointed head trainer for the United States team during next February's Olympic winter games in Sapporo, Japan.

Nelson, director of health services and athletic trainer for Colby College in Waterville, Maine, will oversee a staff of three team trainers for the games. Administrative personnel and team members will gather in Denver in January for departure to the Olympics which is to be held from Feb. 3-13.

An alumnus of Boston University, Nelson earned an M.Ed. degree at the University of Maine. A member of the Colby faculty since 1959, he is a past president of the Maine College Health Association and during the summers of 1964 and 1965 was director of the Pine Tree Camp for Crippled Children, in Rome.

YOU WILL STOP SMOKING ON JULY 7

... if you join the newest SMOKENDER series starting in Brookline on Wednesday, June 2. Or you may stop smoking without SMOKENDERS anytime, if you'd rather.

The trick is: HOW YOU FEEL AFTER YOU STOP. If you want to stop without climbing-the-walls and with a feeling of Reward — and best of all, WITH A SMILE... then come find out about SMOKENDERS.

And bring your cigarettes! Remember, this is the method that requires you smoke as many as you like while you learn how to break the habit. In small manageable segments. Step-by-step.

(At risk of being totally unbelievable, we'd like to mention that SMOKENDERS is fun, too. It's hard to imagine quitting being fun, isn't it?)

So come to a FREE explanatory meeting (no kidding FREE — to find out.) Because we know you can't push a smoker into quitting. We don't rush. But let us warn you! Most smokers who come to find out about SMOKENDERS find it makes a lot of sense, and they can't wait to start!

And it won't hurt a bit. We think smokers are great. We treat them with respect. You see, we were all smokers ourselves who were lucky to "quit" with SMOKENDERS.

So don't come expecting any of that Scare business or Willpower stuff. And bring your friends. They may thank you for a lifetime.

South Netmen Make It Back To League Top

The streaking Newton South High tennis team swept past four opponents last week, including a revenge victory over Lincoln-Sudbury, to tie for the dual County League roof.

South averaged its only loss of the season, 3-2, boosting its record to 9-1, after 5-0 drubbings of Acton/Boxboro, Weston and Bedford.

Weldon Rogers faced state champion John Ingard again and again came out on the bottom, this time 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. The first doubles team of Jim Oppenheim and Mike Charness also lost. However, captain Dave Cohen, 6-3, 6-1, Stan Mescon, 6-4, 6-4 and the second doubles tandem of Jim Cornblatt and John Kaufman, 7-5, 7-5, all triumphed in their matches. In the first encounter with Lincoln, Cohen and Mescon were the only South winners as the score was reversed.

Rogers sat out the Acton contest but was hardly missed as Cohen moved into first singles, Mescon climbed to second and Jack Starr, elevated from the JV, claimed the third single spot. Starr, whose brother Alan and cousin Billy played on Newton South state champion teams three and four years ago, won convincingly, 6-4, 6-0. Both doubles teams were also victorious.

Rogers returned (6-0, 6-1) and along with Cohen (7-5, 6-2), Mescon, (7-5, 6-4), Appenheimer and Charness (7-5, 7-5), and Kaufman and Cornblatt (8-6, 6-2) smashed

Lion 9 Stays In Contention

By LEWIS FREEDMAN
Newton South High's baseball team beat Bedford, 4-3, and trampled Weston, 8-1, last week, to raise its season's slate to 5-2 and edge closer to first place in the Dual County League.

South scored three runs in the fourth and one in the fifth for a 4-0 lead against Bedford and then had to utilize three pitchers to protect the lead. Winning pitcher Bill Cromier hurled five innings and allowed one run. Clem Virgilio threw in the sixth and couldn't complete the inning, permitting two runners to score before Ken Laurie came on to halt the Bedford rally and save the game.

The Lions managed six safeties, with Virgilio stroking two of them, but the big hit was a sacrifice fly by Richie Lerner, which drove in the winning run in the fifth.

Lerner again wielded a big bat, leading South's 13-hit attack vs. Weston with two hits and three RBIs. He had plenty of help as Virgilio, Bob Levine, and Russ Small each added two hits apiece, and Virgilio and Levine scored two runs each.

Steve Schertzer went five innings on the mound for the Lions, fanning nine batters and giving up only two hits. Cromier cleared up over the last two innings, striking out three over that span.

The big inning was the fifth for South when five runs crossed the plate on five singles.

Weston and followed that with a similar shattering of Bedford.

In the Eastern Massachusetts individual tennis championships Rogers defeated Lincoln's Steve Atwood 6-0, 6-1 and Cohen topped Jeff Broderick of Weston for the second time within a week, 6-1, 6-4, to advance to the regional semi-finals.

AGREE TO SPONSOR TOURNEY — Formal agreement to sponsor The Marriott Celebrities' Golf Tournament is presented to Mrs. Lawrence Litvack, Needham, Special Projects Chairman of the New England Villages Women's Committee, which will benefit from the program, by Lewis M. Sherer, Jr. (second right), general manager of the Marriott Motor Hotel, Newton. Jon Morris, Patriots' Captain (left) and Irving Hackmeyer, Newton, publicity chairman (right), give enthusiastic support to the program which will be held Monday, June 7, at Chestnut Hill County Club.

Gain On Greens But Lions Fall Far In Lacrosse

Brian Corcoran, Jim Rosenberg, and Jeff Schneider all carded 39's to propel the Newton South Golf team to a 7-2 thumping of Weston High, last week.

Corcoran teamed with Paul Marnoy for three points, the duo of Rosenberg and Steve Owen also accounted for three points, and Schneider and Bob Hoffman contributed a single point.

The South golfers, compiled their best season in years are now 3-3.

Newton South High's lacrosse team was very king last week, however. The Lions ended rival Newton High's three-game loss skein, 4-2, at the same time extending their own to four games.

South allowed the Tigers to open up a 3-0 first quarter lead on scores by Rich Clark, Walter Cox, and Andy Dealy. The score remained that way until the third period when South's Bob Kraft nicked a goal from the deficit. However, Cox came back to tally this second goal of the contest to again raise the margin before Stu Nectow flipped in a shot. But South couldn't come any closer.

The Lions are 2-5, dropping from a good start of 2-1.

Cabot Children Will Have Play Equipment Soon

It is expected that, by week's end, kindergarten children at Cabot Elementary School in Newtonville will be able to use the double-swing set and jungle gym which has been in the school basement for four years and for which a 400-name petition had been submitted requesting installation.

Authorization for the installation came Monday night as the School Committee gave the School Department the go-ahead to place the equipment in the fenced-in play area on the lawn next to the kindergarten classrooms on Bridges Avenue.

Opposition to the lawn installation had been expressed by a group of 26 landlords and tenants from Bridges Avenue, Park Avenue and Cabot Street which petitioned that the equipment be put up across the street in the playground.

In discussing the matter with School Superintendent Aaron Fink, Mayor Monte G. Basbas cited the neighbors' objections but it is thought he will not oppose the School Committee's action.

Retarded Adults Benefit From Golf Event In June

The Marriott Motor Hotel, Newton, will sponsor a celebrity golf tournament June 7 for the benefit of New England Villages, Inc. Lewis M. Sherer, Jr., general manager, announced at a press conference at the hotel yesterday (Thursday).

Proceeds from the event, to be called The Marriott Celebrities' Golf Tournament, will go to the Villages, a program conceived to provide a new way of life for mentally retarded adults through community working and living. Construction of the first village at Pembroke will begin this summer.

The golf tournament will be held at the Chestnut Hill Country Club and will be followed by an awards dinner and entertainment in the clubhouse emceed by WHDH Radio personality Jess Cain.

"It gives us great satisfaction to bring to New England the first Marriott Celebrities' Golf Tournament for two reasons," stated Mr. Sherer. "First, we are delighted to give local golfers an opportunity to play their favorite game with such well-known celebrities as Patriots Captain Jon Morris, Ken Hodge, Al Martino and Tom Heinsohn. Lawrence Litvack, Needham.

Participating in the opening announcement of the Marriott Celebrities' Golf Tournament representing New England Villages were Irving Hackmeyer, Newton; Messrs. Jules Seletz, Newton; James Herscot, Weston; Mr. Jon Morris, Ken Hodge, Al Martino and Tom Heinsohn. Tickets for the tournament are $25 for golf and dinner, $15 for dinner only, will be available immediately through members of the Women's Committee of New England Villages who are organizing the day's activities.

For reservations call 899-0218.

South Trackmen Win, Then Lose, Despite A Record

By Lewis Freedman
Newton South High won its first outdoor Dual County League track meet, 70-66, over Lincoln-Sudbury, but followed that with losses to Acton-Boxboro, 107-29, and Weston, 90-46, in recent action.

Howie Haines won three events for the fourth time in a row (100, 220, long jump); Dave Peters won both hurdle events and took second in the long jump; Charley Pottey placed first in the 880 and Aremam Kojoyian captured the discus for individual blue ribbons versus Lincoln.

However, it took a combined tactical second-place finish in the 2-mile by unheralded junior Howie Frutkoff, with assistance from sophomore John Mason, to give the Lions life for the final relay.

Mason, sacrificing his own opportunity to score, went out fast and deluded his Lincoln opponent, who followed. When Mason tired, Frutkoff, who had been waiting off the pace, passed both of them for three points.

Then the 880-yard relay team of senior sprinter Tony Leonard, out for track for the first time, Dave Lechook, John Seeler, and Tom Lane, ran away for the victory.

The Acton meet was a disaster. Kojoyian cracked his own school discus record, spinning the platter 145-2, far past his old standard of 139-5, set earlier this season. And Dave Peters copped the high hurdles, 15.7 and low hurdles, 21.5, for the only other South wins.

Pottey, Roger Cooper, and Seeler earned three points each in the mile, shot-put, and 440, respectively.

Paul Nisson, 440, Bruce King, pole vault, Bruce Brown, discus, Mike McKinney, high jump, and Frutkoff, 2-mile, added a point each.

Running on a track that one competitor described as "a cross between sand and gravel" at Weston, South was swept in three events.

Haines was a double winner in the 100 and long jump but was beaten in the best race of the day in the quarter by six inches in 53.2.

Kojoyian remained perfect in the discus, but barely, as he had trouble planting his foot on the grass surface and he had to settle for a toss over 20 feet short of his record.

Peters made it look easy in the hurdles, again winning twice and Cooper won the shot in 45-plus in other victories.

Pottey was second in the 2-mile, McKinney second in the high jump and Frutkoff third in the mile for other points. But a big surprise was the improvement of Bruce King who cleared 9-6 in the vault for three points.

Outdoor Art To Be Shown On Hub Common

Artists from all over Greater Boston are invited to participate in two public exhibitions on Boston Common June 12th and 19th.

June Art in the Park is being sponsored by the Institute of Contemporary Art, Summerthing, and the Boston Parks and Recreation Department in order to present as much local art as possible and to bring people to the Common to enjoy art and have a good time.

To be held on two successive Saturdays, from 10 to 6 p.m., the exhibition will be displayed along Beacon Street and on constructed fences along the Boston Common pathways between Park, Beacon and Tremont streets.

According to Bill McCandless and Sunnee Savage of the Institute of Contemporary Art, coordinators of June Art in the Park, watercolors, oils, sculptures, montages and any other art form are eligible for exhibition.

Each artist will be given 15 running feet in which to display works which will be for sale. A registration fee of $3 for each Saturday will entitle artists to the area.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by Summerthing and special balloons and posters have been printed. "Any artists — professional and amateur — interested in participating can send for an application form at the Institute of Contemporary Art, 33 Beacon Street, Boston 02108 or call 227-6940. All applications for the first exhibit must be received by May 28th, and for the second one by June 4th," McCandless said.

John G. Perry of 67 Grove Hill Ave., Newtonville, a student at Newton High School, received an honorable mention (with a $20 stipend) from the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical Society at their annual dinner held at M.I.T. last week. Perry was among more than 500 entrants in the Society's Avery A. Ashdown High School Chemistry contest held recently.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By JANICE E. KAPLAN

The May Arts Festival, held Tuesday through Friday of last week, showed once again the great versatility of Newton South students. Music, drama, dance, and exhibits provided an exciting week for the hundreds of students and adults who participated in the program.

The opening night of the Festival was music night, a showcase for the four major performing groups.

The concert choir and vocal ensemble, under the direction of Mr. David Arner, delighted their audience with a diverse program. Nathan Randall's baton led the concert band, and Mr. Arner conducted the concert orchestra.

The evening's variety ranged from Franz Schubert to Bert Bacharach, and culminated in Robert Beaser's "The 23rd Psalm." Robert, a junior at Newton South, composed and conducted the song which utilizes voices to create and transmit the atmosphere and power of the words it is based on. He wrote it this past summer. An organ condensation of the psalm will be published soon.

Wednesday night was more music with folk and rock concerts. A light show added to the interest. Nineteen dancers used hoops, elastics, and familiar songs to show the possibilities of dance in a dance program.

The next night was the Newton South version of Thursday Night at the Movies. It consisted of slide tapes and movies centered on a familiar topic — Newton South. A film class showed its documentary on the art department.

Thursday afternoon involved more musical talent in a student recital. It included the premier performance of another original composition by Robert Beaser — "Fantasy for Trumpet and Piano." Jon Levy, a junior at Newton High, played the trumpet for the piece.

Weekday afternoons included outdoor mural painting and poetry reading.

The last two evenings were, as tradition, student conceived theatre. The plays and dance originated from the Theatre Arts Department to provide a fitting climax to what has become one of the happiest and gayest parts of the school year.

One unique feature in the theatre nights was a multimedia ballet "Separate Distractions." Written by Mariam Axelrod and choreographed by Abigail Levy, the ballet combined drama, dance, slides, and film. It dealt with character motivation and expression of turmoil induced by memories of the past.

An outdoor theatre, built especially for the Festival, was the stage of a Japanese stylized "Noh" play and plays from "Tests" (the Theatre of the Absurd). Other plays included "Impromptu" and "Crawling Arnold." They were student directed with assistance from Mr. Ernest Chamberlain.

Saturday a new feature was added to the festival. A parade! Starting at Newton High the parade moved down Walnut Street and ended at Newton South. The floats, motorcade, and bands ended in a picnic, puppet show, kit flying, and an A.P.S. Folk Dance. The Festival provided an exciting, spirited week which was enjoyed by everyone in the South community.

Heintzelman Award The fifteenth annual Heintzelman award assembly was recently held. The award is presented to recognize the outstanding achievement in creative writing of a Newton junior or senior.

This year Robin Schwarz, a junior at Newton South, was selected as the recipient of the M. Roland Heintzelman award for her poetry.

Mary Broderick from Newton High received an honorable mention for her narrative. Four other students, including Andrea Berly from Newton South, were finalists.

Seminar Day Workshops and discussion groups will be the subject of the day of Thursday, May 27. Seminar Day, an activity of the Junior Class, will consist of varied and unusual "mini-courses."

The day was originally planned by the Junior Class Committee. Although regular classes will be held, students will be able to go to the activities with the permission from teachers.

Among the interesting speakers will be Gil Santos of WBZ who will discuss sports and Sports Broadcasting. WHDH's Jess Cain will lead a group in Radio Broadcasting. State Senator Irving Fishman will be on hand to discuss politics while crime in our streets will be confronted by Sheriff John Buckley. Women's Lib and fashion will be given equal time in groups led by Lois Pines and Jean Terissi respectively.

Principal Geer Mr. William D. Geer Jr. recently returned from a three week comparative study of schools in America and abroad.

He spent four days in Leningrad, six days in Moscow, four days in Minsk, three days in Denmark, three days in Budapest, and a day in London on a Russian school study mission. He was selected by the National Association of Secondary School Principals as one of forty educators to represent the United States.

The purpose of the trip was to become familiar with the current state of the Russian educational system. Mr. Geer found that the Russian schools are closer to the American schools than other countries he visited. He believes they "have taken seriously the question of comprehensive universal education."

Mr. Geer was impressed by much of what he saw in Russia including the size of the Russian schools. The six hundred to twenty-three hundred students remain together throughout their public education. He feels that such would be very beneficial here.

UNION The Newton South Union, currently in its first year, will be continued at least through next year.

The Union was created on the basis of town government. Everyone in the South community has voting power in the Union. Meetings are open to everyone. Unfortunately, the Union held only four meetings during the year, and very little has been accomplished.

Elections were held today for Union officers for 1971-72.

Women's Club of Highlands Holds Workshop, Luncheon

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, held in the Club Workshop April 28, was preceded by a petite luncheon served by members of the Club.

Following the business meeting, presided over by the outgoing President, Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, the new slate of officers and committee chairmen were elected. Mrs. John F. Jenkins was unanimously elected as President and her new Board includes Mrs. M. Wilbert, Jr. as First Vice President, Mrs. Max R. Ulin, Second Vice President; Miss Ruth Langley, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Arthur N. Hogquist, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. William A. Martin, Treasurer; Miss Madeline W. Cobb, Auditor; and Mrs. Spencer F. Deming as State Federation Secretary and Delegate. Directors of the Club for the next year are Mrs. Mannert L. Abele and Miss Elsa Badger; for two years, Mrs. Ross E. Langill and Mrs. Philip M. Wilbert, Jr. Standing Committee chairmen were elected as follows: American Home, Mrs. Clarence E. Churchill; Art, Mrs. Robert A. Cunningham; Education, Mrs. Arthur A. Vernon; Finance, Mrs. Max R. Ulin; Hospitality, Mrs. Stephen C. Hing; Legislative Reporter, Mrs. John W. Locke; Membership, Mrs. Alexander Peckham; Program, Mrs. Philip M. Wilbert; Public Health, Mrs. Harold D. Hockridge; Publicity, Mrs. Arthur F. Fultz; Safety, Mrs. Ross E. Langill; Social, Mrs. M.L. Abele and Mrs. Donald C. Root; Veterans Service, Mrs. Bernard N. White; and Year Book and Printing, Miss Elsa Badger. Heading the Nominating Committee will be Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes, assisted by Miss Madeline W. Cobb, Mrs. Stephen C. Hing, Mrs. Warren B. Kennedy, Mrs. Russell W. Monto, Mrs. Joseph B. Moulton and Miss Clara L. West.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the introduction of Miss Susan Hart of Newton Highlands as the recipient of the annual scholarship which the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands awards to a Newton Highlands girl graduate from high school whose record merits special consideration toward the furthering of her education.

The program of the afternoon featured Miss Elsa Badger showing unusual colored slides of various birds and birdlife.

Golf Lessons' Final Series Starts Friday

The last series of lessons to be given at the Newton Community Service Centers' Golf School is scheduled to begin tomorrow evening (Friday). Under the direction of Dan Meany, the classes meet for seven one-hour lessons with class times at 7, 8 or 9 p.m., at the Centers' main office at 429 Cherry Street, West Newton.

Meany's course consists of lessons covering stance, the irons, middle irons, chipping and putting.

All teaching equipment is supplied, although pupils may use their own clubs if they wish. Sneakers or some other type of comfortable footwear should be worn.

Enrollment is limited to six per class. Further information is available by contacting the Centers at 969-5906 or by visiting the main office on Cherry Street.

Brines Speaks To Junior Aid At N-Wellesley

William S. Brines, Director of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Hospital Junior Aid Association today (May 13). The meeting will be held at 12 noon in the Allen Riddle Hall on the Hospital grounds.

Mrs. James D. St. Clair, President of the Junior Aid, will conduct the meeting. Members of the Board will give their reports of the year's activities, and the slate of officers for the new year will be presented at this time.

Following the meeting there will be a social hour and luncheon arranged by Mrs. D. J. Saraceno, the Hospitality Chairman of Newton. Members are asked to bring an attic treasure for an auction which will complete the meeting's activities.

All members and friends are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Brownie Troops Are Welcomed By Girl Scouts

Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council welcomes Brownie Scout Troop 564, recently organized at the Frank Carr School, Newtonville, along with its sister troop, by Mrs. Jerold Gilmore. Troop 564 is under the direction of Mrs. Gilmore, and assistants have been Mrs. Kirk H. Kaloustian, Mrs. Nancy Kelly, and Mrs. Peter Puzanghero. The troop was invested at the School, and along with its sister troop, took part in a Brownie skit, acting out the play, and taking part in a songfest.

Troop 564 Brownies are: Jodi Adelson, Karen Brack, Beth Brickner, Janey Darviche, Leah Dragone, Deborah Farberman, Susan Gilmore, Carla Kaloustian, Elsa Karas, Mary Lou Kelly, Elvera LiDoni, Debbie Moore, Julie Morse, Tracey Parsons, Marisa Puzanghero, Lisa Schiller, Deanna Smith, and Celia Stern.

Brownie Troop 564 celebrated National Hospital Week by making scrapbook kits for the Children's Hospital, Boston. These will be presented to Mrs. Higgins at the Hospital for use by the patients, with the hope of helping to cheer them.

Other upcoming activities include a bicycle safety hike with Officer Charles Feeley of the Newton Police Dept. on May 26, and participation in a Brownie Outdoor Rally at Camp Mary Day, Natick, on May 18. The troop meets on Wednesday afternoons after school at the home of Mrs. Gilmore.

Troop 564 will take part in a "Fly-Up" Ceremony for its third graders on June 17 at the Carr School, together with its sister troop under the leadership of Mrs. John Connerney. A Junior Scout troop, 669, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Wallace from Our Lady's School, has been invited to join in the ceremony and to "greet" the Brownies as they become new Junior Scouts.

New Experimental Music Program Deemed Success

The experimental in-depth oriented nature, which allows the arts to become an integral part of daily instruction. The experimental in-depth program, introduced this year and aimed at introducing early primary grade school children to the excitement of 'live' musical experiences, has been rated "a very great success" by the teachers, principals and music directors involved with the recently-concluded program.

A total of 12 Newton elementary schools participated in the musical experiment which was jointly sponsored by Young Audiences of Massachusetts, Inc., a non-profit statewide organization, the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities and the city's School Department.

The program focused on first, second- and third-graders as each child received six intensity exposures: three in a classroom with a specialist who is both a teacher and performer (who discussed and demonstrated musical ideas) and three by Young Audiences' ensembles who illustrated the concepts developed by the artist-teacher.

According to Mrs. Carol Feiner of Newton, the director of Young Audiences, a chief reason for the general positive feeling about the program's value is its curriculum-

Chestnut H. PTA Spring Fair And Picnic Saturday

The Chestnut Hill School Parent Teacher Association will hold a Spring Picnic and Fair on the school grounds at Hammond Street and Essex Road, Chestnut Hill, on Saturday, May 22 from eleven until four o'clock.

Mrs. Susan Zeeman, Fair Chairman and Mrs. R. Clement Darling, Co-Chairman, announced that there will be a Handicrafts Booth under the direction of Mrs. Robert Blacklow of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Gary Lawrence Gross of West Newton; a Bake Sale Table under the direction of Mrs. John J. Gill and Mrs. Edmund M. Wise, Jr., of Jamaica Plain; a Toy Sale Table under the direction of Mrs. John Soltys of Jamaica Plain; a Live Plant and Flower Booth under the direction of Mrs. Louis Spero of Brookline; a Pony Cart Ride under the direction of Mrs. Julian Chisholm of Dedham and a Used Book and Record Booth under the direction of Mrs. Irving Williams of Newtonville. Mrs. Donald Bitsberger of Chestnut Hill is in charge of Ticket arrangements.

Amusement and refreshments booths will be set up on the school grounds. Cotton candy will be available. The general public is invited to attend.

Encounter Group Workshop Opens Here May 26th
A weekly workshop in the theory and practice of the Encounter Group movement will be offered at the Academy of Physical and Social Development in Newton Centre May 26 - June 23. The sessions will be held on Wednesday morning 9:15-11:30 a.m.

Mila Hoffman, workshop instructor, has wide personal knowledge and experience with the Encounter Group movement. She and her husband, both Newton Psychologists, have founded PALA an organization which has sponsored Encounter Group sessions in the Boston area for the past 2 years.

During the five sessions of this course the participant will have an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the underlying concepts of Encounter Groups, to discuss and to compare the variety of approaches, and to experience those techniques which seem most appropriate to their state of readiness.

Newtonites To Show Works In Arts Workshop

The Workshop in Creative Arts will open its Spring Exhibition and Crafts Demonstration on Friday, May 21, from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Boston YWCA, 140 Clarendon Street.

The work of students will be shown in weaving, ceramics, macrame, jewelry, enameling, etching, batik, tie-dye, printmaking and painting.

Newton residents who are participating in the Exhibition are: Maartze Wills, Hope Thomas, Usona Brown, Joan Subrin, Kathy Flynn, Marjorie Cromer, Phyllis Berk, Pat Cornu, Mary Davis, Joan Mendell, Heather M. kler, Eleanor Palais, Jacqueline Sullivan, H. K. Wright, Virginia Robinson, Merle Myerson, Frances Borofsky and Phyllis Curtis.

Men, women and teen-agers may register for summer classes during the Exhibition. A full schedule of daytime classes in contemporary crafts for novices and experienced students will begin in June.

Burglary Occurs While Family Attends Wake

The Waban home of the Cosmo J. Caterino family was burglarized last Thursday evening while the members were at the wake for an 18-year-old son and brother.

The family, mourning the loss of Paul C. Caterino, a

Newton South High School student who died the day before, returned to their residence at 118 Upland Road only to discover that a wrist watch, clock radio, tape deck and two speakers had been stolen during their absence.

Mr. Caterino reported the incident at about 9:30 p.m. to the Newton police, who have noted that entry was gained by forcing a rear cellar door.

O'Neil Boy Had Been Battling Disease 8 Years

Kevin P. O'Neil's fight against kidney disease was lost last Friday morning. The 12-year-old Newton boy had been suffering for eight years from a degenerative malady called nephrosis and, for the past several weeks, had been kept alive with an artificial kidney apparatus.

He died in Boston Children's Hospital Medical Center the day following a nearly 12-hour kidney transplant procedure in which Kevin's father, Newton policeman Donald F. O'Neil, donated one of his kidneys in a desperate attempt to save his son's life.

According to a hospital spokesman, "The transplanted kidney was functioning well, but Kevin was too weak to withstand the surgery." Cardiac-respiratory failure was cited as the cause of death.

When it was learned a year ago that Kevin's doctors considered his condition incurable, a host of area individuals, fraternal groups and other organizations made a concerted effort to raise funds and were able to fulfill the boy's life-long dream: a week's visit to Disneyland.

On the morning of the transplant operation, a letter was released from Kevin's uncle, Richard J. O'Neil of Watertown, in which the man thanked, on behalf of Kevin, his parents and his six brothers and sisters, the many people "who so graciously contributed" to helping the dying boy realize that dream of a trip to Disneyland.

Recent Deaths

Frank DiGiovanni

A Requiem High Mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre for long-time Newton resident Frank DiGiovanni, 74, who died Sunday.

A self-employed landscape gardener, Mr. DiGiovanni came to Newton half a century ago from Italy, last residing in Newton Centre at 64 Maplewood Avenue. He belonged to the Philip Corsi Society of Newton Centre.

He leaves his wife, Elizabeth (Silvestrone) DiGiovanni; two sisters and a brother, all in Italy.

Funeral services were held from the Valente Funeral Home in Newtonville and burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Mary E. Hickey

A Mass of the Resurrection was said Saturday in Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton for Miss Mary E. Hickey, 65, of 437 Newtonville Avenue.

The Rev. Msgr. John J. MacManamon, pastor, was the celebrant and Richard Osgood was organist and soloist.

Present at the Mass was a large delegation of fellow workers from the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company; the Rev. Edward Divinski, S.J., of Boston College; Frank Murphy and Robt. Wilcox Jr. of the St. Vincent de Paul Society; and Realtor George V. Bryson.

The funeral was held from the Martin E. Conroy Funeral Home in Newton. Burial was in Brookline's Holyhood Cemetery with the Rev. David G. Bonfiglio reading the committal prayers.

Daniel W. Gadsden

Services were held in the T.J. Lyons Funeral Home yesterday (Wednesday) for Daniel Webster Gadsden, formerly of West Newton, who died Sunday in the Newton Convalescent Home. He was 61.

The Rev. Harold A. Pulley, pastor of the Myrtle Baptist Church, officiated.

A native of Sumter, South Carolina, Mr. Gadsden had lived in West Newton most of his life.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sylvia (Ducie) Gadsden; a son, two daughters, including Mrs. Iola H. Merritt of Newton Lower Falls; a brother and 11 grandchildren.

Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Bessie V. Crosby

Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday) in Wentworth Chapel in Waltham for Mrs. Bessie V. (Turney) Crosby of 42 Jerome Avenue, West Newton, who died Monday in Newton - Wellesley Hospital. She was 92.

Officiating at the services was the Rev. Dr. Donald Freeman, minister of the Immanuel Methodist Church.

Mrs. Crosby was a native of West Falmouth and attended schools in Framingham. She had lived in the Newton area for the past 56 years and belonged to the Immanuel Methodist Church of Waltham and its WSCS.

Her husband was the late George W. Crosby and she is survived by five daughters, three sons, 25 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Edward L. Bradley

Services were held Friday for Edward L. Bradley of 211 Crafts Street in Newton, who died May 11 following a brief illness. He was 63.

A native of Newton, son of the late Christopher and Catherine (Kelly) Bradley, he had been a self-employed builder.

Mr. Bradley leaves two sons, a daughter, two sisters, including Mrs. Margaret Kennedy of Newton; and 16 grandchildren.

A Mass of the Resurrection was celebrated in Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton and burial was in Calvary Cemetery in Waltham.

Kevin P. O'Neil

A Mass of the Resurrection was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton for 12-year-old Kevin P. O'Neil of 85 Gardner street in Newton. The boy died last Thursday, 12 hours after a kidney transplant operation in which his father, Newton police officer Donald F. O'Neil was the donor.

Kevin, suffering from a degenerative kidney disease called nephrosis, had been kept alive for the last several weeks by a kidney apparatus and was apparently in a too weakened condition to weather the surgery.

In addition to his parents, Donald F. and Louise M. (Landry) O'Neil, Kevin is survived by four brothers, Donald F., Jr., Robert P., James K. and Richard M.; two sisters, Barbara A. and Janice M.; his grandparents, George J. and Sarah L. (Kelley) O'Neil of Watertown; and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Hill of Newton. Burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery in Watertown.

School Orchestra, Chorus Success In Annual Concert

"Music in the Newton Schools hinges on so many, parents and friends who share their creations left John Harper's simple acknowledgement to encourage and surround much of their daily lives. The All-Newton Elementary School Orchestra, directed by Robert Giorgi and assisted by Carol Rankin, played pieces from the classics to today's "Scarborough Fair." Works of Schubert, Mozart and Handel were expertly performed, ending with an exciting rendition of "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home." Michelle Morgan, a very talented musician from the Ward School, performed the Mozart Violin Concerto in D Major accompanied by the Orchestra.

The Chorus, directed by Mr. Harper and assisted by Carolyn Brown, performed from a wide spectrum of musical tastes and composers, music for guitar and the chorus by a 6th grade student. The "Pick A Little, Talk A Little" song from "Music Man" Do - it - yourself costumes gave the young singers an opportunity to create art as well as perform it, as they glow with pride the young people as they performed from nowhere bonnets of all shapes, modes and sizes which they had made from paper plates, tissue paper and other odds and ends of throw-aways. The boys added to the spoof by growing paper mustaches. Folk - Rock music of Dedrick, "Kites Are Fun," was enchantingly accompanied by a movie with members of chorus during a kite-flying session in Chestnut Hill, captured on film by Mr. Harper, with the inevitable sour-note ending of a kite-caught-in-the-tree! Youngsters from all the elementary schools are auditioned for membership in both the chorus and orchestra by the music educators, and this year's program involved over 215 students. 1971-72 All-Newton Chorus and Orchestras will be forming in the Fall of 1971.

Temple Reyim's Spring Sign-Up Starts Sunday

Temple Reyim, 1860 Washington Street, Newton, is holding its spring registration this coming Sunday morning (May 23) from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and Thursday evening, June 3, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for old and new members.

The spring registration presents an opportunity for prospective new members to make their synagogue commitment well in advance of the High Holiday season and to avoid the last minute rush for seats.

A special feature of Temple Reyim's membership structure is the junior membership. Available to those families where the head of the household is under age 35, the junior membership affords full membership privileges at one-half the normal cost.

All those who might be interested in affiliating with a young, conservative congregation are invited to call the Temple office at 527-2410 for further information. In the evening, you may contact Marvin Milton at 527-2313 or Sid Fruman at 332-5246.

Newton Rotary Dinner-Dance Will Be Tonight

The Newton Rotary Club is sponsoring its annual dinner-dance for the benefit of its Youth Service Fund at the Marriott Hotel tonight (May 20).

The proceeds from the dance are used to aid such local youth-oriented projects as the YMCA Campership, Boys Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

The Newton Rotary contributed nearly $2000 to these organizations in 1970.

The social hour will begin at 6:30, with dinner at 7:30. Dancing until midnight plus special entertainment will follow.

Temple Golden Agers Select Mother of Year

Mrs. Fannie Mappen of 41

Haynes road, Newton Centre, a long time member of Temple Emanuel Golden Age Club was named "Mother of the Year" at the annual Mother's Day meeting last Tuesday.

Mrs. Mappen has been an active member of the club for 15 years and has made her senior years very meaningful. She has taken part in the workshop every week making surgical supplies for the Beth Israel Hospital, and also has knitted many afghans, sweaters, socks and scarves for the hobby shop.

These articles are sold and proceeds from the sales are used for various charitable projects.

A musical program was presented by Percy Brand, well known violinist who entertained the members with operatic and Hebrew and Yiddish melodies.

Weeks Guidance Counselor Gives Talk To Women

Miss Emilie G. Larson of 75 Wyman Street in Waban was one of the featured speakers at the "Spotlight on Members" dinner meeting of the Boston Branch, American Association of University Women (AAUW) held last Wednesday at Arlington High School.

Formerly a vice president and currently chairman of the nominating committee of the Boston AAUW, Miss Larson summarized her work as guidance counselor at John W. Weeks Junior High School in Newton Centre.

She is a graduate of St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., and has the degree of Master of Arts in Education from Radcliffe College.

Entertainment will feature the world of Japanese dance. Miss Fuginami Midori will perform the classical repertory dance which she originated.

Hopefuls List Increasing For Municipal Races

The total of election hopefuls for this year's city contests continued to rise late last week as numerous residents, both incumbents and challengers, took out nomination papers.

In Ward 8, Robert Siller of 21 June Lane, Oak Hill, took out papers for both the ward aldermanic seat, now held by Alan S. Barkin, and an alderman-at-large position, the two of which are currently occupied by Board President Wendell R. Baukman and Eliot S. Cohen.

To have a name appear on the ballot in November, a person planning to run for alderman needs 25 signatures on the nominating papers for ward alderman and 50 signatures for alderman-at-large. He may run for only one of the positions, however.

Stiller is president of the Newton Civic and Land Association which is reported to be attempting the creation of aldermanic slates in wards other than 8, as well.

Also starting on nomination efforts last week were Joseph Bradley of 31 Channing Street, interested in the alderman-at-large seat from Ward 1; Walter R. Jennings of 189 Parmenter Road and Vincent J. Farina of 293 Webster Street, looking for a place on the ballot as Ward 4 alderman; and Harvey Alford, who earlier had taken out papers for one of the at-large seats from Ward 2 did the same for Ward 2 alderman.

The two at-large seats in Ward 1 are presently occupied by Adelaide B. Ball and Joseph M. McDonnell and the current Ward 4 alderman is Arthur H. Sullivan. The pair of Ward 2 at-large aldermen are Peter F. Harrington and William H. Wolf and the ward alderman Thomas C. Concannon Jr.

Concannon and Ernest F. Dietz, the Ward 6 alderman, have already taken out their nominating papers.

Entering the race for School Committee member from Ward 5 was Elaine I. Rosen of 28 Ridge Road. A total of 50 signatures is required for her name to be put on the ballot.

31 Newtonites Help Goodwill Flea Market

A total of 31 Newton residents, all board or corporate members of the Morgan Memorial Goodwill Centers, are among the sponsors for Goodwill's sixth annual Antiques Flea Market, to be held Saturday, May 22, at the Topsfield Fair Grounds.

Proceeds from the Antiques Flea Market will help send the state's neediest children to the Morgan Memorial summer camps. They are selected on the basis of physical need, parental illness, home conditions environment and malnutrition, and recommended by 36 agencies.

More than 180 dealers in antiques and other specialties, some from as far away as California and Alaska, will be displaying their unusual wares and novelties, come rain or shine.

Newtonville residents include Harry L. Kinsel, Dr. Martin Annis, Theodore F. Koch, John E. Searle Jr., and Stafford E. Davis.

Those residing in West Newton include Franklin K. Hoyt, Dr. Everett D. Kiefer, Nathan D. Bugbee, Charles E. Hilliard, Anthony Jauregui, Richard L. Sequeira, Dr. Frank N. Allan, Edward H. E. Cooley and Herbert G. Graetz.

Four of the Waban area are Richard N. Silverman, Loring W. Powell, Anthony J. Medaglia and Calvin W. Clayton.

From Newton are Ralph R. Pearlman, Edward T. Brackett, David W. Stapleton, Dr. Norman Zamechek, Wendell R. Freeman, Herbert N. French, Russell S. Broad, Miss Adelaide Ball.

Among others are Julian D. Anthony of Newton Center; Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, Auburndale; James H. Messing, Newton Upper Falls and Arthur T. Gregorian, Newton Lower Falls.

The Morgan Memorial Antiques Flea Market is the largest in New England. In keeping with tradition there will be the usual door prizes. Scores of volunteers will turn out to man ticket booths, the parking area and a hundred and one other duties involved in the smooth operation of the giant attraction.

Peter M. Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fleming, 12 Bradford road in Newton Highland, Susan A. Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip N. Harrington of 570 Centre street, Newton and Thomas J. Shaw of Auburndale, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shaw of 195 Auburn street all were named recently to the Bates College (Maine) Dean's List for the second semester of the 1971-72 academic year. Fleming, a junior, attained a straight "A" average and Miss Harrington, a freshman, and Shaw, a sophomore, maintained a better than "B" average.

AJC Installation On Next Wednesday

The Installation meeting of the Emma Lazarus Chapter of American Jewish Congress will be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Tobasky, 20 LaGrange St., Chestnut Hill, next Wednesday (May 26) at 8:15 p.m.

The speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Greta Cohen, interior decorator from Commonwealth Studios, 630 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton. She'll be speaking on "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Decorating."

Mrs. Cohen with her partner, Vivian Lipson has been at Commonwealth Studios for two years. Previous to that, for eight years she was known as Greta Cohen Interiors. Mrs. Cohen is a graduate of Smith College and New York School of Interior Design. She lives in Newton.

Compass Club Meets Tomorrow

The Compass Club of Newton will hold its next meeting tomorrow (Friday), according to Mrs. Paul D. Malone, the group's publicity chairman.

At the club's spring luncheon, which took place May 7 at the Woodland Country Club, bridge prizes were won by Dorothy Webster, Rene Hamilton, Grace Oakes, Hazel Corkum, Mabel Hallas, Dot Ingham, Jane Malone, Mary Robey, Bert Carter and Katie Burns.

Mrs. Walter E. Engel was luncheon chairman.

Twelve Men Pass Firefighter Exam

Twelve Newton men have passed a civil service examination and qualified for appointment to the position of firefighters. They are among 384 men who passed an examination taken by 1219 men, it was announced this week on Beacon Hill.

In the order in which they appear on the civil service list, they are James S. Sheridan of 80 Jewett St., Joseph P. Capello of 50 Oak Ave., William P. Laroche of 16 Chandler St., Anthony P. Depasquale of 78 Los Angeles St.

Also Loreto A. Mazzola of 12 Cook St., John G. Marrazzo of 21 Jerome Ave., John P. Lucas of 47 Taft Ave., Paul S. Barry, Jr., of 82 West Pine St., Charles R. Webb, Jr., of 18 Karen Rd., Waban; John D. Nicolazzo of 29 Alden Place; William J. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of 167 Derby St., and Paul J. Bari of 117 Linwood Ave. Sheridan, Capello, Laroche, and Depasquale are veterans.

Technical Drawing Is Shown At Free Library

Technical drawings of cars and trains by students of Day Jr. High teacher Bob Malagodi are on exhibit this week at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

The class, initially set up to do the fundamentals of technical drawing, has been exploring how one can use architectural and car design drawings in industry.

The work, all done to measurement, is plotted from blueprints, and helps students develop skills in putting their own ideas down on paper.

Students whose work is included in the display are Doug MacLeod, David Salem, Jay Murphy and Bobby Hodgdon, all ninth graders.

Other students in the technical drawing class are John Cody, Steven Forte, Phil Korobis, James Lavorgna, Vincent Piselli, George Taleas, and Neil McDonald.

Musical Salute To Israel Will Be Held Sunday

A Musical Salute to Israel will be presented at the Kehillath Israel Brotherhood breakfast meeting celebrating the 23rd anniversary of the State of Israel, Sunday, May 23 at 9:15 a.m. in the Rabbi Louis M. Epstein Auditorium, Harvard street, Brookline.

The Salute will feature two well known performers — singer Victoria Morheim, and Elana Kenner, concert pianist, composer and lyricist. Mrs. Morheim began her musical career in New York where she was a featured soloist with many of the leading choirs and choral groups. She has appeared with Richard Tucker, the late Cantor Koussevitzky, and has recorded with many prominent cantors.

Mrs. Kenner of Newton was a music major at Wellesley College and did graduate study in piano and composition at the Hartt College of Music in Hartford where she was highly acclaimed for her piano solo performances with the Hartford Symphony Orchestra.

Guest speaker of the morning will be Asher Naim, Counselor of the Israeli Embassy in Washington, who will discuss "The Mechanics of a Middle East Peace." The breakfast meeting is held in conjunction with the Brookline - Brighton - Newton Zionist District and is open to all members and their families.

Democrats Of Ward 7 Meet, Elect Officers

On Tuesday, May 11th, the Ward 7 Democratic Committee held their monthly meeting at Grace Episcopal Church, Eldredge St., Newton Corner. Alderman William Carmen reported to the Committee on a recent land use hearing by the Board of Aldermen on flood plain zoning, the purpose of which is to put into a special zone low lying areas of land to be exempt from building. This is supported by the Army Corp of Engineers and, if put into effect, would hopefully prevent flooding downstream along the Charles River. Mr. Carmen also reported on a new Ecology Commission, of which he is the Chairman. The function of this Committee is to conduct a study, at no expense to the city, of different methods of rubbish collection. The purpose of this study is threefold; 1) to save money 2) to reduce the load on the incinerator which would in turn 3) stop pollution by the incinerator by 80 percent. Rubbish would be separated into different categories, recycled, an some money would be returned to the city for some of the recycled waste. The Public Works Dept., which appointed the Ecology Commission, will report back to the Board of Aldermen their recommendations for approval. It was the Board of Aldermen which initiated the proposal for an Ecology Commission and asked the Public Works Dept. to work out the details. Yearly elections were held and the following officers were voted into office: Dr. Cavin Leeman, Chairman; Mrs. Constance Kantar, Vice Chairman; Mr. Douglas Perry, Treasurer; Mrs. Kim Hopper, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Edna Krims, Recording Secretary and Gene Blumenreich, Program Chairman.

3 Honors For David Wexler

David M. Wexler, son of Mrs. Irving Kleinberg of 92 Gragmore road, Newton Upper Falls, was thrice honored at the year-end convocation held by the Austin Dunham Barney school of 8Business Administration of the University of Hartford. Honored first from the Accounting Department, his name was placed on a plaque as the outstanding senior in that field. He was awarded the Price Waterhouse Scholarship, a professional trip to London, and also received the Institute of Internal Auditors, Hartford Chapter, prize of $250. Wexler is a graduate of Newton South High School and has been on the dean's list at the Barney School.

Peter Sbardelli Gets An Eagle Scout Badge

Peter Sbardelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy S. Sbardelli, 201 Newtonville Ave., Newton, was awarded the Eagle Scout Badge at a Court of Honor held last week by Troop 31 at Our Lady's Parish Center, Newton.

With Patrick Maher and Larry Bearfield, assistant Scoutmasters, presiding, the program featured an explanation of the scouting program and organization by Joseph W. Chevarley, Institutional Representative, and a description of the background and requirements of all scouting's religious awards, especially the Ad Altare Dei Medal, by Joseph L. Walsh, a member of the Troop Committee. Donald Gray was present as representative of Norumbega Council.

The first step in scouting, the Tenderfoot award, was conferred upon John Kivlehan by the new Eagle Scout.

Newton Police Sergeant Joseph Rousseau, newly appointed Assistant Scoutmaster of the Troop, presented his badges of office by Scoutmaster Edward Bearfield.

Highlight of the program was the award of the Eagle Badge to Peter by Scoutmaster Bearfield.

Following that ceremony, Peter Maher, also an Eagle Scout, presented Peter with an Eagle Ring on behalf of his father, Cornelius Maher, Chairman of the Troop Committee.

Newton Lawyer Will Present Kiwanis Award

The Roxbury Kiwanis Club's Man of the Year award will be presented by attorney Charles Lewis of Newton, the club's president, at a banquet to be held Thursday (May 27) at Fantasia's in Cambridge.

This year's recipient of the award is Otto P. Snowden, executive director of the Freedom House in Roxbury.

Sharing the presentation honors with Lewis will be Francis P. McDermott, coordinator of community development at Boston Gas, and immediate past president of the club.

Police Chief Quinn To Address Waban Meeting

At the 82nd annual meeting of the Waban Improvement Society, to be held at the Waban Neighborhood House, Tuesday evening (May 25), a new slate of officers and directors will be presented to the membership. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. Dessert and coffee will be served following the meeting.

Highlight of the evening will be a talk by the guest speaker, Newton's Chief of Police William Quinn whose topic, "Housebreak - Protect Your Life and Property" should prove timely to all Waban residents.

Officers for the 1971-1972 term are elected for one year, and directors can serve for years. Lawrence Applefield of 112 Moffet Road will once again be serving as president. Nominated officers are Mrs. Valerie Longson, 181 Windsor road, vice-president; Mrs. Connie Wool, 653 Chestnut street, secretary; and Mrs. Angela Nicoletti, 60 Pontiac Road, treasurer.

Newly nominated directors are Mr. John J. Madden, 46 Devonshire Road, (District 5, replacing Mrs. JoAnn McGrath); Dr. Stephen Howard, 185 Allen Avenue (District 6, replacing Mr. A. Mickey Olem); Mrs. Rhoda Clough, 286 Quinobquin Road (District 3, replacing Mrs. Phyllis King); Mrs. Kenneth Rogers, 79 Alban Road (District 3); and Mr. Dick Butler, 95 Longfellow Road (District 2, replacing Mrs. Midge McCullough).

"Aubies" To Be Given Out This Saturday Night

The Auburndale Players will celebrate "Auby Night" this Saturday (May 22) at the Auburndale Club, 283 Melrose Street. The social hour will begin at 8 o'clock, "Auby" awards will be given at 9, and dancing will continue from 10 to midnight.

The annual event was inaugurated nine years ago to honor outstanding work by members of the Auburndale Players. Winners receive golden "Auby" statuettes. Balloting is done by members of the audience who have attended all of the season's performances.

The players' two productions this year, "Voice of the Turtle" and "Arsenic and Old Lace" vie for "best how". Best performances were nominated as follows:

Actress in a lead role - Demetria Learmonth and Betty Schuff; Actor in a lead role - Paul Masse.

Actress in a supporting role - Barbara Burgess, Alicia Kerr and Jackie Melly; Actor in a supporting role - Herb Melly, Jim Murphy and Ray Norman.

Actor in a bit role - Milt Copp, John Head, Russ MacClure, John MacInnes and Bob Trumble.

Nomited for the best set design were Russ MacClure for "Voice of the Turtle", and Rec Rogers for "Arsenic and Old Lace".

For best set construction, both plays; for best set decoration, Debbie Kavanagh for "Voice of the Turtle" and Marnie MacClure for "Arsenic and Old Lace".

Anyone interested in attending the Audy Awards Party may contact Russ MacClure, 5 Chaske Avenue in reservations.

Will Continue Rabies Clinic 'Til Saturday

The rabies immunization clinic being conducted by Newton veterinarians at the fire station at 31 Willow Street in Newton Centre will continue through this coming Saturday (May 22).

Daily hours are 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and there is a $3 fee for each dog immunized.

All dogs six months of age or older must be vaccinated against rabies. Regulations require vaccinated dogs to be re-vaccinated at intervals not exceeding 24 months.

An approved rabies tag will be provided by the vaccinating veterinarian for each dog receiving the shot. An approved certificate of vaccination will also be provided each dog's owner, according to the Newton Health Department.

Voter Sign-Up In High Schools May Be Annual

The executive secretary of the Newton Election Commission last week indicated that the drive to register high school age voters at their schools might be set up as a yearly event.

Alan Licarie disclosed this intention after noting that the recently-completed registration effort at the city's two high schools had added 432 names to Newton's voting lists. The 18-year-olds will be able to vote in 1972's Presidential, Senatorial and Congressional contests, including a special Congressional race in the event of redistricting.

According to Licarie, over half of those students eligible to vote did register during the special sessions: 171 at Newton South and 261 at Newton High.

The registration drive (which was aided by the League of Women Voters) was a voluntary, as there is no statutory requirement in the matter. In part, the reason for the program was, as Licarie remarked, a desire to register the students prior to their going off to college and subsequently forgetting to sign up.

PRESENTATION TO MUSIC DEPT. — Peter Scott, president, Newton PTA Council, left, makes special gift presentation to John Harper, assistant coordinator for the Arts in Music Department of the Newton schools. The gift, a tape recorder, was accepted by Mr. Harper on behalf of his entire staff.

PTA Council Presents Gift To School Music Dept. Here

Peter Scott, president of the Newton Council of PTAs, in behalf of the Council, made a special gift presentation to the Music Department of the Newton Schools at the recent musical evening performed at the Meadowbrook Jr. High by elementary grade musicians.

Mr. John Harper, Assistant Coordinator for the Arts in Music, accepted the gift in behalf of his entire staff who he felt are the real beneficiaries of this note of gratitude.

The gift, a tape recorder, was given to the Music Department specifically in acknowledgement "of their great contribution to the education of the 'whole' child, and for the continuing excellent musical education which the Music Educators in the Newton schools have been providing youngsters from Kindergarten to 12th Grade."

The Council's Annual Spring Conference this year was devoted and dedicated to all who had taught and are teaching music in the Newton Schools. Although previous Conferences had keynoted problem aspects of the schools, this year's effort highlighted a most positive one.

As noted by Mr. Scott "Music in the Newton Schools is not just good — it is often an inspiration. It will give more children a lasting joy, a lasting, happy memory of their schools days than anything else in their school experience. Many of us have often been moved greatly at performances of music by Newton students, and by the love of music inspired in so many, whether talented or untalented."

7 Newtonites Honored Today At Harvard U.

Seven residents of the Newtons who are faculty members or employees of Harvard University are being honored for their years of service to the University this afternoon (May 20) at the 17th annual 25-year recognition program. Guest speaker for this event, to begin at 4 p.m., will be Dr. David Rutstein, the Ridley Watts Professor of Preventive Medicine at Harvard. The program is being held in the Pound Building at the Harvard Law School.

Honorees from Newton Centre are: Frances Jane Bonner, M.D. of 160 Lake ave., Sydney Saul Gellis, M.D. of 77 Alderwood road; and Norman Zameck, M.D. of 68 Kenwood ave., all of the medical school.

From Newtonville, Miss Frances Louisa Johnson of 139 North St., of the office of Administration and George Manuel Pike, M.D. of 370 Quinobquin road, Waban, of the medical school will be honored.

Also to be cited for their 25 years of service are Miss Priscilla Carter of 62 Chandler Place, Newton Upper Falls, with the medical school and Professor James Robert Hightower of 321 Central st., Auburndale, in the school of Arts and Sciences.

2 Gas Stations Held Up Sunday

Morning and afternoon robberies at a pair of Newton gas stations were reported to police Sunday by the teenage attendants on duty at the times of the crimes.

The 15-year-old attendant at the Beacon Shell station, 1099 Beacon Street, told police that a man he thought to be in his early 20s forced him to empty the cash register of its contents, approximately $60.

The robber, who was carrying a gun in a shoulder harness under his jacket, warned the attendant not to phone for the police and fled on foot through Newton Cemetery. The hold-up was reported at 10:45 a.m.

Sometime before 4:30 that afternoon, a man ordered, at gunpoint, the 17-year-old attendant at the Highland Gulf station at 1637 Centre Street to "empty the till," as the teenager quoted the culprit as saying.

After handing the robber the approximately $150 in the register, the attendant was locked in a closet from which he finally managed to escape about five minutes later by removing the pins from the door's hinges.

Donald F. O'Neil, the 40-year-old Newton police officer who last week donated a kidney in a hopeful but unsuccessful attempt to save the life of his son, Kevin, was discharged from Boston's Peter Bent Brigham Hospital yesterday morning (Wednesday).

A Mass of the Resurrection was said yesterday for the boy, age 12, at Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton.

Mason-Rice 5th Graders Hike To Clean-Up Trash

One of the Mason-Rice 5th grade classes, led by teacher, Mrs. Janet Cushing, recently completed a three hour hike through various locations in the vicinity of Newton Centre, carrying empty trash bags and boxes, in their attempt to clean up the city and act against pollution.

The idea of an "Anti-Pollution Hike" was created and thereafter organized by the students. The 5th graders went out in groups of six, each accompanied by a volunteer mother and a map of their designated areas. They all worked diligently and purposefully in removing all the trash found in their areas and thereafter met a city truck at the Mason-Rice School, to have the rubbish transferred from the school grounds.

A tremendous effort was made by students to do their part in helping to relieve the pollution problem in our city.

Those participating in this project were the following students: Shota Aiki, John Anastasi, William Braverman, Stuart Cole, Dannis Fontecchio, Richard Grossman, Edward Hyman, Andrew Kaufman, Richard MacDonald, Tommy Meyers, Erol Morey, Stephen Pescosolido, Ethan Ruber, Ralph Brunswick, Cynthia Carpenter, Michael Smaller, David Zoll, Erica Bernstein, Wendy Brunswick, Cynthia Carpenter, Elizabeth Earthrowl, Rochelle Feldman, Deirdre Gill, Netti Gold, Nancy Hoffman, Alice Hughes, Karen Johnson, Gayle Milton, Barbara Williams and Eleanor Saich.

The mothers who accompanied the students were: Mrs. Bernard Grossman, Mrs. Sumner Brunswick, Mrs. Louis Siagel, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, together with the 5th grade teacher of the class, Mrs. Janet Cushing.

No Decision On DiCarlo Resignation

The Newton Redevelopment Authority recently voted to table discussion on the matter of Chairman Mario DiCarlo's letter of resignation as chairman which he submitted last week.

DiCarlo, an authority member since its creation in 1965 and chairman since February of 1966, was asked to step down from the top post recently by Mayor Monte G. Basbas who noted that work on the Lower Falls urban renewal project was being impeded by the inability of the chairman and several aldermen to reach an accord on a number of project-related matters.

In his letter, DiCarlo mentioned "increasingly politically motivated pressures" as the reason for resigning from the chairmanship. He intends, however, to "discharge my duties as a member of the authority." His term expires in April of 1974.

Jewish Group Presents Play

The Jewish Repertory Theater group of the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center presented "The Dybbuk" by S. Anski for the fourth time this season at the Meadowbrook Junior High School, Meadowbrook road, Newton Centre, last Saturday. The play was under the direction of Dr. Zeev Raviv of Brandeis University and was performed in English on the 50th anniversary of its writing.

SARGENT ASKS GAS TAX FUNDS SWITCHED TO TRANSIT USE

GOV. FRANCIS W. SARGENT urged the legislature Wednesday to free more than $140 million in tax revenues, now earmarked for road building, to improve all public transportation in Massachusetts. Under the state constitution, money raised by the 6.5 cents per gallon gasoline tax can only be spent on highway construction. A joint session of the legislature is scheduled next week to take up the proposed constitutional amendment that would allow the state to use the funds to finance more subways, buses and other mass transit projects. At the same time, Sargent promised in a speech to give local officials and "plain citizens" more of a voice in planning future public transportation. Sargent told a meeting of state officials and representatives of 12 regional planning agencies that local officials in the past have been told by the state to "keep out, no help wanted" in planning new transportation. "That's not good enough, not good enough at all," Sargent said. Sargent said he has written to all 240 House members and 40 state senators urging repeal of the 1948 constitutional restriction on the use of gasoline tax revenues. "We must have — statewide — the option to use state highway funds for a variety of capital investment transit programs," Sargent said.

CONCORD INMATE SOUGHT AFTER TAKING 5 HOSTAGES

AN INMATE of Concord Reformatory overpowered two guards as he was being returned to the prison Wednesday, taking five hostages, including a woman and her three young children as he fled to Boston. Clarence R. Fields, 23, of Dorchester, released the hostages unharmed, police said. He was being sought Wednesday night in the Morton Street area of the Dorchester-Mattapan section. Corrections Department officials said Fields, serving a five-year sentence for receiving stolen goods, overpowered George Harnes, 58, of West Concord, and Americus Deluca, 40, of Methuen, about two miles from the prison. Fields, who was being returned to prison from a court appearance in Hingham drove the guards out of the car and sped away, crashing into a car a short distance away at the intersection of Rtes 2 and 2A. Authorities said he then forced five persons at various places to drive him toward Boston.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN UNEARTHING OF 12 BODIES

SHERIFF'S OFFICERS who previously unearthed the remains of nine farm workers, hacked to death and buried along the Feather River near Yuba City, California, turned up three more bodies Wednesday and arrested a 37-year-old farm labor contractor in connection with the 12 killings. Juan V. Corona, a stocky, 200-pound father of four small children, was brought to the Sutter County sheriff's office at 4 a.m. and booked for homicide. Clad in gray work pants, green shirt and cowboy boots and with a blanket thrown over his head to hide his face, he appeared before Yuba County Judge J.J. Hankins for arraignment on murder charges at mid-day. Hankins continued the arraignment until 9 a.m., June 2, to allow Public Defender Roy Van Den Heuvel time to study the complaints. Sheriff's deputies working through a rainstorm Tuesday night unearthed corpse after corpse from the Sandy soil on one side of the river and orchards on the other.

REP. MILLS PUTS REVENUE SHARING TO REST

REP. WILBUR D. MILLS, D-Ark., said Wednesday the Nixon administration's federal revenue sharing plan is "so bad in principle and capricious in its results it will finally be put to rest." Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, made the statement in a prepared speech to the Illinois General Assembly in Springfield, Ill. The text was released by Mill's Washington office. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew spoke to the same legislators recently in support of revenue sharing. Ways and Means begins hearings next Wednesday on revenue sharing and observers give it virtually no chance of emerging from committee. Mills said "I look forward to those hearings because I am firmly convinced that it is only through public exposure" that the proposal would be finally shelved.

PLAN TO RAISE MINIMUM WAGE CALLED "DRASTIC"

LABOR SECRETARY James D. Hodgson told Congress Wednesday a Democratic proposal to raise the minimum wage to $2.25 an hour was so drastic it could add to unemployment and damage the economy. Arguing for a more gradual increase, to $2 as proposed by President Nixon, Hodgson said, "If we increase the statutory minimum too rapidly or extend the coverage too broadly, we can create unemployment among . . . low wage earners, thereby defeating our objective." The administration's bill would increase the basic minimum from the present $1.60 an hour to $1.80 Jan. 1, and to $2, Jan. 1, 1974.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE FIND CACHE OF MYSTERIOUS MISSILES

SOUTH VIETNAMESE troops who overran a sizeable North Vietnamese base camp just below the Demilitarized Zone found a cache of 98 mystery missiles of a type never seen before in Vietnam, allied officers said Wednesday in Saigon. The cache of 6-foot-long rockets was found about 3 miles south of the DMZ, in the aftermath of fighting in which South Vietnamese infantrymen killed at least 60 Communist soldiers. Allied officers, including 2 generals, were unable to identify the rockets as anything they had seen used in the war. They summoned allied weapons experts to the scene from Da Nang, 113 miles to the southeast. The mystery rockets were 6 feet long, khaki colored and without warheads.

AIRLINE PAYS $560,000 TO BOMB HOAXER

AUSTRALIA'S national airline Wednesday paid $560,000 to a bomb hoaxter who caused a 7-hour air drama involving 128 passengers and crew aboard a Hong Kong bound jetliner. There was no bomb. The tension began when Capt. R. J. Ritchie, the general manager for Qantas International, received a note advising him that a sophisticated barometric bomb had been placed on the plane. It stated that if the money were paid, the airline would be told how to dismantle it. The bomb was scheduled to detonate at a certain altitude, the note claimed. The hoaxter, to prove he was not joking, directed Ritchie to an airport locker where a similar bomb was found. The plane was ordered back to Sydney and circled the airport for 7 hours while the crew conducted 3 searches of the Boeing 707 without success. Ritchie finally handed over $500,000 Australian dollars to a man in a small truck. A short time later, a telephone call informed the airline that there was no bomb. It landed safely 15 minutes before its fuel would have run out.

All Arrested By Police

42 Block Train In Anti-Draft Protest

Forty-two persons, 17 of them residents of the Newtons, were arrested Tuesday morning when they attempted to prevent prospective army inductees from boarding a train in Newtonville.

They were taken into custody by Newton police when they persisted in blocking the entrance to the stairway leading to the Newtonville railroad station. This entrance is on the Paul Foley Bridge on Walnut street in Newtonville Square.

More than 100 youths, mothers and older men took part in the demonstration. They carried signs that said such things as: "Let There Be Life," "50,000 GI's Dead, Must We Send More?", "Newton Draft Board, Stop Sending Our Boys To War."

Some of the demonstrators seated themselves in a group around the eight-foot entrance to the stairs leading to the railroad tracks.

Big Day June 8th For Golden Agers

The program for the Fourth Annual All Newton Senior Citizens Luncheon scheduled for Thursday, June 8th is now set according to Anthony J. Bibbo, executive director of the Newton Community Service Centers, Incorporated.

In commenting on the luncheon Mr. Bibbo stated that the Senior Citizens Ad Hoc Committee is indebted to Mrs. Edward Landy for her vigorous efforts as chairman for the luncheon.

This year for the first time, the luncheon will be held in the comfortable setting of Lasell Jr. College beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Landy pointed out that this activity, open to all of Newton's Senior Citizens, has grown in popularity with each succeeding year. Bus transportation is provided from throughout the city on special busses coordinated by James Murphy from the Newton Recreation Dept. and Sgt. Charles Feeley, Newton Police Dept.

Thousands To March Here On Monday

City Marks Memorial Day With Big Parade

With Mayor Monte G. Basbas serving as Chief Marshal, the 1971 Newton Memorial Day Parade will step off at 10:30 a.m. this coming Monday (May 31) from Washington and Crafts Streets in Newtonville.

One of the highlights of this year's Memorial Day observance in the Garden former Governor and United States Senator Leverett L. Saltonstall.

Saltonstall, who began his public service career as a Newton alderman in 1921, will be marching in his 50th consecutive Newton Memorial Day Parade and will be the procession's Chief of Staff.

The parade roster consists of more than 50 marching units from all sectors of Newton life, as well as units from outside the city. Military, veterans, school, fraternal, civic and business groups will be represented among the marchers, as will officials from state and local government.

A special attraction will be the U.S. Marine Corps Band from Quantico, Virginia which has annually performed for over 100,000 spectators since January of 1969.

From the starting point of Washington and Crafts Streets, the parade will proceed west along Washington Street and south on Walnut Street to Commonwealth Avenue and the War Memorial Flag Staff near City Hall.

There, a brief wreath-placing and prayer-reciting ceremony will take place, during which time the parade's marching column will come to a halt.

Following this, the column will proceed on Walnut Street to Newton Cemetery, where exercises will be held at the G.A.R. Monument and the Veterans' Lot. Senator Saltonstall and Mayor Basbas, respectively, will lead the programs at those locations.

During that time, all floats and heavy vehicles, which will have been pulled over to the side of the street upon the parade's entrance into the cemetery, will be turned to face Commonwealth Avenue so that they may be placed in their proper positions when the parade leaves the pass in review opposite City cemetery.

The column will proceed out of the main gate of the cemetery and the assemblage will return down Walnut Street and Commonwealth Avenue where the parade will

School Board Votes For 14 More Metco Students

An addition of 14 pupils to the Metco program in Newton, bringing the number from the current 127 to a total of 141, was approved by the Newton School Committee on Monday night.

The pupils will all be entered in first grade classrooms having available space in the eight Newton schools now participating in the Metco program. No new schools will be added because of transportation costs.

Two Committee Members, Alvin Mandel and Edwin Hawkridge, abstained from voting for the expansion though they agreed the program should be maintained at its present level. Hawkridge moved unsuccessfully to table the expansion proposal.

Both Hawkridge and Mandel pointed to the closing in June of two parochial schools in the city — St. Bernard's with 288 Newton students and Sacred Heart High School with about 100 students.

They also mentioned a pending petition by the Newton

Community Development Foundation for permission to build 361 units of low and moderate income housing.

Hawkridge maintained that expansion plans should be deferred until the impact on the school system of

3rd Hearing Shows Opposition to NCDF

But we haven't heard one suggestion on six sites in the gestion of a better way to do it city, or a list of more suitable sites."

Those were the words of Robert Casselman, president of the Newton Community Development Foundation, as he presented the non-profit group's low and moderate income housing proposals on the final night last Thursday of three public hearings on the matter.

At issue is a request by NCDF to the Newton Zoning

The current proposals are a modified version of plans rejected last August by the Board of Aldermen.

The hearings mark the initial step in complying with the state's so-called "anti-snob" zoning law. If the petition is denied NCDF will appeal to a state board. The entire matter may very like

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Safeguard Needed to Assure Students Don't Vote Twice

How do you make sure that a 19-year-old student doesn't vote both in his home community and in the city or town where the college he attends is located?

That question apparently is troubling the election officials in some communities where large numbers of college boys and girls are concentrated.

Illegal double-voting can be prevented—but at a rather substantial expense to the communities involved.

Most election officials, who have expressed an opinion on the matter, would prefer to see the students do their voting in their home cities and towns, not in the college communities where they are living temporarily.

They point out that the students could take over the government in a college town such as Amherst if they voted together in a bloc even though they might actually have no real interest in the operation of the town.

Tragedy is not unfamiliar to police officers, and the members of the Newton Police Department reacted to the sorrow of brother officers Sergeant John I. Likely and Patrolman Donald O'Neil, both of whom lost sons recently.

sounds will permeate the halls of the three arts centers this summer.

Newton South High School (for secondary students) will concentrate on the Rock scene. Through composition for the rock, conventional, and electronic instruments, analysis of current styles and then performance, members of the center will explore with creativity the vital music form in its many aspects.

Synthesizers and tone generators will be a part of standard equipment used. Registrants for this program should have a moderate proficiency on an instrument — any instrument.

Jerry Gardner, dynamic teacher of music at Newton High School, will be coordinator of music offerings in this center. He will be assisted by Ronald Sylvester, student of music education at Ithaca College.

Recordings and filmings made will be programmed in the center's music lab area and prepared for presentation. Discovering sounds and sights, a combining of the arts will take place at Peirce.

Mason-Rice New Elementary Center will be coordinated by Mrs. Shirley Laman, instructor at the Roger Smith College in Bristol, R.I. Mrs. Laman is well-known as a teacher and consultant for her creative approaches with young people in music education and for her work with the innovative Manhattenville Project. Members at this center will explore environmental sounds that exist around us.

They will seek new sounds from locations in and away from the school. With their findings, recorded experimentation can take place. Sounds will be expanded, contracted, added to electronic and instrument sound to create and compose music.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC — A program for independent instrumental study will be available at the Peirce Center — here Robert Giorgi, Newton Instrumental teacher and well-known professional musician — will give private lessons to beginning students, students who have started study in the winter music program, and will provide lessons to others on lower color instruments such as tuba, string bass, baritone horn, and alto saxophone.

Most of this latter group of instruments will be made available through the schools. An ensemble of all students and others will rehearse once each week.

Students may be part of total creative arts program and participate in Instrumental Music. If enough Mason-Rice students are interested in Instrumental Music, the program will be offered at that location on certain days of the week.

Emanuel Shavuot Services Remember Rabbi Gordon

This coming Sunday morning (May 30) is the first day of Shavuot, the Festival of the Torah, and Temple Emanuel of Newton will dedicate its religious school to the memory of its late beloved Rabbi Albert I. Gordon (1903-1968).

It was under Rabbi Gordon's guidance that the Temple Emanuel Religious School grew to become one of the finest and largest Conservative Judaism school in the country.

The graduation of the students from the Elementary Department of the Religious School will also take place as part of the Shavuot services of the morning.

Rabbi Gordon spent nearly 40 years in the service of the rabbinate, including over fifteen years as Spiritual Leader of Temple Emanuel of Newton. He served as Executive Director of the United Synagogue of America for five years.

During the fifteen years he served as Spiritual Leader at a leading Minneapolis congregation, he also was a member of the National Meditation and Conciliation Service, and served as arbitrator on many labor mediation panels.

His authorship of the following books, "Jews in Suburbia," "Jews in Transition," "Intermarriage: Interfaith Inter-racial, Inter-ethnic and 'Conversion' are considered very important contributions to the sociological knowledge of American Jewish community life.

In addition to his synagogue duties and prolific authorship, Dr. Gordon was active in many rabbinic and clerical organizations.

He was a member of the Human Relations Council in Newton, served on the B'nai B'rith Institute on Judaism, was Chairman of the Commission on Jewish Education for the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston, taught courses in Judaism at Andover Newton Theological School in Newton, was on the faculty of Boston University School of Sociology, and was a member of the Boston University Board of Governors.

Mrs. Gordon, the former Dorothy Davis, presently resides in Newton, and is an active participant at Temple Emanuel as well as many other community endeavors in the greater Boston and Newton area.

Vets Against War at Church Here May 30th

Two members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War will deliver the sermon and answer questions during the Memorial Day Service at the First Unitarian Society in Newton, 1326 Washington St., West Newton, on Sunday, May 30 at 11 a.m.

Tim Holmes, an interrogator in Vietnam, and Andy Pagonegro, a veteran of the Korean War who participated in the recent Washington protest march, will also show films of the Winter Soldier Investigation as part of their presentation.

The congregation of the First Unitarian Society voted a resolution two years ago calling for a withdrawal date from Vietnam and prior to that had approved giving sanctuary to draft resisters.

Its Board of Trustees recently re-affirmed a decision to refuse payment of the telephone excise tax because of its direct relation to the Indo-China war.

The Rev. G. Clyde Dodder, minister of the church, commented that the appearance of the two veterans was one more effort on the part of the parish to affirm the growing demand that the war be ended and the resources of the nation redirected to the needs of the poor and the under-privileged.

On Dean's List

Mrs. Deborah Mergrian of Newton has been named to the Dean's Honor List at Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kansas, A 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 point system is required to earn a place on the Dean's List.

Mrs. Mergrian, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. Louis Jones of Burlington.

Goddard and Christina site. He also noted that the Meadowbrook population is also under capacity and indicated that Newton South High School, though presently overcrowded, should experience a declining enrollment as a result of decreases in the feeder elementary and junior high schools.

Testifying against the project, School Committeeman Alvin Mandell said that the schools throughout the city are crowded "and will remain so for the foreseeable future," though he conceded that the specific schools involved in the two sites in the southern part of the city could handle the impact.

Opponents to the Goddard and Christina St. site strongly emphasized the drainage and flooding problems in the area.

The overwhelming majority of the some 400 people who attended Thursday night's hearing were opposed to the housing proposals. A long list of objectors also pointed to the importance of maintaining zoning integrity, adverse effects of a change in the character of the neighborhoods, problems of traffic, and density.

To Honor Dead of All Wars Monday

Gone from the lines of march will be the last members of the Grand Army of the Republic. In their places will be the fast-dwindling veterans of the Spanish-American War.

The elements have long claimed the khaki wrap-around leggings of the men of World War I. The basin-shaped helmets they wore no longer serve even as planters. The headlines which told of North Africa, Sicily, D-Day and places like St. Lo, will long remain fresh in the minds of those who served in World War II. Those who stormed Guadalcanal no longer can count the years back on their fingers.

There'll be veterans of a only lately returned from fought Korean War that was Southeast Asia and the most called a "police action," and inexplicable war in the there'll be men, some of them tion's history.

There'll be parades and marches to ceremonies at the cemeteries. Notables will speak; bugles will sound the mournful notes of Taps, and graves will be decorated.

On both Sunday and Monday the roads leading to cemeteries will be crowded as thousands make their way to graves where loved ones sleep. Some will come early on Monday morning to avoid the formal exercises and some will come after those exercises have concluded.

They will kneel in prayer as they offer orisons and their rosary supplications for the departed.

The MBTA and other bus lines and the police will put into operation plans for handling the crowds and the step-up traffic.

Memorial Day, 1971, comes to the United States, while the issue of another war remains unsettled. In some of the cemeteries will rest men who have given their lives in that war and even as they are mourned by their kin and loved ones, prayers for peace will be offered.

Even after the cessation of hostilities in the Korean war names like Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos only designated far-away spots on the geography map—they were the names of places which then did not even enter the lives of most Americans.

Next Sunday and Monday they will be in the thoughts of thousands observing another Memorial Day weekend. Even though they pray for the now departed, many will be offering fervent prayers for the quick returns of sons, brothers and fathers—still on the other side of the world.

Nursery Tots Fete Teacher, Schoolmate, Finland Bound

A fond farewell was wished to Wheelock College student-teacher, Wendy Dubins, and Bowen Nursery School pupil, Merja Suortti, this past week.

Wendy completed her student-teaching semester at the Nursery on Friday; and Merja will be returning to Finland by their grandmother.

The 1971-1972 school year includes a five-day morning session and a separate three-day afternoon class. For information on enrollment, please call Mrs. Lucie Chansky, Registration Chairman, at 244-7310.

Parents of the Nursery children were invited to the class party, and given an opportunity to say informal good-byes. Mementos from the

Flag Display On Holiday

On the official observance of Memorial Day next Monday (May 31) the flag should fly at half staff until noon, a symbolic tribute to the nation's dead in all wars. Under the national flag code the half-staffing should be effected after the colors have been raised to the peak momentarily and then lowered to the half staff position. It is universal custom to display the flag from sunrise to sunset from buildings and flagstaffs, but it may be displayed at night under illumination. It should not be displayed in inclement weather.

Programs At Pine Manor

Newton residents may be interested in three quite different programs for elementary and high school young people, college students and adults, to be held this summer at the Pine Manor campus in Chestnut Hill, where the participants will share the facilities of the 79-acre facility.

The three programs scheduled for Pine Manor this summer are "The Renaissance - The Age And Its Impact," the Pine Manor Department of Social Sciences. Open to high school seniors, college students and adults, it offers an election of one or two courses, each of which will carry four college credits.

The following courses conducted by Pine Manor departmental chairmen are offered: Art History, A Comparative Approach to Renaissance Vision; English, Elizabethan Drama and Its Background; French, A Twentieth Century View of Renaissance Writers; History, Europe in the Renaissance and Reformation Era; Music, Music in the Renaissance Period; Religion, Martin Luther: A Psycho-Religious Study; and Science, Science, 1350-1650: Renaissance or Revolution? Those enrolling may be day or resident students. Resident students will live in the Pine Manor dormitories and take their meals in the College Refectory.

For boys and girls from 10-16 years of age there will be the Pine Manor Tennis Camp which features organized, supervised tennis at its best. Day and boarding students enroll for one or both of the two four-week sessions, June 28 - July 23 and July 26 - August 20. In addition to the tennis there are other elective sports such as badminton, softball, volleyball, swimming, etc.

Headed by a leading professional chief instructor, Jack Dunnead of Brockton, and Mrs. Hazel V. Wightman of Chestnut Hill, long distinguished in tennis circles, the Camp is directed by George A. Volpe of Newton Highlands, and Sydney Brass of Newton Center, supported by a staff of top-ranking counselors. The white-clad tennis players will contribute their special enthusiasm to the Pine Manor summer scene.

The Summer Institute in Educational Fund Raising August 1-7 will be the last of the summer programs to be held on the Pine Manor campus. Sponsored by the American Alumni Council for the fifth consecutive year, it is rated by the Council as one of its most valuable learning experiences. The Institute which covers every aspect of educational fund raising is recom- mended by both public and private, and for two-year colleges and independent schools and for any institution with special fund development needs.

Using the extensive Pine Manor facilities, the faculty for the Institute will live, teach and work with the participants, insuring maximum opportunity to cover all subject areas of interest to college administrators involved in fund raising. Seminars will be an important part of the Institute. Students also will have the opportunity to enlarge upon the Institute program by utilizing the Institute library reading room, where books, manuals, case studies, and papers from Lending Library will be available.

The Albatross

Law-makers of the big states of New York and California are trying to put legislation together to limit the influx of potential welfare recipients into their borders.

Favorite device under consideration is a limitation which would require a one-year residency rule before welfare benefits could be distributed in their states. The law-makers have a big hurdle to negotiate in the form of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling in 1969 which held welfare residency requirements to be unconstitutional.

However, there was a major "unless" included in that finding which provided a "compelling state interest for such a requirement."

Some legislative leaders in New York and California claim they now have a compelling reason and other states, including Massachusetts, will be looking over their shoulders watching developments.

New York state officials claim an average of 13,000 people, who are in the state less than a year, are now going on welfare rolls annually. The soaring costs of relief, they charge, make it impossible to provide their own regular residents with housing and education.

California, since the dust bowl days of the 1930s, has been a mecca for migrants. Its state and local leaders want to halt the inflow. More than a dozen counties in Southern California will spend $650 million more this year than they budgeted a year ago. Local property owners are paying twice as much in real estate taxes as they did in 1967-68.

No one can accurately forecast the final form the welfare picture will take from either a state or national standpoint. One thing is certain. Few will be pleased. Meanwhile, big states and big cities will suffer. Suffering severely, too, will be the deserving poor.

Today welfare is an albatross. Its enormous size and complexities have blocked the needs of both education and housing, both inextricably involved in welfare. It threatens any real progress in the field of health.

Those states seeking to curb the influx of more welfare cases to add to their caseloads are branded as cruel by some sociologists. It could very well be they are fighting for their continued existence.

Demonstrations

The Boy Scouts of America passed the 70th year of their existence this year. The organization — with a membership of about six million boys — is still thriving, still growing. Its leaders are too busy enlisting new members and charting new plans even to think about a saturation point for future membership.

That makes for a healthy situation.

America has gone organization-minded in the last few years. The proliferation of strange new affiliations go on week by week and almost from day to day. If they share one thing in common, it may be in the impressive titles they come up with like the Students for a Democratic Society, which seems to include a lot more than workaday students on its rolls as well as a dearth of democratic principles in its practices.

To hear the leaders of such organizations as the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice or the National Peace Action Coalition, tell their stories, they come into being in a sudden bursting of deprootred demands. The fact that a lot of those leaders bear the tired names of quick-blooming, fast-dying outfits of the past doesn't seem to crimp their mode of operation in the least.

On June 6 the Boy Scouts of America are going to put on a demonstration. It will be a titanic organizational task, but it would be foolhardy to predict only a small percentage will participate. Most of them will.

The youngsters won't leave any trail of broken glass or lurid inscriptions on public buildings in their wake. The Scouts are calling the day SOAR, "Save Our American Resources." Their task will be two-fold, to clean up litter and to focus public attention on the tremendous proportions of the litter program.

They'll achieve both objectives. The accolades they earn will not be over-extravagant. The "Well Done's" they win will be pretty much on a community-by-community basis and they'll command no spectacular time on the TV screen.

Yet, in a day when confrontation has been made a way of life, a little thoughtful assessment of the work of such an organization as the Boy Scouts of America and other groups and individuals, deserves more than passing attention.

This country wasn't built on screams and wanton destruction. Its future rests in its youth. Despite the antics of some on the fringes, there is reason to believe most of them will be ready for the responsibilities to come.

Answers Colbert

I would like to take this opportunity to respond to the recent article by James Colbert which noted that House Republican Floor Leader Frank Hatch and I differed on the vote to pass Speaker Bartley's watered-down version of the cabinet reorganization of state government.

We both completely support the cabinet system of government as overwhelmingly enacted by the Legislature in 1969. With over 170 state agencies reporting directly to the Governor our state government is simply uncontrollable. Highly competent Cabinet Secretaries with adequate staffs can bring order out of this chaos and make our state government really work. For these reasons we, like 61 of the 62 House Republicans, voted in favor of Governor Sargent's recommended $323,000 budget to fund the reorganization at the minimally acceptable level through June 30.

The Speaker of the House and the House Ways and Means Committee attacked this budget as extravagant. Their unwillingness to support what was already a much-modified plan cast doubt upon their real commitment to the cabinet reorganization itself.

When the $323,000 budget was defeated, the House passed the Ways and Means Committee recommendation for $104,000 — an empty shell of a program which would pay the salaries of ten secretaries and provide only one clerical assistant for each. The management of enormous programs and budgets would be entrusted to a cabinet secretary and one typist. It was on this vote that Representative Hatch and I split.

Representative Hatch voted for the $104,000, not to endorse the amount, but to pass some amount however inadequate to keep a reorganization bill alive for consideration of increases by the Senate. I voted against the $104,000 because I would have preferred not to accept a cabinet with inadequate staffing even at this stage of the process.

Even the Speaker admitted it was inadequate. His solution would be to draw the supportive personnel from existing state employees, a plan that sounds good but simply will not work. If as the Speaker suggests we were to take the best person, short of the Commissioner, out of every agency, the Departments would obviously flounder. Rob Peter to pay Paul.

Let me make it clear that neither Frank Hatch nor I will support a reorganization budget on the final vote if it is more form than substance. To do so would be to pretend there is hope for change where none really exists. That kind of over-promising has led to the tremendous spirit of disillusionment with government which we face today.

Spouts Off

Editor,

The Graphic:
I have never liked people who "spout off" on the merits of their favorite organization. However, I suddenly find that I'm doing the very same thing about our teen-agers Drop-In Center at the First Church in Newton.

In order for the center to remain open throughout the summer, the Newton Community Center needs about $1,500 to pay for the overhead, the co-ordinators, a policeman, entertainment, etc. There is no real way to raise money, except by asking Newton residents to contribute.

The Drop-In Center is PREVENTIVE MEDICINE for our teen-agers. It has proven highly successful since its inception last December, in keeping our children from hanging around street corners and getting into trouble.

As of May 29th, our funds will have run out until next fall . . . and the only people to whom we can turn are the fathers and mothers of these teen-agers.

To my way of thinking, the Drop-In Center is a fine cause, one where we can see our contributions actively at work!

If you would care to help,

OUR HONORED DEAD!

- POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS -

It does seem as a matter of common sense that 19 and 20-year-old college students should be limited to voting in the city or town where their domiciles are located, not in the town where they are living temporarily while they pursue their college studies.

However, the law is not clear on the matter, and some legal experts believe that a student can decide for himself whether he casts his vote in his home town or his college community.

Equally important is the conjecture among political pundits as to the impact the 19 and 20-year-old voters will make on the voting trends in city, town, federal and state elections.

The guessing in this department is that the impact will be negligible. So far the 19 and 20-year-olds have shown scant interest in enrolling as voters, and the 18-year-olds, who soon will be eligible to ballot in all election contests, probably will have even less.

There may be exceptions, of course. If the leaders of a student body decide to take over the operation of the government in the town where their college was located, they would rout out their classmates to get them registered as voters.

It will be very interesting to see what percentage of the 18, 19 and 20-year-olds qualify themselves to vote in next year's Presidential election. It may not be as high as the political pundits anticipate. Most college students are absorbed in their own undergraduate activities.

Craven Seeking Curfew For Boston School-Age Children

Boston School Committeeman John J. Craven is making a move which undoubtedly will be watched with tremendous interest by parents, police officers and others across Massachusetts.

He is seeking the establishment of a curfew in Boston which would require that boys and girls below a certain age be off the street and at home by a specified time.

Such a proposal ordinarily would be torpedoed almost as quickly as it surfaced because of the obvious complications involved. But Craven had the parents of Boston school children polled to determine how they feel about a curfew. He found they overwhelmingly favor one.

It all started when Craven was attending a meeting called to discuss the juvenile and teen-age problem. In a speech at the session he promised to anything he could to assist with the problem.

Several parents buttonholed him after his speech and told him one thing he could do to help would be to arrange for the adoption of a curfew. Craven promised to look into the matter.

He proceeded in gingerly fashion, unsure of what the public reaction would be to a proposal for restricting the actions of boys and girls below a certain age.

His first step was to arrange for the various units of the Boston Home and School Association to poll their tens of thousands of members on various questions relating to a possible curfew. The results were decisive.

The first question addressed to the parents was whether they would favor a curfew requiring that children under a certain age and not accompanied by an adult be off the streets and at home by a specified time on school nights — nights when they have school classes the following day.

Of the parents who answered the question, a whopping 83.7 per cent recorded themselves in favor of a curfew, and only 16.3 per cent opposed one.

Another question asked the parents whether they would want a curfew on non-school nights — nights when there was no school the next day. The answer came back: Yes—76.8 per cent; No—23.2 per cent.

After examining those returns, Committeeman Craven announced that he would submit a request to contributions (large or small) can be sent to: Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, Mass., 02156, in care of Karen Wright.

Then, when you see the com-the Boston Mayor and City Council asking for the adoption of a new city ordinance along the lines desired by the parents.

Committeeman Craven intends to present to Boston Mayor Kevin H. White and the Hub Councilors all the data assembled as a result of the poll of the parents of children in Boston's public schools.

On the basis of the poll returns it would appear that the parents feel that juveniles — under 17 years of age — should be at home by 9 p.m. on school nights and by 10 p.m. on non-school nights.

Some sentiment was expressed for allowing the youngsters to stay out until 11 p.m. on non-school nights, but a larger number favored 10 p.m. or earlier.

The answers to a question as to the age groups to which the curfew should apply on non-school nights was: 12 and under—7.5 per cent; 13—6.4 per cent; 14—10.7 per cent; 15—12.4 per cent; 16—37.8 per cent; 17—14.3 per cent; 18 and over—10.9 per cent.

Replies as to the time the curfew should go into effect on non-school nights were 6 p.m. or earlier—2.4 per cent; 7 p.m.—3.6 per cent; 8 p.m.—6 per cent; 9 p.m.—22.7 per cent; 10 p.m.—29.7 per cent; 11 p.m.—25.9 per cent; midnight—8.7 per cent; 1 a.m. and later—1 per cent.

In responding to questions as to the time the curfew should go into effect on school nights and the age which would be the cut-off point between the boys and girls to whom the curfew would apply and those who would not be affected by it, the replies were:

6 p.m. or earlier—5.1 per cent; 7 p.m.—7.9 per cent; 8 p.m.—17.3 per cent; 9 p.m.—43.9 per cent; 10 p.m.—22.9 per cent; 11 p.m.—2.5 per cent; midnight—3 per cent; 1 a.m. or later—1 per cent.

Age 12 or under—21.9 per cent; 13—6 per cent; 14—10.3 per cent; 15—11.2 per cent; 16—32.9 per cent; 17—10 per cent; 18—7.7 per cent.

"The poll results make it plain that a big majority of parents want a curfew," Craven declared. "In view of that, it seems to me they should be given one."

One Councillor, when questioned by the writer on his attitude toward the proposal, asked why the parents don't invoke their own curfew if they want one.

The obvious answer is that many parents can't get their 15 and 16-year-old sons and daughters to be home by 9 p.m. on a school night and that they're hoping a curfew will do what they can't do. Craven's position is that he is trying to do what the parents asked him to do. It all adds up to a highly interesting situation.

Gov. Sargent's Tax Program Still in Trouble in House

Governor Sargent's $1.9 Billion state budget apparently is on its way to passage by the State Legislature.

But the Governor's tax bill seems destined for another defeat.

The law-makers eventually must enact some tax program, but they don't appear ready to do it yet.

The staggering sum allowed in the budget for welfare purposes and the chilling knowledge that part of the money will be siphoned off by crooks and chiselers have the law-makers in a dither.

Members of the House of Representatives first approved a motion by Republican Representative Richard W. Daly of Wellesley, former State House newspaper reporter, that a ceiling of $815 Million be placed on welfare spending.

At first blush that seemed to be a reasonable and responsible action.

It meant, however, that if the $815 Million limit was reached, the State would be prohibited from granting any further assistance, no matter how worthy the case. Deserving people could be left penniless and could go hungry.

The spending ceiling advocated by Daly was given an initial okay by a 106-101 vote in the House.

Governor Sargent and Speaker David M. Bartley then applied pressure to House members and shifted the vote to a 127-99 count against the ceiling.

Student's Art Display At College Event

Mrs. Leslie Richmond Granoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Richmond of 287 Hartman Road, Newton Center, had her artwork on display at Connecticut College's annual Senior Art Exhibition held in Cummings Art Center.

A studio-art major, Mrs. Granoff has worked in the mediums of printing, serigraphy, painting, photography, and the art of bookmaking.

She was awarded the Art Department Prize for Superior Achievement by an Undergraduate and was a member of the Student Advisory Committee to the Department of Art. She also was the president of her dormitory and a member of the Student Assembly.

The wife of Mark Alan Granoff, Mrs. Granoff is a graduate of Newton South High School. After being graduated from Connecticut College, she will join her husband in Trier, Germany, where he is serving in the army with the rank of First Lieutenant.

Rules Committee To Hear Measure On False Alarms

The Legislation and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen is expected to consider soon a proposed ordinance by Michael J. Antonellis which would "offer a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a person making or circulating or causing to be made or circulate a false alarm of fire."

Taking advantage of enabling legislation recently approved by the General Court, Antonellis is attempting to decrease the number of potentially dangerous false alarms, which last year totaled 206.

The alderman expressed his belief that the $50 figure is not really enough but noted that it is the maximum allowed by the recent state legislation.

Massachusetts law currently sets a $100 minimum penalty for the turning in of a false alarm. A fine of $200 or up to a year in jail comprises the maximum penalty for the offense.

Pembroke Club Meets June 5

Newton members of the Pembroke College Club of Boston have been invited to the Club's annual meeting and election of officers on Saturday, June 5, at the home of Mrs. Jerome Oleksiw of Weston. Members will participate in a potluck luncheon at 12:30. Mrs. Harris Lang of Concord, Club President, is taking reservations. The Club is sponsoring an evening at the Boston Pops on the following Friday, June 11.

Designate Mental Health Week Here, May 24th-30th

Newton Mayor Monte Basbas has joined William Carmen, president of the Newton Mental Health Association and Dr. William Stone, Director of the Newton Mental Health Clinic, to proclaim this week as Mental Health Week in Newton.

The aim of the proclamation is to better inform the community of the services of the Mental Health Clinic, which are available to Newton citizens of any age desiring aid with emotional problems. President William Carmen expressed hope that persons in need of help would learn of the clinic and take advantage of its facilities.

The clinic has been of special value to children, and Mr. Carmen, who is also a Newton Alderman, has discovered that "One of the serious problems in our community is the lack of recognition of some of the very small yet significant psychological problems of children by their parents which frequently lead to poor communication between parent and child."

"Any parent who finds his child having any behavior or communication problems is urged to come to the clinic for help before more serious problems develop or the children look towards drugs or other unacceptable methods to overcome their frustrations."

Pamphlets discussing symptoms of mental health problems and how to deal with them have been made available at many of Newton's banks and libraries. The mental health clinic is located at 398 Walnut Street in Newtonville and has assured that no one be kept from its services for financial reasons by adjusting its fee to each individual.

Mr. Frazier is a retired principal of the William Howard Taft Junior High School in Brighton. He previously taught, for many years, General Science and Mathematics in the Donald McKay Junior High School, in East Boston.

He is Past - Commander of Newton Post, No. 48, American Legion, and also a former member of Newton Selective Service Board, No. 112.

Mr. Frazier has served on the Newton School Committee for the past thirty-two years. He offers his experience to the citizens of Newton in dealing with the many complicated problems of education. He deals with the varied and difficult problems of youth in a common sense manner, which recognizes the newly emphasized problems peculiar to modern young people.

Mr. Frazier recognizes the rights of peaceful dissent consistent with the rights of other students. He believes that with these rights the student also has responsibilities to himself and others, in order to achieve that very peace he so earnestly desires.

At the same time, Mr. Frazier believes that sufficient supervision should be exerted at all times, especially to prevent outside perverters of thought and action from spreading their weird ideas to a captive audience of students. There is a difference between honest dialogue of the problems of the times, under proper controls, and a defense by irresponsible speakers of an unacceptable standard of conduct absolutely contrary to the ideals of normal parents. Parents also have rights, especially one right that they may send their children to school and not have them brainwashed by irresponsible non-conformists, he stated.

"The drug problem is a challenge which must be recognized and admitted as such, and not hidden because we do not like the picture we see. I believe in the proper segregation of students suffering from this scourge of modern youth. Assistance must be available to those who voluntarily seek relief. The city - wide participation of the school, health, police, and all social facilities concerned, is an honest approach to a problem that must be attacked while there is still time. This approach demands much patience, understanding, and cooperation, he said.

"Some other problems which the School Committee must wrestle with are as follows:

"The ever growing requests to spend more of the taxpayers' money for expanding educational needs, at a time when many taxpayers have been forced to retrench drastically their economic lives.

"The imbalance created by the Collective Bargaining law, which, to some, measures the success of the federation leaders by the seeking and getting of more and more, regardless of the ability of the taxpayer to pay. The ever expanding assessments of dues upon teachers by their federation, the demand by the teachers for a closed shop, the mandatory collection of agency fees by the city, the constant implied threat of an illegal strike, the use of the state-wide federation's Collective Bargaining experts, — all make for pressures that are inordinately demanding and aggressive. You must have a school committee of strong minded members to withstand such imbalance and pressures," he said.

"One result of this imbalance is the ever growing demand by the association of mayors and others to remove the fiscal autonomy of school committees in Massachusetts, and thus to accomplish, what the present la wrelevant to the power of school committees prevent. To me, this would be too harsh a cure, and would mean the end of education as we have known it," Frazier pointed out.

"This, in turn, is reflected in the determined drive by a small but extremely vocal minority in the city, to change the method of election of school committee members. This would enable a relatively small group of active campaigners to elect candidates to their liking, and would end the present type of non - political school committee.

"And yet, the present method of electing school committee members has been one of the important reasons why the citizens of Newton can point with justifiable pride to our greatest community achievement, a school system that provides excellent and exciting education for the citizens of tomorrow," he concluded.

Mr. Frazier is proud to have been a part of this outstanding school system.

Students-

these developments could be more accurately determined.

Supt. Aaron Fink said, "I don't believe the addition of 14 children in the schools will add to any overcrowding problems."

Fink also noted that the new Metco pupils will not be placed in specific schools until the impact of the parochial school closings has been determined.

He said that Monsignor Quirk, pastor of the Sacred Heart parish, has indicated that many of St. Bernard's pupils may enroll in other parochial schools.

The Metco request was endorsed unanimously by the elementary and secondary school principals, the superintendent added.

He reported that there are now 65 Metco students in elementary schools, 58 in junior highs and 18 in high schools. Newton stands somewhere in the middle with regard to the number of Metco pupils it has received as compared with the other communities still in the program which also became involved in 1966.

Mrs. Katherine Jones, a Newton Metco administrator, explained that teachers involved in the program have praised the value of a racially mixed classroom. The program has served a broad spectrum of the Black community in Boston, she said.

"I have been somewhat critical in the past because I was afraid of hidden costs not conveyed in reports. But I'm happy to say the program is well organized and the leadership is good," commented Committeeman Francis Frazier.

In a report from the Metco office, it was revealed that transportation costs for Newton amount to $55,860, which is paid for by the state.

Administrative costs for the entire program which involves 29 communities amount to $191,740 or about $140 per student, also reimbursed by the state. Out of pocket costs to Newton amount to $4,009.50 per year.

School Committeeman Richard Douglas also noted that Newton's school population generally is on the decline and he maintained that the influx that may result from both the Metco program expansion and the parochial school closings will not add up to more pupils than the projected decline in school population since 1969.

Prepare Franklin Pierce Ceremony

Two Newton residents are members of a dedication committee which made the arrangements for the dedication last Sunday, May 23, of Frank Marcucella Hall at Franklin Pierce College in Rindge, New Hampshire. They are William F. Kenney and Pasquale Franchi. Honorary Chairman of the Committee are Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, who spoke at the ceremonies.

Frank Marcucella was a longtime friend of Secretary Volpe and president of the John A. Volpe Construction Company at the time of his death in 1966. The building dedicated Sunday is a major classroom and laboratory facility.

If you wait longer than 30 minutes to get a muffler installed, you're wasting your time.

Any other place in town installs mufflers as a sideline. Which means they do all sorts of things that take time away from replacing your muffler.

So you'll probably have to do without your car for several hours. Or even a whole day.

At Midas, mufflers are the biggest part of our business. So we're geared to replace a muffler in 30 minutes.

Or less.

We install mufflers for a living.

Three Graduate From Norwich

Three Newton area residents are candidates for degrees at Norwich University's 152nd Commencement this weekend. They are: Dale MacKinnon of Newton Highlands, bachelor of science degree in civil engineering; Alan J. Rabinowitz, bachelor of arts degree in government; and Stephen G. Toomey, bachelor of science degree in physical education.

MacKinnon and Rabinowitz are also scheduled to receive commissions as second lieutenants in the U.S. Army Reserve.

MacKinnon graduated from Framingham North High School in 1967. A dean's list student at Norwich, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacKinnon, 15 Charles St., Newton Highlands.

Rabinowitz graduated from Newton High School in 1967. At Norwich he played varsity lacrosse and was a member of the sport parachute club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rabinowitz, 232 Cabot St., Newton.

Toomey graduated from Newton High School in 1967. A standout hockey player for three years at Norwich, Steve scored 18 goals and had 145 assists last winter in helping the Cadets gain a playoff berth in the ECAC Division II championships. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald E. Smith, 12 Dexter Rd., Newton.

MRS. KENNETH R. ZURAW

Miss Graves, Mr. Zuraw Wed at Candlelight Rites

A candlelight ceremony at the Calvary Methodist Church, Richmond, Va., took place on Saturday, May 22, for the marriage of Miss Sydney Ellen Graves to Kenneth Randolph Zuraw.

The couple's parents are with white lace to match her Mrs. Marie A. Graves of Juliet cap, Mrs. Sheridan R. Auburndale, Mr. Henry R. Barringer of Newport News, Va., was her sister's matron of honor. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and white daisies.

The Rev. Louis Carson solemnized the 7 o'clock service at which two rings were exchanged. A reception was held in the social hall at the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white gown fashioned of Alencon lace and silk organza. The empire bodice had a high neckline and elbow length sleeves. Her smartly styled skirt was enhanced with a chapel length train.

A jeweled lace petal cap was fastened with her fingertip imported silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white roses, pom-poms and daisies.

Open Meeting By the Friends Of Camphill

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Huberman of Waban, co-chairmen of the New England Chapter of the Friends of The Camphill Movement, invite the public to attend the annual meeting of the group at the J.F. Kennedy Junior High School in Natick on Thursday (June 3) at 8 p.m.

Co-sponsored by The Educational Cooperative, the meeting will feature a talk by Mr. Hubert Zipperlen, director of Camphill Village in Copake, New York, and a production demonstration by Mrs. Gregg Brewer, one of the crafts masters at the Village. Their theme, that the retarded can often be creative in craft skills if given the opportunity, will be of special interest to teachers in special education, rehabilitation and workshop personnel, and the parents and friends of the retarded.

Camphill Village is part of the international Camphill Movement which consists of over 20 non-profit residential schools and working communities for the mentally handicapped in the U.S., Europe, and South Africa. Their purpose is to create a useful, productive and humanly rewarding existence for those who cannot achieve their goal on their own.

There will be a display and sale of the finely crafted products of the Village at the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Zakon of West Newton are in charge of all product sales.

Pre-Schoolers Day Camp To Continue This Summer

The very successful pre-school camp program sponsored by the Newton Health Center and the Grace Church Nursery School is being repeated this summer. This unique program was set up so that children with special problems could be included along with other children.

The highlight of the program will again be swimming three times a week (weather permitting) at Crystal Lake in Newton. Using the facilities at Grace Church, the group also engaged happily in many other activities. These included singing, creative movement, painting, working with play dough, experimenting with many other kinds of art materials, and a great deal of dramatic play.

Almost daily the brave firemen put out a blazing fire in our log cabin, the staff were fed a sumptuous variety of mud pies and cakes and taken on long trips in our toy car.

The swings, climbing gym, tricycles, and water play table

Everyone gathered around the tables for mid-morning snacks. As they played, the children, who came primarily from the Community Clinical Nursery School and the Grace Church Nursery School, developed new friendships and took in stride the differences among them.

Some of the children made remarkable progress within the six week period and all of them thoroughly enjoyed their hours in the program. One boy wanted his family to move with him into Grace Church so he could be at school all the time.

The program will run for six weeks from June 28 through August 6, 9 to 12 each week day morning. The staff will include Virginia Odell, director of the clinical Nursery School and her assistant May Takayanagi, Joanne Williams, director of Grace Church Nursery School and Ellamae Shacter, a teacher at Grace Church Nursery School.

Many high school students also volunteer their time to help, especially during swim periods. The class is limited to 22 children. Most of the places have already been filled by children from the two schools, but there are a few vacancies left.

Preference will be given to those who can attend the full six weeks. The children range in age from four to six and almost all of them have had at least one year in nursery school or kindergarten. Those interested in sending a child, please call Mrs. Williams at Grace Church, 244-3221 or Mrs. Odell at 969-4925.

Newtonites To Be Channel 2 Auctioneers

Several Newton residents will be among those Boston area men and women appearing as auctioneers for the 1971 Channel Two Auction, to begin Saturday, June 5 and continue for nearly 100 hours through June 12.

The eight-day fund-raising event helps to bring in money needed for the continuation of Boston's public broadcasting station, WGBH-TV.

The Newtonites assisting in the effort as televised auctioneers are Thomas Culbertson, Mrs. Hugh O. Hencken, Mrs. Irma Mann, Michael Mears, Robert Segal and Mrs. Doreen H. Wilkinson.

Lower Falls Man Hit By Renewal, Assessment Base

Although asserting, "I am satisfied with the home I have," retired baker William H. Renke will not only lose his Newton Lower Falls house in the near future but might also not be able to afford a replacement.

Renke, 65, of 23 Atherton Place, is still talking price with the Newton Redevelopment Authority on his home of 26 years, which lies within the authority's Lower Falls urban renewal area.

According to the owner, the cost of building a new home (adequate for his family) on a nearby neighborhood lot being held for him by the redevelopment agency would run close to $28,000.

His annual tax bill would therefore be $1,582, whereas he presently pays $610 in property taxes, on a home and land assessment of $5,400. The current tax rate is $113 per thousand of assessed valuation but assessments are done at only about 50 percent of the market value.

The plan, announced last November by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, to start having property assessed at its "full and fair" market value had to be delayed due to the revaluation's projected cost and the city's present tight financial bind.

Even though it is unlikely that the body has the power to do so, the Board of Aldermen has been requested by the Redevelopment Authority to grant "tax relief for a certain period of time" to Renke who continues to wonder aloud, "They say you're not supposed to lose anything" in a renewal program.

Newton-Waltham Bank To Extend Business Hours

Effective the week of June 7th, the Newton Centre, Newton Upper Falls and West Newton Offices of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company will initiate extended banking hours, Giles E. Mosher, Jr., Chairman of the Board and President, has announced.

The bank's Newton Centre Office, located at 808 Beacon Street, will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Fridays. The bank's walk-up window will be open from 3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, while the drive-up window will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Fridays.

At Newton Upper Falls, 235 Needham Street, the bank will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Drive-up window will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

At West Newton, 1 Chestnut Street, the bank will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Friday.

"Many of our Newton customers had requested evening hours in addition to our normal early morning hours," Mr. Mosher said, "and the changes in these three offices are just the beginning in Newton. Before long, all eight of our Newton Offices will be open at least one evening per week as will almost all of our twenty offices."

not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober." Supporting commentary from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you. The cement of a higher humanity will unite all interests in the one divinity."

Hamilton School Earns Praise

Newton's Hamilton School has been singled out at the "Newsworthy School of the Month" by a national publication for elementary school teachers. The recognition came in the May issue of Instructor Magazine.

Miss Muriel Lundy, principal of Hamilton, is to be presented with award winning plaque by Mr. Norman K. Seiple of Instructor Magazine, at the annual PTA pot luck dinner at St. Mary's Church in Newton Lower Falls. Mr. Harold Beatle, District Coordinator of Programs, is to be on hand to represent the Newton administration.

Commenting on the citation Miss Lundy stated: "This award is the result of the past ten years of discussion and implementation by many people at the Hamilton School. I am particularly grateful to the two principals who preceded me, Miss Ruth Chadwick and Mrs. Hope Danielson, as well as the efforts of all Hamilton staff members."

From Superintendent Aaron Fink came this message: "Congratulations to Muriel Lundy and her staff - all of us are proud to share in this honor."

Medical Degree From Temple

A resident of Newton was among the 143 students who received degrees recently at Temple University School of Medicine's commencement ceremony.

He is Dr. Lewis Lawrence Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman S. Kramer, of 653 Boylston Street, Newton.

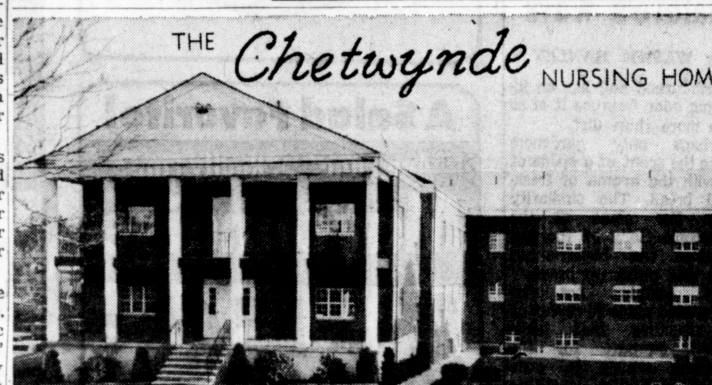

The medical students received degrees along with about 4,000 other students in the 85th general commencement ceremony held by the university at Convention Hall.

Portnoy Speaks On BCH Security

Steven Portnoy of 39 Walter St., Newton Center, addressed the International Security Conference in Chicago yesterday, Wednesday. Portnoy is assistant director of Boston City Hospital and director of the Hospital's intensified security program. He spoke on new security measures initiated at Boston City Hospital during the past year.

"With the cooperation we have received from the City of Boston Police Department and the modern security measures we have initiated," Portnoy said, "we have made Boston City Hospital a safe place in which to work and come for medical treatment. Regardless of how outstanding the medical care, only through a top notch security setup can any hospital, private or public, attract patients and qualified employees."

Grace Church Nursery School To Expand Special Education

For the past three years the Grace Church Nursery School has been involved in developing a program which makes it possible to include in their regular classes one or two children with special needs or handicaps. Working with the Newton Mental Health Center and the B.U. School of Special Education a plan was developed using graduate students as special teachers working closely with these children to help them with their problems while they were in a normal class.

There are several nursery schools in the Newton area besides Grace Nursery School now using the graduate students and the consulting services of Dr. Jones of the Newton Mental Health Center. The Newton Nursery Teacher's Association has worked out an arrangement with the Newton Mental Health Center whereby any school in the association which makes a minimal contribution to the Center can call upon the services of Dr. Jones for evaluation and consultation on problems encountered in their children.

The type of early intervention which this program makes possible has already proven its worth by helping many children whose problems would have gone untreated until kindergarten or later. Until kindergarten or later.

Because there is no school in our area especially geared to meeting the problems of preschool disturbed children the Grace Church Nursery School is planning now to expand its program to include around six of these children with various problems.

They have applied to several foundations, the State Bureau of Special Education, and the State Dept. of Mental Health for the funds to add to their staff and consulting services and also to provide for research to evaluate the program carefully.

These efforts to provide an integrated setting for children with problems reflects the growing movement in education away from the isolation of these children from a normal school setting. The movement is based on the conviction that it is better for both the handicapped and so-called "normal" children to be together.

The morning class of twenty four year olds will be the focus for this program beginning in the fall of 1971. There are only two or three openings left at the present time. Persons interested in enrolling a child should call Mrs. Joanne Williams, Director, at 244-3221 as soon as possible.

There are also a few openings left in the three year old class for next fall. This class meets three afternoons a week from 12:30 to 2:30 and will continue to serve as a laboratory setting for a very successful child development class at Newton High School.

Anybody who can find the Newtowne Barn this weekend can have our $6.95 Fabulous Filet Mignon Dinner for only $4.95.

Which way to the Newtowne Barn?
Most restaurants are easy enough to find. They're usually on major highways with flashing neon signs and big arrows right out front. You can't miss them.
So where are we?
Hidden away in the Holiday Inn in Newton Lower Falls. A nice little town that naturally frowns upon that kind of razz-ma-tazz.

Well, when you're in a spot like we are, we think you have to do something fabulous to attract attention.
We can't use a sign to attract you. So we're using a steak.
And no ordinary steak, either. A filet mignon three fingers thick. And along with it, a beautiful salad, potato, breads, beverage, and a luxurious dessert like our hot apple pie with vanilla rum sauce.

On weekdays, we get $6.95 for all that.
But every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, we call it our Fabulous Filet Mignon Dinner, and you can get it all for only $4.95.

What if you had Filet Mignon for lunch?
It's no excuse for passing up a chance like this. But if you insist, we cook things like lobster, turkey, chops, roast beef, shrimp and duck (we make it three ways, like broiled, with peaches and chestnuts).
We'll even draw you a map.
Just remember, don't look for the Newtowne Barn. Look for the Holiday Inn on Grove Street (969-5300).

Our Fabulous Filet Mignon Dinner and ridiculously large drinks are hiding inside.
The Newtowne Barn
If you're hungry enough, you'll find us.

Miss Linda Carl Becomes Mrs. Arthur Owen Kaplan

Temple Shalom in Medford was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Linda Joyce Carl to Arthur Owen Kaplan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Carl, of North Reading and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kaplan of 22 Holland street, Newton, are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Klein officiated at the four o'clock ceremony at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. A reception followed at the temple hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made of white organza and chiffon. Her molded bodice, trimmed with lace, had a scoop neckline, and long sleeves. A chapel length train enhanced her smartly styled skirt. Her floral headpiece held in place a circular illusion veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of daisies and stephanotis.

Mrs. Penny Cheever of Claymont, Delaware, was matron of honor, while the bridesmaid was Miss Annette Walsh of Burlington.

Richard Kaplan of Newton served as best man for his brother, Lester A. Carl Jr., of North Reading, brother of the bride, was an usher.

The couple left for Cove Haven in the Pocono Mountains. They plan to live in North Chelmsford.

The bride, a graduate of Reading High School, is a credit clerk for Sears, Roebuck Company in Burlington.

Mr. Kaplan was graduated from Newton High School. He is division manager at Sears Roebuck Company, Burlington.

Pretty May Bridal Unites Miss Rubin, Mr. Baker

Miss Beverly Lana Rubin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rubin of 70 Princeton road, Chestnut Hill, and Neil Leslie Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Baker of 286 Dedham street, Newton, were married on Sunday, May 16, at Temple Emeth, Chestnut Hill.

Rabbi Elliot H. Somers officiated at the pretty spring wedding. A reception was held at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown made with a high rise waistline of Venice lace. Similar lace edged the hemline of both her skirt and train.

A Camelot cap held in place her full length lace edged illusion mantilla. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

The bride's two attendants were Miss Joanne Baker and Mrs. Jane Baker, both of Newton.

The best man was Michael Baker of Newton. Gary Rubin of Chestnut Hill was junior best man. The ushers included Jonathan Ladge of Norwood, Jonathan Gould of Greenfield, Andrew Mann of Brighton, Gary Lillenthal of West Roxbury, Alvin Resnick of Randolph and Ronald Tassanari of Brighton.

Following a trip to Paradise Island, Nassau, Mr. and Mrs. Baker plan to live in Norwood.

The bride attended Centenary College for Women and Boston University.

Art Students In Outdoors Show June 6th

On June 6th, Sunday, from 2:00 p.m. the students of the Golub-Lockwood Art Studio of West Newton will have an outdoor exhibition at 28 Bullough Park, Newtonville.

This art studio is run by Ruth Golub and Charlotte Lockwood, two well-known Newton artists who exhibit extensively. Currently, they are showing paintings in Palo Alto, California and in the New England area.

Each artist has her own distinctive style as well as being representative of the perseverance of women today to adhere to a goal and to make a success.

This out-door show is unique because the artists range from 7th graders to retired adults. It will include a variety of techniques which are taught at the Golub-Lockwood Art Studio. The public is cordially invited.

Classes will begin on June 28th and June 29th for seven weeks during the summer. Those attending the exhibition will be able to have the opportunity for early registration for the Fall classes also. For further information call 244-1872 and 332-2258.

Scuba Diving Co-ed Course Opens June 22

The YMCA in Newton will sponsor a summer co-ed diving course, starting on Tuesday, June 22 at 7 p.m. The course will be approximately ten-weeks long.

It will be taught by YMCA Certified Scuba Instructors, who are also members of the National Association of Underwater Instructors. All equipment will be supplied.

Enrollment is limited to twelve applicants who will be screened in the pool to determine suitability for this course. All applicants should be strong swimmers with knowledge and skill in the crawl stroke, breast stroke, and side stroke (both sides).

For further information and application call 244-6050 and ask for the Physical Education Dept.

Hub Cabbie Held Up In Auburndale

He tried to pursue his robbers after he had given them $63 at gunpoint but the Dorchester cab driver-victim was unable to navigate the unfamiliar Auburndale streets and the culprits got away safely last Saturday night.

The driver, Joseph Dalton, reported the theft to police at 10:20 p.m. He said that he was returning to Boston following a fare to the Star Market on Commonwealth Avenue.

While waiting for the light to change at Commonwealth and Auburn Street, Dalton stated, a car with three men came up next to his and two of the men got out, one jump-

'Y' To Have Boys, Girls Swim Classes

The Newton YMCA announces that swim lessons for boys and girls will be offered at their Chaikami Recreation Center, 139 Boston Post Road, Wayland, Mass., in their Olympic size outdoor pool.

Located among towering pines and oak trees, the crystal clear water provides a healthy learning atmosphere.

Classes will be held on Saturday morning beginning June 26th. Tiny-Tots, ages 3 to 5, will have a class at 11:15-11:45 a.m.; Polliwogs, aged 6 and 7, will be taught from 11:45-12:15 a.m.; Eight to twelve year olds will have classes from 9:30-10:15 a.m. Class enrollments are limited.

There will be five pupils for each teacher in all classes. There will be eight classes with any classes postponed due to inclement weather being made up at the end of the course.

Registrations may be made at the Newton YMCA.

Janet Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Pearson of 71 Hancock Ave., Newton Centre, will receive an Associate in Science degree in home economics from Garland Junior College during commencement exercises there next weekend.

In the state singles tournament, Rogers and Cohen still survive, along with two-time defending champion John Ingard and Paul Erickson of Lynnfield, representing Division IV.

The top four seeds for the final Eastern Massachusetts rounds are Ingard, Rogers, Cohen, and Greg Hills of Wellesley.

Captain Dave Cohen, who has won all 49 dual matches he has played since coming to Newton South is engaged in his second individual tournament and is preparing for his third straight team championships.

Cohen advanced to the semi-finals in the individuals, last spring, losing to Ingard, the eventual titlist, and a former touring doubles partner of Cohen's. He would like to see a Newton South title.

For the last two years the Lions have been eliminated in the quarter-final rounds.

Cohen offers some comments on the two tournaments — "Weldon played two good matches with John and lost anyway. But I think John can be beaten. I don't know why or by who and it's only happened once in the last four years, but I think on the right day it

Tennis Team Continues Its Win Streak In Dual League

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Dual County League leader Newton South swept past three more tennis opponents last week to raise its season's record of 11-1 in the league and 13-1 overall.

South's regular line-up of Weldon Rogers, Dave Cohen and Stan Mescon in the three singles positions and Jim Oppenheim and Mike Charness and John Kaufman and Jim Cornblatt in the doubles slots pulverized Westwood, 5-0.

The Lions had only a trifle more difficulty with Wayland, triumphing, 4-1, with Rogers, Cohen, and Mescon scoring runaway victories. In doubles, Oppenheim and Jack Starr, who a week earlier made a successful varsity debut in third singles, teamed for a 7-5, 6-1 win. However, Cornblatt and Kaufman lost, 9-7, 6-6, 6-2.

South finished its week deadlocked in first place with Lincoln-Sudbury by shattering Lynnfield, 5-0, for the Lion netmen's ninth shutout of the year. Rogers, 6-1, 6-1, Cohen, 6-0, 6-0, and Mescon, 6-0, 6-0, finished off their foes in less than half an hour. Oppenheim and Starr and Cornblatt and Charness finished up only moments later.

In the state singles tournament, Rogers and Cohen still survive, along with two-time defending champion John Ingard and Paul Erickson of Lynnfield, representing Division IV.

could. But since he's 90-1 or whatever, it probably won't.

"As far as teams go I think Lincoln-Sudbury and South will be in the opposite sides of the draw and will probably meet in the finals. If we both make it, it will be great since we've beaten each other once this season. Framingham North, Needham and Wellesley are also pretty good, but I think it will be us against Lincoln in the finals."

Court of Honor By Troop 272. The Boy Scouts

The first Court of Honor of the Spring season was held recently by Troop 272 of the Boy Scouts, which is sponsored by the Meadowbrook Junior High P.T.A.

The Tenderfoot Investiture, Tenderfoot being the first rank to earn, opened the program for the evening and Scoutmaster Robert Dickinson presented the awards of rank to David Alpert, Tad Baum, Adam Maleson, Mark Maletz, and Paul Pichetti. The Second-class rank was awarded to James Levin. The new First-class scouts receiving recognition were Donald Dickinson, Michael Penzo, Mitchell Riese, Robert Sisson, and David Spielman.

The following boys won special awards that night. Andrew Sisson received the Personal Fitness merit badge. Donald Dickinson received the Paul Bunyan Award.

The officers of the troop for the coming year were given certificates and patches of office. They were: Andrew Sisson, Senior Patrol Leader; Steven Alexander, Assistant Senior Patrol Leader; Michael Penzo, Quartermaster; John Pershe, Instructor. The patrol leaders recognized were Steven Alexander, Donald Dickinson, David Spielman, Mitchell Riese.

Adults participating in the distribution of awards were Robert Dickinson, Scoutmaster; Robert Levin, Andrew Spielman, Assistant Scoutmasters; Ralph Sisson, Troop Committee Member; Richard Levin, Junior Assistant Scoutmaster.

A troop officer remarked: "This is an important time for

Lion Lacrosse Squad Wins To End Lose Streak

Paul Modern tallied three goals and Mike Myers flipped in two scores as the Newton South Lacrosse team ended a six-game losing streak with a 5-1 drubbing of Medford High.

The two seniors provided all the necessary firepower to give goalie Gary Ross some breathing room and he responded with a strong effort. Co-captain Bob Staulo was also a key factor with a top defensive performance.

Earlier in the week the Lions were dropped, 5-4, by Brookline and 14-3 by undefeated Winchester High to extend its winless drought to six before the Medford victory.

South was knotted, 4-4, with Brookline with only five minutes left on the clock on the strength of two goals by co-captain Danny McDonald and one apiece by Andy Katz and Mark Dixie. But Bob Muse collected the third goal of his hat trick to clinch the contest.

Winchester was just too much for the Lions as the perfect visitors reeled off their ninth straight victory. Winchester opened the first period with a six goal barrage and added five more in the second quarter before cooling down and notching three scores in the second half. All three Newton South goals went up on the board in the second stanza when Modern scored twice and Katz once.

South, 3-7 on the year, closes out its season with games against Lincoln-Sudbury, one of the three teams the Lions beat this year, and Framingham North.

On Springfield Lacrosse Squad

Joe Picariello of Newton is a member of the Springfield College Lacrosse team which ended its first varsity season recently with a very solid record of eight wins and four losses. Picariello, a sophomore, should be back on the team next year, according to Springfield Lacrosse coach Jim Anderson.

South dropped a match by the same score to Lynnfield earlier in the week with Rosenberg carding the low score of 4-1 and teaming with Sherman for two points.

Newton was also bombed by tough Wayland, 7-2. Corcoran and Owens tallied one point, as did Schneider and Hoffman. However, non-scoring Bob Sherman had a low score of 40. Mike Egan carded a 39 for the Warriors and perennial number one player Mark O'Keefe slumped to a 42. O'Keefe shot a 35 earlier in the week in another match.

Lincoln-Sudbury Win Puts Locals On Top; 3 More Wins Clinch Lead

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

The rampaging Lions then edged Westwood, 5-4, again coming from behind. Steve Schertzer started, but lasted only four innings as Westwood, sparked by Bob Carroll's home run tallied three runs in the first inning and added another in the fourth. South responded with one run in the second, two in the third, and single scores in the fifth and sixth.

South played sloppily committing four errors, but won the game on hustle. Bill Cormier, who relieved Schertzer, earned the win and scored the game-winner himself. Cormier singled, stole second and came all the way around on a single by Young. The Lions totaled only five hits.

Against Wayland South showed again that it likes to win the hard way. With the game knotted at 2-2 Lane lay down a perfect suicide squeeze to score Lerner with the go-ahead run. In the seventh inning the Lions added three more runs on only two hits, a double by Moan and a single off bat of Lerner. South again batted safely only five times, with slugging catcher Lerner accounting for two of them. Louie registered the win in relief of Voss, who departed when the score was tied.

Finesse and daring catapulted the Lions to victory again as Bill Cormier won his fourth game of the season with a 1-0 whitewashing of Lynnfield. And, believe it or not, the suicide squeeze was again responsible for the winning run—the third time this season the Lions have used the

Japanese Woman Joins Staff Of Art Centers

The Newton Creative Arts Centers recently announced the addition of a resident artist from Japan to its faculty.

Miss Keiko Watanabe of Ohta-Ku, Tokyo, an exhibit award winning painter who is in this country on a 'distinguished teacher' visa, will spend one week at each of the three centers and spend the rest of her time painting in residence in the center locations where students may come and observe.

Miss Watanabe is a versatile artist whose work ranges from traditional Sumi and Origami forms to landscape renderings to huge paintings in the abstract impressionist manner.

A graduate of Aichi University, she has taught at the Nagaya International School and is a member of the Chubu Shinsaiaku Art Group.

Nursery School Lowers Entry Age To 3 Years

Will your child have attained his 3rd birthday prior to July of this year? If he or she has, and you have not made arrangements for a beginning socialization experience for the child, contact Mrs. Hubert Sterns at the Newton Community Service Centers.

In response to a heavy demand for a lowering of the age limit for youngsters to enter Nursery School, the Newton Community Service Centers has decreased its beginning age requirements to 3 years of age. The facility space and increased faculty size make it possible to expand the school in the coming year. This expansion will result in providing an ability for the school to include the younger aged child.

The school, held in the spacious and imaginative facilities at 1326 Washington Street in West Newton, operates a schedule similar to that of the Public Schools of the city. Hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday.

In commenting on the program, Mrs. Sterns, Teacher-Director, stated that the program offers the young child a safe and healthy beginning socialization and educational experience. Stories and games to stimulate the inquiring minds and imaginations of the youngsters are included in the program. Activity is geared to foster attitudes of cooperation allied with a sense of the need for personal recognition. The adjustment of the child to others of his own age is one of the primary goals of nursery school program, she added.

Transportation is available on a limited basis. For additional information contact the Centers at 969-5906.

Shirley Hedges, daughter of Mrs. Miriam Hedges of 925 Walnut St., Newton, a senior at Kalamazoo College, was honored recently at the annual achievement day luncheon there. Five senior women were honored at the banquet, selected for this distinction by their classmates.

Thirty-five persons were arrested on the bridge entrance and seven at the Harvard street entrances.

The first one arrested was Mrs. Lucy Perry, wife of a Tufts College professor. Also taken into custody were Dr. Robert Klein, professor of pediatrics at Boston University; his wife, Celeste, and his son, Andrew, who works in the Urban Affairs Department at the State House. The Kleins reside at 6 Crocker avenue, Newton.

"We taken this action out of complete frustration," Dr. Klein declared. "There is nothing left after this. We are opposed to the war."

Four draftees crossed the blocked stairway to board the train for their physicals at the Army Base where they were supposed to report Tuesday morning.

Some 80 Newton police officers, about 50 of them in riot gear, were lined up to prevent any difficulties.

Most of the arrested protesters, who were sitting on the ground, were carried onto busses by the police. They lay limply on the ground. A few walked, but the big majority had to be carried.

Tuesday's demonstration, although not as large, was similar to one last May when 169 persons were arrested for attempting to block busses attempting to take draftees to the Army Base from the Newtonville Draft Board.

Police Lieutenant Richard E. Duffy, speaking over a bull-horn, told the demonstrators:

"We understand the reason for your presence, but you are breaking the law. Please disperse. If you interfere with foot passage, you will be arrested."

The protesters were arrested on charges of being disorderly persons. The maximum punishment for that offense is six months in jail, a $200 fine or both.

The demonstration began about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The arrests had been made and the stairway entrance to the railroad station cleared by 8:45 a.m.

The 42 persons arrested were arranged in the Newton District Court and their cases

Citation Lunch By Scholarship Group June 2

Women's Scholarship Associations' annual Citation Luncheon, honoring the many devoted workers of the spring fund-raising event, held recently, is announced by chairman, Mrs. Alfred Todaro of Needham.

The party will be held on Wednesday, June 2 at the Chestnut Hill Country Club at 12 noon. Entertainment will be by Joseph and Anthony Paratore, concert pianists.

Chairman of the "Dedication to Education" fund-raising luncheon was Mrs. Marvin Milton of Newton. Outgoing president is Mrs. Morton Kliman and incoming president is Mrs. Stanley Golembi both of Newton.

continued until June 17.

Guzzi Credits Newton Lawyer For Funds Bills

Newton attorney Jerome Medalle was recently credited by state Representative Paul H. Guzzi with being instrumental in focusing legislative attention on the subject of placing limits in the area of political contributions and expenditures.

The pending legislation has just been reported out by a special subcommittee on campaign finances, of which the Newton representative is a member. Guzzi has noted that the proposed bills are "a start in bringing into focus one of the crucial problems of our present political system — the funding of campaigns and the caliber of people seeking elected public office."

The subcommittee had held public hearings earlier in May and listened to testimony from several political figures who have been involved in local, state and federal elections. The consensus of opinion from this testimony, and the thrust of one of the committee's proposals, indicated that television, radio and bulk mail advertising were three major areas of large expenditure and should be regulated by statute.

Another recommendation made by the committee calls for the establishment of an independent director of campaign finances who would have the power to investigate and enforce various provisions of the law.

Guzzi called this "the key to any meaningful reform, for without enforcement, no law will have real bearing on the conduct of campaigns," adding that the state already has fairly strict laws dealing with disclosure of contributions but lack of enforcement has made them useless.

Debate on the subject will begin later in this year's legislative session. There are also bills pending in Congress in regard to federal regulation in this area.

Centre Garden Club Annual Meeting Held

The annual meeting of the Newton Centre Garden Club was held at Dedham Country Club on Tuesday, May 18, following a luncheon under the auspices of Mrs. Thomas T. Barstow of Dover.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Wilbur S. Roberts, Jr. of Dover, president of the club. Mrs. J. Ralph Stuart of Newton Highlands, recording secretary, presented the annual report of club activities, following which Mrs. Roberts gave the president's report.

The following members were elected to office for the 1971-1972 season: Mrs. Roberts, president; Mrs. Harvey F. Kazmier of Newton Centre, first vice president; Mrs. Wesner Fallaw, Newton Centre, second vice president; Mrs. Thomas H. McCutcheon, Waban, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stuart, recording secretary; Miss Elizabeth B. Cushman, Waban, assistant secretary; Mrs. Edwin L. Prien, Waban, treasurer, and Mrs. Gilford T. Currier, Waban, assistant.

Mrs. Roberts' appointments of committee chairmen include Mrs. John P. Quinn, Jr., Newton Highlands, Civic Betterment; Mrs. Robert T. Capeless, Newton Highlands, Conservation; Mrs. Otis E. Stephenson, Newton Centre, Flower Show; Mrs. C. Charles Marran, Waban, Garden Therapy; Mrs. C. Stetson Mick, Needham, Horticulture; Mrs. Edward B. Farmer, Waban, Hospitality; Mrs. Benjamin T. Fawcett, Wellesley Hills, Membership; Mrs. Philip A. Ingwersen, Waban, Nominating; Mrs. Kazmier, Program; Mrs. Richard E. Savory, Wellesley Hills, Publicity; Mrs. Worthing L. West, Newton Centre, Yearbook. Plans for flower arranging classes will be directed by Mrs. Robert S. Mullen of Newton Highlands.

The Advisory Committee will include Mrs. John D. Fox, Wayland; Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., Waban; and Mrs. Louis E. Phaneuf, Chestnut Hill, all past presidents of the Club.

James L. Baer of Newton Centre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Baer of 325 Brookline st., will receive the bachelor of arts degree during the 121st commencement exercises at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., on May 30th. A history major, and deans list student, he is a 1967 graduate of the Browne and Nichols School.

Joanne L. Weiner of 54 Tanglewood road, Newton, is a member of the senior class of 1971 at the University of Wisconsin whose photograph is in the "Badger," the student yearbook at the University.

Camp Fire Girls Welcome 100 New Blue Birds Here

At an afternoon ceremonial held on Friday, May 21st at the Bowen School, over 100 new 2nd grade Blue Birds were welcomed into the Camp Fire Girls of Newton.

Mrs. George MacDonald, town chairman of Camp Fire Girls, greeted the new members; and in a short ceremony, planned by Mrs.

Henry Hall, local program chairman, older Camp Fire Girls lead the younger ones in reciting the Blue Bird Wish and in singing several Camp Fire songs.

The 5th grade Camp Fire Girls of the Bowen school, whose guardian is Mrs. Bradbury Seasholes, told about the different activities in which they participated as Blue Birds; and Mrs. Hall's 4th grade Camp Fire Girls, each with a small blue candle, lead the group in singing "This Little Blue Bird Light of Mine".

Judith Melin, 8th grade Jr. High Camp Fire Girl from Meadowbrook Jr. High was Mistress of Ceremonies. Mrs. Hall was assisted by Mrs. Preston Pollock and Mrs. Robert Cohen, leaders of 3rd grade Blue Bird groups at the Bowen School.

New Blue Birds and their leaders are: Angier School: Mrs. Leslie Blicher, leader; Melissa Balder, Deborah Blicher, Kate Conley, Suzanne Julian, Ann Marie Meneure, Laura Miller, Marjorie Moy, Jennifer Pittman and Lisa Stultz.

Savings Bank To Stage Art Show All Next Month

The Newton Savings Bank 1188 Centre Street, Newton Centre, will present an exhibit of works by prize-winning artists during the month of June, in cooperation with the Centre Art Gallery, 195 Harvard Street, Brookline. The works include ceramic panels by Artur Jose of Portugal, and paintings by Gumarsindo Yuste of Spain, Florence Smith of Winthrop, and John Cordich of Rockport.

Robert A. Goldman of Newton received a Doctor of Science in Dentistry degree from Boston University during graduation exercises there last Thursday. Dr. Goldman's dental specialty is Periodontology.

Registration Open For Two Summer Camps

Wide public response has greeted the announcement by the Newton Community Service Centers of two summer day camps, which will operate from June 28 to August 20.

The Kinder Camp for Children between the ages of three and six will be located at Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Newton Centre. The Day Camp, for boys and girls between the ages of seven and 14 will be situated in the Robert Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood.

Parents who did not receive a copy of the brochure should contact the Community Service Centers at 969-5906 or visit their main office at 429 Cherry St., West Newton.

Miss Bonnie Algieri will direct the Kinder Camp and G. Michael Gardner will direct the Day Camp.

In discussing the camps Community Service Centers Executive Director Anthony J. Bibbo stated that Newton is most fortunate in having as leaders for both camps experienced veterans in camping.

Both camps are five day, all weather sites with camp hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday. Campers bring a lunch and are provided with milk. Registrations are open for all sessions beginning on June 28th and continuing in two week periods until August 20th.

Commissioner, is coordinating the list of hosts which will include a number of Aldermen, city department heads and directors of various agencies.

Msgr. Robert Forster will lead the blessing for the occasion. In addition to the indebtedness to Lasell Jr. College, the Committee is most grateful to the Newton Boys Club for printing the tickets, the Newton Chamber of Commerce for assisting with making busses available, Post 440 Nonantum for its assistance with transportation, the Brae Burn Nursing Home through Mr. Peter Di Foggio for his assistance, the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scouts for the help with publicity, the local news media, some anonymous financial support and all who have been working towards the success of this vital community program.

Benefit Breakfast At High School Is Scholarship Aid

In spite of the cold, heavy rains Sunday, May 16, many citizens, parents, students, and personnel members attended the Scholarship-Benefit Breakfast sponsored by the Scholarship Club of Newton High School.

This year, through bake sales, Monday morning coffee-doughnut sales in Adams House, and fund-raising drives, the Club has raised two thousand dollars.

Members of the Club who served as waitresses were Kristin Bramel, Barbara and Janelle Delicata, Judi Kaplan, Joan Leventhal, Karen Molloy, Beth Weinberg, Bonnie Wilcox, and Maryagnes Young. Jams Curtis, a senior, and Mr. Ed Beatty, librarian, served as ticket and candy sellers. Steve Cedrone, a sophomore, is to be commended as being the highest ticket seller for the breakfast.

For this occasion, the high school cafeteria was transformed into a big, homey kitchen where chefs in white, black and orange uniforms flipped delicious Aunt Jemima pancakes contributed by the Quaker Oats Company.

The parents and citizens who served as chefs included Mr. Alfred Delicata, Mr. David Weinberg, and Mr. Ted Mann, and high school personnel members included Mr. Ronald Barnes, Mr. Bernard Flanagan, Mr. Edwin Fraktman, Mr. Norman Gaudet, Mr. George Jessup, Mr. Morris Linde, Mr. John Livingston, Mr. Richard Mechem, Mr. Edward Sahagian, Mr. Reginald Smith, Mr. Robert Taplin, Mr. Norman Walker, and Mr. Michael Zoll.

Assisting the chefs were Miss Caram, Mrs. Crevoshay, Mrs. Handspecker, Mrs. Linde, Miss Mancini, Miss Ross, Mrs. Taplin, Mrs. Saunders, headed up by faculty advisor, Miss Gianferante. Spring floral arrangements by Barbara and Janelle Delicata greatly enhanced the hospitable atmosphere of the cafeteria.

The planning committee hopes to make the Newton High School Scholarship-Benefit Breakfast an annual activity where citizens, parents, faculty, and students will combine their efforts to raise funds to help all worthy students continue their education. This year some 80 students will be scholarship recipients.

Temple Emanuel Thrift Shop Is Open To June 22

Temple Shalom of Newton Thrift Shop will remain open for business through June 22. The Thrift Shop is open every Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., in West Newton, on Myrtle Street between Washington Street and Temple Street.

The merchandise includes every conceivable item for the household, toys, clothing, knickknacks, shoes, etc. Everything is so attractively priced, you are sure to find a number of items you can use.

At the Myrtle Street shop any Tuesday and Co-chairmen, Mrs. Samuel Stearns and Mrs. Harry D. Shain, with their staff of volunteer co-workers, will be happy to help you.

Newton South Senior Dies In Car Mishap

Ronda Neiman, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Neiman of 133 Harwich road in Newton Centre, died Tuesday night after being struck by a car as she and another girl walked along Boylston street in Boston.

She was dead on arrival at Beth Israel Hospital and the second girl, Martha Shepherd, also 17, was listed in satisfactory condition, suffering from a broken pelvis. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Shepherd Jr., 119 Dickerman road in Newton Highlands.

Miss Neiman, active in the art and drama program at Newton South High School, would have been graduating next month.

The operator of the involved car was identified by police as a Scituate man.

Newton Girls Are Graduates In "White Gloves" Exercises

The elegant Georgian Room of the Statler Hilton in Boston was the colorful setting recently for two unusual graduations, complete with fashion shows. . . when two groups of lovely young ladies, none younger than 4, none older than 12½, made their bows to over 400 parents and friends.

Several young ladies from the area were among the graduates who received diplomas and modeled Stearns fashions. They were. . . Pamela K. Woodard, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Woodard, Newton Patrice Marie Sbardelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sbardelli, Newton, Stacy Modell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neiderman, Newton Centre, Joan Listerick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fredson Bowers, Newton Highlands, Merle Neiderman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neiderman, Newton Centre, Donna Marie Murphy and Noreen Catherine Murphy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murphy, Newton Centre, Marialyce Buonato and Bettijayne Buonato, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buonato, Newton, Janis Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Allen, Chestnut Hill.

The girls had recently learned about charm, good grooming, personal appearance, good manners, diction, conversation, fashion modeling and consideration for others in the six-week "White Gloves and Party Manners" course - presented by R.H. Stearns. The nationally famed course stresses that good manners should be taught early in life. The course is called "White Gloves and Party Manners" but there is more to it than the social graces, as important as they are.

Wearing their best party dresses and wrist-length white gloves (their symbol of ladyhood), 55 young ladies, ages 4 to 8, were feted at a formal luncheon in the flower-decked Georgian Room, before being presented with their ribbon-tied diplomas by Mr. Carl Schmalz, Chairman of the Board of R.H. Stearns. 62 older girls, 9 to 12½, were graduated in the evening at a formal dinner. Following both graduations, the new graduates participated in their own fashion show.

Miss Irma Nicholson, sales promotion manager for Stearns, was mistress of ceremonies for both events. Miss Mercy E. McNiff, instructor in the course, was commentator. William Graham and Thomas Flaherty escorted the young ladies to the stage. Stearns White Gloves course has proved extremely popular. The course, an exclusive with Stearns in this area, will be repeated for the fourth time in the Fall.

White Gloves and Party Manners teaches young ladies, in addition to the accomplishments noted above, the proper way to handle telephone calls and introductions, correct table manners, graceful movements and how to be a gracious hostess and guest.

It is a fun-filled course, despite its serious objectives. Each subject is presented as a skit or dramatization in which the students act out the various roles. The instructor and her 'teen assistant provide the mother and older sister image. . . thus enabling the students to move in a familiar orbit.

This nationally acclaimed course is based on the best-selling book "White Gloves and Party Manners" written by Marjabelle Stewart and co-authored by Ann Buchwald, wife of the newspaper columnist.

Mrs. Stewart has conducted classes in White House circles and private schools in Washington, D.C. area. She now has her own school in Illinois, where every instructor is trained. Mrs. Stewart has been seen on many national television shows, including the "Today" and Mike Douglas shows and David Brinkley's Journal. The course has also been the subject of an article in Life Magazine.

Mrs. Stewart's book, which is used as a textbook in the classes, was illustrated by Christiane, who has done fashion sketches for Christian Dior and Guerlain.

To quote from a recent Associated Press article on R.H. Stearns presentation of "White Gloves" - "Untutored little girls are like little boys, they clunk when they walk, plop when they sit, mumble when they talk. But after class most of the girls - not all, but most - flounce and glide and purr." The performances at the Statler Hilton bore this out only too well.

Mercy E. McNiff, White Gloves and Party Manners instructor at Stearns was personally trained by Mrs. Stewart in Illinois. Miss McNiff was formerly in the New York theatre and has appeared in numerous Broadway productions.

2 From Here Are "Unique Woman" Grads Leah Carrey, 22 Hazelhurst Ave. and Gert Egddall, 10 Washington Park, both of Newton graduated from The Unique Woman. . . Series, a seminar course in "women's liberation from within." The graduation ceremonies took place at the Chestnut Hill Hotel, 160 Boylston Street, Chestnut Hill.

The Unique Woman. . . Series was created by its director and instructor, Miriam Uni, who is former executive vice president and director of Human Relations for S.T.I.—Sales Training of Boston.

Miss Uni organized the course because she felt that women should be offered an opportunity to enhance their self-images and be able to participate in the world. . . not to compete with men but to better communicate with them.

Kidney Agency Women's Group To Meet June 4

A fashion show, champagne luncheon and an address by a kidney transplant recipient will mark the activities at the annual installation of officers for the Women's Committee of the Kidney Foundation of Massachusetts, to be held Friday, June 4 at the Sidney Hill Country Club in Newton.

Champagne will be served at 11 a.m. and luncheon will begin at noon.

The commonwealth's Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren, honorary chairman of the Kidney Foundation's annual Trick or Treat candy campaign, will be the installing officer.

New Product By Beta Corp.

Beta Instrument Corporation of Newton, has announced a major new microfilm product family called Beta PLOQ which the company claims represents a substantial price breakthrough for the user and allows very liberal terms to OEM customers.

Beta Instrument Corporation has been synonymous with precision CRT display equipment for film recording and film reading since 1962. Their equipment is currently in use scanning food for purity, reading fingerprints and dental X-rays, non-destructively scanning human eyes for diagnosis and recording radar and infrared reconnaissance imagery onto film. It is also printing and graphing computer data onto film from magnetic tape (COM) in the data processing environment.

Scholarship to M. S. Marsh

Mitchell S. Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip G. Marsh of 11 Fenno road, Newton Centre, has been awarded a one-year scholarship by the Charles H. Hood Fund. Marsh will enter his freshman year at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst as a math major.

Mitchell received a Certificate of Merit in the Olympiad High School Math Competition, and is vice president of Newton High School's bridge club. He also served as vice president of the Ecology Day committee.

Awards amounting to a maximum of $9,600 will be made to eight New England high school students. Individual scholarships amount to two-thirds of the annual tuition and general fees in an accredited college up to a maximum of $1200, with a minimum value of $400. Annual grants are made on basis of scholarship achievement to sons and achievement to the sons and daughters of H.P. Hood & Sons' employees. The senior Mr. Marsh is company compensation and benefits manager, Boston general office.

Elected Secretary

Dr. Thomas Gephart of West Newton was elected secretary of the Massachusetts Medical Society at their recent meeting in the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston.

School Official Named To World Education Body

Al Hurwitz, coordinator of arts for the Newton public schools, was recently elected to represent the United States on the World Council for the International Society for Education through Art.

The society is a non-governmental organization which has consultative relations with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Hurwitz will attend the summer conference of the society, being held in Helsinki, Finland after supervising Newton's three Creative Arts Centers during July.

Hurwitz who resides at 379 Austin Street in West Newton, is on the board of governors of the Institute for the Study of Art in Education, is the co-author of "Children and Their Art" and a second book, "Programs of Promise: Art in the Schools," is due for early summer publication by Harcourt Brace and Javanovich.

Newton Artist Shows Ceramics On June 4, 5, 6

Ceramics by Ruth Hubel of 59 Carleton Rd., Waban, will be included in the centennial art show and sale of the Unitarian Society of Wellesley Hills on June 4, 5, and 6.

Artists and craftsmen associated with the church are contributing their work in painting, graphics, photography, sculpture, and a variety of handicrafts.

The exhibit will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on June 4, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on June 5, and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on June 6.

YOU WILL STOP SMOKING ON JULY 7

. . . if you join the newest SMOKENDER series starting in Brookline on Wednesday, June 2. Or you may stop smoking without SMOKENDERS anytime, if you'd rather.

The trick is: HOW YOU FEEL AFTER YOU STOP. If you want to stop without climbing the walls and with a feeling of Reward — and best of all, WITH A SMILE . . . then come find out about SMOKENDERS.

And bring your cigarettes! Remember, this is the method that requires you smoke as many as you like while you learn how to break the habit. In small manageable segments. Step-by-step.

(At risk of being totally unbelievable, we'd like to mention that SMOKENDERS is fun, too. It's hard to imagine quitting being fun, isn't it?)

So come to a FREE explanatory meeting (no kidding FREE — to find out.) Because we know you can't push a smoker into quitting. We don't rush. But let us warn you! Most smokers who come to find out about SMOKENDERS find it makes a lot of sense, and they can't wait to start!

And it won't hurt a bit. We think smokers are great. We treat them with respect. You see, we were all smokers ourselves who were lucky to "quit" with SMOKENDERS.

So don't come expecting any of that Scare business or Willpower stuff. And bring your friends. They may thank you for a lifetime.

Summer Session At Jr. College Opens June 14

Thirteen different courses will be offered in the Newton Junior College Summer Session, which starts June 14.

The courses, drawn from the areas of the Humanities, Social Sciences and Behavior and Natural Sciences, will be conducted by members of the regular College faculty.

The courses are: College Reading, Writing, and Study Skills Program; American Literature; College Mathematics I, College Mathematics II, General Biology I (with Laboratory); Topics in Physical Science; History of Western Civilization; Fundamentals of English, English Composition; Preparatory Mathematics; Finite Mathematics, General Psychology; General Biology II (with Laboratory); and History of Western Civilization II.

Of particular interest is a course, initiated last year, the College Reading, Writing, and Study Skills Program. This program is designed to teach students the reading, writing, and study skills necessary for successful college scholarship and to help improve their attitudes toward learning.

The Reading will stress increased comprehension, reading rate, and study efficiency. Each student will apply specific skills to many types of reading materials including textbooks, reports, essays, novels, and short stories. The course will be individualized so that each student can concentrate on the skills and materials he is most concerned with. Several of the skills to be studied are: phrase reading, skimming, summarizing, structuring, and rapid comprehension.

The Study skills will include the taking of notes in class, preparing for tests, dynamics of vocational and educational selection, and the discussion of the relevance of abilities and interests to academic achievement.

The Writing will stress get-

New Facilities This Season For Frank Day Camp

The NEWTON YMCA's CAMP FRANK A. DAY has 28 openings for its first period, beginning July 27, and 31 openings for its second period, starting July 25.

This year's program will be enhanced by waterskiing, riflery (with newly purchased rifles), archery arts, and crafts, canoeing, tennis, track and field, competitive swimming, as a thorough water instructional program in swimming, diving, sailing, boating, and canoeing.

Over-night hikes and camp trips have been planned, as well as two trips into Fenway Park. Competition will be held with Camps Atwater, Massasoit, Chickami, and Cabot.

Besides an active camp program, lessons are learned in group living, respect for the outdoors, and other healthy experiences conducive to happy growth.

Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, Chairman of the Camp Frank A. Day Committee, announces the following physical improvements at Camp Day: A new 60'x75'x8' "H" dock for the waterfront, a new flush toilet building to accommodate 80 boys, and a new hot water system for the boys' shower house.

Also, a new 360' artesian well has been drilled to accommodate the new sanitary facilities. The total cost for the physical improvements at Camp Day this year totals $14,300. Joseph A. White, Camp Director, noted that, "The facilities were long overdue and were necessary to compete with other camps." For further information call the Newton YMCA at 244-6050.

Donald Levin Accepted At Northwestern

Donald Levin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Levin of 73 Rockland place, Newton Upper Falls, has been accepted in the 6-year medical program at Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.) where he has just completed his freshman year.

Donald, a graduate of the Newton Schools, has been on the dean's list at Northwestern for two of the three semesters on the tri-semester plan at Northwestern.

While at Newton South High, Don was active in school affairs, serving as editor-in-chief of the year book. He received one of the Lt. Stafford Leighton Brown Memorial award and the Horace W. Orr Award for outstanding contribution to his class, school and community.

At Northwestern, in addition to his studies, he works in the Economics department under the well-known Dr. Eisner.

Will Speak At Nursing Homes' June Convention

James J. Callahan Jr., Th.D., of West Newton, assistant commissioner for medical assistance of the state's Department of Public Welfare, will be one of the featured speakers at the four-day, 22nd annual convention of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes, to be held June 8-11 at the Sheraton Motor Inn in Hyannis.

The convention's basic concerns will be improved health care and national health insurance programs as more than 1000 owners and administrators of 700 nursing home facilities in the state are expected to attend the official meeting on the 9th and 10th.

Among others slated to speak at the convention are representatives of such organizations as the American Medical Association, American Hospital Association, American Nursing Home Association and Committee for National Health Insurance.

3 From Newton Graduate From Skidmore Coll.

Three students from the Newton area were among the graduates who received their degrees last week from Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Jeri M. Feinberg of 24 Lockwood road, West Newton, received the bachelor of arts in Government and was awarded both college honors and departmental honors as well. Jane Roberts Alpert of 77 Westchester road was awarded the bachelor of arts in English and Martha C. Starr of 582 Beacon st., Newton, received the bachelor of science in Art.

The customary commencement speaker was replaced this year at Skidmore by a dialog between two famous dancers of the New York City Ballet, who also received the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters. Edward Villella and Violette Verdy were the performers at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center where the graduation ceremony was held.

The southeastern states have abundant regions of red soil. Other areas are in Africa, South America, Asia and the South Pacific.

Joseph Selame Is Honored By Art Institute

Corporate designer and artist Joseph Selame of Selame Design Associates of Newton Lower Falls will receive a Creative Communications Award by the Art Institute of Boston at their 1971 Awards Dinner at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston in June.

Selame, who specializes in the area of corporate and product identification for which he has been honored with over 70 awards in design and marketing, will join such notables as Broadway hit composer Irving Caesar, Attorney Lawrence Spivak of "Meet the Press", Photographer Gordon Parks and fashion designer Anne Fogarty to be honored at this annual event.

Featured at the dinner and dance will be name entertainment and a sale of art donated especially for this occasion. Guests will receive $25 of their dinner donation credited toward the purchase of art. Proceeds of the dinner are designated for the renovation and expansion of the library of The Art Institute.

Convalescent Home Plans For Summer

The Newton Convalescent Center at 25 Armory Street, West Newton, is getting ready for Spring and Summer. The residents are in the process of starting a vegetable garden on the land around the side of the building. They feel it will be good exercise and they can reap the benefits of home grown vegetables.

On Friday (May 7) at 2:30 p.m. the Red Cross Volunteers from Weeks Junior High School in Newton put on a Talent, Variety type show. The students in charge were: Vivian Bader, Emily Osmond and Linda O'Neil, all of Newton.

During this week a representative from American Airlines will visit with the residents and give them a tour of the Hawaiian Islands with slides.

Each first Tuesday of the month a group of ladies from the Lutheran Church of The Newtons visit with many of the residents. The chairman is Mrs. R. E. Nickelson of Newton.

All events are open to area Senior Citizens.

200 Brownie Scouts Attend Recent Field Day Exercises

Almost two hundred Newton Brownie Scouts attended a recent Play Day, held at Camp Mary Day, Natick - one of the day camping sites owned by Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council. Brownies from Troop 682 with Mrs. Michel Edwards as Leader performed the flag raising ceremony at the camp flagpole. Mrs. J. Halcombe Laning, Brownie Consultant for Newton South Neighborhood, announced the plans for the day and led the Brownies in some of their favorite songs. Miss Sarah Kendall, A Senior Scout, conducted the troops on nature hikes over the campsite throughout the afternoon.

Several of the troops participated in the program by presenting folk dances and songs they had learned during the past year. These included Troop 564, Mrs. Jerold Gilmore, Leader; Troop 625, Mrs. Robert Dickinson, Leader; Troop 606, Mrs. John Dayton, Leader; and Troop 502, Mrs. John Connerney, Leader.

Troop 871, led by Mrs. Charles Weingarten, presented a short original play about Brownie friendship. Other troops assisting with the program were Troop 1092, led by Mrs. Marcia Eldredge; Troop 829, led by Mrs. Donald Harry, Troop 581, led by Mrs. Michael Antonellis; Troop 535, led by Mrs. Richard Peach; Troop 444, led by Mrs. Richard Lent; Troop 378, led by Mrs. Samuel Turner; Troop 869, led by Mrs. John Phalan; and Troop 613, led by Miss Janet Holly.

Mrs. Donald Chesley, Chairman of the Newton North Neighborhood, conducted the Brownies and Leaders in a moment of silence in memory of Mrs. Dwight Merrill, active volunteer organizer and troop leader in Newton Girl Scouting until her recent illness. The flag was lowered to half staff as a token of appreciation for the dedication. Mrs. Merrill had shown to Scouting for almost 60 years, both as a professional and volunteer, starting as a Brownie herself. Mrs. Brenda Prouty, Chairman of the Newton South Neighborhood, assisted with the nature craft project for the Brownies.

Six advanced Girl Scouts from Newton volunteered their help with the Play Day as part of their service to their community. They were Sharon O'Brien and Linda Yeany, Cadette Girl Scouts; and Dawn Prouty, Connie Fitzpatrick, Diane MacMillan and Nancy Dickinson, Junior Girl Scouts from Troop 606.

Brownie Scouts will be allowed to march in the Memorial Day Parade this year — Monday, May 31, starting at the High School. They may come on an individual basis; supervised groups will be formed from those girls present. They will join in with Junior, Cadette, and Senior Scouts accompanying the float at the beginning of the parade at Crafts and one guard.

Resolution On Yule Decorating Vetoed By Mayor

Noting several factors, including his feeling that there is "nothing offensive about beautiful decorations getting us in the spirit of things," Mayor Monte G. Basbas last week vetoed an aldermanic resolution passed a few days earlier which called for the prohibition of Christmas decorations before Thanksgiving.

The resolution, originally filed by Alderman Peter F. Harrington, was approved by a 7-6 margin although the board's Public Works Committee had previously commented unfavorably on it, 7-1.

That only 13 aldermen were present to vote on the proposal, in addition to the close tally and the committee's adverse report, were the reasons cited by the Mayor for the veto action.

Harrington, in his support of the measure, had noted people's distress over the increasing commercialization of Christmas and had also argued that "thanksgiving is a distinct and separate holiday unique in this country, and it demeans it to have it mixed with Christmas by the practice of setting up Christmas displays in November."

A two-thirds vote of the aldermen may override the veto.

Joseph T. Maleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred I. Maleson of 26 Greenwood St., Newton Centre, has been named to the Dean's List at Williams College in Williamstown, for the first semester of this, his senior year.

Washington Streets at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Frederick Casey is Girl Scout Parade Chairman. Mrs. Julius Feldman, retiring All-Newton Neighborhood Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Charles Wallace, are in charge of the float. Proper, complete uniforms and comfortable, dark, sturdy shoes are a must; also, permission slips for all girls. Adults assisting especially for the occasion may wear white blouses and dark skirts if they are unable to present. They will join in with Junior, Cadette, and Senior Scouts accompanying the float.

All troop flags must be at the beginning of the parade at Crafts and one guard.

Newton Citizens For Education Meet On June 2

Newton Citizens for Education will hold an annual meeting on Wednesday, June 2, at 8 p.m. at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street, West Newton.

Several by-law changes will be presented at the meeting by Dan S. Ryter, Newton Highlands, for discussion and vote. According to Mr. Ryter, in an article written for the NCE Forum, the proposed changes "permit increased organizational flexibility, procedural simplification, and greater responsiveness to the needs of NCE members through a smaller governing body."

The actual changes suggested involve replacement of the present 44 member General Council with a 16 member Executive Committee made up of officers, immediate past president, committee chairmen, and student representatives from each of Newton's high schools.

Organizational endorsement of candidates for elective office would be obtained, it is proposed, through 2/3 vote of the general membership, rather than through successive ward, general council, and final general membership voting.

Categories of voting and non-voting membership, and the ward-organized membership pattern would be replaced in the proposal by a single citywide membership category.

Committee reports and plans for next year will be included in the evening's business. Every NCE member is urged to attend.

Dinner Meeting To Be June 1st

The 113th Annual Dinner Meeting of Temple Mishkan Tefila will be held on Tuesday, June 1st at the Temple on Hammond Pond Parkway at 6:30 p.m.

Louis Kaitz is being nominated to serve as Temple President for a second term. Others nominated to serve are: Vice Chairman, Executive Committee, Joseph Schwartz; Vice President, Paul Barrow, Albert S. Frager, Dr. Milton Glickstein, Harvey C. Krentzman, Benjamin Lipson, Dr. Irving Schaffer; Treasurer, Harry M. Feinberg; Associate Treasurer, Leo Karas; Secretary, Alan J. Tichnor; Associate Secretary, Jerome Schlakman; Presidential Cabinet, Alan S. Axelrod, Israel Goldberg, Melvin B. Miller.

Nominees for the Board of Directors for three years are: Arnold Aron, Robert Boyer, Noah Burtman, Joel Clarke, Bernard C. Cohen, Hirsch Freed, Stanley Gaffin, Bernard Garber, Monte Goldman, Samuel Kaitz, Manuel Kurland, Morton Lieberman, William Irvingson, Bertram Paley, Irving Paley, Melvin A. Ross, Irving Schwartz, Herbert Selib, Dr. Julian Snyder, Jeremiah Sundell; Honorary Board Member, Jacob Binder.

A Memorial Tribute to members of the Congregation who have passed away during the year will be conducted and installation of officers to the Temple and Auxiliaries and Board Members will take place.

Recent Deaths

George R. O'Leary

A Mass of the Resurrection was celebrated in Our Lady Help of Christians Church on Monday morning for George R. O'Leary, formerly of Newton and now of Harrington Park, N.J., who died suddenly in Denver, Colorado, on Wednesday of last week while on a business trip for St. Luke's Hospital of New York City, where he is employed as general manager of the food division.

Although he has resided in New Jersey for the past 20 years, his remains were brought back to Newton for his funeral. Burial was in St. Stephen's Cemetery in Framingham.

Mr. O'Leary was born in Newton and was a graduate of Newton High School. He was the son of John J. O'Leary and the late Angelina (Reinhardt) O'Leary.

A combat veteran of the second World War, he served under General George Patton in Germany, was wounded in action and received the Purple Heart.

He is survived by his wife, Bernadette (Dacier) O'Leary; by two sons, Christopher, 13 and James, 6. A brother, Sergeant-Major John O'Leary is serving with the Air Force in Germany.

Hy Horwitz

Funeral services for Hy Horwitz, 60, of 100 Evelyn Road, Waban, were held Friday morning (May 21) at 10 o'clock at Temple Shalom, Newton, with Rabbi Cary D. Yales officiating. Mr. Horwitz died suddenly Wednesday (May 19) at Beth Israel Hospital.

A 35-year veteran of the building industry in New England, he was vice president in charge of contractor sales for L. Grossman Sons, Inc., and a member of the firm's executive committee at the time of his death. Previously, he had served as general manager of Grossman's Contractor Sales Division for 31 of his 35 years with the company.

He attended Malden High School and the University of Virginia before joining the lumber and building materials concern.

Mr. Horwitz was a member and former director of the Home Builders Association of Greater Boston and of the Y.M.H.A.'s Hecht House.

He is survived by his wife, Sylvia, a daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Gewirtz of Newton, a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Horwitz of North Brunswick, N.J., and by two grandchildren. Interment was in Sharon Memorial Park.

Elizabeth B. Merrill

A memorial service was held Friday afternoon in Eliot Church in Newton for Mrs. Elizabeth B. Merrill, noted community activities leader, who died May 17 at her home, 20 Busell Park in Newton. She would have been 66 on May 29.

A native of Buffalo, New York, she graduated from Mt. Holyoke College in 1927, where she majored in Biblical Studies.

In Rochester, New York, Mrs. Merrill was a Girl Scout field director; in Jackson, Michigan, she was an executive director. In Newton, she served as a troop leader, group organizer, leader trainer and personnel director. Prior to the Council's merger, she held the presidential and vice presidential offices of the local agency.

An Eliot Church member for nearly 25 years, she sang in its choir, was recording secretary since 1967 and helped in involving Eliot in the United Parish of Newton, which aims at the merger of the three Congregational churches in the city.

Mrs. Merrill was also active in the peace movement, serving as executive secretary of the Newton Community Peace Center from the time of its formation in 1963 and was treasurer of the Committee of Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam.

Pasquale Cetrone

A Mass of the Resurrection was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton for Pasquale Cetrone, 84, a Newton resident of over 65 years, who died Saturday in the Holliston Manor Nursing Home. He had lived at 310 Kenrick Street.

A native of San Donato in Italy, he came to the United States as a youngster and, prior to the first World War, he worked at the Watertown Arsenal. He was later employed by the Newton Sewer Department.

During the '30s, Mr. Cetrone established his own building business and was among the first to erect ranch homes in Newton. His firm constructed many custom-built houses as well as working on reconstruction of city streets.

A former member of the Newton Lodge of Elks, he retired from his work about 12 years ago, giving the business over to one of his sons.

The husband of the late Annie (Salvucci) Cetrone, he is survived by four sons, including John R. and Guido of Newton; four daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Millar, Mrs. Josephine Connors, Mrs. Geraldine Murphy and Mrs. Madeline Shelton, all of Newton (another daughter is deceased); one sister, 27 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the Andrew J. Magni Funeral Home in Newton and burial was in Calvary Cemetery in Waltham.

George R. O'Leary

A Mass of the Resurrection was said Monday in Our Lady Help of Christians Church for former Newtonite George R. O'Leary.

The celebrant was the Rev. Msgr. John J. McManmon, pastor of Our Lady's. Organist and soloist was Richard H. Osgood.

Mr. O'Leary, who had moved to Harrington Park, New Jersey, had previously resided in Newton at 12 Baldwin Street.

Burial was in St. Stephen's Cemetery in Framingham, with committal prayers being read by the Rev. Patrick Davis of St. Stephen's Church.

Edward A. Strum

Word has been received of the death of former Newtonite Edward A. Strum, who died May 16 in Santa Barbara, California.

A product of Newton schools, he subsequently entered the field of prison work and, for the last 10 years, had been the senior parole officer in the city of Santa Barbara.

Mr. Strum was a member of the California Parole and Correctional Association and served as a past director of its executive committee on alcoholism.

He leaves his wife, two sons, two daughters, a brother and sister.

-Political Highlights-

Two Republicans Governor Sargent was unable to switch were Francis W. Hatch whom the Governor intalled as GOP House Leader at the start of the year and Assistant Republican House Leader Martin Linsky of Brookline whom Mr. Sargent tapped last year for a period as his Lieutenant Governor running mate. They voted with Daly.

Linsky, incidentally, sought unsuccessfully to obtain the passage of an amendment providing that the Legislature would decide what welfare services would be cut when the proposed spending ceiling was reached. The fact is, of course, that the Legislature is confronted with a very difficult welfare problem and that many of the law-makers are floundering around, uncertain as to just what they should do.

The obvious solution is to weed out the chiselers and crooks, prosecute them in court and send the flagrant thieves to jail. That should discourage some of the pilfering which is now believed to cost the taxpayers millions of dollars a year.

But placing a ceiling on welfare spending which could hurt poor families who have no other place to turn is not an answer to anything.

Representative Daly is trying to close some of the loopholes in the welfare spending and crack down on the fraud. His objective is a good one. His means of achieving it were born more of desperation than good planning.

Meanwhile, however, there is little indication that the House is prepared to pass the Governor's tax package. The moans and groans of the Mayors, who are seeking more financial help from the State, are likely to grow louder.

Congress May Block Merger Of Two Basketball Leagues

Sentiment in Congress appeared to be opposed to the proposed merger of the two professional basketball leagues when this reporter visited Washington.

In sports circles the opinion generally is that the approval of the basketball merger is virtually assured and that the okay will be granted in routine fashion.

That, however, did not seem to be the case to this observer who found more Congressmen against the merger than for it.

Congress comes into the picture because the basketball leagues are seeking a congressional exemption from the anti-trust laws.

When it was pointed out to some Congressmen that they did the same thing in allowing the merger of the two professional football leagues, they shrugged and indicated they were reluctant to do it again.

Quinn Is Said To Have Evidence of Race-Fixing

Horse race bettors are following intently the investigations being made by Attorney General Robert H. Quinn into reports of the fixing of horse races at thoroughbred tracks.

While Quinn himself has been guarded in his statements, an official in his department says the Attorney General has evidence of wide-spread fixing of horse races in New England.

The New Hampshire Attorney General says he has knowledge of attempts to fix horse races in his state and that he is considering prosecution.

The situation is considered an explosive one.

Radical B. U. Professor Is Seen No Menace to Nation

New Boston University President John R. Silber made an extremely favorable impression upon the liberals with his recent address to a combined inauguration-commencement audience.

But some political observers are still scrutinizing his earlier remarks about Dr. Howard Zinn, radical B.U. professor, who makes a nuisance of himself at almost every protest demonstration.

President Silber said he disagrees with Dr. Zinn most of the time but that he does not consider him any menace to the nation.

"His ideas of revolution are so watered down I have the feeling that if Karl Marx were around today, he would label Professor Zinn as a bourgeois utopianist," President Silber declared.

The new B.U. head made it plain, incidentally, that he has no concern about the length of a student's hair.

He asserted that some stupid people are bald and that some have long hair, adding that he had yet to find any correlation between the length of one's hair and the degree of his intelligence.

While exercising caution in reaching too many firm conclusions about Dr. Silber, the political pundits do express the opinion that he sounds like a very interesting gentleman.

However, there are those who wonder if the fact that a professor is not a menace to the United States is reason enough for putting up with his nonsense.

Daniel W. Gadsden

Services were held on Wednesday of last week at the funeral home in Newton for Daniel W. Gadsden, formerly of West Newton, who died last week at the age of 88.

A product of Newton schools, he subsequently entered the field of prison work and, for the last 10 years, had been the senior parole officer in the city of Santa Barbara. Mr. Strum was a member of the California Parole and Correctional Association and served as a past director of its executive committee on alcoholism. He leaves his wife, two sons, two daughters, a brother and sister.

HIGHLAND'S EXECUTIVE CHEF

The French believe that a good soup must be fresh, and a good soup must taste of the things it is made of. Most French family cooks do not discard flavorful chicken carcasses or other good bones and leavings. Instead they simmer them with a few herbs, strain the juice and use it for stock. The stock is artfully made dignified by some quick chopped vegetables tossed in a little butter, a handful of noodles and some fresh parsley added at the last. Hearty soups like the famous onion soup or leek and potato soup or split pea have nourished generations of workers and tourists for a long time. The French family enjoy their soup for supper as a meal in itself.

Choose your luncheon or dinner from the cosmopolitan food selection at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT. World renowned food specialties featuring recipes from countries of origin. And remember, there's entertainment in the lounge Monday thru Saturday from 8 p.m. 'til 1 a.m., featuring the unique keyboard stylings of Ray Roscut at the piano and organ. See you at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton Four Corners. For reservations or private functions, call 332-4400.

AJC Annual Dinner Event On Sunday

Louis Milender of Newton, Honorary Chapter Chairman of the Greater Boston Chapter of the American Jewish Committee, served as co-chairman for the organization's dinner meeting at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston last Sunday evening. On the committee also was Dr. Benjamin M. Banks of Brookline and Mrs. Stephen Endlar of Brookline.

David Schoenbrun, distinguished and versatile journalist, was the principal speaker with "The Mid-East Crisis - A Situation Report" as his subject.

Some 500 members and guests attended this annual meeting of the chapter which included a brief business session. Mrs. Herbert B. Ehrmann of Brookline was presented the Norman S. Rabb Merit Awards in recognition of outstanding contributions to the field of human relations during this meeting.

Scholarship Winner Honored At Hanscom Fete

Andrew Lees of 50 Eliot Memorial Road in Newton was honored Monday evening at a formal ceremony and dinner, sponsored by the Lexington-Concord Chapter of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association, and held at the Hanscom Field Officers' Open Mess.

Andrew, a Newton High School senior, was recently awarded a scholarship by the association which will enable him to work for eight weeks with the New England Telephone Company, one of the firms cooperating in the chapter's award program.

He was one of only three Route 128 high school seniors to be selected. A total of 19 candidates were initially considered.

His work with the telephone office in Newton will involve the planning and installation of a modern dial-through switchboard.

GOLDEN AGERS SUPPORT EMERGENCY FUND — As the climax to their Annual Israel Day Celebration, the Temple Emanuel Golden Age Club presented their contribution to the Israel Emergency Fund. From left to right, Mrs. Samuel Hurwitz; Mr. Samuel Hurwitz, the presenter; Mrs. David Stearns, President, Women's Division, Combined Jewish Philanthropies; Mrs. Sumner Corp, Key Gifts Chairman, C.J.P.; and Mrs. Meyer Simmons, Chairman, Temple Emanuel Golden Age Club.

Federal Judge Dismisses Case Against Quinn

A civil rights suit brought in Boston Federal District Court by a Newton police officer against Police Chief William F. Quinn was dismissed last week by Judge Arthur Garrity Jr.

Officer Walter R. Haywood, who initiated the suit on March 5, claimed that his rights under the 14th amendment to the constitution were being infringed as a result of his allegedly being deprived of special details and overtime, as well as his placement on the night shift.

According to the suit, these actions meant that Haywood was getting fewer benefits than other officers with less seniority.

Currently pending a decision by the state's Supreme Judicial Court is a city appeal on a ruling by the Middlesex County Superior Court which found in favor of Haywood's objections to 200 hours of punishment duty he allegedly received for supposedly being found sleeping on duty back in April of 1969.

Initially, the Civil Service Commission and a lower state court had turned down Haywood's appeal.

Newton Boys' Club Delegates To G.A. Event

Samuel Crocetti, Executive Director and David Sellers Program Director together with four members of the Keystone Club, namely Robert Marzilli, Daniel Cicciarello, Lawrence Mitchell and Mark DeWolfe will be delegates to the 65th annual national convention of the Boys' Clubs of America, May 16-20 in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. Sellers and the four boys will attend the fourth annual Keystone Club conference which starts on May 14 to May 17. Keystone Club members will be coming from all parts of the country to learn from speakers and other Keystoneers how to create more effective and exciting programs.

Mr. Crocetti will join some 14,000 lay and professional youth workers from more than 900 Boys' Clubs attending 50 forums, workshops and training sessions conducted by nationally known educators, civic leaders and professionals.

The convention is designed to keep Boys' Club workers up to date on the latest practices in youth work so the Boys' Clubs can do a more effective job on building "Juvenile Decency."

Navy Career Man Retires From Service

Cdr. John D. Anthony Jr., U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Anthony Sr. of 417 Sunset Drive, Venice, Fla., and husband of the former Barbara Mellor of Newton, has retired from active duty.

His last assignment was in the Naval Air Systems Command in Washington, D.C. as special assistant to the Director of the Management Information Systems Development Division.

A graduate of Williston Academy at Easthampton, he entered the Navy in 1946 and was commissioned in June of 1950 after completing flight training.

He then participated in air combat operations during the Korean War as a member of Fighter Squadron 72, which flew off the USS Bon Homme Richard. He was awarded the Air Medal, Gold Star in lieu of second Air Medal and Navy Unit Citation during this period.

Assignments in recent years before reporting to the Naval Air Systems Command have included Combat Information Center Officer on the staff of Commander Carrier Division Six, Staff Secretary on the joint staff of Commander in Chief U.S. Atlantic Fleet and Commanding Officer of Training Squadron 23.

He also earned a BA degree in international relations through studies at the Naval Postgraduate School. The Anthonys are the parents of a daughter, Jane Ann, 8, and son, John Douglas, 4. They plan to live in Jacksonville, Fla.

Robt. Beaser to Study in Rome

Robert Beaser, son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Beaser of 44 Chatham Rd., Newton Highlands, has been recently accepted for private study in music composition with Prof. Arnold Franchetti of the Hart School of Music and Trinity College. The latter school runs a 7-week summer program in Rome and Prof. Franchetti teaches a limited number of students there each year.

Robert is a Junior at Newton South High School, and is also a pianist with the Greater Boston Youth Orchestra. During the Arts Festival Week at South High, Robert had two of his compositions performed: a setting of the 23rd Psalm for large and small chorus with piano obligato; and a Fantasy for trumpet and piano. Robert is in the theory class at South taught by David M. Levenson.

Garden Club of West Newton In Annual Meeting

Mrs. Charles Baukwill was in charge of arrangements for the annual meeting and luncheon of The West Newton Educational Garden Club; held in the President's room at the Highlands restaurant in Newton. The tables were gayly decorated with Madras flowers.

Reelected to a second term of office were: Mrs. Leonard Simmons, president; Mrs. Harold Carter, program chairman; Mrs. George Weir, Secretary; Mrs. Albert M. Kreider, Treasurer.

Mrs. Sidney Williamson read a history of the club's activities from its founding in 1934 to the present.

Plans for the coming season include Garden and Museum tours, Holiday Decoration and Flower Arrangement classes and a scholarship Bridge.

Gerrity Named To Board of Fellows, B.U.

Chestnut Hill resident, Frank Gerrity has been named to the Board of Fellows of Boston University. Gerrity is president of the Gerrity Company, Inc. of Boston. The Board of Fellows consults with and advises the University on matters of curriculum, planning, development, community relations and public relations.

In addition to the presidency of the lumber firm bearing his name, Gerrity is consul for the country of Iceland in Boston, and vice chairman of Jackson Laboratory in Bar Harbor, Me.

He is a member of the Board of Overseers of the Boys Club of Boston, the New England Regional Council Executive Committee of the Boy Scouts of America, and the Diocesan Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts.

He is also a trustee of the Suffolk Franklin Savings Bank, and a director of Fanny Farmer Candy Shops Inc., the New England Merchants National Bank, the Worcester Bus Co., and the Mariner Co. Inc.

Gerrity received the A.B. degree from Harvard College in 1939 and the M.B.A. degree from Harvard Business School in 1943.

Boston Meeting For Physicians Begins Tuesday

Dr. Edwin J. Kroeker of Newton Highlands, Dr. Carey M. Peters of Auburndale and Dr. Harry H. Miller of Waban are the local committee members arranging the 190th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society to be held Tuesday through Thursday (June 1-3) at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston.

The meeting is expected to attract some 2000 physicians who will hear panelists, guest speakers, and specialists discuss a wide variety of subjects dealing with medical and health care.

Medical discoveries in aerospace programs will be highlighted at the Wednesday morning session. Included among the panelists will be Dr. Donald Lee Holmquest, a physician research associate at Mass. Institute of Technology, who was selected by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as a scientist-astronaut. Dr. Holmquest is currently involved in training for future manned space flights.

Dr. George Himler, President of the Medical Society of the State of New York, the Shattuck Lecturer will discuss "The Anatomy of Our Melancholy."

The Physician in a Changing Social Structure is the subject of the Annual Discourse to be presented by Dr. Earle M. Chapman, Clinical Associate Professor of Medicine, Emeritus, Harvard Medical School.

Mr. Harry Schwartz Medical Writer and Editorial Board Member of the New York Times will be the featured guest speaker at the annual dinner to be held Wednesday evening.

In addition to clinical presentations, lectures and symposia the three-day conference will feature industrial and scientific exhibits.

Richard Faber Promoted By BC

Newtonite Richard L. Faber, of the Boston College Mathematics department has been promoted to the position of Associate Professor, effective for the academic year 1971-72. This promotion comes after three years of teaching at BC, during which time Prof. Faber has lectured on modern geometry and linear algebra.

He joins eight other Newton residents whose promotions were announced recently by the college.

A graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Prof. Faber received his masters and doctoral degrees in mathematics from Brandeis University. Prior to his appointment to BC, he taught at Regis College, Harvard College, the University of Pennsylvania and the University of California, San Diego. He is currently the director of the Boston College Mathematics Lecture Series and is working on a textbook in differential geometry.

Prof. Faber is a member of the American Mathematical Society and the Society of the Sigma Xi. Among his publications are "Existence of Gauge Forms on Affine Varieties" and "Hemodialysis - Principles and Practice."

He lives with his wife and daughter at 48 Chinian Path in Newton.

Six Countries Represented At Gay Memorial School Festival

An International Day Festival was held recently at Memorial School in Oak Hill Park. Six countries: Japan, India, France, Nigeria, Switzerland and Hungary were represented in this all-day event which involved everyone in the school.

The Creative Arts Committee of the P.T.A. under the leadership of Anna Sebok, Program Chairman, planned a two-part presentation in every classroom composed of a ten-minute talk given by a delegate in native costume coupled with an appropriate activity from the areas of games, songs, and arts and crafts native to the country.

The talks covered aspects of Geography, History, Language, National Characteristics, Monetary Comparisons, Famous People, School Systems and Sports. The children were encouraged to ask questions in an informal discussion period at the end of each program.

Nigeria was represented by delegates Funmilayo Adekun and Margaret Mary Oduina. Caryl Ann Feldman was hostess. A plantain dish native to Nigeria was cooked in the classrooms in the upper grades by Mrs. Oduina and Gloria Rosenzweig.

In grades 1-3 a Nigerian clay mixture was modeled under the guidance of the Nigerian delegation aided by Lillian Newell and Maide Sheinfeld. Japan was represented by Ikuko Burns and Mimi Cerier acted as her hostess in the classrooms.

Elaine Kaplan, Diane Wilton and Goldie Ungar unfolded the wonders of Origami, the Japanese art of paper folding. India was presented by Mami M. Thirumalaisamy and Mary Hosmer was in the role of Viswanathan and Mary Feld who gave a demonstration on "How to put on a Sari" in grades 1-3 and played animal and hunter games.

students of Hyde School who came as guests for day. They were: Dace Treize, Nancy Toy, Julie Toy, Patricia Pava, George Noite, Vincent Bernard, Ronnie Koning, Rukmal Wijayanaka, Shamal Wijayanaka, Mina Vidanos and Kenji Oshima.

The teachers, members of the Creative Arts Committee and guests enjoyed an informal buffet luncheon together in the all purpose room of the school. Ruth Rotman was in charge of her committee included Roberta Seifer, Jackie Miller, Pauline Smith, Barbara Mintz and Donna Takacs.

The grand finale came in the brightly decorated auditorium when the entire school joined together in an international song fest led by Toni Di Masi, guitarist, of Brookline.

Many thanks goes to the delegates representing the selected countries, the acting principal Mr. Eugene Grey, members of the Creative Arts Committee and faculty whose enormous effort made this such a significant and meaningful experience for the students of Memorial School.

Alderman Criticizes Mayor On Yule Lights Resolution

Newton Alderman Peter F. Harrington (Ward 2 at-large) yesterday criticized Mayor Monte G. Basbas for his veto of a Board of Aldermen resolution calling for a ban on the installation of Christmas lights and decorations over Newton city streets until after Thanksgiving each year.

The resolution, sponsored by Alderman Harrington was approved 7 to 6 by the Board of Aldermen at their last meeting on May 17.

In defense of his proposal, Harrington said, "this is an attempt to stop the continuing escalation of the merchant's attempts to outdo each other in the commercial war for our dollars. In this, as in every war, the rights of individual citizens are disregarded."

Ald. Harrington continued, "There are many people in this community and throughout the country that are sick and tired of the extensive commercialization of Christmas."

"Further, the hanging of these decorations is an infringement upon our right to enjoy and celebrate Thanksgiving."

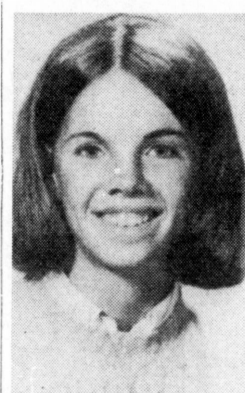

"Thanksgiving is an American holiday; unique to the United States and particularly significant to Massachusetts. An in-terdenominational day of singular meaning when Americans of all faiths pause, with their family, to give thanks for God's bounty."

Harrington characterized the Basbas veto as "another example of the tremendous influence business has in politics. This veto is an extension of the philosophy 'what's good for business, is good for the country'."

Harrington said that he would ask the Aldermen to override the mayor's veto and pass the resolution again at the next Board of Aldermen meeting on June 7th.

A two-thirds (16) vote is necessary for passage because of the mayor's veto. There is some question as to whether or not Harrington will get enough support since the resolution originally received an adverse (7 to 1) committee, and at the time of its passage received only 7 votes.

Scholarship Award Goes To Michele Gould

The Langley Breakfast Club of Newton Centre has awarded its annual $250 scholarship to Miss Michele Gould a student at Newton South High School.

Miss Gould is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Gould of 34 Margaret Rd., in Newton.

She intends to further her education by studying nursing at the Children's Hospital in Boston

Waban Man New President Of Newton Conservators

Melvin I. Darack of Waban was elected president of Newton Conservators, Inc., at the organization's tenth annual meeting in Auburndale last Wednesday.

The members also elected Mrs. Arno Heyn as vice president, Mrs. Charles Butler as secretary, and John H. Hendrick as treasurer.

Directors elected or re-elected for 3-year terms are Miss Elizabeth Cushman, John Heywood, Mrs. Frank A. Howard, Mrs. Robena O'Malley, Mrs. William P. Ripley, and Mrs. E. Manning Sears.

Filling unexpired terms until 1973 will be Mrs. John D. Montgomery and Mrs. H. Garrison Wilkes; filling unexpired terms until 1972 are Dennis L. Ditelberg and George Martins.

Judging by reports from committee chairmen, the Conservators have been busy this past year. Membership has grown to four times its 1970 level.

Standing committees on Air, Water, and Land Conservation continued to focus their attention on the municipal incinerator, the Charles River, and land use within the city. Conservators took the public for walks into major open spaces last fall.

The City of Newton administration has been the focus of Conservator pressure for separated trash pick-up and trash recycling, and discussions have been initiated with the administration about Conservator concern for continued city use of pesticides and deicing salts.

It was evident from remarks of the Conservators' annual meeting guest panelists that the Board of Aldermen is very much involved with Newton's environmental well-being.

Alderman Alan S. Barkin, chairman of the Land Use Committee, spoke in some detail of the types of zoning matters that go before his committee and of the committee's efforts to reconcile the need for some further development with the equally pressing need to retain some semblance of breathing space in a heavily-developed community.

Alderman David W. Jackson, chairman of the City Planning Committee, cited his committee's involvement with the proposed flood plain and watershed protection ordinance as one of the many zoning and planning techniques available to achieve the best of both development and conservation.

The Public Works Committee, chaired by Alderman Andrew J. Magni, plays an increasing role in environmental matters with the surge of citizen interest in methods of disposing of the city's heavy burden of trash, and Mr. Magni announced the formation of a Public Works Subcommittee on Ecology to deal with these issues.

Newton Conservators, Inc., established in 1961, is the only citizen organization dedicated to the protection and enhancement of the quality of life in the physical setting of Newton.

Membership is open to all who share the Conservator goals of using Newton's natural assets wisely and for the greatest good. For information, please call Conservator Information chairman Rita Barron 527-5214.

FATHER OUELLETTE 35th Birthday For Guild Of St. Francis

The Guild of St. Francis of Assisi, Newton Centre, will hold a Communion supper, celebrating the Guild's 35th birthday, on Tuesday, June 1 in the Bishop MacKenzie Center immediately following 7:00 p.m. Mass.

Guest speaker will be Father Henry P. Ouellette of radio and TV fame.

Dr. Ouellette is chairman of the Psychology Department at Emmanuel College and has pioneered many innovative methods in the Boston area, including "Encounter with Self," a television program developed for area high schools. Reservations for supper may be made by contacting — Mrs. Leo P. Waters, 1093 Walnut Street, Newton Hds. 02161.

Alumni Plan 25th Reunion

Last weekend proved to be a milestone for many BU alumni who graduated 25 years ago from Boston University. A special class dinner was held for 25-year alumni of the College of Business Administration and the weekend included a Rodgers and Hammerstein evening at the Pops, a chicken barbecue on campus, boat rides on the Charles, lectures, an evening of dancing and dining at the BU Pub, plus publication of an interesting booklet of BU memories.

Chairman for the reunion was Mrs. Minna Silverman of Newton, and committee members included Mrs. Shirley Izen of Newton, The Honorable Alvin Tamkin and Daniel Kosow of Chestnut Hill, Albert Sidd of Brookline, Burton Siegal of Worcester, Edith Cunningham and Samuel Gerber of Marblehead, and Edith Preziosi of Melrose.

Many local residents attended, as well as class of '46 members from California, Texas, New York, and Connecticut.

Alumni Fund Campaigners

Some 20 residents of the Newtons are taking part in the Annual Alumni Fund drive of the College of Business Administration at Boston University for 1970-71.

Participating in the campaign, now in an intensive wind-up, are: Robert L. Rosenblatt and Richard Ryter of Waban; Willard Bodge of 113 Grove St., Auburndale; Peter Turchon, Virginia G. Ronan, Louis S. Epstein and Joseph Garb all of Chestnut Hill and Benjamin Selig, Lowell Trowbridge, Eli Golub, Samuel H. Gerson, Saul Cutter, Daniel Solomon, Bert Cohen, Sydney Sacks, Albert Lieberman, Mrs. Minna Golden Silverman, Albert I. Haines, Mrs. Shirley Izen, and Ralph Berry, from Newton.

GAVEL TO NEW PRESIDENT — Laurence E. Boyden, Jr. (center) accepts the gavel and takes over as president of the Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, from G. Arnold Haynes, retiring president. Mr. Haynes will serve as a vice president of the Council which serves the communities of Weston, Wellesley and Newton. Convalescent Center Keeps Busy Schedule

The Newton Convalescent Center at 25 Armory Street in West Newton recently continued its busy schedule of recreation and entertainment for the residents.

Last week, a Newton group of Blue Birds presented a program one afternoon and a move was shown on another.

Among those residents, born in May, who were feted at the monthly birthday party were Newton's Sydney Grell and Cesidio Dalicandro.

All of the center's events are open to local senior citizens.

Boyden New President Of Norumbega Scout Council

Laurence E. Boyden, Jr., of Wellesley has been elected president of the Norumbega Council Boy Scouts of America. The Council encompasses the communities of Newton, Wellesley and Weston.

Local residents elected to the Council's governing body include Martin R. Daley, re-elected a vice president of the Executive Board as well as Charles F. Blackington, Jr., Andrew F. Lane and Earl F. Naus, all elected Executive Board members-at-large.

Mr. Boyden, who is president of Massachusetts General Life Insurance Company, stated that under his direction he hopes that scouting activities in the three communities "continue to have meaning to the boys and young men, and that programs will be geared to help the current generation meet the challenges that they face."

At the present time, he pointed out, there are close to 2,400 young men participating in Cub and Boy Scouts as well as Explorers in the three towns. There are an additional 1,132 adults working with the program at all levels.

Awards Day Convocation Is Held At Newton Jr. College

The Annual Newton Junior College Awards Day Convocation was held at 10:45 Tuesday morning, May 18, at the College Hall to honor those students who have distinguished themselves in their service to the college and to announce winners of various awards annually distributed on this occasion.

Charles W. Dudley, President of the College, welcomed the students and guests, and described the significance of the Awards Day Convocation. He stated that this convocation is one of the most meaningful traditions of the College, one that recognizes those qualities which do not alter with time.

In acknowledging benefactors to the College during the past year, President Dudley mentioned the substantial grant to the Scholarship Fund annually received from the Highland Circle of Newton Highlands, the longest standing annual contribution to the College.

President Dudley also paid tribute to the Women's Council of the College as one of the most important instrumentalities of the College for its tangible, material, and inspirational contributions to the College. The Women's Council has been the largest contributor to the College Scholarship Fund.

In his recognition of the Board of Directors, President Dudley acknowledged their generosity of time and advice in their service to the College.

President Dudley then introduced John Gorgone of Newton, the newly elected President of the Student Council 1971-1972, who presented the other recently elected officers of the Student Government: Mr. John McCallum of Newton, Treasurer; Carl Lundberg of Newton and Robert Maher, Sophomore Representatives; and Harriet Swartz, Secretary.

Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Dean of the College, presented the Awards. In his introductory remarks, Dr. Merrill stated that these awards were inaugurated by unanimous vote of the Faculty in 1968. The following were distributed:

In the Department of Business and Data Processing, Miss Anna Radzikunas, Chairman, "For academic excellence in the Business Administration Curriculum" — Dennis Brooks of Newton.

"For academic honors in Secretarial Technology" — Dawn Rufo of Newton.

"For distinction in the field of Data Processing and exceptional college citizenship" — Bruce Hall and Catherine Loree, both of Newton.

In the Department of Humanities, Dr. Emil A. Friemere, Chairman, "For exceptional competence in the writing of English" — Danielle LaPrime.

In the Department of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Mr. William E. Burns, chairman, "For scholarship in the Biological Sciences" — Michael Rubino.

"For achievement in Chemistry" — William Sworet of Newton.

Mr. Harvey Poock, Dean of Administration and Chairman of Student Aid Committee — Dennis Brooks.

Newton Junior College Service Awards "Recognition of those students who, through voluntary service, have contributed markedly to the welfare of the College," presented by Mr. Leo P. Judge, Dean of Student Personnel — Wayne G. Gallant, Bruce Hall, Donald C. Hunter, Margery J. Klyman, Catherine M. Loree, James T. Marquis, David S. McCormack, Carolyn C. McHale, and Vincent L. Wares, all of Newton, as well as Mrs. Catherine L. Teele and Wendell L. Wilson.

Dean Judge also announced those students who were elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges, in recognition of their academic standing, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and future potential: Michael E. Deehan, Wayne G. Gallant, Bruce Hall, Donald C. Hunter, Carolyn C. McHale, Joseph Rocabuto, and M. Jerry Williams, all of Newton, as well as Susan J. Pearson, Michael H. Rubino, and Wendell L. Wilson.

Mrs. Mabel Greeley, College Librarian, presented the Alumni Association Book Award, given annually to a member of the who graduating class combines citizenship with an appreciation of good books and how best to use them — Carolyn McHale of Newton and Eleanor L. Halfman.

The Honors Address by an outstanding student of the graduating class is one of the highlights of this traditional occasion. Mr. Wendell Wilson, honor student and recipient of other awards, gave the address.

Mr. Wilson urged his peers to realize that education means responsibility to themselves and their fellow men and asked them to make education a benevolent plague, spreading learning and teaching simultaneously lest the educated man fail himself and to the College.

President Dudley concluded the Convocation with congratulations to all students who had, by their achievement, brought honor to themselves and to the College.

"For outstanding performance improvement in Psychology" — James King of Newton.

"For academic excellence in Psychology, demonstrated by both a comprehensive view of subject matter and an in-depth appreciation of theoretical concepts" — Vincent Wares of Newton.

The Phi Beta Kappa Scholarship Award, donated by the Newton Phi Beta Kappa Group, "For excellence in intellectual interest, high moral character, and acceptance for study at an accredited four-year college" — presented by

Mr. Harvey Poock, Dean of Administration and Chairman of Student Aid Committee — Dennis Brooks.
